I am making room for a dandy Spring Stock and will lower prices on all goods to accommodate them. The new year caught us with a little too many goods to carry over so will rush them out at bottom figures. See me for great bargains. C. T. MUNFORD, Next Door to Bank, Greenville.

'TIS SAID IN LIFE WE WEAVE A WEB.

T. R. MAGILL.

'Tis said in life we weave a web
And that we daily spin the thread
That pictures true the life we've led
When we but die.

For every act in life's a thread
That's woven in this honest web,
For naught against it can be said
That's just or true.

For we in life just spin the thread
And Father Time but weaves the web
But be it our's let it be said
To spin aright.

'Tis said in life we weave a web,
Let no dark stain be on its thread
But live and die without a dread
Of smirch or stain.

'Tis said in life we weave a web
Be careful how we spin its thread
For it will tell ere we are dead
It's own true tale.

Then while in life we spin our web
Oh nothing spin but honest thread,
So when complete it may be said
We have done well.

Rev. A. S. Barnes, the new pastor of the Methodist church, filled his pulpit Sunday morning and night and preached two excellent sermons.

Mr. Wallace Manning, aged sixty five years, after an illness of two days of heart trouble, died Saturday morning. Funeral services were conducted in the Methodist church Sunday at 11:30 o'clock, after which he was interred about one mile from town. An honest man and good citizen has died.

THE BONNER CASE.

Jury Selected and the Taking of Evidence Begun.

[Special to Reflector.]

WASHINGTON, N. C., Dec. 14th.— Court adjourned last night at 8 o'clock, having completed the jury after working all day. The following compose the jury: J. T. Boyd, John L. Peal, J. A. Robinson, A. P. Lewis, E. S. Norfleet, F. H. Waters, R. T. Waters, G. H. Elliott, B. F. Braddy, J. C. Ricks, Louis Alligood and J. B. Woolard.

After the jury was selected they were empaneled and the bill of indictment read. Court then adjourned until 9:30 o'clock this morning.

Solicitor Leary, Messrs. Chas. F. Warren, W. B. Rodman and J. H. Small represent the State. Messrs. S. T. Beckwith, Jas. E. Moore and B. B. Nicholson appear for the Bell boys. Brantley is represented by Mr. E. S. Simmons and David Credle by Messrs. S. C. Bragaw and S. S. Mann.

The examination of the State's witnesses began this morning. J. B. Sawyer was the first witness put upon the stand. He testified in substance that he was at Aurora Sunday after Bonner was killed. That he found a man's hat on street near Bonner's house, picked up hat and walked on down street. He met John Chapin and asked him whose hat it was; hung hat on the fence or post at Gaskin's house. There were no marks on hat. He also saw a belt down the street near Sugg's house. The place where the body was found was shown him and hat was found 10 or 12 feet from that point.

C. C. Bryan testified that he knew Bonner and searched for him after having been told that he was missing. Went to Gaskin's house and saw and recognized the hat as Bonner's. He in company with W. H. Gaskin and W. B. Bryan went up street, he up left and they on right side. He found Bonner's body over in the field about 10 feet from the fence, saw no signs of any scuffle. Found that he had been shot in the forehead. The weeds were high in the field and were broken between the body and fence. He then went to Bonner's house, eyes of the deceased were open. This was between 7 and 8 o'clock Sunday morning.

Dr. D. T. Tayloe testified: I am a brother of the Coroner, Dr. J. Tayloe, went to Aurora with him and assisted in the postmortem examination, Bonner had three wounds. The wound in forehead was not fatal, another pistol wound was found in left side which went through all the vital parts of the body, this was the fatal wound. Dr. Tayloe stated the location of each wound and the balls extracted from the body were shown the jury.

Dr. J. Tayloe, Coroner, stated that he conducted the inquest. His statement was about the same as that of Dr. D. T. Tayloe as to the wounds, etc. R. T. Bonner, W. G. Hudnell, J. B. Whitehurst have been examined at this writing 12:30 P. M.

The aged father of the murdered man and the wife of defendant Brantley are attentive listeners to the proceedings of the case.

A Minister to Marry.

Rev. C. M. Billings left this morning for Riedsville near which place he will be married Wednesday evening to Miss Addie Moore, of Rockingham county. He has the best wishes of many friends here.

An English magistrate has recently decided that throwing rice at a newly married couple is an assault. Rice should never be thrown at newly married people. If you must throw anything, throw a brick. You stand a much better chance of making a hit than an impression.

The Grand Lodge meets at Raleigh in regular session to-day. Hundreds of Masons are expected to attend.

Mr Swanson, of Virginia, has introduced a bill abolishing the fee system to the United States marshals, commissioners, district attorneys and other Federal officers.

It is not improbable that this Congress will witness much such a snarl as was seen in the last. The Senate, as a free coinage body, will not pass any financial measure, the bond bill or any other, which does not embrace the free coinage of silver.

The Cost of Cotton.

The Labor Commissioner says that it costs $22.50 to make a bale of cotton in North Carolina, and gives the cost of a pound at 54 cents.

If the Commissioner is right in his estimate of $22.50 as the average cost of the bale then the cost per pound is certainly not more than 4 1/2 cents.

DIXIE.

The Original Words as Written by Dan Emmet.

I wish I was in de land ob cotton, 'Cimmon seed and sandy bottom, Look away, look away, look away, Dixie land!

CHORUS.

Den I wish I was in Dixie, hooray, hooray! In Dixie's land we'll take our stand, To lib and die in Dixie.

Old missus marry Will de weaver, William was a gay deceaber; Look away, look away, look away, Dixie land!

His face was as sharp as a butcher's cleaber, But dat did nct seem to greab 'er; Look away, look away, look away, Dixie land!

Old missus acted de foollest part, And died for a man dat broke her heart, Look away, look away, away Dixie land!

Now here's health to de next old missus, An' all de gals dat want to kiss us, Look away, look away, look away, Dixie land!

But if you want to drive 'way sorrow Come and hear dis song to-morrow, Look away, look away, away Dixie land!

Dar's buckwheat-caks an' Injun batter, Makes you fat or a little fatter, Look away, look away, look way, Dixie land!

Den hoe it down an' scratch your grabble, To Dixie's land I'm bound to trabble, Look away, look away, away, Dixie land!

READ-UP IN THE NEWS.

How Some Women Read the Newspapers and What They Learn.

"Oh, isn't it interesting, Julia, about this Venezuelan trouble?" said a woman on the elevated train the other morning, according to the New York Evening Sun.

"What Venezuelan trouble?" asked the other woman.

"Why, don't you know? We're likely to go to war with Venezuela, and it's all on account of—well, I declare, I've forgotten just what it's on account of, but it's something or other to do with the tariff or the income tax or the silver question.

"When will it begin?" asked the other woman.

"Oh, they're not certain yet. But it'll be very soon. As I say, I think England's mixed up in it somehow, and so is Samoa, and I won't be sure but I think that England has something to do with it.

"My, what a lot you know," cried Julia, admirably. "I just wish I was as well posted on politics as you are, dear."

"I have to be well posted," replied the first woman. "You know I'm chairman of the politics committee in our woman's club, and once a week I have to tell all the others about what's going on all over the world.

GUARDING PRISONERS.

An English Warden Tells How Some of Them Try to Escape.

A reporter met a prison warden the other day, and the latter, becoming communicative, volunteered some interesting information concerning attempted escapes from their guardians made by prisoners who are being conveyed from the police station to the court or from one prison to another.

"A prisoner whom I was taking from a county prison to an assize town once offered me £500 if I would help him to escape. He was a well known crackman, and I believe would have made good his promise had I helped him.

"One of the funniest offers I had made to me by a prisoner was that of a man who had had an unequalled career as a burglar. He promised to send me the proceeds of the first house he burgled after his escape.

"I had a curious experience when traveling in Manchester with one prisoner. His friends had got the tip that he would come by a certain train. When we arrived, lo! and behold, there were five or six flashily dressed mobsmen waiting for us.

"Many a time I've thought that if I were a prisoner I could easily make my escape when traveling with a warden. And especially easy may this be done in some towns where the prisoner and warden walk from the station to the prison.

"In an experience of 20 years I have only known of eight attempts made by prisoners to escape. One only was successful, and then the fellow was captured the following day. Sometimes a prisoner manages to jump from a railway carriage window, but he rarely escapes.

WILL SHE?

When the coming woman gets here Will she offer up her coat? Will she offer her umbrella, When there's rain or snow or sleet? Will she help us in the wagon? Will she bait our fishing hook? Will she step into the water That we dry may cross the brook? Will she seize a rail and rescue When the bully chases us? Will she push the wheezy rower Every oar and make a fuss? Will she run the locomotive, Shovel coal and handle brakes? Will she level mound and forest? Carry litters for the snakes? Will she march to bloody battle, Snap her fingers at the hurts? Well, I guess not—she will merely Hide behind her husband's skirts. —Joe Cone in New York Sun.

A Shoplifter's Ruse.

A well dressed woman recently entered a Paris jeweler's shop and asked to see some valuable gold pins, says the Pittsburg Dispatch. While she was examining them a man began playing a barrel organ before the door. The music seemed to annoy the lady, and stepping to the door she threw a piece of money to the man and told him to go away, which he did at once.

On returning to the counter she said that none of the pins suited her, but that as some compensation for the trouble she had given she would buy a brooch. She accordingly chose one, paid 10 francs for it and was leaving the shop when the jeweler missed a diamond pin of great value from among those she had been examining.

He accordingly stopped his customer, who seemed highly indignant and insisted on the jeweler's wife searching her, which was done, but no pin was found. The jeweler sent his sister to watch the woman, who was seen to enter another jeweler's shop and was pretending to make a purchase when the organ grinder made his appearance.

As soon as he began playing she again threw him some money and ordered him to move on, but the person who was watching her perceived that with the money she had given the man a piece of jewelry.

This was at once made known to the police, who arrested both and found on the man several articles of stolen jewelry.

Stage Realism.

One of my best friends in Plymouth was Benjamin Haydon. His son, the artist of celebrity, was at that time a spirited and intelligent little fellow about 10 years of age, who used to listen, to my songs and laugh heartily at my jokes whenever I dined at his father's. One evening I was playing Sharp in "The Lying Valet" when he and my friend Benjamin were in the stage box, and on my repeating the words, "I have had nothing to eat since last Monday was a fortnight" little Haydon exclaimed in a tone audible to the whole house: "What a whopper! Why, you dined at my father's house this afternoon."—Bernard's "Retrospection of the Stage."

Rotten Row.

It is a royal prerogative, belonging exclusively to the reigning sovereigns, to drive down the middle of Rotten row, London. The queen has only availed herself once or twice of the right. From this ancient privilege came the name Rotten row, whence the corruption "Rotten row."

Poverty Cottage.

If ever household affections and loves are graceful things, they are graceful in the poor. The ties that bind the wealthy and the proud to home may be forged on earth, but those which link the poor man to his humble hearth are of the true metal, and bear the stamp of heaven.—Dickens.

North Carolina has a mica output of 100,000 pounds a year. New Hampshire produces about 25,000 pounds, South Dakota 18,000 pounds and New Mexico 1,000 pounds. The mica of North Carolina is of the best quality and brings the highest price.

The proverbial wisdom of the populace at gates, on roads and in markets instructs him who studies man more fully than a thousand rules ostentatiously arranged.—Lavater.

Most of the bookkeepers and cashiers employed in Japanese business houses are Chinamen, who are given the preference for such positions because of their honesty.

I dislike an eye that twinkles like a star. Those only are beautiful which, like the planets, have a lambent light, are luminous, not sparkling.—Longfellow.

Deceit is the false road to happiness, and on the joys we travel through to vice, like fairy banquets, vanish when we touch them.

We found a man to-day who quit smoking on new years day, and has kept his resolution for two whole weeks. Such cases are rare.

DECIDEDLY ODD.

The combined ages of sixteen persons at a birthday party at the home of John Goldsberry, in Frankford, Ind. the other day footed up 1,424.

The Dutch have a delightfully original way of collecting their taxes. If, after due notice has been given the money is not sent, the authorities place one or two hungry militiamen in the house, to be lodged and maintained at the expense of the defaulter until the amount of the tax is paid.

Five pretty tall brothers are living near Chase City, Va., and there were seven of them until a few years ago. None of the brothers is less than six feet two inches high. The tallest now living is six feet six and three-quarter inches tall, and weighs 195 pounds. He has an uncle seven feet tall, and all his relations on his mother's side are
