LOCAL NOTES AND TOBACCO JOTTINGS

BY O. L. JOYNER.

Fully half the crop has already been cured, if not two-thirds, and from best reports the cures have been fairly good.

Mr. G. P. Fleming, of Clarks-ville, Va., came in Wednesday night and will locate on this market. He is a very extensive buyer we are told.

Winston's decrease in the sales of leaf tobacco this year according to the President of the Winston Tobacco Association is 1,348,108 pounds.

Pitt, one of the new tobacco producing counties of Eastern North Carolina, is importing tobacco curers from the old bright belt at a rapid rate. More than a hundred have been employed, at an average pay of $40 per month.—Danville Tobacco Journal.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has brought suit against the American Tobacco Company to recover license fees for doing business in that State, for the year commencing July 1st, 1895. The defense claims that if the legislature of Pennsylvania has passed any laws subjecting them to a fee for license that it is unconstitutional in that it conflicts with the Inter-State Commerce Law.

There were many pleased farmers on the breaks to-day. That is a result of selling tobacco on the Greenville market.

Confederate Reunion.

The officers of Bryan Grimes Camp of Pitt county Confederate Veterans have handed the REFLECTOR the following names which compose the dinner committee for the reunion and picnic to be held in the College grove, near Greenville, on September 5th. It is expected of this committee that they all invite Confederate Veterans in their respective townships to be present, and that they will also solicit baskets of provisions for the dinner.

Beaver Dam—Ruel Willoughby chief, J. F. Allen.

Belvoir—Jesse Bullock and his brother.

Bethel—F. L. Brown, M. A. James.

Carolina—Guilford Moore, W. H. Gurganus.

Chicod—W. C. McGowan, W. W. Tucker.

Contentnea—John Pierce, Biggs Harrington.

Falkland—Elbert Forbes, J. S. Harris.

Farmville—Donald Horton, W. H. Wilkinson.

Greenville—A. C. Nobles, E. L. Briley.

Pactolus—E. P. Daniel, T. H. Langley.

Swift Creek—John H. Cherry, Bryan Buck.

The Committee previously appointed to get a speaker for the occasion expect to be able to report in a few days that they have secured one of the ablest men in the State. This reunion will be a great day for the old soldiers of Pitt. Let them all turn out.

One Boy Shoots Another.

Two small boys, one a son of Mr. W. G. Webb and the other a son of Mr. Tom Hodges, in Belvoir township, were out with a gun Wednesday afternoon. Young Webb had the gun, and while trying to shoot a bird accidentally discharged it, the load striking the Hodges boy in the thigh making a bad flesh wound. Guns are dangerous things for little boys to have.

Editor Reflector.

Please allow me to write to you and tell you of a farm I was walking over the other day. When the farmer asked me to just look at his watermelons we hauled the largest to the house and weighed it and it tipped the balances at two and a half pounds. Then he wanted me to see in his garden. He gave me his largest cabbage for dinner, which measured nearly two inches across. They were the Late Drumhead. and he says are the finest he has ever raised, and he had raised them for twenty years. He is a good Democrat and an excellent farmer, but don't judge his neighbors by what I have told you of him. I also have a neighbor who has worn out several rabbit boxes catching tobacco worms.

L. F. W.

Mr. S. M. Daniel was given a preliminary hearing before Justice J. J. Perkins, this afternoon, under a warrant for slander and was bound over to Superior Court in a bond of $300.

We learn that there was a big break at the opening of the Kingston tobacco market to-day.

The Cherokee form of marriage is, perhaps, the simplest and most expressive to be found among modern people. Man and maiden, their courtship happily ended, simply join hands over a running stream, emblematic of the wish that their future lives shall flow on in the same channel, and the thing is done. Among our other Indian tribes the marriage ceremony is equally simply and effective.

There is every indication that the next election in New York State will wipe out last year's 150,000 Republican majority and substitute in its place a substantial Democratic victory. The present contest between the Republicans and the Democrats in New York cannot fail to result advantageously to the Democrats. "A great change has come over the Democrats since last fall" says the New York Times, "when the outlook was gloomy and the prospects for this year were discouraging. Where six months ago there was left nothing but the divided, defeated and discouraged party there is now a substantially united and hopeful body, seeking to perfect its organization and making a strong effort to win victory that shall be deserved."

Hot Weather Don'ts.

- Don't worry about the weather.
- Don't walk on the sunny side of the street.
- Don't work unless you have to, and then work slowly.
- Don't fail to carry an umbrella if you are exposed long to the sun's rays.
- Don't drink anything to excess. Ice water is about as bad as anything else.
- Don't use a fan. The exercise of working it will overcome all the good you experience.
- Don't think it is the hottest day you ever experienced, and if you do think it, don't say it.

Don't be afraid of perspiration. It is a good sign, and it reduces the temperature of the body.

If you follow out the majority of these don'ts you will feel that you followed the injunction to keep cool.

Don't feel it a duty to look at the thermometer every ten or fifteen minutes during the middle of the day.

Don't make a meal largely composed of meats. Vegetables come at this season of the year especially for the benefit of man.

He Knew Enough.

The esteem in which the sailor's calling is held in Massachusetts coast towns is indicated by a true story that comes from Gay Head, a primitive community on the island of Martha's Vineyard.

A teacher was wanted at the village, and a sailor, with Indian blood in his veins, applied to the town committee for the position. He had to pass an examination by the committee, and trembled at the ordeal, being sadly unlearned in book-lore.

The chairman began the examination:

"Mr. —, what is the shape of the earth?"

"It is round, sir," the candidate answered.

"How do you know?"

"Because I have sailed around it three times."

"That will do, sir!"

He received the "certificate" as a teacher without another question being asked.

"If you die, I will sleep by your grave all the rest of my life." This remarkable vow was made fifteen years ago to his sick wife by Edwin L. Morrison, at that time chief clerk of the Pennsylvania freight department at Miami-ville, Ohio. He built a rude hut at the side of his wife's grave in the cemetery. Now Edwin L. Morrison, once the handsome railroad man, is old, wrinkled and haggard, but still sits in his rude hut by the side of the grave of the woman he loved so well. For fifteen years he has kept up this solemn vigil. In rain or shine, summer or winter, he lingers around the little spot where his loved one lies. Day after day during so many years, he has spent amid the gloom of this old graveyard. No strife of the outer world mars his calm existence.

BRIDES ON THE BIG BRIDGE.

They Wear Gray or Brown Dresses and Quiz the Policemen.

"Was there ever a bride that didn't insist upon having in her trousseau a gray or brown traveling dress?" asks the New York Press.

If you want to answer this question to your own satisfaction walk across the Brooklyn bridge any day, especially in midsummer, and you will see brides by the score.

You can tell them at once by their gray or brown dresses and their leisure. They stroll along with their husbands and look at the river, marvel at the statue of liberty and wonder whether Governor's island could resist an invader, all with a delightful freshness that is restful to the sight of a nervous metropolitan resident.

The policemen on the bridge become wonderfully softened in summer, for they have many colloquies with timid, blushing brides, who believe the police know everything and are animated guide books and encyclopedias rolled into one. And the policemen like the job of telling all about the points of interest to be seen from the bridge, and almost wish that "he" and his bride had nothing to do save to be astonished on the Brooklyn bridge and store up memories to be turned loose on the community at Wayback or Spring City.

One way that brides can be distinguished from ordinary people is by their far-away look. They do not seem to see the people near by. They seem not to care what interest they themselves excite. They are simply ridiculously happy and New York is only a gigantic pleasure ground to them.

The bridegroom? Oh, yes; he is there, of course, but he is only an attendant of the bride and he doesn't count for much on the Brooklyn bridge.

Glass Bricks.

Hollow bricks of glass are being used in the construction of the walls of winter gardens and plant houses. They are so set that the hollows are filled with rarefied air, which is a non-conductor of heat. The bricks are laid in a cement that unites the entire mass firmly. It is thought to be possible to use bricks without any support, and experiments are being made on roofing with this glass, which, put up in arch shape, will, it is hoped, be sufficiently strong to answer all purposes without the wood or iron frames ordinarily used in such buildings. Houses of this material are said to be heated at much less cost than those made after other methods. The light comes through the bricks, and extra windows are not necessary. The system is thought to combine great strength and economy, and if it is a success will almost revolutionize the building of plant houses.

COINING SMALL PIECES.

Uncle Sam Derives a Large Profit from the Occupation.

One of the most profitable occupations of the United States government is found in the coinage of five-cent nickel pieces and one-cent bronze pieces. The cost of the bronze disks from which the cents are stamped is about twenty cents per pound, and a pound of them produces one dollar and forty-six cents. Nickel ready for coinage costs thirty-two cents per pound and a pound produces four dollars and forty-three cents in five-cent pieces. The average profit of seigniorage on the coinage of these minor coins for the past few years has been about six hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

There is a profit, and a considerable one, in the coinage of subsidiary silver coin, but owing to the fact that the United States owns several million ounces of bullion which was purchased at the prevailing high rate of 1890, the profit in that species of coinage is not as great as it would be if the government should go into the open market to-day and buy silver at its market value for this purpose.

There is a big demand at the treasury department for bright new coins of all denominations. Almost every request that is received from banks in various sections of the country for subsidiary coins ask that bright new ones be sent. Every month the street car companies and banks of the capital city turn into the treasury large quantities of nickels, dimes and quarters, for which they receive in turn paper money of large denominations. Of course the money thus redeemed is not "new" and there is no demand for it. The result is that there are large quantities of such subsidiary coin in the vaults of the treasury, and it is impossible to get it into circulation.—Exchange.

Remains of Mastodons on Puget Sound.

Another relic of the prehistoric elephant, of which Whidby island seems to have been a favorite feeding ground in past geologic ages, was found by E. O. Lovejoy on the north side of Penn's cove the other morning. While walking along the beach near the Vroman place he noticed protruding from the bank what appeared to be a large bone. By digging he found that it was a huge tusk, from which a set of billiard balls six or more inches in diameter could have been carved. He dug out a section two and a half feet in length. Upon exposure to the air it soon lost its bony appearance and crumbled away. The strata of Whidby island have long been known to be rich in fossil remains, especially in those of the mastodon or prehistoric elephant, numerous traces of which have been uncovered by the crumbling of banks along the shores.

The Japanese editors have a very nice arrangement to keep themselves out of jail. They employ assistants whose principal business it is to go to jail for the editor when somebody out of the print-shop has to go to jail. This might contribute to the comfort of the editors in Judge Eward's district if the editors out there could work up something of that kind. Then they might criticize the Court and go to jail by proxy, says the Wilmington Star.

Mr. G. P. Fleming, of Clarksville, Va., arrived Wednesday evening and will buy tobacco on this market.

Miss Rosa Winstead, of Rocky Mount, who has been visiting her grand-parents at the King House, returned home to-day.

Capt George Hawks, our passenger train conductor, is enjoying a well earned vacation at Old Point Comfort. Capt. W. L. Jones is on the run in his place.

The REFLECTOR overlooked one of Tuesday evening's arrivals. It is little Miss Maggie Lee Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Bailey, of Clarksville, Va. She is just five weeks old, and their many friends are extending congratulations to the happy parents.

One Hundred and One.

Hale and hearty, despite his great weight of years, Jacob Urban one of the inmates of the Lutheran home for the aged, at Mount Airy, Philadelphia, Monday celebrated his one hundred and first birthday. In honor of so rare an occasion, the entire population of the home united in a celebration of the event.

Mr. Urban has been an inveterate chewer and smoker of tobacco since his boyhood days. With the exception of a shortness of breath his health is quite robust. The centenarian was born in Eckertswecker, Germany, August 5, 1794, and is the son of Jacob Urban, who died at the age of seventy-four. His mother lived until she was ninety years old. She was a vigorous woman up to short time previous to her death.

Not quite so warm to-day.

TOO HOT FOR NEWS.;

But People Look for it all the Same.

On Tuesday lightning killed a valuable cow belonging to Mr. E. S. Phelps, near town.

Still a greater reduction in summer goods at Lang's.

Fourteen people went from here to the Mason's and Odd Fellow's picnic at Scotland Neck to day.

Butter kept in refrigerators at J. L. Starkey & Co's.

The number of new tobacco buyers coming in shows that the Greenville market is going to be lively this season.

Arrived—Gov. Carr's and Sweet Mountain Butter at S. M. Schultz

J. N. Gorman & Co., continue to add improvements to their large prize house. It is the best equipped house here for handling tobacco.

Owing to the increasing demand for Electric Goods C. J. Rogers will remain in Greenville one week longer. Now is the time to secure one of his belts.

Attention Firemen.

The members of Hope Fire Company are notified to be present at a meeting Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock. All absentees will be fined. By order of
A. J. GRIFFIN, Foreman.

They Had A Nest.

Little Girl—Mrs. Brown, Ma wants to know if she could borrow a dozen of eggs. She wants to put 'em under a hen.

Neighbor—So you've got a hen sitting, have you? I didn't know you kept hens.

Little Girl—No ma'am, we don't but Mrs. Smith's going to lend us a hen that's going to set, and ma thought if you'd lend us some eggs we'd find a nest ourselves.
