REPUBLICAN PLAN OF CO-OPERATION.

What They Expect From Populists—McKinley and the Gold Platform to be Swallowed.

The Republican Executive Committee met last Saturday and issued a "Call" to the Republicans of the State. From this we make the following extracts:

"It is therefore resolved by the State Republican Executive Committee in regular meeting assembled, that we recommend to the Republican voters of the State the necessity of co-operation with the Populists in all the counties where it is practicable, on the legislative and county officers, with the understanding that members of the Legislature of both parties shall support the nominee of the Republican caucus for United States Senator, so that each party shall have one Senator in Congress."

It will be seen from this that every Populist candidate for the Legislature is to be pledged beforehand to vote for a Republican for United States Senator. This is to re-elect Senator Pritchard, who is an ardent admirer of McKinley. It cannot be that the honest Populists of North Carolina will vote for any man who favors McKinley for President, and yet the Republicans are advised and commanded to make every Populist pledge himself to this end before voting for him. We ask the Populist of Pitt whether they propose to do this.

This also occurs in the "Call."

"We also urge the immediate organization of McKinley and Russell clubs in every precinct in the State, and that they secure necessary literature to educate the honest yeomanry of the Commonwealth, in those principles advocated by Republican party that every voter shall exercise his suffrage in this most important election intelligently and advisedly."

Does any man have any doubt now as to whether the Republicans favor McKinley and the gold standard? Can any man who favors silver and any party which proposes to defeat it if they can? We ask the honest silver advocates these questions in all earnestness and we believe that they will aid in giving North Carolina to Bryan.

To make the above even stronger and show that they not only favor McKinley but endorse the gold platform that interprets itself to mean only gold they resolve farther:

"That we heartily endorse the action of the National Republican convention at St. Louis in presenting for our support for the Presidency the great champion of protection to American industries, Wm. McKinley, of Ohio, and Garrett A. Hobart, of New Jersey, for Vice-Presidency, and hereby pledge our earnest support of their candidacy and the platform of principles upon which they stand in enunciation of the party policy touching the great economic and other issues demanding settlement; and that our firm belief is that by wise and proper management our State will give these gentlemen its electoral vote in November next."

In this it will be seen that their support is pledged to the candidates and gold platform in no uncertain sound, and they express the belief that North Carolina will give its electoral vote to McKinley and Hobart and thereby rivet upon us the evils of the gold standard.

We believe that the Populists in the State who are honestly in favor of financial reform will never cooperate with any party advocating any such declarations as the above. Whatever they may think about having their own tickets we are thoroughly convinced that they can never aid the Republicans and be true to the principles which they have heretofore so earnestly advocated. We call upon all men who favor a change in the present financial system to think before they act and when they do act let their actions be in accordance with their professions.

THE ELECTORAL COLLEGE.

You can't Beat Greenville.

Greenville is a hustling town in North Carolina, as we have for sometime recognized. They are beginning to do extraordinary things as we learn from the REFLECTOR. For instance: A local dealer advertises, "First of the season—New Mullets and Potatoes 10 cents a peck." This is the first time we have heard of such a combination, and mullets selling for 10 cents a peck.—Durham Sun.

Yes, sir, Greenville is a hustler from away back, and if you keep a close eye on the REFLECTOR you will find more extraordinary things going on down here than this mullet-potato narrative: The fact is we had to do something down here to keep up with Durham roasting potatoes, frying eggs and popping corn in the sun. In the meantime S. M. Shultz goes right on selling "new mullets and potatoes 10 cents a peck."

The Greenville Still Ga'ring.

The Greenville Warehouse had the lead in quantity today and whooped up the price as usual. Here is a sale made for H. C. Braxton on a load of primings: 42 lbs. $25; 60 lbs. $21.25; 138 lbs. $17; 135 lbs. $12.25; 63 lbs. $6.75; 48 lbs. $11.25; 34 lbs. $5.40.

Notice.

The public is warned not to pay Star Warehouse check No. 4643 for $9.00 on the Bank of Greenville and given August 19th, 1896, and made payable to C. M. Nebles.

EQUALITY BEFORE THE LAW

Income Tax and Free Coinage.

SHERMAN AND BLAINE QUOTED.

"I shall ask you to consider the language of two gentlemen whose long public service and high standing in the party to which they belong will protect them from adverse criticism by our opponents. In 1889 Senator Sherman said:

The contraction of the currency is a far more distressing operation than Senators suppose. Our own and other nations have gone through that operation before. It is not possible to take that voyage without sorest distress. To every person, except a capitalist out of debt, or a salaried officer or annuitant, it is a period of loss, danger lassitude of trade, fall of wages, suspension of enterprise, bankruptcy and disaster. It means ruin to all dealers whose debts are twice their business capital, one-third less than their actual property. It means the fall of all agricultural production without any great reduction of taxes. What prudent man would dare to build a house, a railroad, a factory, or a barn with this certain fact before him? As I have said before, the salaried officer referred to must be the man whose salary is fixed for life, and not the man whose salary depends upon business conditions.

"When Mr. Sherman describes contraction of the currency as disastrous to all the people, except the capitalist, out of debt and those who stand in a position similar to his, he is stating a truth which must be apparent to every person who will give the matter careful consideration. Mr. Sherman was at that time speaking of the contraction of the volume of paper currency, but the principal which he set forth applies if there is a contraction of the volume of the standard money of the world.

"Mr. Blaine discussed the same principal in connection with the demonetization of silver. Speaking in the House of Representatives on the 7th of February, 1878, he said:

I believe the struggle now going on in this and other countries for a single gold standard would, if successful, produce widespread disaster in and throughout the commercial world. The destruction of silver as money and the establishment of gold as the sole unit of value must have a ruinous effect on all forms of property, except those invested which yield a fixed return in money. These would be enormously enhanced in value, and would gain a disproportionate and unfair advantage over every other species of property.

"Is it strange that the holders of investments, which yield a fixed return in money, can regard the demonetization of silver with complacency? We may not expect the holders of other forms of property to protest against giving to money a 'disproportionate and unfair advantage over every other species of property.' If the relatively few whose wealth consists largely in fixed investments have a right to use the ballot to enhance the value of their investments, have not the rest of the people the right to use the ballot to protect themselves from the disastrous consequences of a rising standard? The people who must purchase money with the products of toil stand in a position entirely different from the position of those who own money or receive fixed income.

PROSPERITY OF THE MASSES.

"The well being of the nation, and of civilization itself, depends upon the prosperity of the masses. What shall it profit us to have a dollar which grows more valuable every day if such a dollar lowers the standard of civilization and brings distress to the people? What shall it profit us if in trying to raise our credit by increasing the purchasing power of our dollar we destroy our ability to pay the debts already contracted by lowering the purchasing power of the products with which those debts must be paid?

"If it is asserted, as it constantly is asserted, that the gold standard will enable us to borrow more money from abroad, I reply that the restoration of bimetallism will restore the parity between money and property, and thus permit an era of prosperity which will enable the American people to become loaners of money instead of perpetual borrowers. Even if we desire to borrow, how long can we continue borrowing under a system which, by lowering the value of property, weakens the foundation upon which credit rests?

"Even the holders of fixed investments, though they gain an advantage from the appreciation of the dollar, see the injustice of the legislation which gives them this advantage over those whose incomes depend upon the value of property and products. If the holders of fixed investments will not listen to arguments based upon justice and equity, I appeal to them to consider the interests of posterity. We do not live for ourselves alone; our labor, our self denial, and our anxious care—all these are for those who are to come after us as much as for ourselves, but we cannot protect our condition beyond the period of our lives. Let those who are now reaping advantage from a vicious financial system remember that in the years to come their own children and their children's children may, through the operation of this same system, be made to pay tribute to the descendants of those who are wronged today.

"As against the maintenance of a gold standard, either permanently or until other nations can be united for its overthrow, the Chicago platform presents a clear and emphatic demand for the immediate restoration of the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1 without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation. We are not asking that a new experiment be tried; we are insisting upon a return to a financial policy approved by history and supported by all the prominent statesmen of our nation from the days of the first President down to 1873. When we ask that our mints be opened to the free and unlimited coinage of silver into full legal-tender money we are simply asking that the same mint privileges be accorded to silver that are now accorded to gold. When we ask that this coinage be at the ratio of 16 to 1 we simply ask that our gold coins and the standard silver dollar—which, be it remembered, contains the same amount of pure silver as the first silver dollar coined at our mints—retain their present weight and fineness.

A EUROPEAN ILLUSTRATION.

"The theoretical advantage of the bimetallic system is well stated by a European writer on political economy, who suggests the following illustration: 'A river fed from two sources is more uniform in volume than a river fed from one source, the reason being that when one of the feeders is swollen the other may be low, whereas a river which has but one feeder must rise or fall with that feeder. So in the case of bimetallism. The volume of metallic money receives contributions from both the gold mines and the silver mines, and therefore varies less, and the dollar resting upon two metals, is less changeable in its purchasing power than the dollar which rests on one metal only.'

If there are two kinds of money the option must rest either with the debtor or with the creditor. Assuming that their rights are equal, we must look at the interests of society in general in order to determine which side the option should be given. Under the bimetallic system gold and silver are linked together by law at a fixed law, and any person or persons owing any quantity of either metal can have the same converted into full legal tender money. If the creditor has the right to choose the metal in which payment shall be made it is reasonable to suppose that he will require the debtor to pay in the dearer metal if there is any perceptible difference between the bullion values of the metals. This new demand created for the dearer metal will make that metal dearer still, while the decreased demand for the cheaper metal will lower its price. In other words, when the creditor has the option the metals are drawn apart, whereas when the debtor has the option the metals are held together approximately at the ratio fixed by law, provided the demand created is sufficient to absorb all of both metals presented at the mint.

"Society, is, therefore, interested in having the option exercised by the debtor. Indeed, there can be no such thing as real bimetallism unless the option is exercised by the debtor. The exercise of the option by the debtor prevent the creditor classes, whether domestic or foreign, to exert themselves to maintain the parity between gold and silver at the legal ratio, whereas they might find a profit in driving one of the metals to a premium if they could then demand the dearer metal. The right of the debtor to choose the coin in which payment shall be made extends to obligations due from the government as well as from contracts from individuals. A government obligation is simply a debt due from all the people to one of the people, and it is impossible to justify a policy which make the interests of the one person who holds the obligation superior to the rights of the many who must be taxed to pay it. When, prior to 1873, silver was at a premium it was never contended that national honor required the payment of government obligations in silver. The resolution adopted by Congress in 1878 positively assert the right of the United States to redeem obligations in standard silver dollars as well as in coin. Upon this subject the Chicago platform reads: 'We are opposed to the policy and practice of surrendering to the holders of obligations of the United States the option reserved by law of exchanging silver certificates in silver coin or gold coin.'

Why the Boiler Maker Called.
"Do you know," said Mr. Gratebar, "that for a long time I couldn't imagine what brought our neighbor, Mr. Anthony Hammerby, in to see us so often. Mr. Hammerby was a retired boiler maker. He had been a journeyman boiler maker and then a boss, and having made a modest fortune he had retired to enjoy it. He lived only two or three doors from us, and he used to come in often evenings. He seemed particularly to like to hear the children play on the piano, and if they didn't play he would always ask to have them. I used to wonder at this, because I never had any idea that Mr. Hammerby was especially fond of music, and one day I asked him about it.
"Well, you see," said Mr. Hammerby, "I suppose that every man has a feeling of affection for the trade or profession that he was brought up in. I know that I have that feeling for my own, and when I hear your children play duets on the piano with the hard pedal on all the time, it makes me think of the dear old boiler factory."—New York Sun.

CATARRH.

His Worst Enemy Defeated by
P. P. P., Lippman's
Great Remedy.

FOR THREE YEARS HE SUFFERED—COULD

HARDLY BREATHE AT NIGHT—ONE
NOSTRIL CLOSED FOR 10 YEARS.

Mr. A. M. Ramsey, of DeLeon, Texas, was a sufferer from Catarrh in its worst form. Truly, his description of his sufferings seem little short of marvelous. Instead of seeking his couch, glad for the nights coming, he went to it with terror, realizing that another long, weary, wakeful night and a struggle to breathe was before him. He could not sleep on either side for two years. P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, cured him in quick time.

DE LEON, TEXAS.
Messrs. LIPPMAN BROS., Savannah, Ga. Gentl: I have used nearly four bottles of P. P. P. I was afflicted from the crown of my head to the soles of my feet. Your P. P. P. has cured my difficulty of breathing, smothering, palpitation of the heart, and has relieved me of all pain. One nostril was closed for ten years, but now I can breathe through it readily. I have not slept on either side for two years; in fact, I dreaded to see night come. Now I sleep soundly in any position all night.
I am 50 years old, but expect soon to be able to take hold of the plow handles. I feel glad that I was lucky enough to get P. P. P., and I heartily recommend it to my friends and the public generally.
Yours respectfully,
A. M. RAMSEY

THE STATE OF TEXAS—County of Comanche.—Before the undersigned authority on this day, personally appeared A. M. Ramsey, who, after being duly sworn, says on oath that the foregoing statement made by him relative to the virtue of P. P. P. medicine is true.
A. M. RAMSEY.
Sworn to and subscribed before me this August 4th, 1891.

Napoleon and Robert Fulton.
The emperor had revealed the truth to his favorite brother when he said that he himself would never attempt a landing on British shores, but that he might send Ney to Ireland. It is a significant straw that when Robert Fulton offered to make the flotilla independent of wind and wave by the use of steam Napoleon, the apostle of science, friend of Monge and Volney, member of the institute, displayed very little scientific interest. For some time past he had been coquetting with the American inventor, granting him inadequate subsidies to prosecute his schemes for applying steam power to various marine engines of destruction. He probably intended to keep others from using Fulton's inventions. That he made no fair trial of them himself would seem to show that he had no real use for them.—"Life of Napoleon," by Professor William M. Sloane in Century.

Upset the Buggy.

Tuesday evening Dr. Frank W. Brown started out to make a visit, his colored waitman driving for him. He stopped in front of a store on main street, and as he went in instructed the man to turn the buggy around. The man carelessly turned too short and upset the buggy, when he jumped out and left the horse to take care of himself. The horse behaved pretty well under the circumstances and the buggy was only slightly damaged. The doctor did not feel much like confining himself to the catechism when he came out and took in the situation.
