TRUTH IN PREFERENCE TO FICTION.

TERMS: 25 Cents a Month.

Vol. 3.

GREENVILLE, N. C., THURSDAY, JUNE 4, 1896.

No. 457

C. T. MUNFORD.

We are showing an elegant stock of Wash Fabrics, all new of this season's production, and just the thing for the warm weather, such as Dimities, Organdies, Batiste Spiral Cloths, Ducks, Gingham, Plisse and Fancy Swiss Muslins. We call special attention to the beautiful selection of White Goods, Lace and Embroideries we have on hand, and still we are adding something new every few days. The prices are greatly reduced. The people are coming our way. Everybody admires our spring and summer styles of Clothing. No wonder the crowds come to our place one reason is, because they can buy suits that suit them, another reason is, because we have the courage to accept small profit. Low prices are quick travelers. Men who want style, elegance and durability at low cost should see our line. Our's are the worthiest garments to be found anywhere at anywhere near the price. Our customers demand Clothing of character and refinement—something above the ordinary "refinement"—fine grades, perfection of make, best taste, moderate prices are the prominent points in our clothes. We also have beautiful line of Gents Furnishing Goods which we are offering at surprisingly low figures.

WILSON-RICKS RECEPTION.

Large Number of Friends Present to Congratulate Them.

Mr. W. H. Ricks and bride reached Greenville at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening and held a reception at the home of the groom, in Forbestown, from 9:30 to 12 o'clock. They were accompanied home by J. A. Ricks and H. P. Harding, of Greenville, J. F. Berry, of Washington, E. L. Archibald, of Newbern, and Misses Ella Frizzle and Lillian Granger, of Washington.

A large number of our townspeople gathered at the reception to welcome the bride to Greenville and to extend best wishes to the happy couple. The guests were received in the hall by J. A. Ricks and Miss Bessie Jarvis, and were presented to the bride and groom in the parlor by F. C. Harding and Miss Annie Sheppard. Refreshments were served by J. E. Starkey and Miss Lucy Cox, H. P. Harding and Miss Leta McGowan, C. M. Jones and Miss Appie Smith.

The hall and parlor were both beautifully decorated and festooned for the occasion.

The couple were the recipients of many beautiful and serviceable bridal presents among which were

A handsome check from John H. Taft, of Sidney, Ohio.

Silver salt and pepper set, C. A. White and family.

Two plush seat reception chairs, J. L. Little, J. R. and J. G. Moye.

Rattan rocker, J. B. Cherry and wife.

Plush seat reception chair, Miss Etta Hines and C. M. Jones.

Parlor lamp, Mrs. R. T. Wilson, Grimesland.

Set dessert spoons, Mrs. T. J. Carmalt Washington.

Silver card receiver, E. L. Archibald, Newbern.

Large Smyrna rug, T. J. Carmalt, Washington.

Rug, Mr. and Mrs. Leenf, Washington.

Pair Mouquet rugs, D. J. Whichard and wife.

Silver spoon and butter knife, J. F. Berry, Washington.

Silver belt, W. H. Grimes and wife, Grimesland.

Two China cake plates, Miss Lucy Cox.

Silver castor, R. J. Cobb.

Sugar spoon, Miss Absalee Olivia Smith.

Silver butter dish, W. T. Lee.

Towels, Miss Annie Sheppard.

Towels, Mrs. R. H. Horne.

Gold thimble, Miss Ella Frizzle, Washington.

Silver pickle dish, Miss Lena Taft.

Picture, Dr. Tayloe and wife, Washington.

Oak center table, Mrs. Alfred Forbes.

Cherry rocker, R. W. King and wife.

Library lamp, J. A. Dupree and wife.

Plush seat reception chair, A. H. Taft.

Japanese tea pot, Miss Bessie Jarvis.

Couch and hall lamp, J. A. Ricks.

Can't Always Tell.

Watts: I agree with the Shah of Persia in regard to horse-races. You know, he said he took no interest in racing, because he already knew that one horse could run faster than another.

Potts: Of course, one knows that one horse can run faster than another, but you never know whether he will be allowed to do so. That's where the excitement comes in.—Indianapolis Journal.

LATE NEWS.

The Treasury gold reserve is down a little below $107,000,000.

Another Greenville has had a big fire, but this time it was Greenville, W. Va.

Congress has passed the river and harbor appropriation bill over the President's veto.

Chicago, determining not to be outdone by New York, is taking steps to annex all the towns in reach.

The work of rebuilding Grace Street Baptist church, at Richmond, which was destroyed by fire a few months ago, will begin July 1st.

Already something like $200,000 has been raised in St. Louis for the benefit of the sufferers, notwithstanding the fact that a loss of $20,000,000 has been entailed upon that city by the storm. There is talk of making a general appeal for aid.

A Scotch Lad's Faith.

I like the positive faith of that sailor boy that Captain Judkins, of the steamship Scotia, picked up in a hurricane. "Go aloft!" said Captain Judkins to his mate, "and look out for wrecks." Before the mate had gone far up the ratlines, he shouted "A wreck, a wreck!" "Where away?" said Captain Judkins "Off the port bow," was the answer. Lifeboats were lowered, and forty men volunteered to put out across the angry sea to the wreck. They came back with a dozen shipwrecked men, and among them a boy of 12 years.

"Who are you?" said Captain Judkins.

The answer was, "I am a Scotch boy. My father and mother are dead, and I am on my way to America."

"What have you here?" said Captain Judkins, as he opened the boy's jacket and took hold of a rope around the boy's body.

"It is a rope," said the boy.

"But what is that tied by this rope under your arm?"

"That, sir, is my mother's Bible. She told me never to lose that."

"Could you not have saved something else?"

"Not and save that."

"Did you expect to go down?"

"Yes, sir: but I meant to take my mother's Bible down with me."

"Bravo!" said Judkins. "I will take care of you."

WHEN!

One morning in the garden bed, The onion and the carrot said

Unto the parsley group:

"Oh, when shall we three meet again, In thunder, lightning, hail or rain?"

"Alas!" replied, in tones of pain, The parsley: "In the soup!"

—Drake's Magazine.

Masonic Officers.

At a meeting of Greenville Lodge No. 284, A. F. & A. M., held today the following officers were elected for the coming Masonic year:

W. M. King, W. M.
J. M. Reuss, S. W.
O. L. Joyner, J. W.
L. I. Moore, Sec.
C. T. Munford, Treas.

During a balloon ascension, in Martinsville, Va., Friday afternoon, an old colored man named Archie Brown was caught in the ropes and carried up a distance of 300 feet, when he fell. He was killed instantly. The old negro was employed to help arrange the balloon for the ascension. He with the other helpers was told to get out of the way but failed to get away in time.

THURSDAY, JUNE 4TH, 1896.

Two trees, 125 feet from each other, at Gainesville, Ga., were recently struck and shattered by a single bolt of lightning.

The North Carolina Baptist Sunday school Chantauqua will be held at Morehead City this summer, commencing August 4th and continuing one week.

A Western editor says that he would be perfectly willing to have his wife vote, if he could wear a mother Hubbard, and sit in the cool back porch at home; but he did not mention the cooking and the mending and the other little things that have to go on.

The people of Burke have always been a people of high intelligence, and their commissioners have taken a step which will raise the standard of education in their county to as high a level as it ever attained to in the past. They have put Webster's Blue-Back Speller on the list of books to be taught in the public schools. There is no true education of which it is not the basis.—Charlotte Observer.

Speaking of that fearful cyclone at St. Louis, the Washington Star says it is "curious to note that one of the best informed men of the weather bureau made a prophecy only last week that it was a question of only a short time when one of those terrible cyclones would form in the vicinity of a great center of population and cause untold suffering and destruction." The St. Louis disaster was a horrid fulfilment of this prediction.—Wilmington Star.

The New York Herald has exposed the fact that there is a huge profit made by bicycle manufacturers on the standard hundred dollar bicycle which are sold. The Herald declares that the one hundred dollar crack wheel costs the manufacturer only $30 to make out of the best material fit together in the best style and put on the market. The Herald goes into a detailed expose of the actual cost of everything used in the construction of the machines, and claims that the manufacturers have been standing together and carefully guarding the secret in order to make the enormous profit.

The Magnitude of the Bicycle Business.

Someone has been figuring out the extent of the bicycle business, and while it is possible that the statistics given are rather high, it can be readily shown that at least some of them are not much overdrawn. This authority estimates that the bicycles now in use have cost their owners $300,000,000 and that there are 250 factories, with an aggregate capital of $60,000,000, but this is probably incorrect. It is said that, taking the cost of the wheels in use, the capital invested in their manufacture, and the capital in the retail trade, upwards of $400,000,000 is represented, and that over 150,000 hands are employed.—Manufacturers' Record.

IN JUNE.

The rose-leaves fast are going,
A little wind is blowing,
It seems almost like snowing
Under the white rose-tree;
And ah, we all are sighing
For June to be a flying!
We're anxious to be trying
Vacation days so free.

They tell us learning's better
Than fun, but 'tis a fetter—
I'm such a sad forgetter—
To have to pore o'er books;
So June, now do please hurry,
And make the school-days scurry,
Bring on commencement's flurry,
Then—ho! for fields and brooks!
—Annie Isabel Willis in June St. Nicholas.

Fifty Warts for a Cent.

One of the Star's brightest and most energetic little newsboys had, until a few weeks ago, been afflicted with fifty large and ugly warts on his hands. Every one who saw the boy had something to say about them, and he became very sensitive on the subject.

Many remedies had been prescribed, but not one was successful. An elderly gentleman, with all the earnestness imaginable, told the little fellow's mother in a street car one day to pick down into the roots of one of them with a needle, slice an onion and squeeze the liquid into the wound, then bury the onion in the ground, and when it decayed the warts would have disappeared. These instructions were faithfully carried out to the letter, but the warts remained. A well known druggist on East Marshall street experimented on the boy's hand with caustic for several weeks without avail. The little fellow at last gave up in despair.

A week or so ago a young lady told the boy that she would give him a cent for all his warts and he must go out and buy something for it. He quickly accepted the offer and soon returned with a mouthful of chewing gum. Very little attention was paid to his hands until a day or so ago, when the warts suddenly began to disappear, and to-day his hands are as smooth and soft as the young lady's who contributed the wonderful cure. The accuracy of this story can be vouched for by several trustworthy persons who are amazed at the remarkable occurrence.—Richmond Star.

Music Comes From a Coffin.

James Mulligan, an employee of a Michigan logging camp, died in the woods a couple of days ago. His friends placed his body and all his belongings in a coffin to ship to his family. They decided to carry the coffin to the railroad station. Eight stalwart woodsmen undertook the task of carrying it a mile over the frozen mud roads. They had not gone far when they suddenly stopped. Every one of them turned pale with fear, and they nearly dropped their burden. From within the coffin they heard the strains of "After the Ball" in the piping tones peculiar to a music box. Then some one remembered the box which James brought to help shorten the long nights, was packed in the coffin, and it is supposed the jarring caused the springs to relax. The men were reassured and proceeded on their way.—Ex.

It's the Luxuries They are Clamoring For.

A Statesville minister, remarking, a few days ago, on the prevailing cry of hard times, scarcity of money, etc., said that it is not the necessities of life that the people are crying for but the luxuries. This is true. How many people in this section, for instance, are actually destitute? Poor people there are, of course. There always have been poor people and always will be poor people, no matter what sort of conditions obtain. On the other hand, numerous people enjoy more luxuries today than ever before. We are glad that this is so, but some of them, because they cannot obtain all the luxuries they want, cry out that they are poverty-stricken and oppressed. It is not the necessities of life they cry for, but the luxuries.—Statesville Landmark.

The American Metropolis.

New York and Brooklyn, with a number of smaller places, have at last become one, by the signature of the governor to the Greater New York bill. The following is the present exhibit of the consolidated city, as given by the New York Advertiser:

Population	3,000,000
Area	359 sq. miles
Taxable property	$2,583,324,329
Debt	$170,000,000
Wharfage front	75 miles
Churches	1,100
Dwelling Houses	180,000
Business Houses	87,000
Parks	6,000
Paved streets	900 miles
Sewers	700 miles
Gas mains	1,800 miles
Railroads	1,200 miles
Hotels	1,120
Postoffices	90
Public schools	350

Governor Motton's signature makes of New York the second greatest city in the world, having for a superior London only, with a population of 5,000,000 and an area of 688 square miles. Paris comes third. The next greatest city in America is Chicago, with an area of 189 square miles, Philadelphia following third with an area of 129 square miles.

He Opened the Beehive.

Some peculiar shipments are made over the railroads, but the employees around the freight depot of the Louisville and Nashville Railway thought that they had the strangest of all at that point a couple of days ago. There were several beehives en route from a point on the Big Four to a point south, and as they stood waiting to be rebilled they were closely examined by one of the men. They were billed simply "beehives," and, being curious to see inside of it, this employee pulled the plug that stopped the entrance to the hive, when, swish! out came the bees so fast that they looked like animated molasses running from an overturned jug. It was as good a nineteenth century reproduction of "Pandora's box" as could be wished for and the evils, in the shape of bees, settled on the unlucky railroad man in squads, platoons and battalions. He ran away and left the bees to their own will, and late that night, when they had all crawled back into the hive again, another employee was induced to slip up quietly and stick the plug back. Next day they were all shipped away.—Ex.

What Advertising Would Have Done.

Mrs. Murphy—"Yes, sorry, I've had a fruit-stand on this block for fifty years." Tim Ryan—"If you'd have advertised, you might have owned the block by this time."

A little bit of patience often makes the sunshine come,
And a little bit of love makes a very happy home;
A little bit of hope makes a rainy day look gay,
And a little bit of charity makes glad a weary way.
—Exchange.

Family Funds.

One of the old residents of a Massachusetts town delights the younger generation with her stories of life in the town 70 years ago, when she was a little girl. Her father, with his wife and children, and his brother, with wife and children also, occupied a great farmhouse which is still in a state of excellent preservation in spite of its years of hard service.

"My father and my uncle had a 'common purse,'" said the old lady to a young visitor who was begging for reminiscences of that bygone time, "and all the family expenses were provided for from the funds it contained."

"There were 12 children in our part of the house and 13 in my uncle's, so that it took a good deal to provide us with food and clothing."

"My uncle had the reputation of being a little more prudent in money matters than was considered necessary by my father or any one acquainted with our affairs, so I have heard since. In those days the children of both families knew by instinct that my father was the person to whom an appeal for some desired bit of finery or what we called 'unnecessaries' had better be made. The common purse seemed to have greater powers of extension in his hands than in my uncle's."

"I well remember my pretty Cousin Myra dancing with delight when she was on the eve of her sixteenth birthday. 'I'm to have a piano after all, Jennie,' she cried, giving me a hug. 'Father was very doubtful about it, but Uncle Amos told me not to worry, for if father couldn't afford to give it to me he could.'" — Youth's Companion.

France and Fine Speeches.

When I read his (Gambetta's) fiery patriotic phrases, and when you tell us that he was avant tout un patriote, I think of Dr. Johnson's brusque saying, "Patriotism is the last refuge of a scoundrel." It is hard to practice the plain virtues, but not hard to se griser de mots about la patrie. What France wants is men with a passion for the plain virtues and capable of inspiring this passion in others. His intellectual qualities, his perception of the law of evolution in politics and his suppleness and adroitness in shaping his course accordingly are far more remarkable. * * * They seem to me Italian rather than French, but whenever they proceed they are not, although valuable, what France most needs and cannot supply the place of this.—Matthew Arnold.

This Most Extraordinary Country.

"How did this doosid place get its name?" asked the visiting Britisher. "The night it was named," explained the Oshkosh citizen, "they was a lot of fellers drinkin hot Scotch. Finally they got full an decided to name the town 'Hot Scotch,' but by that time they was so full that the highest they could come to it was 'Oshkosh,' an they let it go at that."

"Haw! 'Ow American!" — Cincinnati Enquirer.

Every great man exhibits the talent of organization or construction, whether it be in a poem, a philosophical system, a policy or a strategy. And without method there is no organization nor construction — Bulwer.

The first wood borer was the woodpecker, and so accurate is his work that the hole he bores in the tree is as exactly circular as though measured by a pair of compasses.

In 1890 there were 158 steel works in this country, nearly half of which were in Pennsylvania.

Printing ink is made of linsed oil, rosin, soap and lampblack or other coloring matter.

Evenly Numbered Cars.

Strange things will occasionally happen on railroads. Not long ago a Fort Wayne freight conductor, on looking over the cars of his train, was surprised to find seven cars the numbers of which were in correct rotation. He could scarcely believe that through pure chance such a thing could happen, but there were the cars, with the first one next to the engine numbered 7,453, and the others back to the seventh one with numbers in the ascending order and in correct position. In their wandering about from place to place the cars got shuffled together by accident so that their numbers were as described above. According to the laws that govern the operations of chance such a thing is not likely to occur again in 1,000 years.

North Carolina is a greatly favored State. Sometimes we have storms that do damages to the crops and perhaps a few houses, but nothing to compare with other sections. There have been several horrible life and property destroying storms out west recently. A terrible one in St. Louis, Mo., last Wednesday killed 400 persons and caused immense destruction to property.

It was awful. There have recently been horrible cyclones in Iowa, Kansas, Michigan and Illinois, causing the loss of many lives and the destruction of vast amounts of property, and ruining the crops in many sections. The people of North Carolina perhaps do not appreciate half as much as they should their blessings of a healthy, pleasant climate; good, productive lands, and freedom from life destroying cyclones. We have the best State in the Union.—Kinston Free Press.

Sometimes a man drops a mere casual remark that sets him down as eminently fitted for some line of duty that nobody would have other wise suspected him out for. Now everybody knows Fitzhugh Lee's good qualities. He was a superb fighter, was and is still accomplished as a horseback rider, Alexander and Bucephalus (pronounced according to Hon. William F. Henderson, of Davidson, Buckey-falus) to the contrary notwithstanding. Up to the time of his appointment as consul-general to Cuba, nobody had thought much about Fitz Lee in connection with diplomacy, and while great hopes were had of him after his appointment, he gave no sign of being especially diplomatic until yesterday. In passing through Ocala, Fla., a delegation of Floridians met him who were possessed of a red hatred of Mr. Weyler, now of Havana. It was necessary to speak circumspectly before these gentlemen, for Fitz had one foot in the States and the other in Cuba, so to speak. Between the Scylla of offending the gentlemen who were standing on the Ocala platform and the Charybdis of possibly getting on the wrong side of Mr. Weyler when he landed in Cuba, what did General Lee say? Here's what he said: "He hoped the dust of travel would be out of his eyes by the time he got to Cuba and no more would be thrown into them!" If that isn't diplomacy, what is? General Lee to the head of the class! — Charlotte Observer.
