We Give Bargains

That Have No Precedent.

Listen to the facts, all you economically inclined people.

It is because we sell the greatest value that we sell the greatest quantity;
and it is because we buy in large quantities that we

THE LEGISLATURE.

Condensed Report of Proceedings.

FIFTY-FOURTH DAY.

SENATE.

The senate session was dull. The bill passed to regulate liabilities of stockholders in banks chartered by this state which forbids loaning of more than 10 per cent. of the capital stock to one person or corporation or company, by a bank having less than $100,000 capital.

Ray offered a resolution that the thanks of the Senate be tendered Lieutenant Governor Reynolds for the impartial and courteous bearing which he had manifested toward all senators and moved that the resolution be spread upon the journal.

Scales took the chair and said: "I have been called to the chair to show our respect for one of the most impartial, honest and high minded presiding officers the senate has ever had."

Parker, of Alamance, said it was a pleasure to say the president was a just, impartial and courteous presiding officer. He then as a token of appreciation presented the silver service in the name of every member of the senate.

The lieutenant governor spoke feelingly in reply to Parker.

HOUSE.

The session of the house was tame today. Barely a quorum was present most of the day.

Hancock, of the special committee to investigate the enrollment of the bill to appropriate $5,000 to the "Rolling Exposition" reported that in the engrossed copy the entire first section, making the appropriation was stricken out, and that the bill was correctly enrolled.

Fagan said there was something wrong and that the amendment was in the words: "Strike out appropriation of $5,000 to be made by the state and add following: Provided there shall be no cost or expense to the state whatever."

Sutton said there was a "Cat in the meal tub." He thought the eagerness of the advocates of the measure was singular. He wanted the house to vote on the legality of the bill.

The vote was—yeas, 35; nays, 28. The bill to appropriate $500 to the Agricultural and Mechanical college here for a hospital and new boiler came up.

Fagan moved to table—lost. Cook advocated the bill, saying the need of a hospital was urgent.

Dixon, of Cleveland, favored and so did Walters, Lusk and Freeman.

White, of Randolph, antagonized it and said the house went blindly into any appropriation.

The bill passed its third reading. The bill to restore Surry to the Fifth district and to put Orange in the Fourth came up on its third reading.

Person said the time had not come

Across the Border.

INTO THE LAND OF THE MONTEZUMAS.

Laredo, Tex., has been appropriately styled the "Gate City." It is located on the north bank of the Rio Grande river, which is the dividing line between the two republics. It has a population of 12,000, and being right on the border there is quite a mixture of American and Mexican among the inhabitants, and the traveler hears both languages talked all around him. The office of the U. S. Consul is on one side of the river, and the Mexico Consul on the other.

Here we had to change from the I. & G. N. railroad to Mexican National, the principal depot of the latter being on the American side of the river. Here also American money can be changed for Mexican, a $5 bill (or five silver dollars) of the former getting $9.80 of the latter, or just a fraction less than two for one. A fellow could feel himself growing rich fast while this changing is going out.

Pulling out of Laredo a few minutes ride over a fine iron bridge takes us across into Mexico to Nuevo Laredo, a place of some 5,000 inhabitants located on the south bank of the river. Here a stop must be made to pass custom house inspection to avoid dutiable goods being taken in unless the proper tariff is paid thereon. One great advantage of this Laredo route is that this pass and inspection is made in the day time. And for the accommodation of travelers the officer comes aboard the train to make the inspection, to avoid the necessity of any one having to take baggage out to custom house. Every trunk and valise must be opened before him, the contents examined, the proper recognition stamp stuck on the outside and the job is quickly over.

It gives one a slightly queer feeling as his foot rest for the first time on foreign soil, but arising to the realization that we had not come all that distance from home just to feel queer but to look for what was queer about Mexico, we put aside the feeling and went to looking.

We are now traveling on a narrow gauge railroad, yet one which in equipment is the equal of any in America. The main line of the Mexican National is 840 miles in length. Its road bed is as near perfect as they can be made, the trains run at equally as good speed as those in our country, while more comfortable or easier riding cars can be found nowhere. In every respect it is a fine railroad. It was noticed that over these they have three classes of travel—first, second and third class coaches, each labelled on the outside so that passengers can enter the car for which they have tickets. Elegant Pullman cars are also carried, but the order of making up a train is reversed from the custom in our country, the Pullman coaches going in front and the third class in the rear.

For the first 50 miles in Mexico the country was very similar to the last 50

ACROSS THE BORDER.

on the other side of the river in Texas, having a desolate appearance and almost barren of growth except cactus and small bushes. A passenger who was familiar with both sides of the river remarked, "Everywhere you see growing along here has thorns on it." Now and then the monotony is broken by a few rude houses surrounded by little squads of natives. These present a picture of destitution. The houses are simply little huts built of slim poles, brush and straw. The people about these look very much in keeping with the houses. The men wore nothing but light fitting pants and shirt of common texture, a sombrero some wore shoes, some only sandals, and others barefooted. Almost without exception each carried a blanket on his shoulder or fastened to the waist. The women wore bonnetless and many of them shoeless, but every one of them had a dark shawl around her shoulders which was used as a covering for the head when needed. The children were all scantily clothed, the outfit of the little boys consisting principally of a very abbreviated shirt. Just how these people subsisted amid their surroundings was a problem too great to solve.

Occasionally on the banks of some little stream the settlement reaches the proportions of a village, and the houses are the adobe style, built of mud bricks baked in the sun and smoothed over on the outside with a coating of mud. These houses are a marked improvement over the straw huts and the people occupying them show better circumstances than those in the other. About these villages are numerous little vegetable patches, and it is not infrequent to see a burro or pig numbered among the families, and occasionally a horse or cow being among the possessions. When these people do any ploughing it is done with a wooden plow or knotty snag that simply scratches the ground. The land and climate are such that anything will grow with little cultivation if water can be had.

One's first impression of Mexico is not very favorable, but so far only the poorer side of the country and people is seen. Progressing further toward the interior conditions begin to improve. The first town of consequence that is reached is Lampazos, which is a super station going south. Despite the reputation for poor feeding in Mexico the meal served here was a very good one, and it cost only 50 cents American. It being night now no more of the country along the railroad could be seen until the return trip.

Passing Lampazos the scenery becomes noticeably fine. The railroad passes up a beautiful valley a few miles in width, lined on either side by a range of table mountains with here and there a peak reaching a thousand or two feet in height. Villaladama is the next station of importance, near which are the famous Guadalupe and other mines.

We wait for another article to tell about the city of Monterey which was reached just before midnight.

THE LEGISLATURE.

to redistrict the state; that the senate had tabled this bill.

Young moved to table and the vote was—yeas, 41; nays, 17.

The bill came up to allow the superintendent of the penitentiary to lease out convicts for road work between July 15th and March 1st.

Freeman favored it; so did Cunningham, who said Dockery had last night shown that the penitentiary was not self supporting.

Freeman declared it was the most meritorious measure of the session.

Sutton, of Cumberland, offered an amendment: "That the state convicts shall be hired out upon such terms as the superintendent of the penitentiary shall prescribe." This was voted down and the bill passed its readings with a rush.

The senate amendments to the asylum bill were concurred in. They reduce the appropriations $23,500.

The bill to require fire insurance companies to charge no higher rate on farm property than is charged in Virginia, passed, after being supported by Mr. Cunningham.

The bill allowing the supreme court to pay its reporter $1,250 annually, if it wished to do so, passed.

The speaker announced the following committee on the part of the house to examine the books of the state treasurer and auditor: Messrs. Dixon of Cleveland, Ormsby and Brown.

Crews offered a resolution of thanks to Speaker Hileman and expressing sympathy for him in his illness and this, after being amended so as to include the clerks, employes and newspaper reporters, the latter of whom were declared by Bryan of Wilks ("Red Fox") to have been very efficient, was unanimously adopted. Principal Clerk Mastea was thanked by a rising vote.

The senate resolution to adjourn sine die at 6 o'clock p. m. was concurred in.

Stalking a Deer on Ice.

We had gone up in the great bay near the head of the lake, when some boys and dogs, rummaging around in the woods along the shore, started a deer and chased it into the ice, and we had the most exciting chase immediately after that I ever took part in. We did not harm the animal, and had we wished to do so we couldn't, for there wasn't a gun in the crowd, but we made him "make the effort of his life" before he broke through the trocha we built around him and got away. When we sighted him he was making straight across the bay, which is five miles wide, and the ice was so slippery that he could not make anything like the usual time of his kind when they throw their souls into their heels, and scatter miles behind them with an easy indifference most beautiful to witness.

We played wolf on him. "Doc" Spalding, who was riding the ice bicycle, shot straight ahead, and very soon passed him and forced him to turn, and when he did turn there was a ring of skaters all around him, and for an hour he played with us very much as a four legged seal might.

We got him running in a circle, but we were unable to catch him, for every time any one tried it, that venturesome individual either failed to get a hold on him, or, succeeding, was hurled as from a catapult along the ice, to the great delight of all the rest. It was the merriest skating party ever witnessed, although the deer might not have seen much matter for merriment in it.

But he was perfectly safe, unless his wind played out before ours did, of which the event proved there was small danger. One wing of the circular trocha we had formed in the line got out of breath and slowed up, a gap was formed in the line, and the deer went through it like a flash, and the last we saw of him was "hull down," and going as merrily as if freshly started.—Minneapolis Journal.

THE RAILROAD LEASE.

John G. Carlisle Special Counsel for the Southern Railway—Governor and Directors Enjoined from Bringing Suit to Invalidate the Lease.

RALEIGH, N. C., Mar. 9.—Judge Simonton today granted a restraining order prohibiting Governor Russell, the Attorney General, the president, directors of State proxy of the North Carolina Railroad from bringing suit to annul the lease to the Southern Railway, or in any other way interfering with it. The Governor and directors are cited to appear in Greensboro April 6th and show cause why the injunction should not be made permanent. The order was issued by Judge Simonton in Lynchburg, Va., today. The restraining order was served on Attorney General Walser by telegraph this morning. This evening Marshal Carroll, of the Federal Court, served the papers on Governor Russell and others. John G. Carlisle, ex-Secretary of the Treasury, and F. H. Busbee are signed as attorneys for the Southern.

Action is also brought by the Central Trust Company of New York against the Southern Railway and North Carolina Railroad Company. The Central Trust Company is the trustee of the bondholders, and brings this suit to prosecute their rights to the leasehold estate of the Southern Railway in the North Carolina Railroad. Both are equity suits and are brought in the Western district. This action takes the lease out of the State Courts and will finally determine the validity of it. The opponents of the lease denounce the suits as "government by injunction."

Baptists, See Here!

The Southern Baptist Convention meets this year in Wilmington, N. C., May 8th. Now, you want to go to this convention, and you also want to go in style and comfort. There is only one good first class line from the South and Southwest to Wilmington, and that line is the Seaboard Air Line, which runs the finest and fastest trains in the South and makes the lowest rates of any railroad running from the South or Southwest. Don't be fooled into making your arrangements until you have consulted one of the Seaboard Air Line agents, who always esteem it a pleasure to serve you. B. A. Newland, General Agent Passenger Department, 6 Kimball House, Atlanta, Ga., will be glad to write you or call on you, or you can apply to any of the representatives of the Seaboard Air Line in any town or city. This is the official route. Do you want to go with your friends?

Life is a Humbug.

Only because we make it so. We are frauds because we are fools. This is a beautiful, a glorious world, fit habitation for the sons of the Most High God. It is a fruitful world, at whose fair hand all her children may be filled.

There should never be a humbug, nor a hypocrite, nor a mendicant on the great round globe.

Labor should be healthful exercise to develop to physical man, to furnish for a fitting casket for the god like mind: appropriate setting for the immortal love. The curse of life arises from a misconception of its significance. We delve in the mine for paltry jewels, explore old ocean's depths for pearls. We toil and stint for gold until the hand is worn and the heart is cold. We attire ourselves in Tyrian purples and silks of India and strut forth in our gilded flipper on the bridge of time between the two eternities.

We despoil the thin purses of the poor to erect alters and monuments to fame, when the whole earth is a sacred shrine; the universe a temple through which rings the voice of God in the eternal melody of the spheres.

"FROM FROST TO FLOWERS."

California or Mexico?

Both are such desirable objective points for a Winter trip that it's perhaps hard for you to decide where to go.

Let us Help You to a Decision.

A trip via New Orleans and the Southern Pacific to either Mexico or the Pacific Coast is one you will never forget.

It's a Transition from Frost to Flowers.

And the service is so luxurious that people who have tested "Sunset Limited" call it incomparable.

If you are Thinking of Going, Write Us.

We have a book entitled "Through Starland to Sunset Seas," a handsome volume of 205 pages, fully illustrated, which we will send on receipt of 10 cents in stamps to cover postage. We also have a delightful little guide to Mexico, which we will send on receipt of 4 cents to cover cost of mailing.

You Really Ought to Read them Both.

Shall we put you down for a copy? If so, or if you want any special information, it will be cheerfully furnished by addressing,

PERSONAL POINTS.

People You Know, or May Know.

Donnell Gilliam returned to Tarboro today.

Mrs. L. C. King returned to Norfolk today.

J. T. Worthington, of Grifton, spent today here.

J. H. Small returned to Washington this morning.

W. H. Cox left today for New York to purchase new goods.

E. B. Ficklen returned Wednesday evening from Virginia.

Mrs. S. M. Hanrahan, of Grifton, spent today here with friends.

E. W. Smith, of Rocky Mount, spent today on the tobacco market here.

John Howard, who was here last week and this as a witness in court, returned to Tarboro today.

A. M. Moore, of the State of Washington, who has been spending a few days here, left this morning for Edenton.

M. R. Lang left today for the northern markets to make purchases for spring and summer. He says he will show the ladies some beautiful goods when he returns.

A letter from Rev. M. A. Adams, pastor of French Broad Baptist church, Asheville, states that he will be in Greenville and preach in the Baptist church here next Sunday, morning and evening.

S. C. Hamilton, Jr., left today for his old home in Maine. He has been living in Greenville for the last few years and made hosts of friends who regretted to see him leave. For the past year he has been a member of the Town Council and Treasurer of the town.

I'm in a hurry, old man. I must fill an engagement with my dentist. Why don't you let the dentist do the filling?

Big Lot.

Mr. J. J. Laughinghouse sold today on the floor of the Eastern Warehouse the largest grade of tobacco ever sold here in one pile. The lot weighed 1,285 pounds. It was purchased by T. E. Roberts & Co. at $5.10 per hundred.

Hard to Capture.

Officer J. P. Harrell, of Aulander, who brought John Keel here last night and turned him over to Sheriff Harrington, says that Keel was hard to capture. He had a range of 10 or 12 miles and did not stay at any one place but a short while. Such frequent moving about kept those who were trying to capture him from catching up with him, as by the time they could learn of his presence at a certain place he would be somewhere else. Keel was considerably frightened when surrounded and taken into custody. No doubt he will be tried at April term of Pitt Superior Court.

An Excellent Sermon.

A good sized congregation was out at the Presbyterian church last night, and heard Rev. N. M. Watson preach an excellent sermon. His subject was that portion of Paul's letter to the Corinthians touching upon the division existing among them, some wanting to follow Paul, some Apollos, and some Cephas, coupled with the Apostle's warning that they be careful how they build, as every man's work would be tried. He used this to represent divisions among the churches—sectarianism—and made a strong plea to Christians to think less upon the small matters over which they differed and more about the great principles upon which all agreed. He closed by referring to every one as a character builder for eternity, and if any man hath any foundation other than faith in Jesus his work cannot stand the testing that will come. Tonight Rev. J. B. Morton, of Tarboro, will preach, the service beginning at 7:45 o'clock.

RICKS & TAFT.

New York City,
March 5th, 1895.

Dear Reflector.—

I promised to let you know about the spring styles for my advertisement when I arrived here but my time has been taken up making selections and cannot write you descriptive letter. Just tell the good people of Pitt that I am making the finest selection of Spring Goods ever carried by any firm in Greenville. The styles are beautiful this season and I am buying heavy.

Yours truly,

A. H. TAFT.
