TRIUMPH.

Ah, sweetheart, what is all the world to me,
 This glad, sweet world, with love and sunshine fraught?
 Beside your smile, your dimpled hand in mine,
 Ah, little one, it all but counts as naught.
 With your dear lips pressed close against my own,
 Time's tide's may ebb and flow—I take no heed:
 Your pure young life that trusts itself to me,
 I live for it, for you, and what you need.

And all the times and tides may come and go,
 The world is mine; I've won, and stand apart,
 And take no heed of all the passing throng,
 Since you are mine, sweetheart.
 —Mary M. Burroughs, in Brunswick Advertiser.

NOT MENIAL LABOR.

We have noticed a great deal lately about boys working their way through college by doing menial work. So many "young men at such and such a place working their own way, some by sweeping the halls, some by blacking boots, some by chopping wood," some by one thing and some by another. All of that will do to tell, but there is not much truth in it. It may have done for years gone by, but it is out of date now.

There are, of course, many young men at the various colleges who are paying their own way, some by saving money before they go, some by working at intervals, and many by borrowing to pay back when their courses are completed, but we venture to say that there were not two men in all the State last year who were paying their way by doing menial work on the college campus. In the first place it would be impossible for them to thus make more than enough to pay for their salt. In the next place they will not do it. There are too many paths open to them to make money without going to college; the inducements of an education are not great enough to make them bear the humiliation which the above course brings. A college boy could not stand it; he would rather quit and try something else.

By this we do not mean to discredit manual labor. It is honorable, much so as any other kind of course. But this thing of waiting upon fellow students is a thing that won't pass. It does not, of course, amount to anything, except that there is considerable talk about it every year. And another feature of it is that there are too many ways for a young man who shows himself worthy to obtain money. He can get it some way. There is always a friend somewhere, and he gets the money, devotes himself to study instead of boot blacking and is soon able to return it.—Monroe Journal.

In Court for Failing to Provide His Wife with Snuff and Tobacco.
 One Dave Morris was up before C. V. Voils, J. P., on last Tuesday for abandoning his wife. From what the court could gather from the State's witnesses there was no abandonment, neither had Morris failed to provide for her wants, save as to the luxuries of tobacco and snuff. On the examination of Mrs. Morris she stated that her husband had, on several occasions, gone off and stayed some two or three days, and not a chew of tobacco or a dip of snuff in the house.—Mooreville Record.

IN NORTH CAROLINA.

Matters Of Interest Over the State.

Mrs. Jarvis Buxton, wife of Rev. Dr. Buxton, died at Lenoir Tuesday.
 A large foundry and machine shops at Salisbury were destroyed by fire Tuesday night.

Raleigh people are having "trolley parties" on the electric street cars. They make up a crowd and ride around for two or three hours.

The North Carolina delegation to the Democratic National Convention, will leave for Chicago on Saturday. They will make the Sherman House their headquarters.

They are Demoralized.

The Star saw, and so stated, some weeks since that the leaders of both the Republican and Populist parties in North Carolina were in an agony of despair over the prospect of free silver triumph of the Democracy at Chicago. Now that prospect has been changed to a certainty, and the Pop. and Rep. leaders are demoralized. Look at Marion Butler. He sees that his "personally conducted" silver party will cut no figure in the coming elections. With free coinage platforms and free coinage tickets, both National and State, the Democrats will sweep the country. North Carolina will go Democratic. Many Republicans will vote our ticket. Thousands of Populists will come back to the only party that can ever rehabilitate silver in this country; and on the 6th day of next November, Marion Butler will see that the Populist party has been annihilated. In less than sixty days the veriest tyro in politics will see that the fight in North Carolina has settled down to one between the Democrats and the Republicans. With that issue, Democracy will triumph.—Wilmington Star.

A Joke on the Minister.

"A good many stories have been told of the ease with which petitions have been circulated," remarked A. B. Carlton, of Indianapolis, at the Cochran, "but the best instances I ever heard of was in an Ohio town. A popular minister there was induced to head what he thought was a petition for a charitable purpose, and on the strength of his signature the name of almost every reputable citizen of that place was signed to the document. It was then presented to the county court, and being in regular form, passed, as a matter of course, without any attention being paid to it, and the first intimation the minister had that a joke had been perpetrated was when he received notice that his application for license to keep a saloon had been granted and would be issued as soon as payment therefor had been made. At first the minister and his friends were indignant, but soon appreciated the joke, and it furnished the preacher with a text on the carelessness of signing such petition."

HON. CYRUS B. WATSON.

The Democratic State convention made no mistake in nominating Cyrus B. Watson, of Forsyth county, for Governor.

Mr. Watson had not sought the nomination, and accepted it only in response to a demand upon his patriotism that his devotion to duty and country would not permit him to decline.

He is a man from and of the people, and he touched a chord that brought tears to many eyes when, in accepting the nomination, he said the first place he should visit when he left the convention would be to the country home of his mother, now in her 92nd year, and tell her that the great Democratic party had nominated her son to be Governor of her State.

Mr. Watson has ability of a high order; courage that is not to be doubted, and integrity of the most rugged type. He was a brave private soldier, self educated, but educated in that school of experience and great industry that makes the well rounded man.

Mr. Watson is a fighter. He never runs. He is always in the thickest of the fight, neither asking nor giving quarter. He is a great debater—the equal of the best.

Mr. Watson's position upon public questions is well known. He makes no concealment of his opinions. His heart is an open book. His love for his fellows is so great that there is no corner in his heart for anything except the milk of human kindness.

Mr. Watson has been one of the strongest advocates of the free coinage of silver from the commencement of the agitation. He stands true in Democratic hostility to all trusts and combinations, and for the people in their aspirations for better conditions and a fair chance.

With his clean record; his upright life; his ability as a debator, his capacity, his patriotism, and his courage will make him a worthy successor on the hustings to the beloved Vance.—News and Observer, June 26th.

J. P. Caldwell, editor of the Charlotte Observer, who attended the convention, telegraphed his paper the following editorial:

The nomination of Cyrus B. Watson, of Forsyth, by the Democratic State convention was made in great wisdom. He is a Democrat of Democrats, a clean man, a man of high ability, spotless record and approved fidelity, and courage, well equipped with all the weapons of political warfare, fertile of resource, ready, bold, tireless. He will traverse the State from the mountains to the sea and rain such blows upon the head of Russell as will make that worthy curse the day he was born.

Mr. Watson's speech of acceptance was in a lottly strain. It was memorable for its grand dignity and it went to the hearts of the convention and assured the delegates that they had made no mistake in their choice of a standard-bearer.

Three times three for Watson now and for victory in November.

A Deaf Mute Lawyer.

William Egan, a deaf mute who is a printer, is ambitious to become an attorney-at-law and is anxious to enter Gallaudet college at Washington, D. C., says an Alameda, Cal. correspondent to The San Francisco Examiner. Egan will be the first deaf mute ever admitted to the practice of the law in California and the second in the country.

Egan is a native of San Francisco and is twenty-five years of age. He is an orphan and when very young he was placed in the institution for the deaf at Berkeley. There he learned the printer's trade, which he has since followed. He read law while at Berkeley. He made known to W. W. Foote his ambition and that gentleman took an interest in him. Senator George C. Perkins is endeavoring to gain admission for Egan to Gallaudet college.

Egan can pronounce some words. He says when he was eighteen months old he went with his mother to Panama by steamer. He fell down the companionway and since that time has been deaf. If he is admitted to the college he expects to take a course in articulation and hopes to regain his speech.

Egan carries on conversation in the sign language of mutes and by writing. He writes rapidly and his thoughts on every subject are intelligent and come quickly. He says of his plans:

"I intend to pursue my studies and whether or not I am permitted to enter the college at Washington I will apply for admission to the bar in this state."

Money to Burn This Year.

There's joy among "de boys." The summer promises rich and abundant crops for those who fly the Republican banner and vote—well, according to the way the financial cat jumps on and before election day.

Never did a campaign start out with such apparent richness as that which was inaugurated by the nomination of Major McKinley. On the very night of the nomination Republican clubs all through the city began to put up transparencies and banners. New club rooms were engaged, with all the appurtenances of comfort, and the committees in charge were seen to have unlimited funds apparently at their command with which to start the Republican booming.

"I tells yer what it is, boys," said one old campaigner who knows the signs of the times. "Dis year is goin' ter be a hummer. De Repubs has jest got tings dere own way. Dey's goin' ter make all de rich manufacturers pony up big fur campaign expenses. De latter is willin'. Dey wants perfection and prosperity, and dey's willin' ter pay fer it, and Mark Hanna's jest de man ter dig it out uv 'em wid a shovel. Let de band play on."

A Bowery cheer greeted this prediction, and somebody set 'em up again for "de boys." There is no doubt that the Republican managers have got money to burn this year, and the gentlemen who make votes to order in this city propose to get up just as big a conflagration as they know how.—N. Y. World.

The man who didn't care three shakes of a lamb's tail about the newspapers, recently rode thirteen miles through the hot sun to get a weekly that spoke of him as a prominent citizen. He wanted the paper to send away which he said would be a great advertisement for the paper. This individual abounds in every community.—Durham Sun.

A rat gnawing the insulation of the electric wires in a New York hotel turned on the fire-alarm, and thus saved the life of General Vargus, of San Domingo, who was suffocating from coal-gas in his room in the building. This reminds one of the fable of the rouse, the lion, and the ne.

When you see a sky of blue,
 Think. That sky was made for you!
 When the breeze bends down the trees,
 You just think that that's your breeze!

Every blessed drop of dew
 Falls upon a rose for you!

If the fellows that loaf about on the street corners and do all in their power to kick up a racket among neighbors and friends would use the same exertion to promote peace and happiness, this would be quite a different world in which we live. The delight of some men seems to be in magnifying lies put into circulation by irresponsible individuals.—Durham Sun.

The example of Lake Forest, Ill. is one to be commended to all towns infested by tramps and vagrants. The municipal council did not exactly pass an ordinance making it a punishable offense for anybody to give food to a tramp. They put it milder, in the form of a mere request, that citizens of Lake Forest, give no food or employment to tramps and vagrants. A copy of the request was sent to every householder in the town, and now tramps make a wide detour around Lake Forest. It is certain that these vermin can be exterminated from the country by vigorous and concerted action on the part of municipal councils. Every possible aid should be given to men who are willing to work steadily, but for the wandering, thieving, disease and vermin spreading hobo there should be no quarter.

A sad story is going the round of the press of an old lady in Chicago who was recently deserted by her husband. Twenty-two years ago, at the age of sixty-six, she became the wife of Daniel Thompson, who was then only twenty-one years of age. The marriage occurred in Denmark. Shortly afterwards the couple emigrated to America. The husband found employment in Chicago, and for quite a while they seemed to be contented and happy. About a year ago, however, Mrs. Thompson's son, by a former marriage, came to live with them, bringing his young wife. Finding himself in a good home, he refused to work and began to dissipate in a most reckless manner. In these vicious habits he persevered for several months. Finally his young wife threatened to leave him. On returning home the other day he found that she had carried out her threat by running away with Thompson. In order to marry this young woman Thompson deserted his aged wife, with whom he had lived for twenty-two years and who had borne him several children. Thompson carried away with him all the money which he had laid by, leaving his wife in a helpless condition. The old woman, who is now eighty-eight years old, will doubtless be sent to the poorhouse.

NORTH CAROLINA FOR SILVER.

Platform Adopted by the Democratic State Convention.

Whereas the Democratic party had its birth in Mr. Jefferson's great contest against the centralization of the powers of the Federal Government, and in behalf of the strict construction of the Federal Constitution embodied in the tenth amendment thereto, in which all power not delegated to it were expressly reserved to the States, respectively, or to the people, and whereas, the Republican party has ever been the party of centralization, resolved

1. That we appeal to the people to observe this fundamental difference between the Democratic party and its traditional enemy in respect to the powers of the central government.

2. That the Constitution of the United States recognizes both gold and silver as the primary or redemption money of these States, and that, in the words of the National Democratic platform of 1884, "We believe in honest money, the gold and silver coinage of the Constitution, and a circulating medium convertible into such money without loss."

3. We favor, independently of other nations, the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold, without discrimination against either, at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, and we condemn the system which in a time of peace, with millions of silver bullion lying idle in the Treasury, has forced the government within the short period of two years, to issue $262,000,000 of bonds, entailing this enormous debt upon the people, in order to maintain its credit upon a single standard and a gold basis.

4. We condemn the action of the Secretary of the Treasury in following the Republican precedent of paying the obligations of the Government in gold which were specifically made payable in coin.

5. We hereby instruct our delegates to the National convention, both as to platform and candidate, to advocate and vote as a unit, unflinchingly and at all hazards, for the restoration of silver, and otherwise in obedience to the letter and spirit of the principles herein enunciated.

We further instruct our delegates, State and district, to use all their efforts to abrogate the two-thirds rule, if necessary to secure the nomination of a candidate in complete, hearty, and in known accord with the principles herein enunciated by us.

James Dinwiddie, M. A.,

6 We warn the people against the threatened combined evils of the gold standard and the McKinley Tariff. These twin monsters go hand in hand in their mission of destruction, drawing the very sustenance from the body of the people, and concentrating all wealth and power in the hands of a few.

7. We denounce the McKinley Tariff and all other forms of protective tariff legislation, and favor the constitutional tariff for revenue only.

8. We favor the repeal of the unconstitutional tax of ten per cent. on State banks of issue.

9. We declare ourselves in favor of a graduated income tax in order that wealth may bear its due proportion of the burden of supporting the government, and we favor an immediate amendment of the Constitution of the United States authorizing its levy and collection in express terms, leaving nothing for judicial construction.

10. We are unalterably opposed to legislation by which monopolies and trusts are created and fostered. We insist upon the faithful execution of the existing laws against the same, and upon such further legislation as may be necessary for their suppression.

STATE AFFAIRS.

11. We point with pride to the economic and stainless administration of the State government whenever Democracy has been in power.

12. We favor the enactment of such an election law as will secure the purity of the ballot, and for the maintenance and protection of the right of suffrage to all the citizens of the State.

13. We favor the continuance of the system of public education established by the Democratic party, and pledge ourselves to its increased efficiency as the condition of the people and public revenues may justify.

14. We favor the prompt, impartial and just administration of the criminal law of the State, and point with pride to the fact that a Democratic legislature first enacted a law against lynching, and that the faithful execution of the same has virtually suppressed that crime in the State.

We cordially invite all men, regardless of former political associations, to unite with us, in a fight to the finish for free silver, for low taxes, for higher prices for agricultural products, for the economical administration of government, and for the freedom and individual sovereignty of the American citizen. We declare our belief that the peace, prosperity and happiness of the people of North Carolina depend on the defeat of the Republican State ticket in the coming election.

The most ancient court in England is that of the king's bench. Alfred the Great presided over this court more than a thousand years ago. Other monarchs followed his example until the cares of the realm became such that it was necessary to appoint judges. The court of chancery is almost as old as the king's bench. In 1871 these ancient tribunals were merged into a comprehensive judicial system, composed of the king's bench, the court of common pleas, the exchequer and the probate courts. At the head of these departments is the supreme legal officer of the law of Great Britain and Ireland, the lord high chancellor. He is appointed by the crown upon the motion of the premier of the realm and changes office with his political party. He sits upon the woolsack, the presiding officer's chair in the house of lords, and is also a member of the privy council and the chief judge of the appellate tribunals. Next in rank is the lord chief justice of England, who presides over the court of appeals. Lord Halsbury is the lord chancellor, Lord Russell Killowen is the chief justice, and Lord Esher is the master of the rolls, and he will be the last judge to hold that time-honored title; it dies with him. Among the wearers of the judicial ermine, the late Chief Justice Coleridge was conspicuous for his liberal views, since liberalism is not a prevalent creed with judges in England.
