Bethel Items.

There were no services in the Methodist church Sunday on account of the Baptist Union meeting.

Mr. L. B. Barnhill, who has been in the United States Army for the past three years, returned home last week.

Mr. Bruce Williams, of Burgaw, attorney for the Atlantic Coast Line, spent Saturday night in town on legal business.

The Roanoke Baptist Union met with Bethel church last Friday morning and held until Sunday. There was a very large crowd present on Sunday. Many of the ablest preachers of that denomination in this section were present. The preaching and addresses all were very good.

Mr. W. R. James was married to Miss Fannie L. Bullock on Wednesday evening, March 27th, 1895, at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. John A. Bullock, of Belvoir Township, D. C. Moore, Esq., officiating. The attendants were W. J. Bryan and Miss Laura Spain, Willie Lewis and Miss Lucy James, Frank Clark and Miss Ida James, H. E. Bryan and Miss Lucy Clark, Eddie Lewis and Miss Huldah James, Caddy James and Miss Lydia A. Bullock, N. A. Worsley and Miss Sarah Carson, Howell B. Bullock and Miss Delia James. After the marriage the bridal party and invited guests went to the home of the groom's father Mr. R. S. James, in Bethel township, where an elegant supper awaited them. The bride and groom were the recipients of many handsome and valuable presents.

According to a people's saying, this is a dry moon.

NEARER HOME.

What is Haopening Over the State.

The Statesville Landmark complains of an epidemic of meat stealing in that town.

A Yadkin county boy forged a 5 cent order and was sent to the penitentiary a year for it.

Ex Senator Ransom, now Minister to Mexico, left Friday for his post of duty, his son Robert accompanying him.

A leading Populist from Vance county said he will return to the Democracy and denounce fusion and carry 500 votes with him.

James Callette, a promising young man, living near Cana, Davie county, committed suicide by shooting himself with a shotgun.

Reports from towns in various sections show that the whole State is stirred up over that fool mortgage bill sneaked through by the Legislature.

In Surry court the grand jury returned a true bill against two colored women for murdering a child last fall. Their crime was a horrible one. They built a fire and placed the little girl over it, letting the blaze run into its mouth and throat until it died.

The prisoners in Johnston county jail escaped Friday night. They were in a steel cell, but discovered that the lock of the door was defective and broke it. They then cut through a brick wall and fled.

Bessie Nail, the little daughter of Mrs. S. B. Nail, was badly hurt Wednesday evening. She was carrying a pitcher through the house, when she fell, breaking the pitcher and cutting her arm nearly in two on a piece of the glass.—Charlotte Observer.

Poll Holders.

At their meeting Monday night the Town Council appointed the following as poll holders for the election to be held first Monday in May:

- 1st Ward—J. W. Suydam and S. P. Humphrey.
- 2nd Ward—A. B. Ellington and G. F. Evans.
- 3rd Ward—O. D. Rountree and Moses King.
- 4th Ward—W. P. Hall and Jesse Reed.

THE WOOL IN MY CLOTHING

Grows on a sheep's back and not on a cotton stalk. It would be a good idea for you to see that your Spring Suit is made of the kind that grows on a sheep, because it is better in every respect---wears better, looks better, holds color better and is finer.

Our $5, $8 and $10 Spring Suits are made of this kind of wool and they fit just like tailor made. All grades, all colors and all shapes.

Fat or lean, I can fit you.

FRANK WILSON,

The Leader in Clothing.

P. S.---I can take your measure and make a beautiful Suit of Clothes.

Quinerly Notes.

April 2nd 1895.

Mr. J. L. Patrick was the first to plant corn.

Miss Essie Brooks spent the past week at Maple Cypress.

Miss Rosa Quinerly is quite sick.

Mr. Jarvis Harding, of Greenville, is visiting relatives here.

Messrs. J. P. Quinerly, L. J. Chapman and C. J. Tucker went to Greenville yesterday.

Mrs. J. P. Quinerly returned home to day after spending some time visiting relatives in Washington.

Marriage Licenses.

The Register of Deeds issued only four marriage licenses last week, two for white and two for colored couples. They were W. R. James and Fannie L. Bullock, Arthur Forbes and Lula Fields, Ben Stephens and Fannie Little, Joseph Battle and Ida Clemmons. The total number for March was twenty one, thirteen white and eight colored.

The Town Councilmen last night discussed the advisability of purchasing a fire engine and adjourned to meet again this afternoon for further consideration of the matter. There is no question about the town needing protection against fire.

NEWS OFF THE WIRE.

Served by our "Leased" Underground Cable---(Limited).

Sixty clerks, mostly women have been dismissed from the Treasury Department.

A trolley car going down an incline near Hazleton, Pa., ran away and killed three passengers.

A freight train on the Norfolk & Western Railroad fell forty feet through a burning trestle in Ohio. Eighteen loaded cars were destroyed.

The official monthly statement of the Treasury for March show that the excess of expenditure over receipts was a little than $750,000, and they are being nearly able to "pay their own."

EVERY AFTERNOON (EXCEPT SUNDAY).

They have been enjoying boss times out in the Nebraska Legislature, too. Senator Stewart had a fight with the Sergeant at arms, and when the matter was called up for correction the belligerent Senator took a vote of censure rather than apologize.

The west had some of all kinds of weather the past week. In some of the States out there the temperature got elevated away up in the eighties then all of a sudden down it went. A blizzard struck Colorado Saturday and a heavy snow storm set in. There was thunder and lightning and snow all at one time.

L. W. Smith, of Raleigh, a Republican, tells some caucus secrets and hotly scores Mr. Ewart. He gives several quotations from the would-be judge—for instance: "Let us dictate the appointment to the Governor." It seems, however that the Governor knew his prerogatives and did not fail to exercise his constitutional rights.

Mr. Joseph Daniels writes an interesting letter from Washington giving a brief account of the case of Pritchard vs. Settle, in reference to the vote of North Carolina in the next Republican convention to nominate a candidate for President. Pritchard has promised this vote for McKinley. Settle has assured Tom Reed that he shall have it. Thus the battle has begun and promises to be an interesting one as both men are good fighters with good backers.

It is amusing to hear the various excuses that are given by the Fusionists for voting to adjourn in honor of Fred Douglas. The latest is one that would show the intelligence of the body. It is this "I did not know that Fred Douglas was a negro, or I never would have voted to adjourn in his honor." This is either a willful falsehood or it marks an ignoramus for Crews stated that the most distinguished one of their race was dead, &c. when he offered the resolution. If any fellow could see Crews and not know a man who was of his race is not a negro then he is hardly fit for a legislator. For if there was ever one man that is so black that he shines it is Bill Crews, the misrepresentative of Granville county in the last Legislature.

TO MAKE WAR ON TIGHTS.

A bill has been introduced in the New York Legislature prohibiting any women from "appearing in tights or any indecent costume at any place where male persons assembled." An offence is deemed a misdemeanor and is to be punished by imprisonment of not less than 30 days or more than one year.

Any person who procures any woman to so appear shall upon just conviction be punished by imprisonment of not less than three months, nor more than one year, and upon each subsequent conviction shall be sentenced to State's prison for a term of not less than two years nor more than five years, or by a fine or not less than $100, nor more than $1,000.

The posting of theatrical or other bills with indecent pictures is to be prohibited, as is also the publication of so called high-art pictures in any magazines, newspapers or other publication.

It is not surprising to learn that the abandonment of the State Fair is under consideration. For a number of years it rested upon the check book of Hon. Thos. M. Holt, who has spent more money, in one way and another, without any return, for the advancement of North Carolina interests, than any except a very few people have any idea of. Last year it cost Col. Julian S. Carr large money. Citizens of large wealth undoubtedly owe more to the State than those in humble circumstances, but there is no reason in asking the wealthiest citizen to go on indefinitely in his expenditures for purely public purposes.—Charlotte Observer.

THE WILDEST LAND.

Oregon Has the Roughest Tract Known to Man.

Assistant Chief Goode, of the United States geological survey, who visited Oregon last summer, says the wildest region of the entire United States is an area of one thousand square miles lying in the mountains between Roseburg and Coquille in Douglas and Coos counties. He describes it as a mysterious undiscovered country, in which roams undisturbed wild game, and whose brooks and rivers are filled with wild fowl. It is nearly all covered with a dense growth of pine, fir, hemlock and other trees. Many of the trees are of enormous size, and stand so closely that it is difficult for men to make their way between them. Where the trees are not so thick the heavy growth of bushes of various kinds takes their place. It is a country that is filled with all kinds of wild game, including, as reported to him, elk, different kinds of bear, mountain lions, deer and other animals, including lynx and others. There are also the varied kinds of fowl. The streams all have an abundance of trout and other kinds of fish. He penetrated into the wilds a dozen miles and saw things that filled him with wonder at the vastness of the forest, and that anyone should attempt to live in it.—Northwest

Christina Rossetti.

By the death of Christina Rossetti, literature, and not English literature alone, loses the one great modern poetess. There is another English poetess, indeed, who has gained a wider fame; but the fame of Mrs. Browning, like that of her contemporary, and, one might almost say, companion, George Sand, was of too immediate and temporary kind to last. The very feminine, very emotional work of Mrs. Browning, which was really, in the last or first result, only literature of the L. E. L. order, carried to its furthest limit, roused a sort of womanly enthusiasm, in precisely the same way as the equally feminine, equally emotional work of George Sand. In the same way, only in a lesser degree, all the women who have written charming verse—and how many there have been in recent times!—have won, and deservedly, a certain reputation as poetesses among poetesses. In Miss Rossetti we have a poet among poets, and in Miss Rossetti alone. Content to be merely a woman, wise in limiting herself within somewhat narrow bounds, she possessed, in union with a profoundly emotional nature, a power of artistic self-restraint which no other woman who has written in verse has ever shown; and it is this mastery over her own nature, this economy of her own resources, that she takes rank among poets rather than among poetesses.—Eclectic.

You're Another!

A good story is told about the smart sergeant of a crack cavalry regiment. Whenever he had occasion to punish any of his men, he invariably concluded the sentence by exclaiming: "And you are another." Every victim noticed this strange remark, but none could understand the meaning of it, and, naturally, they were afraid to ask. But one day a newly-promoted sergeant determined to solve the mystery. He said to the sergeant:

"Sergeant, there is one thing I should like to ask you. I've often heard you say, after inflicting punishment on a man: 'And you are another.' What do you really mean by that remark?"

"Well," said the sergeant, smiling, "I will tell you. I know that whenever I am obliged to punish an evil-doer the victim always says to himself: 'What a stupid ass the sergeant is!' I get even with him by saying: 'And you are another.' Keep it dark."—Boston Post.

Napoleon Portraits.

No face is better known through portraits than that of Napoleon, yet the best-known picture of the great Corsican is believed to be the least reliable. There are in existence over fifty portraits taken in his own time, and the variance between them is so great that it is sometimes difficult to trace any resemblance. It is evident that the portraits by David are idealized, while the little-known portrait by Trumbull represents him as a beefy, overfed man, with little intellectuality of expression. In youth and during the last few years of his life he was undoubtedly ugly; between 1800 and 1810, after his emaciation disappeared and before he became gross, he was only passably good looking. There were in his face and manner a personal dignity and an air of command that inspired respect in all beholders.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat

Peculiarity of Man.

He was leaving the crowd where the theater tickets for a big engagement were being sold. There was a happy look on his face, which suddenly vanished. He put his hand to his temple and then he said:

"I guess I'll hunt up some quiet place and kick myself. That's what I'll do."

"What's the matter?" asked the friend who had overtaken him.

"I have been letting the calcium light of mathematics into the opalescent mist of my enthusiasm," he replied.

"What do you mean?"

"I've just figured it out that I've stood out in the storm in line for five hours to pay extra money for a theater seat rather than stand up for three hours at the performance, where it's warm and comfortable!"

Last Year and This.

All well remember how warm the months of February and March of last year were, causing all the fruit trees to bloom, and by the last of March, when the big freeze came, young peaches and pears were about as large as the end of your little finger. Quite a contrast with those months last year and this, the close of March just past finding fruit trees just getting in bloom. Mr. Allen Warren, who keeps a daily noon record of temperature at Riverside Nurseries, tells us that the 27th of March, 94, the date of the sudden freeze, the temperature at noon registered 36 degrees, while the same date and hour this year it was 66. Mr. Warren expresses all confidence for a bountiful fruit crop this year.
