NEWS NOTES.

A big fire occurred in Washington City Monday night.

The belief prevails among Cubans that Gen. Maceo has not been killed but is still alive and at the head of his army.

Several Wilmington merchants are conferring together with a view of bringing suit against the city for preventing the sale of the stocks of fire works they had on hand.

The number of bank and other business failures occurring in the cities over the country does not argue well for the McKinley prosperity boom. One cannot pick up a city paper without reading of several big failures.

Charlotte, this State, has recently been much excited over grave yard robberies. Twice during the past week graves in the city cemetery have been opened and in one instance the body of a child was taken away.

An awful wreck occurred on the Louisville & Nashville railroad, 36 miles from Birmingham Ala., Monday. Some miscreant drew spikes from the rail at a point where the road crosses a river, and when the train reached the spot the entire train was precipitated into the river below, 360 feet of the bridge going down also. The wreck took fire and many of the passengers were cremated. The number of killed reached 25, and several others were injured.

Daummer's Banquet.

A great gathering of Commercial Travelers will assemble at the Winter Health Resort, Southern Pines, N. C., on Tuesday, January 12th

A banquet is to be given these travelers and their friends by the Proprietor of the Piney Woods Inn, which is one of the finest hotels in the South. It contains a theatrical hall, numerous parlors, and has every modern convenience including electric lights, steam heat, call bells, &c., yet it is located in the woods.

The editorial fraternity generally have had a special invitation to join these happy, genial travelers in their feast of good things. No doubt it will be one of the most pleasant entertainments ever given and the "boys" and their friends will enjoy the occasion very much.

The Seaboard Air Line has given a special rate of one fare for the round trip to enable the friends of the salesmen to attend the banquet and participate in the "good time" at a comparatively small cost.

Remarkable Run-away.

On Monday Peter Brown purchased a horse and carried the animal home. Tuesday morning he hitched up to a new buggy to come to town. About two miles away the horse took fright at something and jumped off for a run. The buggy struck a stump and Mr. Brown was thrown out. Being thus freed of any one to hold him the horse took the middle of the road and run all the way to town. He kept right on across the bridge, dodging several persons who tried to stop him, and to a direct course for Smith & Hooker's stables, running inside and stopping of his own accord. The remarkable thing about the runaway is that Mr. Brown was not hurt, the horse sustained no injury, and the only damage done to the buggy was a slight bending of the axle when the stump was struck.

OTHER LOCALS.

A few nights ago burglars entered the bar room of Bryan Gardner, at Grifton, taking some liquor and about $50 in money.

J. H. Ellis and Miss Hattie Coleman, both of Kinston, were married in that town Christmas eve. Mr. Ellis is a native of Pitt county.

The boys have been getting some fun out of roller skating in the tobacco warehouses since sales have been suspended for the holidays.

That part of the collapsed tobacco warehouse that fell over on the street ought to be removed. It is dangerous at night to people passing that way.

There will be a New Year ball at Ayden Friday night, and a good time is expected. An invitation is extended to all who wish to spend a pleasant evening.

Errata.

The list of Royal Arcanum officers as handed us to publish Tuesday needs slight correction. J. R. Cory is Guide and J. S. Tunstall Warden instead of vice versa as printed. J. W. Brown should have appeared as Secretary, and Trustees are S. T. White, M. L. Starkey and W. H. Harrington.

On Fire Again.

Some one must have a grudge against the old Dancy building on the corner of Evans and Fourth street, as another attempt was made to burn it last night. About 7:20 o'clock people passing for their mail saw flames leaping up by a front window in the second story. There were a few cries of fire but no general alarm, and the flames were quickly extinguished. Some plank and trash saturated with oil were found between the roof and ceiling of the porch where the fire was burning.

Passes Away.

Mr. James L. Langley, who two weeks ago suffered a stroke of paralysis, died at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening at his residence on Greene street. He was nearly 60 years old and had been a resident of Greenville 10 years. He leaves a widow and three children, the latter being J. E. Langley, of Richmond, and Mrs. H. B. Clark and Miss Maggie Langley, of Greenville. For these and other relatives of the family our people extend sympathy.

The interment took place at 4 o'clock this afternoon in Cherry Hill Cemetery.

Six Dropped Of.

Fayetteville had her first real experience of a sanctification meeting last night. The tent was packed with people and numbers were unable to gain admission. At the opening of the service a little panic was created by seven of the long benches giving way and precipitating men and women on the ground in a heap. However, amid the exciting scenes which followed this little incident was soon forgotten. The forty or fifty sanctified persons on the platform presented a spectacle the like of which was never beheld in this city before. Men and women laughed, yelled, beat themselves, fanned the air with their arms and legs, all the time in a mad transport of delight. Six persons dropped off into trances. The going off of each one was the signal for a fresh outburst of joy and as they recovered they were surrounded, hugged, patted and made much of generally. Each one declared that he or she had seen strange things, etc. There are a number of pretty girls who brighten up things by singing good old fashioned songs.—Fayetteville Observer.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 30, 1896.

Major Sidney M. Finger died at Newton on Dec. 26th. He had not been in good health for some time but his death was a surprise to his many friends in the State whose esteem and affections he shared to a very large extent.

Maj. Finger was born in Lincoln county, May 24th, 1837. As a boy he worked with his father on the farm and in the tan-yard, and went to such public schools as the neighborhood afforded. At the age of eighteen he entered Catawba college, acting as tutor during his last year there. In 1859 he entered the junior class of Bowdoin College in Maine, graduating in 1861 with A. B., and receiving his A. M. in 1865. He entered the Confederate army, and was made Quarter Master Sergeant, promoted to Captain, and assigned to the collection of taxes in kind in the Charlotte Congressional district. In 1864 he was promoted to Major, and put in charge of the collection of taxes in kind for the whole State.

After the close of the war he entered the profession of teaching, and was associated for nine or ten years with Rev. J. C. Clapp in conducting Catawba college, the leading educational institution of the German Reformed church in the State. He was an excellent teacher and manager, and retired from the active work because of ill-health in 1874 in which year he was elected by the Democrats of his county to the House of Representatives. He was elected to the Senate in 1876, and re-elected in 1880. After retiring from Catawba college he became engaged in merchandising and in cotton manufacturing. In 1882 he was appointed a director of the Western Hospital, and was chairman of the Board when that splendid institution was opened for the reception of patients. In 1884 he was elected State Superintendent of Public Instruction, and was re-elected in 1888. Since his retirement from that office in 1893 he has devoted himself to his private affairs, taking deep interest as a director in the Greensboro Normal and Industrial School, and in the late campaign taking an active part in the contest in his county.

Maj. Finger was married early in life. His wife survives him. They had no children. Theirs was an ideal life, and the sympathy of a large circle of friends goes out to the bereaved widow. He was a consistent and influential member of the German Reformed church, active in all measures of public improvement, a good citizen, and a patriotic Christian man.

The less a man talks about a grievance the greater chance that he has one.

A Chicago man has been scratching around and discovered that there are forty-seven different kind of fleas. It might be inferred from this that that would be a good town to flee from in flea time.

The South Carolina penitentiary authorities are going to try the experiment of working convicts in a cotton factory, which it is proposed to erect for that purpose. This will be somewhat of a new departure, which will be watched with interest by other States.

The Atlanta Constitution says: "There's more genuine music in a little tin horn blown by a rosy-cheeked boy than there is in a whole opera troupe. But you must look at it from the right point of view." Yes, and that point of view must be about seven miles from where the rosy-cheeked boy is performing.—Richmond Dispatch.

Decision of a New York Judge.

A New York judge has decided in the case of a woman living in that State who went to South Dakota and secured a divorce from her husband and subsequently married again, that both the divorced husband and the one acquired after the divorce are legal husbands. "By the laws of the State of South Dakota," said the judge in his decision, "she is the lawful wife in that State of the second husband. By the laws of the State of New York she is the lawful wife of the first." It is therefore, plain that while Western divorces are not valid in the East, although recognized in the States in which they were granted, a most curious condition of affairs might result and, in fact, polygamy could be legalized. The "sailor with a wife in every port" has long been held up as a horrible example, but if the decision of the New York court stands, the ladies may be able to turn the tables on men and have a husband in nearly every State in the Union without coming within the penalty of the law. It is no wonder that there are many advocates of a national divorce law, and in view of the decision of the New York court it will be found that the Western divorce mills actually encourage polygamy.

The Man and His House.

The ordinary polite inquiry "How do you do?" calls for nothing but a conventionally polite response, but if a man is past "the allotted age" and a philosopher besides, it may elicit a reply full of meaning and worthy of record.

When John Quincy Adams was 80 years old he met in the streets of Boston an old friend who shook his trembling hand and said:

"Good morning, and how is John Quincy Adams today?"

"Thank you," was the ex-President's answer, "John Quincy Adams himself is well, I thank you. But the house in which he lives at present is becoming dilapidated. It is tottering upon its foundation. Time and the seasons have nearly destroyed it. Its roof is pretty well worn out. Its walls are much shattered, and it trembles with every wind. The old tenement is becoming almost uninhabitable, and I think John Quincy Adams will have to move out of it soon; but he himself is quite well, sir, quite well."

It was not long afterwards that he had his second and fatal stroke of paralysis, in the capitol at Washington. "This is the last of earth," he said. "I am content."—Youth's Companion.

Globe Sights.

It is a good thing not to live to be too old.

An Atchison man who earns $6 a week speaks of his "linen" instead of his shirts.

A woman does not consider a man a perfect gentleman unless he apologizes pretty often.

It is surprising what a case can be made out by the gossips against the man who is not guilty.

A woman who owns a horse and buggy is a great autocrat with other women and she knows it.

A boy who has time to make afternoon calls week days need not expect a job. No one wants him.

A man often succeeds in making his wife believe he is imposed upon when he cannot make himself believe it.

There is more satisfaction in loving work than a woman.

There is only one person in the world who is not afraid of a policeman—his wife.

Some people do not think a physician knows his business if his office does not have a peculiar smell.

An Atchison man says he has kissed a thousand girls not one of whom ever gave her consent or got mad.

There never was a blackguard who did not have a great deal to say about other people not being gentlemen.

A man who has dissipated by overworking is as pitiful a wreck as a man who has dissipated drinking whiskey.—Atchison Globe.

Mr. N. M. Lawrence, Superintendent of the Oxford Orphan Asylum, gives some interesting information regarding it: There are present 211 children, of whom 110 are girls. The cost of maintenance this year is $19,500, less the earnings of the asylum, which are about $3,500. The State gives $91,000 and the Grand Lodge of Masons $2,500. During the year there were 140 cases of measles among the pupils but not a death resulted. There were only two deaths during the year. The industrial feature of education is being well looked after. There is the farm, carpenter shop, broom factory and printing office. Five new brick buildings have been erected this year, for dormitories, at a total cost of $20,000, with a complete sewerage system. Mr. B. N. Duke, of Durham, made the asylum a cash gift of $10,000 for buildings, and the Masons raised a like amount.

The total cost of maintaining the Federal, State, municipal governments of the United States for the year 1896 was $915,945,055. Among the disbursements were the following: For charities, $146,905,671; for education, $145,583,115; for roads, bridges and sewers, $72,262,000; for postal service, $66,000,000; for army and militia, $35,500,000; for police, $24,000,000; for judiciary, $23,000,000; for prisons and reformatories, $12,000,000.

The Pacific coast newspapers report the cutting of a tree at Coggin's mill near Sisson, Cal., which is said to have been 404 years old. The tree furnished 15,000 feet of lumber, but how the age of the tree was calculated is not explained. Perhaps the "eldest inhabitant" has been getting in his work.

Cravat.

The cravat was once the name of a great military nation, the Croats, or Cravates, of the Balkans. It was their fashion to wrap large shawls or pieces of cloth around their necks and shoulders. About the middle of the reign of Louis XIV he uniformed several regiments in the Croat fashion, with huge shawls about their necks. The fashion took, and the shawl diminished in size to the slight strip of cloth we still have with us.
