THE LEGISLATURE.

Condensed Report of Proceedings.

TENTH DAY.

Both Houses adjourned to kill microbes.

WHICHARD ITEMS.

WHICHARD, N. C., Jan. 18, 1887.

Our town has been full of drummers the past week looking after their spring trade.

Most of the young men and ladies have returned to their respective schools and it is a little dull in social circles at present.

C. M. Cooke, Jr., was a visitor near here a few days ago.

Capt. J. W. Roberson spent Saturday and Sunday in Jamesville with his family.

"Hamp" Whichard spent Saturday in Robersonville on business.

Miss Ida Rogers has been visiting in Jamesville the past few days.

E. B. Moore, of Washington, was here a short while Saturday.

J. H. Langley is seriously ill with paralysis.

W. C. Proctor, of Washington spent Saturday here.

Miss Della Roberson left for Tarboro last Monday to attend school.

Geo. W. Carter has been quite sick several days.

W. L. Jones, of Williamston, has taken a position as salesman with W. C. Proctor & Co.

Ernest Whichard was thrown from a bicycle Sunday and sprained one of his wrists right badly.

Miss Mattie Woolard, of Washington, is visiting relatives near here.

Miss Annie Harding, of Centerville, visited the family of ex-Sheriff Moorings several days last week.

W. R. Whichard has been enlarging his store recently and is preparing to build a warehouse near the depot for the storage of fertilizers.

Capt. A. F. Naw of the A. C. L. took a few days off last week and Capt. A. L. Roberts filled his place on the through log train to Pinners Point.

Miss Ella Keel returned Thursday from Knston where she had been for treatment under Dr. Hyatt.

J. F. Lynch has moved his family to Washington.

Some miscreant opened a switch on the Greenleaf Johnson railroad last week and a serious wreck was prevented only by the watchfulness of Engineer W. A. Rawls.

A little child of M. A. Woolard was assisting his mother in grinding sausage last Wednesday and accidentally caught his finger, thoroughly crushing it. Dr. Warren was called in to reset the bone which at last accounts was doing finely.

We are glad to know that Dr. Wm. E. Warren who has been located here only a short while is having much success and our people are highly pleased with him.

Montgomery Long Dead.

Monday night Mr. James Long received information of the death of his brother, Mr. Montgomery Long, which occurred at Abbeville, S. C., Saturday evening. The burial took place at Spartanburg Sunday afternoon. Deceased leaves a widow and four children, beside his mother and brother who reside here.

IT IS PRITCHARD.

(Special to Reflector.)

RALEIGH, N. C., Jan. 19.—The Legislature today elected Jeter C. Pritchard Senator on the first ballot.

The vote was as follows:

HOUSE—Pritchard 62, Thompson 24, Doughton 27.

SENATE—Pritchard 24, Thompson 18, Doughton 7.

Married.

Monday evening at the home of J. S. Norman, Esq., in Beaver Dam township, Mr. Jesse L. Smith, ex-County Commissioner, and Miss Mary Little were married, Squire Norman officiating. Best wishes to them.

Physicians Black List.

The fact of so many people holding their crops hoping for a rise of prices, the physicians of the county have agreed to defer the final making out of their Black List until March 1st, 1897. Those to whom this kindness is extended should appreciate it by making prompt payment.

In Their New Hall.

The Masons have commenced using their new hall in the Rialto building. The lodge room is large and handsomely furnished. The furniture was purchased through J. B. Cherry & Co. and the carpet through M. R. Lang. There is a lively interest in the order here, several new members being recently admitted.

Examined the Job

This morning Carlos Harris was painting a sign on the front windows of D. S. Smith's store. J. F. King rode up and left his horse standing in front of the store while he went inside. The horse got up on the sidewalk and walking across one of the windows stuck his nose up to the glass as if inspecting the bright colors of the paint.

A Home-aid Necessity.

Cascara's Sandy Cathartic, the most wonderful medical discovery of the age, pleasant and refreshing to the taste, acts gently and positively on kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the entire system, dispel colds, cure headache, fever, habitual constipation and biliousness. Please buy and try a box of C. C. C today; 10, 25, 50 cents. Sold and guaranteed to cure by all druggists.

MARRIED.

OAKLEY, N. C., Jan. 10th, 1897.

At the residence of W. H. Williams, Esq., on Jan., 17th, at 11 o'clock A. M., T. F. Nelson and Miss Minnie Carson were united in matrimony, W. H. Williams, Esq., officiating. The were attended by H. Bullock with Miss Jennie Nelson, W. J. Jenkins with Miss Caddie Whitehurst. After the ceremony the bridal party left for the home of the groom where a repast awaited them.

May no clouds rise to obscure their sun
While sailing down life's stream,
And when needs be their race is run
Eternal r.s. obtain.

Rat in a Coconut.

Today Lawrence Tripp brought a curiosity to the REFLECTOR office. At J. R. Cory's store a coconut was found with one of the "eyes" cut out. The nut was broken open and a small rat was on the inside. The rat was dead but to all appearances had not been dead long. Part of the inside of the coconut had been eaten away. The supposition is that the rat gnawed out the "eye" and crawled through the hole, and after getting inside was unable to get out.

Ladies do you know that the 5 and 10 cent store has received another lot of that beautiful Glassware. Call early if you wish to see it.

Our correspondents are helping to make the REFLECTOR interesting. We like this and hope others will also send in items from their neighborhood.

BATTLE OF THE WILDERNESS

It Was a Unique Engagement, Says General Horace Porter.

The Union losses in the battle of the Wilderness were found to be: Killed, 2,246; wounded, 12,037; missing, 3,383; total, 17,666. The damage inflicted upon the enemy is not known, but as he was the assaulting party as often as the Union army there is reason to believe that the losses on the two sides were about equal. Taking 24 hours as the time actually occupied in fighting and counting the casualties in both armies, it will be found that on that bloody field every minute recorded the loss of 25 men.

As the staff officers threw themselves upon the ground that night sleep came to them without coaxing. They had been on the move since dawn, galloping over bad roads, struggling about through forest openings, jumping rivulets, wading swamps, helping to rally troops, dodging bullets and searching for commanding officers in all sorts of unknown places. Their horses had been crippled, and they themselves were well nigh exhausted. For the small part I had been able to perform in the engagement the general recommended me for the brevet rank of major in the regular army "for gallant and meritorious services." His recommendation was afterward approved by the president. This promotion was especially gratifying, for the reason that it was conferred for conduct in the first battle in which I had served under the command of the general in chief.

There were features of the battle which have never been matched in the annals of warfare. For two days nearly 200,000 veteran troops had struggled in a death grapple, confronted at each step with almost every obstacle by which nature could bar their path and groping their way through a tangled forest the impenetrable gloom of which could be likened only to the shadow of death. The undergrowth staid their progress, the upper growth shut out the light of heaven. Officers could rarely see their troops for any considerable distance, for smoke clouded the vision and a heavy sky obscured the sun. Directions were ascertained and lines established by means of the pocket compass, and a change of position often presented an operation more like a problem of ocean navigation than a question of military maneuvers. It was the sense of sound and of touch rather than the sense of sight which guided the movements. It was a battle fought with the ear and not with the eye.

All circumstances seemed to combine to make the scene one of unutterable horror. At times the wind howled through the tree tops, mingling its moans with the groans of the dying, and heavy branches were cut off by the fire of the artillery and fell crashing upon the heads of the men, adding a new terror to battle. Forest fires raged, ammunition trains exploded, the dead were roasted in the conflagration, the wounded, roused by its hot breath, dragged themselves along with mangled and mangled limbs in the mad energy of despair to escape the ravages of the flames, and every bush seemed hung with shreds of blood-stained clothing. It was as though Christian men had turned to fiends and hell itself had usurped the place of earth.—General Horace Porter in Improvement.

"Is it a fact," asked the cynic one day, "that you improve each shining minute?"

"Yes," answered the busy little bee modestly.

"How long have you been doing that?"

"Always."

"Well, you ought to be having a better time than you seem to have, if that is the case."—Detroit Tribune.

A Fatality.

"What has become of your backer?" asked the idle person of Barnes Torner.

"I guess I worked him too hard," replied that eminent tragedian. "I killed the goose by pulling his golden leg, as the proverb goes."

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS

Monthly Illustrated

Edited by ALBERT SHAW

"If only one magazine can be taken, we would suggest the REVIEW OF REVIEWS, as covering more ground than any other magazine."—Board of Library Commissioners of New Hampshire, 1896.

THIS magazine is, in its contributed and departmental features, what its readers, who include the most noted names of the English-speaking world, are pleased to call "absolutely up to date," "thoroughly abreast of the times," "invaluable," and "indispensable." It is profusely illustrated with timely portraits, views, and cartoons. Its original articles are of immediate interest, by the best authorities on their respective subjects. The Editor's "Progress of the World" gives a clear, rightly proportioned view of the history of the human race during the current month. The "Leading Articles of the Month" present the important parts of the best magazine articles that have been written in every part of the world. The newest and most important books are carefully reviewed. Indexes, chronological records, and other departments complete the certainty that the reader of the Review of Reviews will miss nothing of great significance that is said or written or done throughout the world.
