THE BASE BALL SEASON.

The National League Opens the Season
Yesterday Under Pleasing Auspices—The Attendance Encr-m.us.

Washington, April 22.—The National League baseball season for 1897 opened today in the various league cities under pleasing auspices. The weather was all that could be desired and the total attendance reached the enormous figure of 61,430. Philadelphia led with 17,014. The Senators and Bridegrooms were evenly matched and but for DeMontieville's wild throw in the sixth inning, the home team would undoubtedly have won.

A number of New York enthusiasts journeyed to Philadelphia and saw the Gian's taken into camp to the tune of 5 to 1. Rusie joined the New Yorkers today. He is in excellent condition and will begin practice with the team tomorrow.

At Baltimore, the Champions defeated the Bostons in the presence of 13,000 enthusiasts. The season was opened by a parade of the home and visiting teams through the principal streets of the city. The procession was headed by the Fifth regiment band and drum corps and following them came a long line of handsome equipages bearing Manager Hanlon, Treasurer Der Herst, a host of prominent citizens who are devotees of the game and the players. A handsome float draped in red, white and blue held aloft the Temple cup and the pennants of '94, '95 and '96.

The strong Cleveland team met defeat at the hands of Louisville, the "tail enders" of the league. The latter outplayed their opponents both in the field and at the bat. The Cleveands scored their first and only run in the first inning. Required ten innings to decide the game at Cincinnati. After a hard fight the Reds won by a score of 8 to 7.

The smallest crowd of the day, 5,000 gathered at St. Louis, where the Pittsburg Pirates defeated the Browns 4 to 1.

In all the cities there was the usual street parade and concert at the grounds. Following are the scores:

At Washington—Washington, 4; Brooklyn, 5.

At Philadelphia—Philadelphia, 5; New York, 1.

At Baltimore—Baltimore, 10; Boston, 5.

At Louisville—Louisville, 3; Cleveland, 1.

At Cincinnati—Cincinnati, 8; Chicago, 7.

At St. Louis—St. Louis, 1; Pittsburg, 4.

Henry Blount Delights an Appreciative Audience.

Henry Blount, the silver tongued orator, delivered his lecture "Beyond the Alps Lies Italy," in the Court House Friday night under the auspices of the King's Daughters. Mr. W. F. Harding presented the speaker in one of the most beautiful introductions our people have had the pleasure of listening to. It was a gem and gave the audience a foretaste of the eloquence that was to follow.

Mr. Blount spoke for about two hours and moved upon the feelings of of his hearers almost will. First he would have them convulsed with laughter and in a moment they would be following him through brilliant flights of eloquence. The lecture was an alternating ebullition of wit and pathos. He would unlock his storehouse of humor and fling out its choicest treasures and then dip his brush in the gorgeous dye-pots of eloquence and paint a picture as resplendent as the rainbow. The closing portion of the lecture was a masterpiece of eloquence. He seemed to have been leading his hearers gradually up the rugged Alps, letting them pause on peaks here and there to view the surrounding beauties, and upon reaching the summit lifted the veil and feasted their minds upon the grandeur of the sunny Italy that lies beyond.

The REFLECTOR regrets that the audience was not so large as it should have been. Those who failed to hear the lecture do not realize how much they missed.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, April 23, 1897.

The gentlemen engaged in attempting to organize a revolt in the House against Czar Reed's high-handed way of doing things have zeal, will, brains, and activity—in fact, everything but the one thing necessary to succeed; votes enough to outvote Reed's supporters. There is lots of talk about a large number of republicans being ready to join the revolt, but if brought to an issue it will be found that the "large number" will be about a dozen or possibly as many as twenty at the outside. This being the case it strikes me that these gentlemen are, with the best intentions, wasting time that might be put to better use than raising expectations that cannot be realized among those who are not fully acquainted with the situation in the House. That there are enough republicans in the House who are at heart opposed to Reed's policy and methods to make a majority of the House when combined with the democrats and populists is probably true, but they all want the best committee assignments they can get and are not going to vote against the man who makes those assignments; they also want favors from the administration, and they know that McKinley is in favor of Reed's policy. Enough republicans to make a majority of the House will support Reed, regardless of what they think.

"Bitly" Mason, of Illinois, this week established his record in Senate as a "kicker," by making a speech in favor of his resolution for a cloture rule, in which he ridiculed the methods of that august body and charged its members with caring more for individual power than for the public welfare. Referring to the failure to act on the Morgan-Caban resolution he said that it was impossible to tear down the golden god of the Senate rules in order to act, and closed by saying: "I would not scuttle the old ship, but I would like to put her in dry dock long enough to have her bottom scraped."

While no gold democrat has been appointed to a prominent place by McKinley, he is indirectly showing his gratitude to the gold democrats by allowing a number of them to remain in very desirable offices. Conrad N. Jordan, Assistant Treasurer of the United States, at New York, is a conspicuous example, although Senator Platt and the entire New York machine made a hot fight for his place for Ellis H. Roberts, a Platt republican. Jordan was in Washington this week to renew his $400,000 bond that expired at midnight on the 22nd inst. His renewal of the bond makes it certain that he has been assured of his retention in office for an indefinite period, as a reward for being a gold democrat. And the same policy is being pursued towards Claude M. Johnson, of Kentucky, Chief of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing; ex-Representative Forman, of Illinois, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, and others who fill places of less importance.

The professional office holders—those who have been in office before—have secured about nine-tenths of the pie distributed up to date by McKinley which seems to show that experience is as necessary in office seeking as in any other business; but that doesn't lessen the disappointment of inexperienced reachers after pie.

Senator Morgan has given notice that he would insist upon a vote next week upon his resolution for the recognition of the belligerency of the Cubans. The resolution can command a majority in the Senate all right, but there it will stop, unless Czar Reed sees fit to allow the House to do some business at this session outside of the tariff bill and the left over appropriation bills.

The adverse decision by the U. S. Supreme Court in the case of Chapman, the New York broker who refused to answer questions in the Senate sugar scandal investigation, leaves Chapman with only one hope of escaping the thirty day jail sentence imposed upon him when he was found guilty of contempt in a Washington court. That is, in his being pardoned by McKinley. Strong pressure is being brought upon McKinley to issue a pardon for Chapman.

Democratic Senators have been notified that if they would not force Senator Vest's resolution, declaring the action of Secretary Gray in issuing orders for the enforcement of the retroactive clause of the tariff bill to be illegal, to a vote, that clause would be either made satisfactory or dropped entirely before the bill is reported to the Senate. This confession that the clause in question was merely put in the bill to bluff importers is not surprising. It never had many advocates in the Senate.

The Arizona Kicker.

In a late number of the Kicker we referred to the inhabitants of Blue Hill City as a "congregation of lop shouldered, slabsided, cross-eyed absconders from the laws of other States" and to the town itself as a "sinkhole of iniquity founded by robbers." We didn't mean anything serious by this. We were just slinging metaphor that day on our editorial page, and it struck us that a little metaphor wouldn't be a bad thing for Blue Hill. We had no idea that any one was displeased until we rode over to that town the other day to make up a list of subscribers. We felt that our welcome was rather chilly, but mistrusted nothing until we saw a man with a rope. Then we climbed back into the saddle and just as we got there a crowd of about 200 people made a rush for us. Our mule put his ears back and lay down to it, and, though a portion of the mob followed us for five miles, we got safely away. There is no question in our mind that we just missed being strung up, and we can't exactly make out why the Blue Hillers wanted to do it. Ever since the days of Adam one has had a right to use metaphor, and even in this country the man whom you call a liar always gives you a chance to explain in what sense you use the term. When Mayor Harding has a day to spare, we hope he'll come over and explain.

The Devil's Four Servants.

The devil has a great many servants. They are all busy and in all places. Some so vile looking that one instantly turns away from them in disgust; but some are sociable, insinuating and plausible that they almost deceive at the elect. Among this latter class are to be found the devil's four chief servants. Here are their names: "There's No Danger." "Only This Once." "Everybody Does So." "By and By." All four cheats and liars. They mean to cheat you out of heaven, and they will do it if you listen to them.

Just try a 10c. box of cascarets, the finest liver and bowel regulator ever made.

Truthful Talk.

If you would increase your happiness, forget your neighbor's faults. Forget the slander you have heard. Forget the temptations. Forget the faultfinding and give a little thought to the cause which provoked it. Forget the peculiarities of your friends and only remember the good points that make you fond of them. Forget all personal quarrels or histories that you may have heard by accident, and which, if repeated, would seem a thousand times worse than they are. Blot out as far as possible all the disagreeables of life—they will come, but they will only grow larger when you remember them, and the constant thought of the acts of meanness, or worse, still, malice, will only tend to make you more familiar with them. Obliterate everything disagreeable from yesterday, start out with a clean sheet determined only to have written upon it the pure and bright things of life.—Orange (Va.) Observer.

Letter and Her Answer.

"Would you be kind enough to return my photograph?" she wrote. I gave it to you in a moment of girlish folly, and I have since had occasion to regret that I was so thoughtless in such matters."

Of course, she pictured that photograph framed and hung up in his room and was inclined to think that he would part with it with deep regret. Just why she wanted it returned is immaterial. Of course he had offended her in some way, but it is unnecessary to inquire how.

The reply to her note came the following day.

"I regret," it read, "that I am unable at this late day to pick out your photograph. However, I send you my entire collection, numbering a little over 600, and would request that you return all except your own by express at my expense."—Chicago Post.

It is believed that the farmers of North Carolina will this season use some $3,500,000 worth of fertilizers; and most of the money will go out of the State. Of the fertilizers sold in North Carolina less than half is manufactured in the State and even of those made here the raw material is, for the most part, obtained elsewhere. It can readily be seen what a drain the fertilizer business is upon the agricultural wealth of the State.—Fair bluff Times.

We have never been able to see the wisdom in the law against carrying concealed weapons. We have held and do still hold that it disarms the law abiding but does not disarm or restrain the non law abiding. Self preservation is the first law of nature, yet the law seems to us to say to every good man, you shall not enjoy this privilege against the evil designing, whom all know that legal statutes cannot restrain. Bainbridge, Ga., Thursday night two unmasked negroes with a pistol in each hand came suddenly upon five peaceable, unarmed, law abiding white men and covered them till they robbed them, including a safe. They then left, affirming that they would shoot the first man that put his head out of the house till the next train left. They made their escape.—Concord Standard.

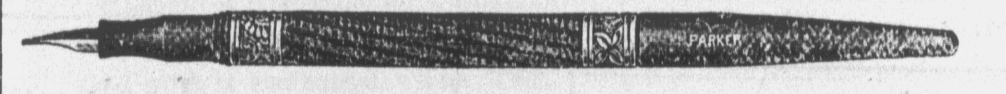

Attempts were made to assassinate two rulers of nations Thursday; the King of Italy and the President of Uruguay. The attempt on the King of Italy was made by a workman out of employment, who jumped upon the King, who was riding in a carriage, with a dagger. The King avoided the blow and the man was seized.
