C. T. MUMFORD,

Cleveland a Greater Man of Destiny Than Napoleon.

The following we clip from the Wilmington Messenger:

CHADBOURN, N. C. May 20.

Will you do me the personal kindness to publish the following:

I am not a politician and take no stock in such matters, but I am an astrologist and I constantly watch the stars, and by them find out the destiny of men and nations. I will not attempt to explain to your readers the science of astrology, for they cannot understand it. But I am going to tell you what the stars have to say.

Ever since the first of April there has been a strange movement among the stars. They say that Grover Cleveland is a man of greater destiny than Napoleon Bonaparte. He is going to suddenly change his views on the financial question. He has been under the spell of a powerful hypnotist for the past few years, who has been employed by Wall street and the bankers of Europe to influence him. This powerful spell is going to be broken by a most mysterious influence, I cannot understand. The next Republican National convention is going to break up in a big row. The next Democratic convention is going to declare for the unlimited coinage of silver at 16 to 1. Grover Cleveland is going to be nominated by acclamation and will be elected by 100 electoral votes, and his third administration will astonish the whole civilized world. Jule Carr is going to be elected Governor of North Carolina by a majority of 75,000 votes. The Populists and Democrats are going to fuse and sweep the State from the mountains to the seashore. Cuba is going to gain her independence in six months and Spain is going to get into a short, but lively war with United States on the first day of August, the United States gun boats will vigorously bombard the city of Havana. Gen. Weyler will be killed in this terrific battle.

The English, French and German press will be exceedingly hostile to the United States. There will be wars and rumors of wars but the United States will steer clear of war during the closing months of summer and fall months there will be unusual phenomena both on land and sea, and the whole world will be in a state of intense excitement. The churches all over the United States and Great Britain and Ireland will be thronged with worshippers and preachers everywhere will be proclaiming the advent of the millennial dawn.

Please don't put this in the waste basket for it contains the language of the stars. Don't call the author a crank or pronounce this sensational. Tell all of your readers to save the copy of the paper containing this article and tell them to watch.

ON THE TAR.

An Evening That Many Will Remember.

Not every occasion that begins with fair prospects arrives at an auspicious ending, and vice versa. In other words, taking the latter side of this proverb, it don't rain everytime it clouds up. And that is what those who went on the moonlight excursion Friday night experienced. The close of the evening looked anything else than favorable with thick clouds hanging overhead and an occasional flash of lightning illuminating the dark back ground.

But when people make up their minds to do a thing, whether or no, it sometimes takes more than a cloud to stop them. And that was the size of the situation this time. The young lady managers had been fortunate in disposing of a large number of tickets, and the holders of these began to meditate that the steamer Myers was as safe as a house even if it should be stormy, that Capt. Bill Parvin was going to take just the best care of everybody anyway, and "we are not sugar or salt to melt in a little rain, so come along."

And they went, the party reaching 75 when the steamer left her moorings at 9 o'clock. A good part of it is that not a drop of rain was encountered. On the contrary the steamer had scarce started upon her journey when the moon gained the mastery over the clouds and began to dissolve them with silver rays, much to the delight of all. A little later fair Luna shone out brightly, so that after all it was a splendid night for an excursion; not warm enough for a fan, to be sure, but yet not too cold to eat ice cream.

And the crowd enjoyed it. There was music along so that those who desired might dance, but this pleasure seemed to attract but few, the great majority of the party showing marked preference for comfortable corners on the quarter deck where seats were just large enough for two.

A run of nine miles down the river was made and the excursionists were landed safely on the wharf exactly at midnight.

The excursion was under the management of Misses Bessie Jarvis and Lucy Cox for the benefit of the Episcopal church, and we are glad that they netted a neat sum.

Picnic and Prize Presentation.

The picnic given by the pupils of Mrs. Bernard's school, on Friday, was the occasion of the closing exercises of the school. Besides the enjoyment to be derived from the picnic itself, the awarding of several prizes added to the pleasure of the day.

Mrs. Bernard had offered four prizes to her pupils, two each in the 8th and 7th grades for the best and second best general averages through the session and highest marks on examination. In the 8th grade the prizes were won respectively by Misses Blanche Flanagan and Hattie Smith, and in the 7th grade by Misses Queenie McGowan and Lizzie Moore. The first prize in each grade was a gold ring, and the second a silver lock bracelet. The rings were presented by Rev. E. D. Wells and the bracelets by Mr. L. I. Moore.

The girls of the school also had Rev. Mr. Wells to present a wall pocket and easel picture to Mrs. Bernard as a token of their affection.

SATURDAY, MAY 23RD, 1896.

Gen. Fitz Lee, now on his way to Cuba, opened a May festival given by Southern ladies of Washington in aid of the proposed Battle Abbey, to be erected as a monument to the bravery of the Southern soldiers, with a spirited speech endorsing the Battle Abbey idea, and highly eulogistic of American valor. Gen. Lee is endowed with that mysterious quality which we call personal magnetism to a marked extent. As one of his old soldiers and admirers puts it, "I believe Fitz Lee would create enthusiasm at a Quaker meeting, if allowed to talk for five minutes."

A movement has been started which Mr. Mark Hanna will do well to watch carefully. Its avowed object is to throw the vote of every negro delegate to the St. Louis convention against McKinley, and to either Reed or Allison. This movement is headed by the notorious Perry Carson, who has for many years bossed the negroes of the city of Washington and who has been a delegate to every Republican national convention for years past. Carson is an illiterate negro, but when it comes to political trickery and the manipulation of negroes he can give the shrewdest of his white brethren pointers. Mark Hanna may have to buy some of those nigs again.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

[From our Regular Correspondent.]
WASHINGTON, D. C. May, 22, '96.

Senator Gorman this week made good the threat he made some time ago, when he called attention to the fact that there would not be money enough in the Treasury to meet the extravagant appropriations made at this session of Congress, by offering an amendment to the Fortification bill authorizing the issue of $100,000,000 in 3 per cent certificates of indebtedness. Of course the Republicans threw up their hands in holy horror at the very idea of such a thing, but none of them offered to join Senator Gorman in trying to curtail the extravagant appropriations.

Senator Quay is going to see McKinley toicker for a place in the band wagon, and Speaker Reed is thinking unprintable thoughts. The Republican opposition to McKinley has about reached the collapsing point.

Those two eminent Republicans of the House, Walker, of Massachusetts, and Dalzell, of Pennsylvania, exchanged this week the complimentary terms of "demagogue" and "impudent," in a little discussion brought on by the former making a kick against boss rule in the House, which allows speaker Reed to control all legislation in that body.

Senator Vilas naturally resents the charge that he scoured the adoption of the resolution by the Senate ordering that Secretary Carlisle's recent Chicago financial speech be printed as a public document by a trick. He states that his action was open and above board in the matter, and that before he asked unanimous consent for the adoption of the resolution he consulted with Senators Cockrell and Teller, as representative silver men of both parties, and they assured him that they had no objection to the speech being printed as a public document so as to make it frankable.

Praise from your political enemies is often more dangerous and undesirable than censure, but the reference to the Immigration Bureau made by Representative Corliss, of Michigan, doesn't belong to that class. He said of this bureau, in a speech made in the House this week: "It stands out as one department of the government seeking earnestly and faithfully to execute the laws with reference to immigration, and I want to congratulate my Democratic friends that they have in this department worthy and efficient men." Ex-Congressman Stump, of Maryland, is at the head of the Immigration Bureau.

The debate on the immigration bill, which was passed, brought a new orator to the front in the person of Representative Buck, of New Orleans. As a naturalized American citizen—he came to America in 1852, when only 9 years old—he opposed any burdensome restriction on immigration. At the close of his speech he was warmly congratulated, by those who agreed with him as well as those who did not, for having made one of the best speeches of the session, from the standpoint of the admirer of finished and eloquent oratory.

Mr. John Bell Bigger, who has been clerk of the Virginia House of Delegates for years and who is always posted on Democratic politics in that State, is in Washington. When asked if the Virginia Democrats would bolt if the financial plank of the Chicago convention didn't suit them, he instantly replied: "No sir! not on your life. Bolting isn't in our line. We will stick to the party, it matters not what platform is constructed at Chicago. If the financial plank should declare for tin or zinc as a money metal it would be all right with Virginia Democrats. Party success with us is paramount to all other considerations."

THE HUCKLEBERRY PIE.

A crowd of us was whittling,
Together on the street,
And naturally fell to talking
About things we like to eat:
Each one named his favorite dish,
With the wherefore's and the why;
They asked me to name my pizen:
I said, huckleberry pie.

They spoke of oysters, stewed or fried,
Of chowder made of clams,
Trays of nice baked 'possum,
Banked high with roasted yams,
Backbones, brains and sausage,
With onions on the sly;
But no one mentioned Sampson blues
For a huckleberry pie.
They talked of pork and turnips,
Of turkey, quail and fish,
And many other kinds of grub,
That makes a toothsome dish,
They named so much I hungered for,
It almost made me cry;
But not a thing they spoke of Equals huckleberry pie.

You may boast of meats and pastries,
Of cakes and other frod,
I've nothing to say against them,
For all are very good;
But there's nothing that will match it,
And there ain't no use to try,
A good, old-fashioned, juicy Huckleberry pie.
—J. M. H. in Goldsboro Argus.

A Disgusted Northerner.

A Northern man and a Republican, a Mr. Baker, of Fall River, Mass., arrived in the city last night with his eyes opened. Mr. Baker was sitting in front of the La Fayette Hotel listening to a number of gentlemen discussing politics. He suddenly arose from his seat and said "Gentlemen, you are all strangers to me, but if you will allow it, I want to unburden my mind of an humble thought. I was born and an Irishman, on seeing a notice in a haberdasher's window one day, which read as follows: "Every thing sold here by the yard," entered and asked the man of the shop if he sold butter-milk.

"Yes," was the answer.
"Then give me a yard," said Pat.
"All right," said the man, and dipping his finger into a dish of milk at his side, he drew it a yard in length on the counter.

"Anything else?" he queried triumphantly of Pat.

"No," said Pat; "just rowl it up in a piece of paper and I'll take it with me now."

reared in Massachusetts, the hot bed of abolition, and have been taught to believe all my life that the Republicans and negroes were badly treated by the Democrats of the South, in fact that they were still little better than slaves. Last Friday I stopped in a Southern city, the city of Raleigh, for the first time in my life. I heard that there was a Republican State convention in session and I went, charged with sympathy for the oppressed Republicans. I stood and gazed at that howling, seething, cursing mob, and but a few moments were sufficient to convince me that if this was Republicanism in the South, then God deliver her from it. Boys, I am a Southern Democrat in heart and spirit, if not by residence."—Fayetteville Observer.

An Unlucky Bungle.

On the 21st of December, 1885, Admiral Dundas gave up the command of the fleet and returned to England. He was succeeded by Admiral Lyons, between whom and Dundas a signal parting took place which will long be remembered as a standing joke in the navy.

As Admiral Dundas left the fleet at Kamiesch the crews of both English and French ships manned the yards and gave him a parting cheer. At the same moment, by the desire of Dundas, a signal was run up to Sir E. Lyons on board the Agamemnon, "May success attend you," to which Sir E. Lyons ordered to be hoisted in reply, "May happiness await you."

But though in real life hanging and happiness are generally considered to have no very close connection, yet in the signal code they are very much alike. Unfortunately, in the hurry to reply to Admiral Dundas, the flag for the former instead of the latter word was hoisted, and what was worse the stupid blunder was not discovered and hauled down till the whole fleet had seen and read it.—Pearson's Weekly.

ON A BRASS SUNDIAL

(Dated 1879.)
You have marked the passing hours
Upward of three hundred years,
But there is never a sign nor a trace
Of all you have seen and known,
Never a glimpse in your face
Of the gladness, the joy and the tears
That have past in three hundred years.

You have only to count the hours,
Not the sorrows and woes of men,
The hopes that were crushed and blighted,
The deeds that still live in story,
The lives that were love united,
For love, alike now as then,
Is the mightiest power among men.

Time, which destroys so much,
Whose servant and slave you are,
Who holds the world in his grasp
And who slayeth all men at last—
For none may escape his clasp—
On love leaves never a scar:
He is powerless to hurt and mar.

For time is of this world only,
And, though he doth all things slay,
Yet for us remaineth a distant shore,
Where he shall be powerless to harm us,
Where love is triumphant forevermore,
And doubt and distrust are passed away,
And that which was faithful will ever stay.
—Academy.

Yankee Sleds Beat Swiss Coasters.

The original "otobansk" has for long remained sufficient for Canadian tobagganers, probably because the pastime with them is hardly more than the original means of locomotion it provided for the Indians, and competition in speed was never a successful possibility. The primitive Swiss coaster was destined to a far shorter supremacy when put to the keen tests of the racing that developed it. Men soon got all that was possible in the way of speed out of sitting on a wooden framework balanced upon flat iron bars. And Mr. L. P. Child of New York supplied the want by producing in the winter of 1887 an American "clipper sled," which beat every rider in Davos out of sight, whether native or imported. He rode it lying head first on his side, steering with one moccasined foot swinging out behind, after the method familiar on the chutes of Montreal.

Owing to local prejudice and habit, this head first position had not penetrated to Switzerland till long after it had been well known elsewhere. But even the introduction of the new position was not so essential an advance as was the long spring runner of Mr. Child's machine, by means of which steering was made far more accurate and easy than with the old flat runner of the "schlittli." Mr. E. Cohen, another American, by winning the best race at St. Moritz, sitting on one of the new clipper sleds, proved conclusively the merits of the right machine, even when it was ridden in the wrong way, and showed that on hard ice as well as on the snow of the postroads the new machines and methods were a great advance.

The Fate of a Message.

We weighed anchor on Oct. 31, and when close to the south shore sent off two boats in search of seals. On this occasion one of the boats, being swamped in the surf, was immediately crushed against the rocks, its crew having a rather narrow escape from drowning. One of the men fought bravely in the breakers for half an hour, without relinquishing his grasp on his rifle.

With scrupulous care we now composed a letter upon which each of us carefully inscribed his signature. Having placed it in a small bladder which had been given to us for the purpose by the Norwegian consul in Melbourne, we consigned it to the waves and leaned over the bulwarks to see the mail depart. Much to our chagrin, a large albatross dove in sight, and before our message had gone many yards the huge bird gobbled it up—"The First Landing on the Antarctic Continent," by C. E. Borchgrevink, in Century.

A Rare Disease.

Diphtheria of the skin, a very rare disease, was cured by the use of antitoxin in a little 2 1/2 year-old Berlin girl recently. She had been badly scalded with boiling water, and as the skin was healing she was kissed by her mother on the wounded spot. The mother had diphtheria, and thus communicated it to the baby's skin. The throat was not affected.

There is no real elevation of mind in a contempt of little things. It is, on the contrary, from the narrow views that we consider those things of little importance which have, in fact, such extensive consequences.—Fenelon.

A tobacconist named Farr had the following painted above his door, "The best tobacco by Farr." A rival tobacconist, at the other end of the street, painted up, "Far better tobacco than the best tobacco by Farr."

CATARRH.

His Worst Enemy Defeated by P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy.

FOR THREE YEARS HE SUFFERED—COULD HARDLY BREATHE AT NIGHT—ONE NOSTRIL CLOSED FOR 10 YEARS.

Mr. A. M. Ramsey, of DeLeon, Texas, was a sufferer from Catarrh in its worst form. Truly, his description of his sufferings seem little short of marvelous. Instead of seeking his couch, glad for the night coming, he went to it with terror, realizing that another long, weary, wakeful night and a struggle to breathe was before him. He could not sleep on either side for two years. P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, cured him in quick time.

DE LEON, TEXAS. Messrs. LIPPMAN BROS., Savannah, Ga. Gents: I have used nearly four bottles of P. P. P. I was afflicted from the crown of my head to the soles of my feet. Your P. P. P. has cured my difficulty of breathing, smothering, palpitation of the heart, and has relieved me of all pain. One nostril was closed for ten years, but now I can breathe through it readily. I have not slept on either side for two years; in fact, I dreaded to see night come. Now I sleep soundly in any position all night. I am 50 years old, but expect soon to be able to take hold of the plow handles. I feel glad that I was lucky enough to get P. P. P., and I heartily recommend it to my friends and the public generally. Yours respectfully, A. M. RAMSEY.

THE STATE OF TEXAS—County of Comanche.—Before the undersigned authority on this day, personally appeared A. M. Ramsey, who, after being duly sworn, says on oath that the foregoing statement made by him relative to the virtue of P. P. P. medicine is true. Sworn to and subscribed before me this August 4th, 1891. J. M. LAMBERT, N. P., Comanche County, Texas.

Catarrh Cured by P. P. P.

(Lippman's Great Remedy) where all other remedies failed. Rheumatism twists and distorts your hands and feet. Its agonies are intense, but speedy relief and a permanent cure is gained by the use of P. P. P. Woman's weakness, whether nervous or otherwise, can be cured and the system built up by P. P. P. A healthy woman is a beautiful woman. Pimples, blotches, eczema and all disfigurements of the skin are removed and cured by P. P. P. P. P. P. will restore your appetite, build up your system and regulate you in every way. P. P. P. removes that heavy, down-in-the-mouth feeling. For Blotches and Pimples on the face, take P. P. P. Ladies, for natural and thorough organic regulation, take P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, and get well at once.

Farmers are run out of their fields, too wet to work, and grass is taking advantage of their absence and putting in some tall growing.

The boys are looking with envy at the girls. Vacation has already come with the latter, while the former have got a week or two more to plod over their books before laying them aside.

There is Cause.

Complaints continue numerous about the condition of the road on the north side of the river leading to the ferry.
One man told us to-day that while he was coming to town he saw three horses narrowly escape serious injury as they were passing that bad piece of road. Something ought to be done to remove the danger.

The workmen say that scarcity of lumber is the cause of the bridge repairs progressing so slowly. Then the draw ought to be closed and the bridge opened so that people can pass over it until lumber can be procured for completing the work.

THEY EXCOURT ANYHOW.

But "Paddled Their Own Canoe."

A splendid joke on some of our young men is going around. They had tickets for the moonlight excursion, Friday night, but lingered up town too long and saw the steamer puffing off down the river when they reached the wharf.
Determining not to be outdone, the boys, four in number, decided to have an excursion anyway, so getting a canoe they rowed off down the river, intending that the steamer should take them up on return trip.

So far so good, and the boys had a merry enough time on their 3-mile trip down stream. Here they stopped and waited for the excursion to come along.
The steamer came, of course, and the merry passengers on lower deck heard a shout from familiar voices as a canoe shot out from shore, intending to come along side. But the shouts failed to reach the ears of the captain up in the pilot house, so there was no "heaving to," and a minute later the steamer had glided by and away.

One or two "blue streaks" emanated from the canoe as it fell back astern, but the steady strokes of the engine and puffs of the steam pipes made them as though they had been wasted "on the desert air."

And there they were, three miles from home and the current against them. No other alternative being left them they "fell to the oar," and succeeding in "making fast" to the wharf at just 2 o'clock A. M.

It might be well not to say excursion to these boys for a few days.
