EDITORIAL NOTES.

Hon. Charles F. Crisp, of Georgia, ex-Speaker of the National House of Representatives, died in Atlanta Friday afternoon. The country loses an able man in his death.

Old man Vanderbilt said: "The people be damned." Hanna doesn't say that, but he thinks it, for he expects to buy McKinley's election and thus get away with the people.

The Review of Reviews for November publishes several important and interesting articles on the latest phases of the Eastern Question, especially from the British point of view. Mr. W. Stead's survey of the subject, entitled "The Eastern Orgre; or St. George to the Rescue," is extremely characteristic and suggestive; the Review also offer a remarkable symposium of eminent thought on "What should be done with Turkey?" as the pressing problem of the hour.

At Chicago Saturday Hon. John W. Tomlinson, of Alabama, a member of the Democratic advisory committee, who has been traveling since October 6th, with the Bryan party, said: "I have been with Mr. Bryan through Indiana, Iowa, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio and Illinois, and I am certain he will carry every one of those nine States. I regard Indiana, Illinois and Michigan as absolutely certain."

Harry Skinner's trip to Raleigh week before last, and his appeal to chairman Holton, of the Republican executive committee, to do something to unite the negroes of this district or he would be left, is bearing fruit. That was the main object of Cheatham's visit here on Saturday, as could be told from his speech and the way he urged the negroes to vote for Skinner. Among other things Cheatham said to them was that he understood some of them were undecided about how they were going to vote. "The idea," said he, "of any negro being undecided about how he will vote. It will do for the white people to be divided but not so with the negro, every one of you must vote solidly together." Is not this something for the white people of Pitt county and the district to be thinking over? With such efforts as this to unite the negroes and make them vote together, is it not time the white people were settling their differences and coming together to elect men who will insure us good government? There is danger now in the white people not being together. Of course the negroes are going to vote just like their bosses tell them, and it is high time the white people were opening their eyes to these things.

EXCITEMENT AT TARBORO.

Builders of the New Bridge Trying to Tear Down the Old One.

The REFLECTOR learns by wire that our neighboring town, Tarboro, was very much excited Sunday. Some time ago the Commissioners of Edgecombe county let a contract to the King Bridge Co., to erect a steel bridge across the river at Tarboro. When the builders reported their work completed the committee appointed by the Commissioners to inspect and pass upon the work did not think it came up to contract. They sent for an expert to come and examine the bridge and when he went over the work he pronounced it the most inferior job he had ever examined and expressed the opinion that the work would not stand six months.

Upon this report the committee refused to accept the bridge. Representatives of the builders have since been making repeated efforts to force the committee to accept it, but so far have failed to do so.

On Sunday there were written notices bearing the signature of the King Bridge Co., found posted on the old bridge. These notices read "This bridge will be torn from bank to bank, as per contract, Monday at 12:10 A. M."

Sunday night the streets were full of people to witness the fun, but waiting until 12:45 without anything being done they all went home. The commissioners kept a watchman at the bridge all night. It is thought the old bridge will be torn down at first opportunity, but so many people were out Sunday night that no attempt was made.

ORIGINAL OBSERVATIONS.

The less you find fault the more you will find happiness.

The quickest way to get rid of some friends is to do them a favor.

God may have use for cowards but his is never yet so advertised.

The road of life was never yet macadamized the entire length for any man.

Many a man contributes chiefly to the happiness of his home by his absence.

Street gossips use the thread of conversation to weave the fabric of untruth.

That religion which is as good on Saturday as it is on Sunday is well worth having.

They never hang men for "killing time" in this country—it would keep the officers too busy.

And now the scientists tell us that sleep is only an intoxication, but then you don't have the big head from it in the morning.

Friendship is that rare flower which blooms as sweetly and as beautifully in the snowy December of misfortune as in the warm and rosy May of prosperity.

Love is never lost. Even if it is not reciprocated it will flow back in tenderest wavelets, and will soften and melt and make better the heart, the blessed fountain from whence it first did start.—Orange (Va.) Observer.

Unbecoming in Soldiers.

People living north of the river in the section between Great Swamp and Mt. Pleasant, complain of some very ugly behavior in their neighborhood on Friday night. When the Rifles were returning from Raleigh several of the members living on that side of the river, got off the train at House. These young men got on a wagon to go to their homes, and whenever they passed a house as they went a long they fired a volley of shots and made much noise. The people along the road not knowing the cause of the shooting were greatly alarmed, some of them actually fleeing from their homes in fright. When the cause of the shooting was learned next day the matter was reported to Capt. Smith, and he was very much worried that any of his men should have been guilty of such conduct. Of course the boys intended no mischief but were just bent on having a little fun, yet it is wrong to frighten people in this way even in fun.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

[From Our Regular Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 24. '96
"Bryan will be elected," emphatically declared Senator Butler, Chairman of the Populist National Committee: "the information received by me this week has made this absolutely sure in my mind. The Bryan tide which started in Michigan and Minnesota ten days ago and made those States certain, instead of doubtful, reached Illinois this week and now that State can also be put down in the certain column." This language is considered very significant in Washington, because Senator Butler has been so very careful in expressing his confidence and in making claims that some over-enthusiastic Democrats have been inclined to accuse him of being lukewarm in the support of Mr. Bryan. Mr. Butler is a young man and he did not care to endanger his future political prestige by making claims until he had carefully gone over the field and ascertained to his own satisfaction just what the real situation was. This he has done, and the result is his announcement that "Bryan will be elected." All the information received by Democrats points to the correctness of Senator Butler's announcement.

A gentleman who is a Democrat as well as an old personal friend of Mr. Bryan's said, speaking of the Republican assertion that the Democratic National Committee made a specific charge in cash for Mr. Bryan's speeches and that those towns that did not put up the money were passed by: "I haven't the slightest hesitation in pronouncing that story to be a lie, although it is entirely probable that some representative of the National committee has passed around the hat among Democrats in towns that have been visited by Mr. Bryan, as the committee has had to resort to all sorts of schemes to raise money to keep the campaign going and has at no time had all that it might have used legitimately and profitably. In one southern state visited by Mr. Bryan the State committee took charge of him and his party when they entered the State and while within its borders would not allow them to spend one cent for anything. Mr. Bryan is a poor man and were it not for the personal contributions made direct to him would probably find himself lacking for ready money quite often. An instance of this sort of contribution came directly under my notice when Mr. Bryan came to Washington several weeks ago to speak. A Washington man who is not wealthy by any means came to me with a $100 note, which he asked to have handed to Mr. Bryan to be used for his personal expenses, without any mention of the donor."

"The Code."

About the most absurd thing, it seems to the writer, in the medical profession, is some dreadful thing the M. D.'s call "the code." We do not know what "the code" looks like, we never saw it; but it must be terrible to look upon, as it prevents many physicians from doing that which reason, humanity and common sense would seem to dictate they should do; that is, tell people what they can do along given lines. Yes, advertise! That's what we mean. It's a fearful thing to say, isn't it? If "the code" should catch us at it, the consequences would be terrible. Leaving out all the self-styled "specialist," there are many men in general practice in every city who are specialists in something. Some in reference to one disease, some another. You are afflicted by some one of the diseases, which some one of the doctors in your city is especially successful in curing.

But you don't know he is. The doctor knows it, but his fear of "the code" is so great that he don't dare print the fact in your newspaper and let you know it.

Like the woman in the Bible, you spend your money on many physicians, but get no better—in fact grow worse—finally you die. The doctor who could have saved your life said never a word—of course he knew nothing about you, you knew nothing about him. He did not advertise! We have often thought that the doctors of this country were going to have a lot to answer for one of these days. Sometime they are going to be called on for an interview with a gentleman known as Saint Peter.

They will strike a case then where "the code" won't work. "Did you do everything you possibly could when on earth to relieve suffering, to cure disease, to save the lives of your fellow men?"

This is the question they will be asked.

And the trembling M. D. will answer:

"Yes, sir, I think I did."

"Did you let everybody know your power to heal disease? Did you tell to all the people the fact that you were able to relieve their suffering? I understand that you are greatly skilled in the treatment of pneumonia, and yet a great many people died in your city last year from this disease. Had you taken pains to let all these people know you could cure them? In short, did you advertise?"

Then the M. D., who has continued to tremble with an exceedingly great trembling during the course of these remarks, will reply:

"But, Saint Peter, you must remember 'the code.' It did not allow physicians to advertise."

"Code; nothing! Is not human life more than any code? Go below; I'm busy."—Emerson De Puy in Saturday Review.

An Arkansas man is the latest claimant for the invention of a machine which will successfully pick cotton, but if his anticipations fail of realization we think that there will be a few persons who now derive a profit from gathering the cotton crop that will regret such a result.

Forty or fifty million dollars are annually expended in gathering the cotton crop in the Southern States, and should a cotton picker be invented which would do this work a large number of these persons who are now producers of wealth would become non-producing consumers and thus add to the difficulties which would confront many laborers.

Labor-saving machines are not always an unmixed blessing, as many thousands of printers in this country can testify who have within the past five years been deprived of their ability to earn a livelihood by the use of type-setting machines.

On the day after Chairman Holton notified Mark Hanna that he had made ten thousand votes for McKinley by endorsing Populist chairman Ayer for State Auditor, the Republican chairman said: "I bet a suit of clothes last night that that North Carolina would go for McKinley." Watch out for boodle!—Raleigh News and Observer.

RICKS & TAFT.

We Sell Goods Cheaper Than Any Other House.

DRESS GOODS.

It gives us pleasure to announce that we are now displaying the most extensive and attractive stock of wool Dress Fabrics ever imported by us, selected with the utmost care as to desirability of weave, beauty of effect and excellence of quality; the result has been to enable us to present a superb variety of superior grade goods in a truly wonderful assortment of the most recent creations of wool and silk and wool "fashion's favorites."

Handsome materials and fashionable fabrics will be difficult to obtain this season, for the reason that importation are much below the average, particularly in fine silks and dress fabrics, and the American manufacturers have been obliged to curtail their productions.

Each department of our business is fully prepared to show the newest and correct materials, styles and colorings for fall and winter, and we strongly recommend an early examination of the various departments.

RICKS & TAFT, The Money Savers.

A Wedding at Hooker's Store.

Mr. Sylvester Boyd and Miss Cora A. Buck, both of Chidod township, came to Greenville today as two people but returned home as one. A visit in their behalf was made to the Register of Deeds and a marriage license procured. They then went to the store of H. C. Hooker where by the aid of R. Williams, Esq., they were made man and wife. Henry Hooker was best man, Bernard Greene, bearing a bunch of feathers, served as flower girl and Simon Congleton gave the wedding march on the stove pipe. The reporter stepped up just in time to see Bernard pass the bride a bottle of cologne as he expressed his best wishes for a long and happy life. After supplying themselves with some articles to begin life together they left as happy as two doves in spring time.

If you want family Flour of the best see us and get our prices. None can beat us. J. L. STARKEY & BRO.

TRADE HERE. If you be a man and have needs that this store can supply its square against your interest miss this week's series of offerings. You can buy without a thought. We carry everything to please the eye and purse. Look at our Dress Goods, Shoes, Notions and Gents' Furnishings, and you will certainly save money.

Wilson Air-Tight Heater.

With Patent Automatic Smoke Doors.

The Wilson Heater, which is a stove for house heating, is the most remarkable that has ever been patented.

In the first place it radiates more heat than any stove known, and will save 25 per cent in fuel over any stove made.

Second, with two or three ordinary sticks of pine stove wood it will keep the fire from 36 to 48 hours, and with ordinary care the fire will never go out.

Third, being entirely closed at the base there is no danger of fire, and it is the cleanest stove in use. It is not necessary to remove the ashes oftener than once a month. These stoves are made of different styles—the small one, which is made for bed room, is specially recommended for health as well as comfort.

The Wilson Heater has a great advantage over any similar stove, because it has Patent Automatic Smoke Doors, which prevent the smoke from coming into the room when you take the top off to put in the wood. These doors are so constructed that they can be taken off and put back on in one minute. These stoves can be seen our store, come and look at them.
