A THEATRE BUILDING.

An Architect Suggests a Good Plan For One.

Some days ago the REFLECTOR spoke of having the address of an architect who desired to be placed in communication with any parties here who contemplated building a theatre. Since then we have received another letter from the same gentleman in which he gives a brief suggestion of a building that would be an ornament to the town and at the same time prove a paying investment. We give our readers the benefit of his suggestion: Secure a lot anywhere from 60 to 75 feet front, and 150 to 175 feet deep, centrally located in the business portion of the town where stores would demand a good rental. Put two stores 55 or 60 feet deep on the front with a 12 feet hall between them. Place the theatre in rear of these on the ground floor, elevated about 4 feet. In the second story of the building have six or more nice offices, and on the third floor have two halls for Masonic, Odd Fellows or other lodges. Build the theatre in three tiers—the first floor to seat 350 to 400 people, the balcony 200 to 225, the gallery 225 to 250, in all a seating capacity of 800 to 900.

The REFLECTOR would rejoice to see such a building as the one suggested go up in Greenville, though one not altogether so large in size might be sufficient for the needs of the town. Such a theatre building with the stores, offices and lodge halls, and even an armory might be added, would no doubt bring in handsome rentals. The architect expresses the opinion that here where the necessary material could be bought cheaply such a building could be erected at a reasonable cost and would pay a good dividend on the investment.

The REFLECTOR will be glad to find somebody interested in such an enterprise as this and will furnish them the address of the architect if they desire to communicate with him. As we have said before Greenville ought to have a good building of this character and there is no better time for securing it than now.

HE FOOLED THE GIRL.

And Her Father Takes Revenge on the Young Man.

We learn that in Farmville township a wedding was in contemplation for one day last week. The prospective groom spent the night preceding the day set for the marriage at the home of the prospective bride to arrange the preliminaries. Early next morning he assisted her father in killing the fatted pig and barbecuing the same for the feast. About 11 o'clock the young man suggested that he would go home to get his Sunday clothes and return by 3 o'clock, the hour set for the wedding. By the appointed hour the preacher and guests had arrived but the young man failed to put in an appearance. They waited for some time and took their departure without seeing any marriage.

It is now reported that the father of the girl met the young man on the street in Farmville, Tuesday, and took revenge by falling on him and giving him a thrashing.

Are They Wanted?

If Greenville secures this year one or two tobacco stemmeries and a good factory of some kind it will add several hundred wage earners to the population of the town. Something in this for our business men to be thinking about. They can be secured, and if we sit still other towns will be taking off what Greenville ought to have.

A POEM WORTH READING.

FRANK L. STANTON.

There's joy, my dear, in the youth o' the year,
When the hearts o' the bright buds break
And the skies are blue as the eyes o' you,
And the blooms blow over the lake.
There's joy, my dear, for the world is fair,
And love is the sweetest blossom there!

There's joy, my dear, in the moon o' the year,
When the harvest hints o' gold,
And the soft sun streams with its gleams and dreams
On your beautiful hair unrolled.
There's joy, my dear, for the world is fair
And love is the blossom that's brightest there.

There's joy, my dear, in the gray o' the year
When the snows are drifting white,
And the cold winds cry to the starless sky,
And the last rose weeps, "Good-night?"
There's joy, my dear, for the world is fair,
While your love like a lily is blooming there!

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 18TH, 1896.

The Sun is going to risk a prediction. The next Governor of North Carolina will be from Durham.—Durham Sun.

He will travel in a Carr, too, won't he?

To-day the Republican State Executive Committee meets in Raleigh to try and patch up the splits between them and the Populists.

Congressman Harry Skinner is reported as saying in Washington that the first North Carolina district is for T. B. Reed for President.

Fully Armed.

A good story is told of a young recruit who enlisted in a regiment stationed at Aldershot. One day he was on guard duty, and was slowly stepping up and down when an officer approached.

"Let me see your rifle." The raw recruit handed over his rifle, and a pleased expression stole over his face.

"You're a fine soldier! You've given up your rifle, and now what are you going to do?"

The young fellow turned pale, and putting his hand in his pocket, drew out a big knife, and, preparing for business, said in a voice that could not be misunderstood: "Give me that rifle, or I'll bore a hole through you in a minute."

The officer instantly decided not to play any further with the raw recruit, and the rifle was promptly surrendered.—Pearson's Weekly.

Frowning.

Don't do it. Stand on the street and watch the passing throng. You will be astonished to see how many people will pass with scowling foreheads.

It seems that most of us get the idea that we have to make up a face whose features look as threatening as loaded weapons when we walk the busy thoroughfares.

A writer in the Atlanta Constitution says she watched the passing people in that city, and that little bits of girls went scowling along the street.

This high, dry, windy American atmosphere makes furrowed skin, anyway, but don't add to these unavoidable ills those creases that tell not only of a furrowed skin, but also of a furrowed heart.

THE DYING SOLDIER.

BY MATILDA.

(Affectionately inscribed to Lizzie A. Christie.)

[Colonel Christie, of North Carolina, fell mortally wounded at the battle of Gettysburg while gallantly leading his men against the enemy's breastworks.

"The bravest are the tenderest; The loving are the darling."

I am dying; is she coming? Throw the window open wide.

Is she coming? Oh, I love her more than all the world beside;

In her youth and tender beauty, must, oh? must she feel this loss?

Savior, hear my poor petition; teach her how to bear the cross.

Help her to be calm and patient when I moulder in the dust;

Let her say and feel, my Father, that Thy ways are true and just.

Is she coming? Go and listen; I would see her face once more;

I would hear her speaking to me, ere life's fevered dream is o'er;

I would fold her to my bosom; look into her soft, bright eye;

I would tell her how I love her; kiss her once before I die.

Is she coming? Oh! 'tis evening, and my darling comes not still,

Lift the curtain, it grows darker; it is sunset at the hill;

All the evening dews are falling; I am cold—the light is gone.

Is she coming? Softly, softly come death's silent footsteps on.

I am going; come and kiss me; kiss me for my darling wife;

Take for her my parting blessing; take the last warm kiss of life.

Tell her I will wait to greet her where the good and lovely are,

In that home, untouched by sorrow; tell her she must meet me there.

Is she coming? Lift the curtain; let me see the falling light,

Oh! I want to live to see her, surely she will come to-night,

Surely, ere the daylight deth, I shall fold her to my breast;

With her heart upon my bosom, calmly I could sink to rest.

It is hard to die without her. Look, I think she's coming now;

I can almost feel her kisses on my faded cheek and brow;

I can almost hear her whisper, feel her breath upon my cheek.

Hark! I hear the front door open. Is she coming? Did she speak?

No! well, drop the curtain softly, I shall see her face no more.

'Till I see it smiling on me on the bright and better shore.

Tell her she must come and meet me in that Eden, land of light;

Tell her I'll be waiting for her where there is no death—no night,

Tell her that I called her darling, blessed her with my dying breath

Come and kiss me for my Lizzie, tell her love outliveth death.

Brevity Brought Its Reward.

Dr. Abernethy, the famous Scotch surgeon, was a man of few words, but he once met his match in a woman. She called at his office in Edinburgh one day and showed a hand, badly inflamed and swollen, when the following dialogue, opened by the doctor, took place:

"Burn?"

"Bruise."

"Poultice."

The next day the woman called again, and the dialogue was as follows:

"Better?"

"Worse."

"More poultice."

Two days later the woman made another call, and this conversation occurred:

"Well. Fee?"

"Nothing," exclaimed the doctor. "Most sensible woman I ever met!"

GET A GOOD SAFE.

GREENVILLE, N. C., Feb. 26th, 1896.

J. L. SUGG, Agent Victor Safe Co., Greenville, N. C.

DEAR SIR:—I am pleased to say that the Victor Safe you sold me some five or six years ago preserved in tact all its contents in the late fire in Greenville on the 16th inst. The safe stood at a point in my office in the Opera House block that must have been one of the hottest parts in the great conflagration. It contained many papers and other things of value. When it was taken out of the ruins and opened, some twelve hours after the fire, everything in it was found to be safely preserved and in good condition. I cheerfully make this statement of facts in recognition of the valuable service rendered me by this safe and you are at liberty to make such use of it as you may see proper.

THOS. J. JARVIS.

The Victor Safe is made in all sizes, convenient for home, farm, office or general business use. Every Safe sold with a guarantee to be fire proof. Prices range from $15 up.

The Hoops are Coming,

Hoopskirts are coming back in to fashion.

Two of the Parisian fashion journals received in New York last week contained pictures of the rejuvenated hoop, with long descriptions of it. But before the Paris papers came with the pictures hoopskirts were already displayed at two very swell shops in New York—one is a big Sixth avenue show window, the other in the window of a Fifth avenue modiste.

Small groups of women gathered daily and looked at them, apparently with pain.

The new hoopskirt does not differ to any great extent from those worn during the days of the republican court by Mrs. Washington.

PHILOSOPHY NO GOOD.

When It Runs Counter to Muscular Force in Uniform.

"Look here, mister man!" began a patrolman as he walked up to a tramp who had been hanging around the post office and accosting pedestrians, "you want to move on out of this!"

"You mean you want me move on?" queried the tramp.

"Yes, I do!"

"Well, that is quite a different matter. While I do not want to move on, you wish me to, and as you represent force I must go. Did it ever occur to you how this 'move on' business might be drawn out?"

"What do you mean?"

"You order me to move on. I move. A second cop gives the same order. So it goes to a third, fourth and fifth. In the course of time where am I? Instead of being in town you have moved me out into the country and I must be at the trouble of coming back. Did you ever stop to think that you make a sort of circulating library of the perfish that way?"

"You are asking alms on the street and that is against the law," replied the officer.

"All a mistake, sir. I simply request the loan of a small sum. It is either refused or granted. I may return the loan or may not. I invariably make use of the term 'loan' instead of 'give.' It not only sounds better but evades the law."

"But you are a vagrant!" persisted the officer, who hadn't any head for philosophy.

"Excuse me, sir, but you are wrong again," replied the man. "I have money to pay my way. I owe no man a penny and pay for what I get. I sleep in a regular bed, wash myself once a day and no law can make me out a vagrant."

"But I say you've got to git!" shouted the officer, as he made ready for business.

"That settles it and I git. It's a question of muscular force in uniform versus philosophy in old clothes, and muscular force carries the day. I go—you stay. Day to you!"—Detroit, Free Press.

Modern Englishwoman.

An Englishwoman, by name Mrs. Bygrove, made a flying visit to Washington last week. She appeared at the patent office clad in an improved garment, comprising bifurcations and skirts. Just what it was technically called isn't told yet. Mrs. Bygrove had made a number of improvements, on which her attorneys here filed applications for patents. Mrs. Bygrove gave an exhibition to the authorities of the working of the patent bifurcations, then announced that her business was done, and she would return to England on the following day. If then came out that she had only arrived from England a day before, and had come over here simply to patent her dress reform improvements and rush back. There's a sample of the modern woman.—Chicago News.

MARCHING ON.

As the Days Go By the News Keeps Coming—The Reflector Prints It.

This is fine spring weather.

Much frost again this morning.

The stores are putting on spring attire.

See "Trilby Mystery" in Germania Hall tonight.

At S. M. Schultz, Link Sausage and Mountain Butter.

There is talk now of a big hotel on Five Points.

Canned Deviled Crabs and Shells at the Old Brick Store.

Silver Tip Cheroots are the best in town. J. L. STARKEY & Co.

Prayer meeting in the Methodist church tonight.

Tissue paper for making flowers, assorted colors, at Reflector Book Store.

Fine Oranges 25 cents a dozen at Morris Meyer's.

For a few days now the days and nights will be of about equal length.

Farm and garden work can go forward if the weather continues like today.

Try the Sporting Club, Havana Filler, when you want a good 5 cent-smoke, at the Old Brick Store.

Smoke the best—the Golden Seal. JESSE W. BROWN.

Germania Hall has been handsomely decorated for the "Trilby Mystery" tonight.

The best cigar is always what you want, if it is then buy the Golden Seal at Jesse W. Brown's.

Another lot of those large 5 cent ablets and slates at Reflector Book Store.

The REFLECTOR is working for Greenville. You can help it by your patronage.

Pure North Carolina Butter 20 cents a pound at D. S. Smith's.

The "Southern Leader," still holds the lead as the best 5 cent smoke. Nothing equals it. D. S. SMITH.

The young ladies say Miss Trilby has arrived and can be seen in Germania Hall tonight.

If you want the very latest styles in Millinery wait for my return from the North. Mrs. M. D. HIGGS.

Cod Fish, Irish Potatoes, Prepared Buckwheat, Oat Flakes, Cheese, Macaroni, P. R. Molasses, at S. M. Schultz.

I am now in the North selecting Spring Millinery. Will have the very newest styles. Mrs. M. D. HIGGS.

The old man of the REFLECTOR is blossoming into a "hard handed son of toil." At least a couple hours work at garden making this morning gave him some blistered hands to take around with him.

IN THE REFLECTOR.

People See Their Faces and Straightway Forget What Manner of Men They Are.

Elias Turnage, of Ormondville, was here today.

Dr. J. Morrill, of Falkland, spent today here.

J. T. Worthington, of Grifton, was here today.

W. M. Lang, of Farmville, was in town today.

Sheriff R. W. King went down the road last night.

H. B. Clark went north today to purchase a new stock of goods.

The condition of Maj. H. Harding is reported better. We hope to see him out soon.

Gentlemen always want to smoke the best, and that is why they smoke the Golden Seal. JESSE W. BROWN.

Housekeepers complain that they never saw a worse time than now to get anything for the table.

To-day Pat Foley was leading around a dog about as big as his fist and said it was "Trilby."

At its last meeting the Town Council again prohibited the riding of bicycles on any of the sidewalks.

Within two blocks on main street work is progressing on five different buildings. That looks like it.

The vernal equinox is due in the next few days and we may expect this pretty weather to be broken up.

Elder Sylvester Hassel will preach at Great Swamp church, four miles from Greenville, next Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Hortense Forbes gave a very pleasant musicale this morning at her music rooms on Evans street which was highly enjoyed by all present.

Married.

On Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the residence of Mr. Isaac C. Hardy, two miles from Greenville, Mr. R. M. Kennedy and Miss Bertha L. Hardy were married by Rev. N. H. D. Wilson.

More Mail Boxes Needed.

The business of Greenville has increased until it has outgrown the capacity of the postoffice. In other words there are a number of persons who would like to have boxes for their mail but can not get them because none are vacant. Cannot Postmaster King take some step that will secure enough extra boxes to meet the business needs of the community?

"Am I My Brother's Keeper?"

What a queer world this is—at least some of the people in it. Let a man once follow the ways of sin and try to reform and there are those on the alert to put some stumbling block in his way. And if in some weak moment he stumbles and falls there are some ready to rejoice and jeer at his downfall. How much better it would be to help him stand than to pull him down.

Why Keep Waiting?

The REFLECTOR can suggest improvements for Greenville but can't make them itself. If the business men of the town want a quicker mail service, or if they want such enterprises as will increase the wage earners of the town, they should take some action. The time to get these is when they can be secured. There is such a thing sometime as being one day too late.

Secretary of Agriculture Morton, after a visit to Vandebilt's place returns to Washington with the statement that the lands of North Carolina are not as trifling as the people, whom he patronizingly refers to as "poor creatures." It is not amiss to see ourselves, occasionally, as others see us, but hailing as he does from Nebraska, whose people would have starved a couple of years ago if the neighbors—among others those of North Carolina—had not sent in things, it does not lie in the mouth of Mr. Morton to be talking about folks.—Charlotte Observer.
