THE LEGISLATURE.

Condensed Report of Proceedings.

THIRTY-FIRST DAY.

SENATE.

A resolution was introduced by Alexander that a joint committee of seven visit Charlotte and examine the public roads in Mecklenburg county, so as to improve the public road laws of North Carolina.

Bills were introduced as follows:

Butler, to revise and improve the public schools system (500 copies ordered printed.)

Ashburn, to regulate the sales of fertilizer.

Cannon, to amend the charter of Southport.

Person, to compel employers and corporations to pay employes every week, where they hire them with the understanding to pay weekly.

Ray, to protect creditors and innocent persons where property is mortgaged in other states.

Henderson, to enlarge the powers of the railroad commission.

HOUSE.

The house met at 10 o'clock.

Among the bills introduced were these.

Hartless, to provide that in case of suit for damages brought against a person resident of another state who has property in this state it can be attached where there are unliquidated damages.

Ward, to exempt Dr. D. McL. Gresham, of Duplin county, from $10 physician's license tax.

Carter, to allow ex-Sheriff Arrington, of Nash county, to collect arrears of taxes.

Arrington, to provide for a ferry across Roanoke river at Halifax.

McCrary, to create a short form of agricultural liens in North Carolina, allowing a creditor to sell enough of property at public action after twenty days notice to cover debt and interest.

The bill to require the Currituck and Camden railway to provide such crossings of the Norfolk and Southern railway as the latter may require was taken up and caused warm debate.

A report from the special committee on bill regarding lease of the North Carolina railway was made, offering a substitute for the original bill, asking that it be adopted as the bill and that it be printed and be made the special order for next Friday.

Blackburn protested this was too short a time.

Cook then moved that the bill be made the special order for noon next Tuesday and it was so ordered.

Aiken gave notice that as a member of the special committee he would file a minority report on the substitute. He said he had not seen the substitute, but that he understood a number of changes had been made in the bill since the hearing on it.

The following bills were enrolled and ratified and are now laws.

To allow Edgecombe to levy special tax. To amend the charter of Wadesboro cotton mill. To incorporate Robbinville, Graham county. To incorporate Hamlet, Richmond county. To allow Cherokee to issue bonds. To allow McDowell to levy special tax. To allow Richmond county to levy special tax. To allow Montgomery to levy special tax. To allow Watauga to levy special tax. To repeal act 1895 establishing dividing line between Alamance and Chatham and let the people vote on that question. To extend time of holding February terms Guilford court. To protect iron bridges in Macon county. To make land grants valid even when

Wonderful Work.

Have you been to the exhibition given by the Lieby Glass Workers in Germania Hall? If not you are missing something that is well worth going to see. Their work is truly marvellous. One can hardly imagine the many different uses a piece of glass can be put to by these people. They can make most anything and in such a short time as to astonish you. A leading feature of the exhibitions is spinning thread from a glass rod around a large wheel at the rate of 500 yards a minute. They also make birds with curled plumage and have a large doll wearing a glass dress. Every visitor gets a present. Tomorrow will be their last day here.

Off Probably Two Weeks.

The editor of the REFLECTOR contemplates leaving tomorrow morning for Galveston, Tex., to attend the meeting of the National Editorial Association to which he is one of the delegates from this State. During his absence the paper will be in charge of Foreman Billie Burch, who will take pleasure in writing receipts or transacting any other business. The others who will attend the Association from this State are Messrs. H. A. London, of the Pittsboro Record; R. R. Clark of the Statesville Landmark; J. P. Caldwell of the Charlotte Observer and Thad R. Manning of the Henderson Gold Leaf.

The "Wires" Got Mixed.

We hear of a good joke on a certain young lady in town. This particular lady is given much to the use of the telephone, and frequent conversations over the wires has made the habit of saying "goodbye" when the talk is finished as much a fixture as the conventional "hello" at the beginning. Nothing amiss in this, but a night or two ago she was saying her prayers as usual before retiring, and at the close of her devotion the telephone habit asserted itself and she ended with "goodbye" instead of "amen."

Narrow Escape.

Mr. R. L. Nichols, of Beaver Dam township, tells us of a narrow escape his mother had a few days ago from serious if not fatal injury. Mrs. Nichols went to the well to draw a bucket of water. The bucket was fastened to an old fashioned sweep, and in lowering it the sweep broke, one end narrowly missing her head. Fortunately the falling sweep just grazed her left shoulder and arm and her injury was only slight. Had the sweep struck her on the head no doubt it would have killed her.

Pardoned.

Gov. Russell has pardoned George Dudley, colored, who was sent to the penitentiary from this county for killing Red Blaw, colored, over a game of cards some years ago. George ran away after committing the deed, was subsequently captured in Richmond and brought back here for trial, was convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to 15 years in the penitentiary. He served a few months over 5 years of his sentence.

Tongue Twisters.

After reading the list of tongue twisters in the REFLECTOR a day or two ago, K. R. Tunstall handed us three more. Try your tongue on these:

Priscie pitched up the peach tree, preach, Priscie, preach.

Six slick, slim sapplings.

Fannie Finch fried five floundering fish for Francis Fowler's father.

When bilious or costive, eat a Cas-carer, candy cathartic, cure guaranteed 10c, 25c.

The Girly Girl.

The girly girl is the truest girl. She is what she seems, and not a sham and a pretense. The slangy girl has a hard job of it not to forget her character. The boy girl and the rapid girl are likewise wearers of masks. The girly girl never bothers about woman rights and woman wrongs. She is a girl, and glad of it. She would not be a boy and grow up into a man and vote and go to war and puzzle her brain about stocks for a kingdom. She knows nothing about business, and does not want to know anything about it. Her aim is to marry some good fellow and make him a good wife, and she generally succeeds in doing both. She delights in dress and everything that is pretty, and is not ashamed to own up that she does. She is pleased when she is admired, and lets you see that she is. She is feminine from the top of her head to the end of her toes, and if you try to draw her into the discussion of dry themes she tells you squarely that the conversation does not suit her. She is the personification of frankness. There is not a particle of humbug in her composition. Here is health to the girly girl! May her number never grow less.—Ex.

Logan Carlisle's Joke.

Logan Carlisle, chief clerk of the treasury department, and son of Secretary Carlisle, is famed among his intimate friends for his wit. Early in his administration Secretary Carlisle issued an order that no two members of a family should be employed in the treasury department at the same time. This caused several dismissals and forced resignations, and one young woman, whose mother had been forced to leave, entered indignant protest with Logan. She pleaded, threatened, and finally said: "Well, Mr. Chief Clerk, it's a poor rule that won't work both ways. Both your father and yourself being here the rule is violated, and I think it a shame that such favoritism should be displayed." Logan drummed on his desk with his pencil and wore a far-away look. Finally he said: "Well, I guess the old man will have to go."

Must Stop Flirting.

A bill was introduced in the Missouri legislature several days ago making it a misdemeanor for conductors to flirt with lady passengers. In commenting upon this ridiculous measure, the Kansas City Star declares that flirting is something that every woman can regulate for herself. Conductors will not force upon passengers attentions which are not encouraged and no law will prevent a woman from flirting if she happens to enjoy that kind of amusement. The Kansas City Star is right in its criticism. What is legislation coming to when it descends to measures of this character?

THE LEGISLATURE.

If we work upon marble it will perish; if we work upon brass, time will efface it; if we rear temples, they will crumble into dust; but if we work upon immortal minds, if we imbue them with principles, with the just fear of God, and love of our fellow men, we engrave on those tablets something which will brighten to all eternity.

John Burns, the English labor leader, has made a will which he thinks no court can break. "He leaves his best love to his wife, a sound constitution to his son, his books to the parish, and his debts to his country."

When bilious or constive, eat a Cascaret, candy cathartic, cure constipation.

Ungured Honor.

Many stories are told of the witty remarks made by a New England judge who died a few years ago, and among them is one which proves that his wit did not desert him under the most trying circumstances. One day, as he started down the steps which led from the courthouse in a town where he had been hearing an important case, he slipped, lost his footing, and fell, with many thumps and bumps, to the sidewalk. One of the influential men of the place who was passing hurried up to the judge, as the latter slowly rose to his feet. "I trust your honor is not seriously hurt?" he said in anxious inquiry. "My honor is not at all hurt," returned the judge, ruefully, "but my elbows and knees are, I can assure you!" Just try a 10c. box of Cascarets, the finest liver and bowel regulator ever made.

"FROM FROST TO FLOWERS."

California or Mexico?

Both are such desirable objective points for a Winter trip that it's perhaps hard for you to decide where to go.

Let us Help You to a Decision.

A trip via New Orleans and the Southern Pacific to either Mexico or the Pacific Coast is one you will never forget.

It's a Transition from Frost to Flowers.

And the service is so luxurious that people who have tested "Sunset Limited" call it incomparable.

If you are Thinking of Going, Write us.

We have a book entitled "Through Seaside to Sunset Seas," a handsome volume of 205 pages, fully illustrated, which we will send on receipt of 10 cents in stamps to cover postage. We also have a delightful little guide to Mexico, which we will send on receipt of 4 cents to cover cost of mailing.

You Really Ought to Read them Both.

Shall we put you down for a copy? If so, or if you want any special information, it will be cheerfully furnished by addressing,

THE SUNDOWN SEA.

Have you heard of the Sundown sea, love,
With its blue and golden skies,
Where the ripples play the liveliest day
And the summer never dies?
There are wealth and health for you, love;
There are health and wealth for me;
There is all that's best in the golden west
On the shores of the Sundown sea.

It will give back the rose to your cheek, love,
For there like a river it flows
On the sunny breeze through the orange trees,
The breath of the blood red rose.
Go get the old light in your eye, love,
'Nenth the shade of the pepper tree—
You know where; there's enough and to spare
On the shores of the Sundown sea.

There's a tear on every thorn, love,
Of the storm scarred locust; there
Are dripping leaves and icy eaves;
There's a wail on the weeping air;
There's a song in the frozen rill, love,
But it's lost to you and me;
There's a smothered cry in the rain swept sky.
Then away to the Sundown sea.

The luster is gone from your hair, love;
Your cheeks are thin and pale;
Your dark eye turns and your spirit yearns
For a glimpse of the sunset trail.
I will sing a new song to you, love,
And you'll sing a new song to me,
And we'll grow young as we journey along
On the way to the Sundown sea.

Straws.

A writer in the Boston Transcript says that the late General Francis A. Walker was once traveling in a railway train and was much annoyed by the chatter of two small politicians, who were loudly gloating over a victory which their party had gained locally a few days before. One of them presently turned to General Walker and remarked in a swaggering manner, "Straws show which way the wind blows, eh?"

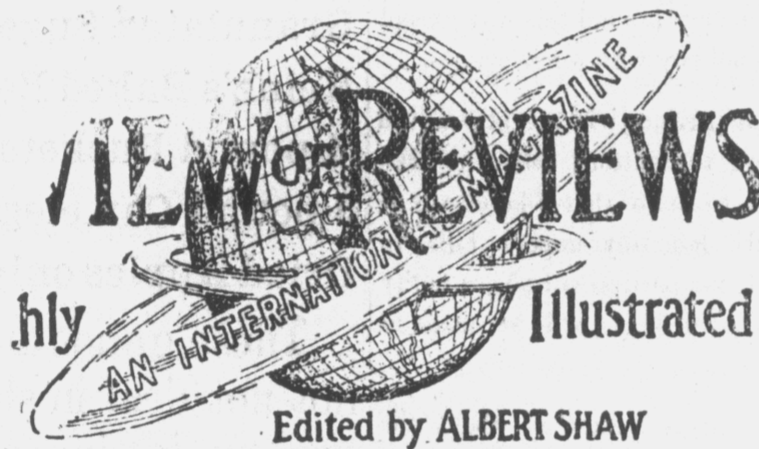

"There is another old proverb about straws," suggested Mr. Walker.

"What's that?"
"Drowning men catch at them."

Her Stiffness.

"Have I done anything to offend you, darling?" he asked brokenly.
"Today you passed me without bowing, and now you sit there with such an air of hauteur and pride that"

"George," interrupted the girl with an unbending air, but in her voice a cadence sweeter than music in the night, "I have a stiff neck."

"If only one magazine can be taken, we would suggest the REVIEW OF REVIEWS, as covering more ground than any other magazine."—Board of Library Commissioners of New Hampshire, 1896.

THIS magazine is, in its contributed and departmental features, what its readers, who include the most noted names of the English-speaking world, are pleased to call "absolutely up to date," "thoroughly abreast of the times," "invaluable," and "indispensable." It is profusely illustrated with timely portraits, views, and cartoons. Its original articles are of immediate interest, by the best authorities on their respective subjects. The Editor's "Progress of the World" gives a clear, rightly proportioned view of the history of the human race during the current month. The "Leading Articles of the Month" present the important parts of the best magazine articles that have been written in every part of the world. The newest and most important books are carefully reviewed. Indexes, chronological records, and other departments complete the certainty that the reader of the Review of Reviews will miss nothing of great significance that is said or written or done throughout the world.
