Short Snaps.

Economy is the half-way house between parsimony and prodigality.

The dyspeptic's lesson of life is that if he would comfortably live it he must diet.

Mr. H. C. Edwards is having lumber hauled preparing to building another house in Forbess-town.

Two disastrous fires visiting Kinston within a week is a very disastrous blow to the town. We hope it can soon rebuild.

The Penny Press has changed hands, Mr. J. B. Johnson, Jr., taking charge of the paper from today. We wish "Topsy" success.

A horse belonging to Sam Bryant had a fit this morning and ran into a post, receiving such injuries that the animal soon died.

While out on his wheel, Monday afternoon, Mr. Walter Pender fell and cut one of his legs right badly. The flesh was laid open to the bone.

The verdict of the Coroner's jury in the Hardee brothers case was that Ben Hardee came to his death from a knife wound inflicted by Peter Hardee. The latter was committed to jail without bail.

A great many people have been to see Mr. Sapp, the "Ossified Man" to-day. All pronounce him a wonder. He will remain here Wednesday only, and on that day the ladies are especially invited to call and see him.

KINSTON AGAIN IN FLAMES.

Another Fire Destroys $40,000 Worth of Property—The Work of Incendiaries.

(Special to Reflector.)

KINSTON, N. C., Mar. 5th.—About one o'clock this morning fire was discovered in J. B. Cumming's livery stables, and also between the stores of Star Hicks and C. F. Dunn, both colored, about fifty yards distant. It was evidently the work of a fire-fiend, as kerosene had been thrown on the buildings and the night policeman heard some one strike a match just before the flames were discovered. The fire spread to other buildings and in a few minutes the whole west side of Queen street, in the section of the town known as Tuckahoe, were in flames. By heroic efforts J. B. Cumming's brick store just north of the burning block, and Dr. J. A. Pollock's dwelling just south of it, were saved.

The heaviest losers by this fire are G. E. Koruegay, J. B. Cummings, W. L. Kennedy, J. O. Bacon, Dr. J. A. Pollock, R. C. Hay, W. F. Moore, Mrs. Matilda Cummings, Dawson Bros., C. F. Dunn, Star Hicks and Adam Singleton, the last three being colored. Eight horses were burned in J. B. Cumming's stables.

The total loss amounts to about $40,000, upon which there is not more than $10,000 or $12,000 insurance.

A light shower of rain in the early part of the night saved the town from a much heavier loss.

Some of the parties burned out this time were losers by the fire of last Thursday and had just moved what goods they had saved into other stores.

The south bound freight train Monday evening was a heavier one than usual, having about twenty loaded cars. It was nearly five hours late here.

THE LEGISLATURE.

SATURDAY.

The most important new bills introduced in the Legislature today were: To amend the insurance laws by giving protection against fraudulent companies; to abolish free tuition at the State University; to render persons ineligible to hold offices more than two terms; to prohibit inmates of the Soldiers' Home from receiving pensions.

Bills passed the Senate making the annual appropriations for the white and colored agricultural and mechanical colleges; creating a Code Commission of three members at $2,000 for the establishment of a reformatory for young criminals, and $10,000 annually for its maintenance.

The election-law bill passed, every amendment offered by the two Democrats in the Senate being voted down. The vote on its passage was—ayes, 34; noes, 4—two Populists having bolted the fusion caucus and voted for it. Four other Populists voted for it under protest.

The House considered the revenue bill in Committee of the Whole. A great effort was made to strike out the $100 license-tax on all drummers, but it was retained. It was decided that whiskey distilleries could sell liquor by the quart instead of by the gallon.

Those Bonds Again.

The first case in Court this morning was the suit of W. H. Harrington against R. W. King for the Sheriff's office. The plaintiff is represented by Blount & Fleming, Wooten & Shaw and C. M. Bernard, the defendant by Jarvis & Blow and L. O. Latham. The case is being warmly contested. It is thought now that this case and the Thigpen case which is to follow it will consume almost the entire term of the Court.

This Congress passed out of existence yesterday at 12 o'clock. If a better one was coming in no one would regret its demise, but there will be no improvement.

Two North Carolina editors died last week. They were Mr. J. F. Perry, of the Wilmington Dispatch, who died on Thursday, and Dr. B. F. Long, of the Warrenton Record, whose death occurred Friday.

Queen Lill and a dozen or more of her principal men of the Hawaiian Island have been convicted. The Queen was given five years imprisonment and a fine of five thousand dollars. Some of her followers were given thirty five years and fined ten thousand dollars.

A man who since the advent of Populism in Pitt county has been one of its prominent agitators, on Saturday expressed himself as disappointed and disgusted at the course of the Legislature. He said he voted the ticket with the expectation of seeing many reforms enacted, but sees that absolutely nothing has been done in that direction. He said further that many men left the Democratic party because of the idea that a few bosses led and controlled that party, but admitted that the present Legislature was the worst boss ridden body he ever saw. He also frankly expressed the belief that he had made a mistake in the course he had pursued, and said many others in the county who supported the Populist ticket were of the same opinion.

The election bill passed the Senate without amendment. It was thought that the Populists would demand some changes but they did not. It is amusing to see how some days they assert their independence, and before the next day comes the Republicans have given them a dose which brings them at once back into harmony and they move on as one party with but one thought. They indeed exhibit a poor specimen of manhood. Nothing need be expected from them.

As Good as the Best.

There appeared in this paper yesterday morning an advertisement of the newly chartered Southern Stock Mutual Insurance Company of Greensboro, and attentions invited to its plan and to the list of its officers and directors. Fabulous sums go out of North Carolina yearly for insurance and for other purposes—money which should be kept at home; but this statement would not be worth a moments consideration by a business man in contemplating the claims of a local insurance company unless some such statements as these could be made about it. That the capital of this new company is $100,000,000 subscribed by twenty capitalists, each of whom testifies that he is worth not less than $25,000.00, that all profits, except 10 per cent, which is set aside for a reserve fund, are divided among the policy holders; that policy holders are non assessable.

These features make the company as good as the best. It is a dangerous thing for an individual or a newspaper to give advice to the public about matters in which money is involved; but the Observer, without the slightest reservation, gives its endorsement to the Southern Stock Mutual Insurance Company.—Charlotte Observer.

Tell Him about Your War Chaplain.

Rev. A. D. Betts, of New Berne, N. C., has been chosen to write a history of the chaplain service among the North Carolina troops during the late war. He must have the help of all the living chaplains. He wishes to hear from every one.—They should tell him when their services began and ended, what regiment each served and to what church each belonged and something of their experience and work during the war.

He urges the old soldiers also to write and tell him about the work of their dead chaplains. If the chaplain loved the soldiers enough to go and sleep on frozen ground, to preach to them, they ought to be glad to write about them. Let several hundred letters go to New Berne in a few weeks telling about the chaplains.

Governor.

The room was full of students registering and paying for the courses elected by them or their parents.

As a tall boy from the woods approached the desk the clerk looked up, wondering a little what this boy had in mind. He found out.

"I want to take drugs," he announced.

He meant chemistry. What a pity the college was not homeopathic. Here was a "prover" to hand!—Kate Field's Washington.

George Washington in Mourning.

The bronze statue of George Washington that has so long stood serenely looking down Fayetteville street, wore a new costume yesterday morning.
The statue was draped in mourning, the broad white and black bands hanging gracefully from his figure. Who hung them there or whether George did it himself the keeper of the capitol does not know. But a great many people here thought it about time for the immortal "Father of his Country" to put on crepe.—News
