TELEGRAPH NEWS.

The People's Savings Bank, at Erie, Pa., has assigned.

Three men were burned to death in a building in Brooklyn, N. Y.

A large steamer founded in a storm on Lake Michigan. Twenty-nine lives were lost.

Fire in Fort Worth, Texas, burned a livery stables and eleven head of horses. Loss $20,000.

It still comes down—the gold reserve was reported yesterday at a little above $67,000,000.

Col. Thaddeus Coleman, of Asheville, is dead. He served during the war on the staff of Gen. Bragg.

A cotton compress and 1,200 bales of cotton were burned at Chattanooga, Tenn. Loss about $50,000, half covered by insurance.

A cyclone at Covington, Tenn., blew off the top of the Court House and demolished a dozen residences. Damage placed at $50,000.

Mr. Robert Downey, of Greenville county, was standing fifty feet from the circular saw at a lumber mill, when in some way the saw caught a piece of plank fifteen feet long and hauled it through the air. The plank struck Mr. Downey just under the arm and stuck completely through his body. He lived nearly three days.

THE LEGISLATURE.

WEDNESDAY.

The most important new bills introduced in the Legislature today were: To prevent preferences by insolvent corporations; to prevent prize-fighting; to validate deeds by corporations; to provide for the making up of jury-lists by clerks of courts and sheriffs instead of by county commissioners; to provide for the collection, arrangement and display of North Carolina's resources at the Atlanta Exposition by appropriating $20,000; to restore to the tax-lists all lands on which taxes have not been paid for three years; to provide for the maintenance of the Agricultural and Mechanical College, slightly increasing the appropriation.

A bill passed the Senate making May 30th a legal holiday, and one was tabled to repeal the merchants' purchase tax. There was a prolonged discussion of the 6 per cent. interest bill in the Senate, and it passed, only two votes being cast against it. It provides that 6 per cent. shall be the legal rate for such time as interest may accrue and no more; that a violation of this rate shall involve forfeiture of entire amount, and that a person who has paid a greater rate can recover, upon bringing suit, for debt twice the amount of interest paid. Such action must be brought within two years of payment of the indebtedness. There was a hot partisan debate in the House in an election contest from Pamlico county, which resulted in the seating of a Republican by the Fusionists.

It will be interesting to see how some parties who were before the County Commissioners giving testimony under oath as to the value of their property will swear again about the value of the same property when next tax listing time comes.

The total number of immigrants arrived in this country up to December 1st last year was 234,206 against 457,650 for the corresponding period the year previous.

The gold reserve in the National Treasury has dwindled down so low that another bond issue seems inevitable. In the face of this it does look like Congress ought to be doing something on a financial bill.

North Carolina ranks next to Kentucky as a tobacco growing State, with a crop last year of 43,000,000 pounds to 184,000,000 for Kentucky. Virginia comes third with 36,000,000 pounds. The total crop of the country is put at 410,000,000 pounds.

It is now reported to be a mistake that Mr. Josephus Daniels has resigned as Chief Clerk of the Interior Department and Mr. Arthur Barnes being appointed in his stead. Mr. Daniels has been considering the matter of resigning but has not yet reached a decision.

THE BILLS ALMOST READY.

Last night in the Auditor's office there was a meeting of the Popalists and Republicans of the Joint Committee of House and Senate on Elections and County Government.

The meeting lasted about one hour and a half, and among the muck-a-mucks invited in as the grannies at the christening were Capt. Harry Skinner, Judge Russell, Major Guthrie, Senator Marion Butler, Major Grant, Tom Paruell, and others, who looked as if they wanted to be doing something. All these sisters had their caps on, and took up the County Government and Election Laws and bounced them, and gave them soothing syraps, and togged them out in all kinds of frills, and then turned them over to their nurses, who consisted of sub-committee of six, three Populists and three Republicans, who are expected to bring them up smiling in the next few days. Major Grant thought last night that an election bill would be offered to the Legislature this week certainly, and that the county government bill would soon follow. There has been no date fixed, however, and last night there was only a knocking together of heads after the manner of Sydney Smith's vestrymen who put their heads together to make a block pavement in front of the church. Everybody dropped a word or two into the slot, and it was stated by some that it could be fairly said that the precinct would be the unit, and that no precinct would be allowed more than 300 voters. Any township containing more than 300 voters would be divided into two or more precincts. The polls will open at 7 o'clock and close at 4, the votes to be counted by 5. There will be one ballot and one box. Other features of the coming bill were discussed, but resulted in a kind of Yale mixture capped with chaotic smoke. They all thought they want something whatever that was. One of the lights said that the Democrats could depend on one thing, namely, that all things would work together for the good of the dear people.

On the question of county government, there was much difference of opinion, some favoring the abolition of the office of commissioner, some opposing such abolition. But the greater weight seemed to be toward the substitution of a like body under a different name, but to be elected by the people. The Magistrates will be appointed either by the Legislature or by the Judges, some of the cagey ones favoring the latter. Several heavy weights are now here, including Capt. Harry Skinner, swamped in the tumultuous possibilities of the two measures herein mentioned. They will remain and croon like watchful old mammies through all the squalls, and see the twins through the teething act, and later hope to rear the man eater unto that stage when he will feed on the white meat of a live Democrat as if he were a missionary entree on a table in Timbuctoo, dressed after the tooth of Uganda.

The six sub-committee chefs are getting up the menu, and the feast will be a Belshazzar affair reaching far into the night. There will be no "mene, mene" business about the blow out during the first era of the orgies. All will be well and the wine of the State's gentle yeomen blood will flow freely down the gullets of greed. "They'll use the advantage of their power to lay the summer's dust with showers of blood rained from the wounds of slaughtered Democrats."

Or to change the "figger," Mrs. Jarley, they are in the orchard for apples, and they'll pick the trees clean, from the commissioner pippin to the constable crab.—Raleigh News and Observer, 24th.

A Singing Hen.

A little twelve-year-old daughter of a hotel keeper at Baxter, Ga., has a pet hen that sings to a piano accompaniment. The little girl will go into the yard, pick up the hen, bring her into the parlor, place her on the piano and commence playing something lively, and the hen will sit back on her dignity, raise her head and sing like her life depended on the effort.
