Snow, turning to rain followed by fair.

He is Worthy of all Honor.

In the retirement of Senator Thomas J. Jarvis North Carolina loses a representative who has honored her in every position to which he has been called. When the Canby constitution was foisted on an unwilling people, his voice was heard above the storm of unreasoning abuse. Like Leonidas at Thermopylae he stood undismayed. His following was of the fewest; yet out of chaos he brought order. His work in the Old North State was that of the hero, who for gets all of self and immolates himself on the altar of his country's sufferings. Maimed by the bullets of the North, his brain took on higher resolves. He fought the battles in a forensic warfare with consummate ability and impressed a never dying fame on the history of his State. Called to succeed Gov. Vance as Governor, he added additional honor to the highest gifts that his many friends could confer. As minister to Brazil during the troublous times that followed the dethronement of Dom Pedro, he held the dignity of the United States so high that his very name was an ark of defense. As a Senator he recalled the days of the Badgers and the Grahams. Too soon for the Old North State's glory he has met the fate of the martyr. On his return he will find in the bosom of every North Carolinian whose State pride is greater than party fealty, a welcome mingled with tears of regret. He is an honor to a State, whose sons love purity, truth and manhood.—

Editor Hunt, of the Burlington News, says he went to Raleigh Monday but did not see the Legislature as they would not let him in. The brother ought to have blacked his face.

The Election Law is to be introduced into the Legislature today and the County Government bill is to follow a few days later. Then will be seen something of what the "Big Five" have been doing for the past few weeks at Raleigh. We venture to assert on that not a half dozen members of the Legislature has had one thing to do with the preparation of either bill.

Weather prophet Hicks, whose predictions have been so accurate that he is considered good authority on the subject, says the country is to have two more severe spells of weather during February. On the 17th and 18th there will be a decided cold wave that will change quickly to warmer, and then between the 20th and 24th the weather will make a record long to be remembered. If that record is to be any worse than the past week we are not anxious to see it.

To use a borrowed expression, Marion Butler is indeed a "Jim Dandy." When the Legislature first met he thought it a body of mighty fine fellows. Well, Marion wanted an office then, but as they have done all they can do for him and given him a seat in the United States Senate for six years he has no further use for them, and his former praise has given place to ridicule. In a recent issue of his paper, the Caucasian, he lets his opinion of that body crop out in the following utterance:

We wonder why some enterprising member of the Legislature does not offer a bill to permit the women of certain counties to bang their hair, if they want to. About as much sense in that, as may be found in a good many other private bills, that have been offered, and—passed too.

In the opinion of the REFLECTOR the Legislature has displayed so little sense in no other act as when Marion Butler was made Senator

The height of impudence is shown by the Caucasian when it charges that the Democrats in the Legislature are endeavoring to prevent legislation. It charges that the Democrats agreed in caucus to pursue such a course and it calls upon the majority to stifle such action. That this is utterly false was clearly shown by Messrs. Ray, Smith and Monroe. Never did a paper get a worse "licking" than these gentlemen gave the Caucasian in the House last Saturday. Mr. Ray said that it was a malicious falsehood, instigated by the other of lies. This is pretty rough on the ex-preacher who is editor of this paper, but is not one whit more than what he deserves. It seems that he has changed from trying to be an instrument to save souls and is doing his utmost to damn them in the sight of their fellow man. Unless we are mistaken, however, the Democrats in this body are able to take care of themselves regardless of what the Caucasian may say or do. Even Mr. French, the most bitter partizan, probably, in the Legislature, gave the lie to that sheet. When such a course is resorted to as that paper is pursuing to get through legislation which will be hurtful to the country all good men ought to be open in condemnation of every body connected with it. We don't know three men better fitted to expose such conduct than Messrs. Ray, Peebles and Smith. All honor to such men, the people every where are applauding them.

Froude's Recreations.

The late James Anthony Froude's favorite amusements were yachting and angling, and, until his last illness commenced, he was out every fine day sailing and sea-fishing in a little vessel which he kept at Salcombe, where he lived for several months in each year. He was the very best of good company, and a most attractive and delightful companion, whose excellent talk and endless flow of anecdotes will be long remembered by those who have often seen him in private. He always wished to die in Devonshire, and his life ended within twenty miles of Darlington Vicarage, where he was born, and where his early days were spent.

"An Accomplished Fact."

"Grandma, may I take that piece of chocolate you left on the table? I will be so good!"

"Yes, you may take it."

(The little girl does not move.)

"Why don't you go and get it?"

"Oh! grandma, dear, I ate it first!"—L'Annunziatore.
