LOCAL NOTES AND TOBACCO JOTTINGS

BY O. L. JOYNER.

In the Field.

Capt. E. M. Pace says he was walking across a tobacco field, a few days ago, and looking toward the barn noticed a commotion. Going in that direction he soon found that there was considerable excitement and on reaching the barn found that a hog weighing 35 or 40 pounds had been run into one of the furnaces. Finding it too warm for him (the heat being 150 in the barn) the hog rushed out of one and turned and run into the other through the fire, up the flues to the T. joint. It is needless to say that when taken out he was cooked.

Foxes are getting so numerous in the vicinity of Mr. John Quinerley's that fox hunters, with good dogs, are welcome visitors. A few nights ago, after Mr. Quinerley came in from the field he heard one of his dogs everlastingly squalling down the lane in front of his house. Catching up his gun and pistol (for he surmised what it was) he made haste to the scene of the trouble. On arriving he saw a large fox have his dog by the jaw shaking him for life and death. Mr. Quinerley caught the hind legs of the fox but it was not until he fired a pistol ball through the fox's head that he turned loose the dog.

On the Breaks.

Several buyers came in Wednesday night.

Primings began coming in soon this morning. They show pretty good color.

Mr. W. J. Stem came in from Oxford Monday and will locate on this market as a buyer.

Mr. E. R. Aiken, of Durham, has taken a position as auctioneer at the Star Warehouse.

Mr. H. C. Cannon, from near Rountrees church, is at the Greenville, keeping books for Messrs. L. F. Evans & Co.

Clever, genial, Frank Hodges, is at his post looking happier than he ever did before.

Messrs. T. E. Roberts and R. H. Hayes came in Wednesday night. Mr. Roberts is the senior partner of T. E. Roberts & Co., the junior member being Mr. Hayes, at this place. We understand they expect to do a very large business here this season. There is no one who knows better how to make good selections than Henry Hayes, and there is no market on which he can get better tobacco than Greenville.

Ocracoke Fishing.

"Uncle John" Cherry reports that fishing is fine at Ocracoke. A few days ago Mr. Lat Williams, of Wilson, caught with pole and line a sheephead that weighed 10 pounds and 5 ounces, and hung another so large that his line broke. Many big drum have been taken and the trout catch is immense.

New Boarding House.

Mrs. Della Gay has opened a boarding house in the college building, which she has rented for that purpose. She will keep a good house and it will be a great convenience to the tobacco men especially. See advertisement.

The Southerner says this is the last summer month, but if September don't make you sweat we will quit prophesying.

OPENING BREAKS.

The Season Opens With a Good Sale.

The Greenville tobacco market had a splendid opening to-day, planters being here from Pitt, Greene, Lenoir, Craven and Beaufort counties. Each of the four warehouses had a sale, the aggregate offered on the floors being 15,000. The Star led off with the first and largest sale, having 7,500 pounds on its floor. The Planters and Eastern had sales next in the order named with about 3,000 pounds each, and the Greenville had the closing sale with about 2,000 pounds.

The bulk of the offerings was primings, ranging from $5 to $12 in price, but we noticed several piles knocked off at $20, $25 and $30. Considering the character of the tobacco offered the farmers were well pleased with the prices obtained. There was no effort to get a large quantity of tobacco here for the opening break, and the warehousemen are highly elated that so much came in, taking it as an indication that Greenville is going to have a big season.

You can always count on Greenville, both for tobacco and prices.

CONTEMPT PROCEEDINGS AGAINST AN EDITOR.

Judge Ewart is holding Buncombe Criminal Court. Last week a murder case came up, a change of venue was asked for and His Honor removed the case to Henderson county. The Asheville Citizen, commenting editorially on the case, respectfully but firmly dissented from Judge Ewart's action, saying that the prisoner could have obtained a fair trial in Buncombe, and that the removal of the case was an unwarranted reflection upon the people of the county. Thereupon Judge Ewart ordered the editor of the Citizen, Mr. F. E. Robinson, to appear before him and show cause why he should not be attached for contempt. Several prominent lawyers of the Asheville bar volunteered to defend the editor and when the case was called Saturday J. S. Adams, Locke Graige, J. D. Murphy and Judge Chas. Moore appeared for him. Judge Ewart claimed that the article was written with the intention of humiliating and misrepresenting the court. The editor claimed that the court was not misrepresented; that the criticism was made in pursuance of the rights of the press under the constitution of the United States and North Carolina as well and denied that any contempt was intended. Judge Ewart, after a long decision from the bench, during which he displayed great feeling, ended by sentencing the editor to pay a fine of $250 and be imprisoned in the common jail of Buncombe county for 30 days. An appeal was taken. Bond was fixed at $2,000 which was promptly made up by the leading citizens of Asheville.

Commenting upon the above the Statesville Landmark says:

The Landmark passes its sympathy to Editor Robinson, of the Asheville Citizen. North Carolina jails are not the pleasantest places in the world and if he has to stay in the common jail of Buncombe county for 30 days in addition to laying out $250 in cold cash, he is to be commiserated. Lightness aside, we assure the Citizen's editor of our cordial sympathy and hearty support. His case in one that vitally affects every editor in North Carolina and is of vital importance to the people of the State as well. Whenever the day comes that any man who may be elevated to the bench can summon before him any editor who dares criticize his official conduct—no matter how respectfully or with what degree of fairness that criticism may be made—pass upon the case himself, adjudge the defendant guilty and fine and imprison him for contempt—we say, whenever that day comes, goodbye to the freedom of the press and to free speech, and goodbye to the liberty of the people. It affects the people because the newspapers are the best friends the people have, and when they are estopped from freely telling the people about men and measures, then the people will suffer.

AWAY OUT WEST.

ARDMORE, I. T., July 20, 1895.

EDITOR REFLECTOR:

Seeing nothing in your columns from the far away West in quite a while, I will in a general way give your readers, some of whom are my friends, what information our limited time and knowledge will permit, and trust that our faith in the future prospect of our admiration of this country will not cause us to overdraw the picture or magnify the resources of this favorable spot of God's creation.

The first thing that a Tar Heel will notice here is the rush of business and the absence of Indians. There is but a handful of full blood Chicksaws left and they are huddled together in the vicinity of Stonewall on Tislongo living in small cabins a life of indolence and poverty.

Two Federal courts have jurisdiction over this part of the Territory. The two courts are conducted by United States Marshals and their deputies, the officers being paid for their labor. The Marshal's fees for arresting a man with a flask of whiskey on him (and they almost turn his shirt wrong side out toe) is about fifty dollars.

Many of the deputy marshals are clever and accommodating, doing what they can to suppress crime, but there are others, armed with Winchesters and six-shooters, who are the worst type of desperadoes, and will stoop to almost anything for a small fee, and in my opinion, this class of officers have done more to give the Indian Territory a bad name than all things else combined.

Within the last five years this country has been completely changed from a stock growing to an agricultural country, the soil yielding bountiful harvest to the plowman!

The stock business is relegated to the past and can never thrive again in the boundary of the five civilized tribes. There are about seventy-five thousand white people in the Chicksaw nation. They have opened up farming, built school and church houses, and it is difficult for one to realize that this is the Indian Territory.

The idea that the people of the Territory are cut throats and thieves is quickly dispelled by associating with them, for a more prosperous, enterprising and industrious people I never met.

The soil of this section is from two to ten feet in depth, and the general crops raised are, corn, wheat, oats, cotton and potatoes, in fact almost everything can be raised here that is grown in a tropical region. Usually one man and team cultivates from fifty to seventy-five acres.

There is one farm near here containing 17,000 acres. Another the Smith Paul farm of Paul's Valley, raising 100,000 bushels of corn, &c.

This is in the Indian Territory where no man owns in individual or absolute right a warranted title to a foot of land. Yet no embarrassment can keep the people from reaping the reward of toil from this "land of promise" in which to day not a white man has legal residence, where cyclones, female suffrage and whiskey are prohibited.

No more beautiful country ever greeted the eyes of man than the Indian or Oklahoma Territory, when they have put on their summer suit of green and nodding flowers.

At this point the great "Sante Fe Flyer" passes through some beautiful scenery, wandering gracefully around the Wachita river, flying through the famous big Congo of the Arbuckle mountains.

Ere long this strip of country will be thrown open to settlers. A busy population will swarm over these prairies, palatial residences will take the places of the cabins and dugouts and the Indian Territory will disappear from the maps and in its place there will be two new States with Indian names perhaps, which will be all that will remain to remind coming generations of the fact that at one time all that vast territory was the exclusive home of the civilized, semi-civilized and the wild tribes of Indians.

BLACK ROSES.

The Unique Production of a German Gardener.

We learn, on good authority, that a certain enterprising gardener has at last succeeded in producing a black rose—"as black as soot," as he proudly declares. Perhaps it is needless to say that this persevering, but rather melancholy, person is a German. So far his achievement is unique, though green roses were obtained some time ago by a member of his fraternity. Science, we suppose, makes every experiment worth while, otherwise one would be tempted to question whether the result were worth the trouble taken, as a black rose certainly cannot, from a purely Philistine point of view, be considered as beautiful as a pink or yellow one. Moreover, the good man is a trifle behind the times, since the artificial flower makers succeeded in making us all thoroughly tired of black roses quite a twelve-month ago. It is to be hoped that the craze for unnaturally colored flowers will not spread, otherwise we shall see black lilies, like those in the mosaic pavement of Santa Maria de Flori, in Florence, and what a misfortune that would be.—Lady.

Queer Pool Playing.

"There are many ways of playing pool, but the queerest way I ever saw the game played was at the Louisville hotel the other night," said a rounder. "He was a young man, and was the admired of every pool player in the room.

"He played with two cues, but never struck a ball with his cue. He held a cue in each hand, with the points touching. He picked his cue ball up with the cues and rolled it back into the groove formed by holding the cues nearly together.

"Then he took aim, and slanting his cues down let the cue ball shoot down the improvised groove. He rarely missed running from five to ten balls every time his turn to shoot came."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

AUGUST FACES.

Shown by People Stirring Around These Warm Days.

Mr. A. Cohn, of Newbern, is in town

Dr. H. O. Hyatt, of Kinston, came over this morning.

Mr. J. T. Williams returned this morning from Kinston where he had been for two days.

Messrs. J. E. Exum, of Snow Hill, and W. J. Pope, of Fountain Hill, were on the breaks to-day.

Mr. R. H. Hayes returned Wednesday evening from his summer vacation. Everybody welcomes him back.

Miss Rosa Winstead of Rocky Mount is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. King, at the King House.

Messrs. J. A. Higgs and son, of Raleigh, very popular drummers, have been showing samples to our merchants to-day.

Mr. J. A. Cherry went to Tillery this morning to attend the funeral of a niece and to remain a few days with his people.

Miss Sallie Grimes, of Robersonville, who has been visiting Miss Mattie Tucker, took the cars here this morning for her home.

Messrs. D. E. Perry, J. W. Gralinger, B. W. Canaday and J. E. Sugg, of Hanson, came over this morning to attend the opening of the tobacco market.

The State Auditor says he has up to this date licensed forty-seven building and loan associations to do business in this State. Of these nineteen are from other States, four being from Virginia, five from Tennessee, one from Louisiana, five from Georgia, one from New Hampshire, two from New York and two from Connecticut.

A Good Beginner.

Mr. Andrew Jackson, of Vanceboro, was here to-day with a load of tobacco for the opening break. He came by to subscribe for the REFLECTOR before leaving town and told us that this was his first year at tobacco culture. He planted four acres, cultivated it himself, and has cured two barns without assistance or instruction. He brought some primings to the sale and got $7.50 for them. That looks like he knows what he is doing.

A NEW MONTH.

Brings New Items, and The Reflector Gets Them.

August.

Eighth month.

Hurrah for the Greenville tobacco market.

Five Thursdays, five Fridays and five Saturdays in this month.

All kinds cool drinks and fruits at J. L. Starkey & Co's.

Now for a whooping tobacco season. Greenville is going to sell her share of the weed.

Butter kept in refrigerators at J. L. Starkey & Co's.

Dr. Warren's black put in some lively stepping, Wednesday evening, and made a mile in 2:36.

Prayer meeting in the Baptist church to-night. A church conference will be held after the services.

New Corned Mullets and Cod Fish at S. M. Schultz.

Things seem to put on new life to-day. The opening of the tobacco market will help Greenville all around.

With the tobacco season open and the fall nearly here every merchant now ought to be advertising. It pays to use space in the REFLECTOR.

Still a greater reduction in summer goods at Lang's.

Don't forget that the Collegiate Institute will open on the 26th. English, Ancient and Modern Languages, Elocution and Art will be taught and Music, as a specialty, by a skilled musician, on first-class Instruments. Calisthenics free.

For the best Cigar in town go to J. L. Starkey & Co.

"Know thyself," was the significant inscription written by the wise Grecian above the portico of the Delphic temple. Self-knowledge is the first and greatest attainment of all sciences. There is a vast deal of time and energy lost at this day by people in the pursuit of other people's business that might find better employment in following the wise injunction of the men of Athens.
