NORTH CAROLINA NEWS.

Happenings Here and There Over the State.

Mr. George W. Turner, of Anson county, was killed by being caught in the gearing of an engine.

Ex-Chief Justice Shepherd has decided to locate in Raleigh and will join the law firm of O. M. & Perrin Busbee.

The Raleigh Press says that Capt. Buck Kitchin spoke an hour and a half at the Populist caucus last Thursday night and only one man fainted.

Mrs. Lizzie Abernethy, of Mecklenburg county, while standing before the fire was taken with a fainting spell and fell in the fire. She was badly burned before assistance reached her.

Resolutions of Respect.

WHEREAS, God in His infinite wisdom has seen proper to take from our midst our esteemed member and friend, Richard B. Morgan, AND WHEREAS, in his death the Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade feels that it has lost one of its truest and best members, the town and community a valuable citizen, and the family a devoted son and brother, therefore be it

RESOLVED, That we, the members of the Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade, extend to the bereaved family our deepest heartfelt sympathy in their hour of sad affliction. That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon our minutes, a copy sent to the family of the deceased, a copy sent to the DAILY REFLECTOR and Winston Tobacco Journal for publication.

At Rest.

Dr. J. Robert Eborn, aged 74 years, departed this life at his home in Yeatesville, N. C., on the 22nd of January, 1895. Dr. Eborn was the oldest son of Benjamin L. Eborn, dec'd. He was a former citizen of Pitt county, and a brother of Mrs. Lucy Randolph, near Greenville. Many relatives and friends mourn their loss

Farewell Sermon.

At the service in the Presbyterian church Sunday morning Rev. J. N. H. Summerell announced that he would preach his farewell sermon here on the third Sunday night in this month. He will then leave for South Carolina to begin the labors of his new field the first of March. The people both at Greenville and Falkland regret exceedingly to give up Mr. Summerell.

Treasurer Little.

To-day the Board of County Commissioners unanimously elected James L. Little as Treasurer of the county, John Flanagan having declined to tender a bond and qualify. Mr. Little notified the Board of his acceptance and will give bond at their next meeting. He is cashier of the bank, one of our finest business men, a most upright gentleman, and will make the county an excellent Treasurer.

The total amount of school fund received from all sources is $18,551.37, and the amount appropriated to Districts $13,501.00.

It will be seen that the Board reserved only $50.37 out of the total amount this year as a contingent fund, which added to what was left over last year out of this fund gives the Board sufficient for their expenses another year. Last year the amount apportioned was nearly a thousand dollars more than the previous year, and this year is a thousand dollars more than last. We doubt if another Board in the State can make a better showing according to the amount of money received.

THE HISTORY OF THE RUN.

Referring to the fact that Mr. Reed and some of his followers lay the blame for the drain upon the gold in the Treasury upon the Wilson tariff act, the Philadelphia Times would like to have them explain why it began in 1891, the year the McKinley tariff went into operation, and continued with an accelerating rate in the following year, the last of the Harrison administration. Continuing, the Times states some well known facts of recent history which, while well known, may be forgotten unless repeated occasionally. We copy:

The payments of gold from the Treasury in redemption of United States notes during 1891 were greater than they had been in any year since the first after the resumption of specie payments. In 1892 they were four times greater than in 1891. They doubled in 1893, and again in 1894. In neither case was the tariff a considerable factor. The demand for gold was started by the Sherman act of 1890, which provided for the issue of Treasury notes in exchange for silver bullion.

A Democratic President and Congress have not stopped this run upon the Treasury's gold, but it is only truth to say that they have no sort of responsibility for its beginning. It and the commencement of the panic were coincident and both started while the country was beholding all the glories of a Republican administration—Republican President, Republican Senate, Republican House.—Charlotte Observer.

Lincoln's Joke on Seward.

On the 9th the First corps, commanded by Gen. Reynolds, was reviewed by the president on a beautiful plain at the north of Potomac creek, about eight miles from Hooker's headquarters. We rode thither in an ambulance over a rough corduroy road, and, as we passed over some of the more difficult portions of the jolting way, the ambulance driver, who sat well in front, occasionally let fly a volley of suppressed oaths at his wild team of six mules. Finally Mr. Lincoln leaned forward, touched the man on the shoulder and said:

"Excuse me, my friend, are you an Episcopalian?"

The man, greatly startled, looked around and replied:

"No, Mr. President, I am a Methodist."

"Well," said Lincoln, "I thought you must be an Episcopalian, because you swear like Gov. Seward, who is a churchwarden."

The driver swore no more.—Century.

No Wasted Moments.

An anecdote of Gladstone is going the rounds which shows how carefully he makes use of every moment of his time. One day the great Englishman went to visit a friend, and after an interesting conversation of an hour or so, the host left the room for a few minutes. On returning he found Gladstone deeply immersed in a book, which was carried for use at just such spare moments as this. This was Gladstone's method of utilizing every minute; but it is not fair to conclude that every man should do the same. It is not often a wise use of time to spend one's odd moments in thought. If a man is apparently idle, that is no evidence that his brain is idle. Some men can think more in five minutes than they can read in an hour.—Boston Transcript.

Pussy's Great Catch.

We disapprove of cats catching birds, but where they take such chances as did the Lewiston pussy that leaped from a third-story window, snatched an English sparrow from a telegraph wire and struck the ground right side up and safely, we are almost glad to learn she kept her prey.—Kennebec Journal.

It is Needed.

At this meeting of the Board of Commissioners recommendations were presented that were embodied in the reports of the Solicitor and Foreman of the Grand Jury at the last term of Court, urging the necessity of providing a vault for the protection and safe keeping of the books and records in the offices of the Clerk and Register of Deeds. The Board could take no action in the matter, as to build a vault would require an outlay larger than can be made without the concurrence of the Magistrates of the county.
