THE LEGISLATURE.

THURSDAY.

The chief new bills introduced in the Senate were: To let printing of county exhibits to lowest bidder, to require railways to redeem unused tickets, to increase powers of superior court clerks in regard to granting of charters.

The bill to reduce charges on sales of leaf tobacco in warehouses passed the Senate after three hours debate.

The most important new bills in the House were: To appropriate fifteen thousand dollars this year and like amount next year for additional buildings and equipment at Agricultural and Mechanical College, to allow persons who sell horses and mules to take liens to secure payment, to extend until next year the time for registration of physicians, to fund Wilmington's debt by the issue of $50,000 in bonds, to exempt Craven county from the game law, to incorporate the Stinson Lumber Company, to prescribe the method in which searches for lost or stolen property shall be made, to cure defects in registration of deeds by deputy clerk.

They're After Greenville.

The bill has passed its third reading in the Senate requiring people living inside the corporate limits of Greenville to pay taxes the same as persons living outside of the town to keep up the fence around the Greenville stock law territory. The House committee has also reported favorably on a bill to amend the charter of the town of Greenville.

Some gentlemen Friday night were discussing the number of drummers in town when one of them remarked that more drummers had been in Greenville the last two weeks than were ever seen here in the same length of time.

The Raleigh News and Observer says that in the State Senate there are 14 Baptists; 9 Methodists; 3 Disciples; 3 Quakers; 2 Lutherans; 2 Episcopalians; and 2 Presbyterians. One of the Methodists (Senator Hoover, of Wilson) is a preacher and two of the Baptists (Senator Ammons, of Madison, and Senator Norris, of Wake) are preachers. This leaves 16 not reported as church members.

Not-Met With Often.

We have heard of a case of two brothers who show remarkable devotion toward each other. They are both married and when one has work and the other has not, the more fortunate one divides his wages equally with the other, and they share their good fortune in common from year in to year out. Such cases of brotherly kindness and practical sympathy are not met with often in life.—Webster's Weekly.

In recent years Democratic speakers in this State have been twitted by their opponents for going "away back" to 1868-69 for material for their speeches. In the next campaign they will not have to look so far into the past. The doings of the fusion legislature of 1895; its absurdities and false ideas of reform and economy, will form ample groundwork for sharp criticisms upon the hustings.

According to the New York World it is now estimated that 300,000 persons and 150,000 corporations will be subject to the income tax and that it will yield a revenue of $80,000,000 a year. There is considerable margin between these figures and the 85,000 which it was said would have to pay the tax.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(Special Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 1 1895—President Cleveland would much prefer that Congress would pass a bill, either in accordance with the recommendations contained in his special message, or with its own ideas of what ought to be done to enable the government to redeem its promises to pay when presented; but if Congress does nothing, he does not propose to sit idle and see the credit of the government injured by the lack of gold to redeem its notes. He has given Congress a last chance to act, but if such leading members of the Senate as Vest and Sherman do not misjudge the situation, the Senate is tied hand and foot and cannot act, even if the House passes the bill now before the committee on Banking and Currency, which proposes to carry the recommendations of the President into effect. That being the case, it may be set down as certain that President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle will act. They will issue more bonds to get the gold to redeem the greenbacks and Treasury notes, under the specie resumption act of 1875, and the President has said that he would continue to issue bonds as often as gold is required until Congress relieves the situation by legislation.

As President Cleveland and every member of the Cabinet understands and construes the present laws, it is no longer a question of whether one favors the issue of bonds, but of getting gold, which can only be gotten by bonds. Whether Congress authorizes an issue of bonds or not bonds will be issued. When Congress declines to sanction the issue of bonds it is under the circumstances the act of a coward, inasmuch as it is shirking a responsibility that properly belongs to Congress. Besides, Congress in providing for bonds could accompany it with remedial legislation which would put an end to the gold raid upon the Treasury.

The Howgate trial opened this week, but so far there have been no sensational developments.

Sheriff Green, of Nash, died suddenly Monday night.

Pepper on the Stage

Some years ago a famous actress, having been disengaged for some time, packed her wardrobe in pepper to preserve it from moths. She was suddenly called upon to take the part of the queen in "Hamlet." Being rather late for her first scene, she omitted to shake out her royal robes, and her dignified entrance had an astonishing effect. The king, after a brave resistance, gave vent to a mighty sneeze that well nigh made the stage vibrate. All the royal courtiers and maids of honor followed suit sympathetically. Hamlet came on with a most sublime tragedy air, but after a convulsive movement of his princely features, he buried them in his somber robe, while sneeze after sneeze was all the public heard from him. Amid the hubbub on the stage and the shrieks of delight from the audience, the stage manager, between sneezes, rang down the curtain.
