TAMPA, FLORIDA.

Be my reward,
Some little place to pitch my tent,
Some tree or vine
Where I may sit above the sea
And drink the wind, "as drinking wine."

JOAQUIN MILLER.

The wondrous charm of romance hovers about Tampa. It suggests the poetry of motion, the wonderful, lustrous, dark eyes and olive-skinned wine of a famous chief of the days of DeSoto, for whom it was named. But not history or the oldest citizen can tell us, except in a vague, fascinating yet imperfect manner, about these fair acres, over which the light-footed Seminole warrior used to roam. Yet to this day there is every sign remaining that would suggest why they came to tent among the palms and flowers and enjoy the freedom for which the race is so notable.

There are pathos and poetry in all life about Tampa—from the lizard impaled on the thorn by the murderous little butcher bird to the poetry of high things, the acquisition of the great refinements of life, the marvels in original thinking, that has taken Tampa from the fascinating embers of the past and erected a palace to her memory, indescribable and unsurpassed. There is a lofty and ethical significance in the progress of humanity, and it is a wonderful thing to find in any mortal man the upwelling spirit of humanity, such as is the possession of Tampa's philanthropist, Mr. H. B. Plant. His ideas are high and noble, he is an original thinker, and has, in his choice of officials, gathered about him people of sincerity and fraternal feeling. Acres and acres have blossomed and flourished, like the traditional bay tree, which seem to have been beyond the reach of any other man's expression, save his own. He has terraced the uplands, built stone walls, made trout ponds and planted orchards of oranges, guavas, and the veritable "coeur de rose" is over all. "It is a dreamland," a poet's thought; therefore, both beautiful and practical.

And the Tampa Bay Hotel is the crowning glory, the "modern" Moorish Alhambra, with its wonderful finishing, and furnishing both from the old castles and the new, hints of America's latest touch and finish.

OTHER LOCALS.

Christmas gifts and new year resolutions are out of date now.

Some folks have not learned to write 1897 yet.

Members should remember that Hope Fire Company meets Monday evening at 7 o'clock for practice.

Rev. J. W. McNamara will lecture in the Court House, Monday night, on "Defenders of Virtue and Liberty," at 7:30 o'clock. Let a large house greet him.

The statement of the Bank of Greenville, published in another column, makes an excellent showing. The bank is doing a safe business and is in fine condition.

I just returned from Richmond and Norfolk with a full line of horses and buggies cheaper than ever offered in Greenville at Dr. James old stand rear of Hotel Macon. E. C. WHITE.

Don't forget that the Reflector Book Store has a full line of ledgers, day books, note, draft and receipt books. Get your supply for the new year's business.

MARRIED.

NICHOLS-TUCKER.—On Wednesday afternoon Dec. 30, at the home of A. C. Tucker, Miss Jennie, his daughter, was married to Mr. Isaiah Nichols, Rev. Fred McGlohorn officiating. After the marriage the bride and groom left for the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. Margaret Nichols, where a most enjoyable repast was given in honor of the happy couple and to the delight of those who were present.

The attendants on this long looked for occasion were mainly the relatives of the bride and groom.

Sadness and sorrow seem to be almost universally associated with happiness and joy, and whenever there is an apparent loss in one home there is a corresponding gain in another. No one is lost at home or abroad but all is changed.

So, too, in this marriage, while we sympathize with the lamenting, if any there be, we equally and gladly rejoice with the rejoicing whose cheerful faces are expressive of happiness and glee.

Thus, while the old year is dying away and the new year coming in, and in almost unison with the marriage bells of yesterday whose echoes are not as yet hushed, this happy couple has come to the front to test and battle life. In one scene they behold joy; in another is found affection and love, in all rests true happiness and long may it continue. N.

The annual report of Adjutant-General Cameron has been made. It says the condition of the State Guard is excellent. Seven times during the year it was called upon to aid the civil authorities. One regiment encamped, and one made an admirable practice march. The Adjutant-General recommends that in future there be no stationary encampments, but that practice marches replace these. There are twenty-nine infantry companies and three naval reserves. Two infantry companies were dropped during the year, and three mustered in. The naval reserves are complimented, and the commander of the monitor Amphitrite is rapped for his slighting allusions. The entire Guard, it is stated, can be mobilized in a few hours, and has supplies, &c., for six months' service. That there is interest in the Guard is shown by the fact that since February 1st, 1896, no less than eighty applications for the formation of companies have been filed. It is recommended that the Navy Department be asked to exchange the old monitor Nantucket for a light-draft vessel, suitable for the navigation of the shallow sounds, etc.

Thursday night the entire plant of the Raleigh Electric Street Car Co., was destroyed by fire, loss about $50,000.

There are very few workers for Street Walker & Co. around town.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)
 WASHINGTON, Jan. 1st 1897.

No President, not even Andy Johnson, ever held a New Year reception that was attended by fewer Senators and Representatives than were at the White House today. The President gave no sign indicating that he noticed their absence, but it is nevertheless certain that he did. Otherwise the reception was a great success. Mrs. Cleveland never looked better, the cortege of lady assistants never displayed more elegant costumes, the diplomatic corps never made a more gorgeous showing and the army, navy and marine officers were out in force in spick and span new uniforms with gold lace and brass buttons galore.

The Cuban question is awaiting the reassembling of Congress, next week, although there are daily, almost hourly, reports of steps being taken either in Spain, or by Gen. Weyler, or by Secretary Olney and the Spanish Minister which will result in placing it where there will be no occasion for Congress to act upon it. That most of these rumors are originated by persons who are either friendly towards Spain or at least opposed to any action by the present Congress is generally believed in Washington. The opinion is growing that they will be successful, at least to the extent of postponing action until after McKinley assumes office. In fact, that purpose was practically accomplished when the Republican leaders of the House decided that nothing should be done.

The Democratic National Committee makes no secret of using all the influence it can command towards bringing about the re-election of Senator Dubois, of Idaho, who is being opposed by Hanna and his crowd, because he followed his convictions and supported the Democratic platform and ticket in the late campaign, and because they think his defeat would result in frightening other silver Senators into continuing to act with the Republican party. Most Democrats who know the active part Dubois took in fighting for Bryan endorse Senator Blackburn's language—"We owe Dubois a debt of gratitude, and nothing should be allowed to stand in the way of its settlement. It is a debt of honor, and, like all debts of honor, should be paid in advance of all other obligations."

Gen. Wheeler, of Alabama, one of the Democratic members of the House committee on Ways and Means who is carefully attending the tariff hearings now in progress, although he knows that he and his Democratic colleagues will not be allowed to have any hand in making the tariff bill, is always emphatic in speech and often dramatic. Nobody was surprised, therefore, when Mr. W. R. Craig, of Vicksburg, Miss., as the representative of the cotton growers of the Mississippi Valley, appeared before the Committee and asked that a duty of 3 cents a pound be put on Egyptian cotton, to see the wiry old soldier stiffen up and to hear him say: "The South would be selling its birthright for a mess of pottage to ask for this protection." Representative Payne thought to faze Gen. Wheeler when he asked him, "What do you call its birthright?" Without turning a hair the Alabamian replied: "Free institutions, free trade, free everything."

Senator Call's term expires March 3, and the Florida legislature which will elect his successor does not meet until April, so that if McKinley calls the extra session together in March, Florida will for a time have only one Senator. According to a member of the Florida legislature, who is now in Washington, Senator Call will certainly be his own successor, notwithstanding the red hot fight which is being made against him. This gentleman says: "The only way that Senator Call can be defeated for re-election is to cede the State back to Spain or abolish the office. I am a member of the Farmers' Alliance and as a great majority of the members of the legislature are Farmers' Alliance men, and not lawyers, I know what I am talking about."

At a public meeting of the McKinley and Hobart Club of this city ex-Commissioner Douglass said that the club organization would be kept up for the purpose of supporting McKinley and Hobart in 1900. When a friend told Speaker Reed about that speech his only comment was "huh." Mr. Reed knows that it isn't the ticket of 1900, but the offices of '97 that the "ex" and the other members of the club are worried about.

One thing has been made very clear by the first week of the tariff hearings. That is, that the men who have asked for higher duties on the ground that their business under the present tariff is unprofitable, must have had a big surplus to draw upon. None of them looked like men engaged in unprofitable occupations. On the contrary, to a man they appeared well-dressed, well-fed and prosperous, and if they haven't been making money the must have inherited money. They certainly didn't look like men who were "hard up."

Land's Improving.

"Did you know," said a well informed gentleman yesterday, "that the land in this country is getting richer and better?"
 "What's the cause—fertilizing?"
 "That has something to do with it, but the real cause is that farmers are letting their land rest and keeping the cattle off of it, when it is recovering, just like an over-worked man; when he is kept on the run for a long time he is sure to give out and must rest, when, if his constitution is not gone, he will recover with a good long rest. Our farmers are finding out that they can do better with a little land well tilled than by double the acreage half attended to, and the consequence is that they are not only doing better farming, but their course is helping the land."

No doubt there is a lot of truth in this, for it is being demonstrated every year though it is a hard matter to make some men believe it.—Greensboro Record.

A Mother Has Discovered.

That judicious petting never yet made "calfy boys."

That when children are inclined to be self-willed and cannot easily be persuaded to do a thing they are commanded to do, a loving word will often insure prompt obedience.

That very often too little sympathy is given the little ones in their hurts and disappointments, in our efforts to teach them self-control.

That it is well to use a little tact in encouraging good behavior and to resort to whipping only in extreme cases.

That it never pays to deceive a child in order to "make him mind." It is surprising how quickly he will discover the deceit and how soon he will lose all confidence in the mother.

That in every case the firmest known rein in the management of children is the invisible cord of love.

Protect the Schools.

Let every man put on his thinking cap, and let us all put our heads together for the formation of some plan to bring all children out of factories and workshops and place them in school. Remember that the children of today are to be the men of tomorrow.—Typographical Journal.

CATARRH.

His Worst Enemy Defeated by P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy.

FOR THREE YEARS HE SUFFERED—COULD HARDLY BREATHE AT NIGHT—ONE NOSTRIL CLOSED FOR 10 YEARS.

Mr. A. M. Ramsey, of DeLeon, Texas, was a sufferer from Catarrh in its worst form. Truly, his description of his sufferings seem little short of marvelous. Instead of seeking his couch, glad for the nights coming, he went to it with terror, realizing that another long, weary, wakeful night and a struggle to breathe was before him. He could not sleep on either side for two years. P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, cured him in quick time.

DE LEON, TEXAS. Messrs. LIPPMAN BROS., Savannah, Ga. Gents: I have used nearly four bottles of P. P. P. I was afflicted from the crown of my head to the soles of my feet. Your P. P. P. has cured my difficulty of breathing, smothering, palpitation of the heart, and has relieved me of all pain. One nostril was closed for ten years, but now I can breathe through it readily.

I have not slept on either side for two years; in fact, I dreaded to see night come. Now I sleep soundly in any position all night. I am 50 years old, but expect soon to be able to take hold of the plow handles. I feel glad that I was lucky enough to get P. P. P., and I heartily recommend it to my friends and the public generally. Yours respectfully, A. M. RAMSEY.

THE STATE OF TEXAS—County of Comanche.—Before the undersigned authority on this day, personally appeared A. M. Ramsey, who, after being duly sworn, says on oath that the foregoing statement made by him relative to the virtue of P. P. P. medicine is true.

A. M. RAMSEY. Sworn to and subscribed before me this, August 4th, 1891. J. M. LAMBERT, N. P., Comanche County, Texas.

Catarrh Cured by P. P. P.

(Lippman's Great Remedy) where all other remedies failed. Rheumatism twists and distorts your hands and feet. Its agonies are intense, but speedy relief and a permanent cure is gained by the use of P. P. P.

Woman's weakness, whether nervous or otherwise, can be cured and the system built up by P. P. P. A healthy woman is a beautiful woman.

Pimples, blotches, eczema and all disfigurements of the skin are removed and cured by P. P. P.

P. P. P. will restore your appetite, build up your system and regulate you in every way. P. P. P. removes that heavy, down-in-the-mouth feeling.

For Blotches and Pimples on the face, take P. P. P.

Ladies, for natural and thorough organic regulation, take P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, and get well at once.
