NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE

Sixtieth Annual Session at Kinston.

(CONDENSED FROM DAILY FREE PRESS.)

THIRD DAY.

Conference convened at 9 o'clock, opening exercises conducted by Rev. W. C. Norman.

A communication from the Womans' Parsonage and Home Mission society was presented and referred to the church extension board.

Rev. A. P. Tyer, financial agent of Trinity College, made a statement in reference to Christian education.

Question 20 was called and more of the ministers made their report and passed examination of character.

Dr. S. Pool and R. P. Troy have recently been stricken with paralysis, and their names were referred to the committee on conference relations for the superannuated relation.

Question 4 was called: "Who are admitted into full connection?" Robert W. Bailey, Solon A. Cotton, Samuel Leffers, Rufus Bradley and Raleigh A. Bruton having passed the examination of character, and having been approved by the examining committee, were examined by the bishop in open conference and admitted into full connection. Bishop Wilson then delivered his charge to the class.

Rev. W. H. Smith, D. D., president of the system of Randolph-Macon colleges and academies in Virginia, and representing the general board of education, was introduced to the conference, and delivered a magnificent address.

M. C. Thomas, one of the oldest preachers in the conference, who is an alumnus of Randolph-Macon College, made a few remarks expressing the pleasure of the conference in having Dr. Smith present and in listening to his eloquent address.

STATE AID TO HIGHER EDUCATION.
Dr. J. C. Kilgo, president of Trinity College presented the following preamble and resolutions:

Among the many vital questions appealing to the church for solution, none is of greater importance than education. The principles of our religion inspire the largest intellectual aspirations as well as the greatest spiritual development. The church has, therefore, always defended education and through the centuries, been the source of our educational progress. Should the church cease to be interested in education, ignorance would multiply, and all real educational progress would be at an end.

But besides the history of the church in education, it is bound by the highest interests of our individual and social life to maintain an aggressive educational policy. Infidelity has hid itself in science and enthroned itself in colleges and universities, and by a distorted and incomplete idea of education, has wrought great harm. Along with all education must go a purpose to build up a faith in God, the only secure foundation for national or individual life. Otherwise, the worst results are to be expected from education.

In our own State, as well as in other States, there is a conflict between the State and church in educational work, and especially in the work of higher education. In many ways this want of sympathy is manifested, and the church is forced to carry forward its educational work in the face of this opposition. Many of our people do not understand the position of the church in education, and there are many sincere people out side of the church who do not understand it. The time has come for this conference to define its position in education, and settle an educational policy that it will defend and develop. Therefore, be it Resolved, 1st. That we commit ourselves uncompromisingly to Christian education, and insist that our people in their homes teach their children the doctrines of Christ, and patronize those common schools whose influences will not be harmful, and that they patronize those colleges that give positive instruction in the truths of the Bible.

2nd. That we regard the free public schools a necessity to the State and we declare ourselves fully in sympathy with them. These schools are for the people, and should be made efficient. We favor a sufficient tax to operate them at least six or eight months in the year, and we pledge ourselves to do all in our power to develop a public sentiment that will secure this result.

3rd. That while we do not think it the function of the State to teach religion in its colleges, and while we recognize the fact that there are many citizens who do not wish to patronize church colleges, and while we have no disposition to exterminate or do injury to State colleges, yet, as citizens of North Carolina, as well as members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, we do not believe that it is just to the church to tax its members to carry on an educational work to the injury of the church colleges, or to put the State colleges in unfair competition with the church colleges. We believe that it is out of harmony with the principles of our government, and morally wrong for the State to undertake to furnish free higher education to the few at the expense of the many, and therefore that all free tuitions in the State University, in so far as they are based upon the appropriation of public monies, should be discontinued.

That we request the legislature to discontinue the appropriation of public money for free scholarships and tuitions at the University.

4th. Knowing that the income from tuitions is not sufficient to meet the current expenses of a college or university, we are not opposed to appropriation to the University, but we think these appropriations should be limited to such amounts as are necessary to meet the deficiency in current expenses after tuitions have been collected from all students, except those to whom private scholarships have been given.

5th. That as the aim of the State in the establishment of the Normal and Industrial College at Greensboro, N. C., and the Agricultural and Mechanical College at Raleigh, N. C., was to provide technical and not higher literary education, that we declare ourselves in sympathy with them as long as they adhere to their original purpose, but we are opposed to any policy that will in any way divert them from this aim.

E. A. YATES,
J. N. COLE,
JOHN C. KILGO.

B. R. Hall moved to refer the above to the committee on education. Motion lost.

A motion to adopt was put and carried.

Objection was raised that there had been no opportunity for discussion.

J. N. Cole moved to reconsider.

A motion to lay the motion to reconsider on the table was lost.

Dr. Yates made an explanation that those who favored the adoption of the resolutions were not opposing the University.

R. B. John spoke against the adoption of the resolutions, speaking at length in favor of State aid to higher education.

Dr. Kilgo arose to speak in reply to Mr. John and was applauded all over the room. He spoke powerfully in favor of the resolutions.

The hour of adjournment was reached before the matter had been disposed of.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11th 1896.

"Dear Boss: Unless you can buy us several more Senators it will be impossible to pay a tariff...

While the caucus of Republican Senators did not by a formal vote abandon the Dingley tariff bill, they did what was practically the same thing when they referred it to the steering committee and empowered that committee to act upon its own judgment.

Representative Stokes, of South Carolina, has been served with notice of a double contest for his seat in the present and in the next House.

test depends more upon the Republican majority than it does upon any evidence he expects to produce.

Senator Blanchard voiced the sentiment of nearly all of the Democrats in both branches of Congress when he said: "The Democratic party, while beaten in the recent election, is compact, organized, and full of hope for the future. It simply bides its time. It has lost some material which can be spared, and gained lots of friends, adherents, and well-wishers. It has always been a party of wonderful recuperative capacity. It will be ready for the fray in 1898 and in 1900. Woe to the Republican party if it does not make good that dangerous promise it has heralded through out the land of prosperity and good times."

Senator Quay has astonished those who thought they knew him, not only by his change of tactics—he has heretofore been the most silent of fighters—but by the wording of some of his published interviews against the candidacy of Mr. John W. Wamaker for the Senate. For instance when he said: "In the United States Senate, we have millionaires and business men enough to serve all legitimate purposes Senators are needed who have no specialties but who will act for the interest of the country in gross without special affinities. The people most deserving of Representation and most in need of legislative protection are the farmers, the small store keepers, the artisans and the laborers, and I stand by them."

Senator Mills has left all the other resolutions relating to Cuba away behind by offering one directing the President to take forcible possession of Cuba and held it until the Cubans organize a government of their own.

The House is going right ahead passing bills just as though the Senate calendar was not already choked up with House bills passed at the last session which haven't a ghost of a chance to get acted upon.

The twenty-first Annual State Convention of the Young Men's Christian Association, will meet at Winston-Salem, Feb. 19-22. Messrs. W. C. Dowd, Chas. W. Tillett, J. M. Rogers and Geo. B. Hanna, were appointed a committee to arrange a programme which will be one of the stoniest ever presented.

An obituary notice in a Western paper contained the touching intelligence that the deceased "had accumulated a little money and ten children."

Cats.
Cats are susceptible to little attentions, such as spreading a rug or laying a cushion for them, and exceedingly tenacious of their rights of possession. Besides their baskets, each of mine has a cushion, which is kept in one place, on which she is trained to lie to prevent her covering the furniture with hairs. Only two have been completely broken of the habit, and Lalla has so exclusive a sense of property in hers, which is in the corner of a sofa, that if she sees a human being resting his head or elbow on it she posts herself on the floor before him, locking him out of countenance until he moves. Once a visitor threw her cushion into a chair and sat on it. As he disregarded her mute protest she walked away, but would not lie on it for weeks afterward. This jealousy of anything like a privilege or prerogative shows itself in them all.—Tem.

CATS AND DOGS.

The Moods, Tempers and Natures of the Canines and Felines.
Cats do not take punishment as dogs do. Their tempers rise, and if struck they are apt to strike back, but beyond a gentle cuff to a kitten now and then I find a scolding or an exclamation of rebuke enough. They are also less intelligent and forgiving than a dog if unintentionally kicked or trodden on. There is no more beautiful expression in a dog's face than the look he turns to the friend who has involuntarily hurt

The Art of Being Patient.
A wise man in an address to young men advised them to learn the hardest lesson in the world—the art of being patient. He said:

"Do your duty and leave success to take care of itself and then you will see the wisdom of the old proverb, 'Everything comes to the man that can wait.' You know, for instance, how hard it is to learn a difficult subject. All the ideas are unfamiliar, all the words are unfamiliar. We go on laboring and seem to make no way. Now this disheartens nine students out of ten—the nine out of ten that will always be obscure people—but the tenth man goes on. He works harder and harder, he lets his mind play around the subject, he lets the ideas of that subject soak into his brain, he is determined that nothing can possibly resist persistent effort, and one fine day a great flood of light comes in—he suddenly sees all about it. His work is easy, his work is delightful. Everybody says of him, 'What an amazing amount of ability that young man has.' No, it was not ability, it was patient perseverance. The man had learned to labor and to wait."—Exchange.

THE GREAT WHITE SCOURGE.
Tuberculosis and the Formidable Enemy It Is to Mankind.
In order to see how formidable an enemy we have in tuberculosis let us contrast it with some other diseases which are even more dreaded. Leprosy is rare in most civilized countries; even in Asia Minor it causes less than 1 per cent of the total death rate. Typhoid and scarlet fevers are each held responsible for 3 per cent; diphtheria and pneumonia for 5 per cent each. The deaths from consumption alone, omitting such tubercular troubles as hip joint disease, Pott's disease of the spine, some forms of meningitis, intestinal marasmus, caries of bone and many abscesses, make up, according to one authority, about 20 per cent of the total death rate of this country. It is estimated that one-third of all deaths occurring in the medical wards of hospitals are due to tuberculosis, and that a fifth of all surgical cases treated—many of which are cured—are tubercular.

We may bring these statistics home by saying that you and I were born with one chance in five of dying of some form of tuberculosis. If our chance of being instantaneously and decently killed by an electric shock were 1 in 500, we would turn the wheels of progress back 20 years rather than allow an electric light or a trolley car to threaten our safety. No pains and no expense are thought too great in maintaining a quarantine against cholera, small-pox—which the sensible part of the community is already vaccinated against—diphtheria and the like.

Large appropriations are made that there may be tried a yet unproved defense against diphtheria, but to the insidious enemy that numbers its dead by hundreds where these other open foes count theirs by scores we are blind. It is time that the veil should be drawn from the loathsomeness of "the great white scourge," that the false sentiment which poetry and prose have thrown over infection, blood poisoning, suppuration and decay should be dissipated.—"Consumption Considered as a Contagious Disease," by A. L. Benedict, M. D., in Popular Science Monthly. Ancient Bracelets.

Among the Greeks bracelets were worn only by women, but among the Romans they were regarded as a military decoration, and in monumental inscriptions the number of bracelets conferred on the subject is often stated. They were of thin plates of bronze or gold. Sometimes gold wires spirally wound were used. Some bracelets weighing 20 ounces have been found.

This is not so because we say so, but because our goods and prices make it so. Here is a fair proposition: If we deserve nothing, give us nothing, but if you find our goods and prices satisfactory, acknowledge it with your patronage. Hoping to see you soon and promising our best efforts to make your coming pleasant and profitable, we are
