The Home Merchant.

The home merchant is entitled to your trade and ought to have it, as against the itinerant dealer or the merchant of some distant city. He spends his money here. He builds a home which enhances the value of all property. He helped pay for the church in which you worship, and the school to which you send your children. He cannot afford to misrepresent his goods or swindle you. Self interest alone would prevent this. He stays with you in sunshine and storm, in times of prosperity and days of adversity. He bears his share of the burden of good government. When a subscription paper is passed he is first approached. These are a few of the reasons why you should patronize the home merchant. And if he keeps the goods you want and sells them at the right price, and lets the fact be known by means of an advertisement in the REFLECTOR he will be very apt to get his share of the trade.

She Had Nothing to Do.

A busy wife, tired of hearing her husband declare that woman had nothing to do, made up a little statement of the way she spent her time for one year. She had two children and two servants. Here are a few only of the items which silenced the husband once for all: Number of lunches put up, 1,157; meals ordered, 963; desserts prepared 172; lamps filled and trimmed 328; rooms dusted (a nine room house,) 2,259; dressed children, 786 times; visits received, 879; visits paid, 168; books read, 88; papers read, 553; stories read aloud, 234; games played, 329; church services attended, 125; articles mended, 1,236; articles of clothing made, 120; fancy articles made, 56; letters written, 429; hours at the piano, 20½ hours in Sunday school work. 208; sick days, 44; amusements attended, 10.

Car load of choice Prairie Hay cheap, $1.00 per 100 at S. M. Shultz.

One thing we have noticed all through life is that the employee that has not sufficient interest in his employers business to call it "our business," or "we bought" so and so, or "we sold" so and so, is generally a failure. We would not give a nickle for all the boasted usefulness of no clerk we ever heard that always specks of the business in which he is engaged as Mr. B's store, Mr. C's goods, and Mr. D, has so and so on sale. The fact is, interest in the proper welfare of any business begets a kind of imaginary ownership that the man who never says "we" or "ours" will never acquire, which is necessary to his efficiency.—Washington Messenger.

The railroad authorities could still further improve the grounds around the depot if they would have enough gravel put on the clay hauled there to keep the people from miring almost over their shoes when a little rain softens it up.

EVERY AFTERNOON (EXCEPT SUNDAY)

The Presbyterian church in this State has 144 ministers, 339 churches, 77 candidates for the ministry, 30,292 members, 2,904 number added during the year, 7 churches organized, 15 evangelists and 6 foreign missionaries. There are twenty counties in which there are no Presbyterian church buildings.

The Richmond Times voices Democratic sentiment in the whole country when it says that the thing most needed in the United States today is a real Democratic newspaper published in the city of New York. The World three years ago was such a paper, but has failed latterly in important crises. A paper in New York that would preach in season and out of season the everlasting truths upon which real Democracy is founded would pay handsomely, and be a great factor for good.

The counties having the largest number of Confederate pensioners are: Alleghany, 78; Alexander, 75; Burke, 107; Buncombe 93; Cabarrus, 81; Caldwell, 73; Catawba, 112; Cleveland 141; Cumberland, 95; Davie, 106; Forsyth, 121; Guilford, 82; Iredell, 118; Johnston, 81; Mecklenburg, 93; Randolph, 92; Rowan, 111; Rockingham, 102; Sampson, 80; Stokes, 120; Surry, 115; Union, 80; Wake, 115; Wilkes, 148. Of the counties with very few, Perquimans has 4; Tyrell, 9; Carteret, 4; Chowan, 4; Dare, 1; Graham, 4; Hertford, 7; Beaufort, 5; Pasquotank 7.

Hon. Carroll D. Wright, Commissioner of Labor, in his last report estimates that strikes which have taken place in this country in the past fourteen years, up to June 30, 1895, have cost the strikers in wages lost $190,439,382 and their employers $94,825,287. Thirty-two per cent. of the strikers got what they struck for, 22.46 per cent. were partially successfully and 55.5 per cent. got left.—Wilmington Star.

THE NEGRO.

The other day the New York Tribune harped upon the treatment of the Negro in the South, whereupon the Washington Post, a friend of the Southern people, goes for its contemporary in the following style:

"The South, the South! Always the South. But does the North set the South an example of the helpfulness and brotherly love and neighborly solicitude of which it preaches so effusively? What does the North do for the negro that the South does not? Occasionally some law, like that idiotic statute enacted by the New York Legislature at its last session, makes a false pretense of wholesale recognition; but where in any Northern community does the individual negro find that personal sympathy and kindness which is his without the asking everywhere beyond the Potomac. We have known of instances where a New Jersey seashore hotel was depopulated in a single day at the very height of the season, because the negro servants dared, during the interval of rest, to promenade on the same sands and plank walks, and breathe the same air of heaven as the white guests. Even the broad Atlantic beach was not spacious enough for these festidious Northern philanthropists (who no doubt are anxious to see the negro have justice in the South) and the objects of their theoretical solicitude. Only a few days ago a well-dressed white man rose from his seat in a Brooklyn car and gave it to a poor old colored woman, heavily laden and weary, and the act so astonished the passengers that he was followed and identified as a Southern gentleman. Some one had to write to the newspapers as the only means of relieving his amazement.

"The true test of a community's sentiments and inclinations is its acts, and to that test this controversy may be safely referred by the South. The South gives the negro institutions of learning, opportunities of prosperity, kindness, sympathy, and genuine good will. Does the North do as much for him? We think not—certainly not in such abundant measure and in such a spirit of friendly regard."

Says the New York Tribune: "The profits of our middlemen are excessive. The farmer gets low figures for his wheat, the cattle raiser has only a narrow margin on his beef, the fisherman can make but a scanty living, the miners, the ice workers, the employes of the gas companies, all receive small wages. But when the householder in this city has to buy his flour, his beef, his fish and other things the prices which he is compelled to pay are staggering. Take the man who raises vegetables on Long Island, for instance. He can get only the merest trifle for his potatoes, his lettuce, his cabbages, his beets, his onions and other vegetables in comparison with the sums which the householder is obliged to pay at the retail markets. The altogether unreasonable and extreme profit of the middleman is one of the most dismal afflictions of existence today. That is what is the matter with Southern agriculture."

Educational Value of the Exposition.

Vice-President Stevenson and the jury of awards have prepared and signed an address to the people of the United States on the educational value of the Atlanta Exposition, its important relations in industry and its manifold indications of the progress of the useful and liberal arts. They speak in the highest terms of the comprehensive exhibit made by the government in its own building, the most representative exhibit the government has ever made, the elaborate exhibits of the Southern States, and the contributions by women are pronounced to be admirable illustrations of the fields which they are intended to represent. The address speaks in the highest terms of the exposition throughout, and advises the teachers and students in particular to visit it.

Cotton News.

The present cotton crop will not exceed 6,500,000 bales, which is about 3,000,000 short of the 94 crop. Europe alone consumed 6,500,000 bales last year, and will require fully that much this year. The United States, Mexico, Canada and Japan used 3,000,000 bales last year and will consume more this year, since there are quite a number of new mills to be put in operation during the latter part of 95 and first part of 96.

Hector D. Lane, the cotton authority, basing his opinion on facts from last year's consumption, thinks cotton will soon be 10 1-2 cents per lb., and that farmers will get this price if they are not too fast in selling their crop.

Will Not be so Polite Hereafter

Joe M. Watson, a white man, who lives about two miles from town, but who has employment here, was last week tried at Dobson for retailing and came clear. When the verdict was rendered Mr. Watson was not satisfied with being cleared, but arose and thanked the judge and jury for doing same. The judge quietly instructed Sheriff Adams to give Mr. Watson 60 days on the public roads for thanking a judge and jury for clearing him. Mr. Watson will not be so profuse in offering thanks in the future.—Mt. Airy News.

W. S. Bernard, returned to Chocowin its Sunday.

W. W. Worthington returned to Weldon today.

J. S. Joyner, of Baltimore, has been in town a few days.

W. B. Bynum, of Wilson, has been spending a few days with W. K. Parker

Rev. J. H. Edwards, of Raleigh, will deliver a lecture in the Baptist church Tuesday night.

Miss Dora Carr, of Castoria, who spent a few days with Miss Novella Higgs, returned home Sunday.

A. H. Criteher, has moved his family to Greenville and occupies one of the new Munford buildings in Forbestown.

A Neighborly Message.

San Diego, Cal., has at least one woman with a genius for invention. Being bothered by neighbors' chickens invading her garden, she hit upon a novel scheme. She tied a lot of small cards with strong threads to big kernels of corn, and wrote on the cards, "Please keep your chickens at home." The chickens ate the corn and carried the message to their owners in a fashion that was startling and effective.

Riches do not Bring Happiness.

Speaking of rich men, Joe Howard, the veteran journalist says that wealth does not bring happiness. A man fifty years old with $10,000,000 at his command has no more mental and physical comfort than he had when he was twenty years old with an income just sufficient to keep him up in social circle in which he then moved. A boy who has never felt the pinch of poverty does not feel any happier when he grows up and is able to draw his check for $100,000.

A good many people would like to experience the feeling attending a big bank account.

Boys are apt to be forgetful about a good many things, but they do not often start off to school on Saturday morning.

NOVEMBER NOTES.

Sung in the Key of "G"—Join the Choir of Readers.

Town Council meets to-night.

Several of the States will hold elections tomorrow.

25,000, Earley Jersey Wakefield Cabbage plants for sale at the Riverside Nurseries.

There were several land sales before the Court House door to-day.

The State Sunday School Convention meets in Goldsboro on the 25th.

Do you want a stove at the old price. Then buy before Dec. 1st, the price will be advanced on that date. D. D. HASKETT

The Register of Deeds office in the Court House has been moved across the passage to the Grand Jury room, to give room for the building of the vaults.

There was a slight fire at the Greenville Lumber Co's mill this morning. The whistle blew an alarm but the fire was extinguished before any damage or consequence was done.

The celebrated clown, John Lowlow, says the "Southern Leader" is the best cigar he ever smoked. For sale at D. S. Smith's.

It looks almost like a factory to see the quantities of furniture loading and unloading at J. B. Cherry & Co's. Their handlings in this line are simply immense.

From the way that occupants come in for new houses as fast as they are completed it can be judged that it is profitable to build houses in Greenville. The population of the town grows steadily and houses are no. allowed to remain vacant.

The reason so many people go to D. S. Smith for a smoke is because he keeps a full line of the very best brands of cigars and they are sure to get suited.

Lecture Tuesday Night.

Rev. J. Hartwell Edwards will lecture in the Baptist church Tuesday night on "Female Education." He is an attractive speaker and the people of Greenville may expect something good, and they are cordially invited to be present. This is a subject of vast importance to parents and their daughters; hence, no one in town should fail to hear this lecture. Then when the bell rings, close up business for an hour and go.
