

PITT COUNTY HONORED.

(Special to Reflector.)

ASHEVILLE, N. C., May 4.—The many friends of Mr. W. A. James, Jr., will be gratified to hear that he was elected Chief of Police of the city of Asheville, yesterday, at a salary of $900 per annum.

[This is indeed gratifying news to the many friends of Mr. James here in Pitt county, his old home. That he will make an efficient officer no one who knows his excellent qualities has the least doubt.—Ed.]

Base Ball.

Washington, May 1.—The Washington Boston game was postponed today on account of wet grounds.

Baltimore, May 1.—Baltimore-New York postponed—rain.

Cincinnati, May 1.—Cincinnati-Pittsburg postponed—wet grounds.

Philadelphia, May 1.—Philadelphia won from Brooklyn today in a ten inning game, the latter half of which was played in the rain. The game was interesting and the finish quite exciting. Attendance 9,737. Score: Philadelphia 3; Brooklyn, 2.

Louisville, May 1.—The weather was cold and unfit for ball playing today and seemed to affect the Colonels considerably. Umpire McDermott called the game on account of darkness at the end of the ninth inning. Attendance 1,800. The score. Louisville, 5; Chicago, 5.

St. Louis, May 1.—Sokalaxias, the big medicine man of the Indians, covered himself with glory today. In four times at the bat he made four hits, one a three bagger, when the bases were full. Attendance 2,500. Score. Cleveland, 8; St. Louis, 3.

Old, But Interesting.

Here is a mysterious little example in arithmetic, I don't know its age, but I do know that it has caused a great many arguments and I have known of three different answers being given by three different men at the same time. Here it is:

A man walked into a shoe store and bought a pair of boots, the price of which was $5; he gave the shoe merchant a $100 bill in payment. The merchant stepped to a nearby bank and obtained the change, gave the customer the change due him in a few minutes one of the bank clerks came in and informed the merchant that the $100 bill was a counterfeit. The merchant at once made the amount good. How much was he out on the transaction?

The above problem appears quite simple but just try it. The answer is not what it looks like it might be.—Ex.

Town Election.

In the election here Monday two white men and four negroes were elected as Councilmen. Those elected were:

1st Ward—J. H. Tucker and John Marable, both colored.

2nd Ward—J. E. Starkey.

3rd Ward—T. A. Wilks and Sam Mayo, both colored.

4th Ward—A. J. Griffin.

BETHEL ITEMS.

BETHEL, N. C., May 3rd, '97.

B. F. Sugg, of Greenville, was in town today.

H. J. Herrick, of Williamston, spent today here.

Warren Andrews and family, of Tarboro, spent Saturday and Sunday here.

Elder B. R. Hall arrived Friday evening and held quarterly meeting in the Methodist church Saturday and Sunday.

Rev. J. W. Rose, of LaGrange, arrived last Tuesday evening and has been assisting Rev. D. B. Rickard in conducting the protracted meeting at the Baptist church.

The following ticket was elected here today, viz: Mayor, D. C. Moore. Commissioners, Jesse W. Thomas, Jesse W. Carson, Mc. G. Ford, W. E. Knox and John E. Carson.

The Meeting.

There was a large congregation at the Presbyterian church Monday night and Rev. B. H. Melton preached an excellent sermon on experimental religion. Mr. Melton expresses himself as being greatly encouraged at the large attendance upon the meetings and the increasing interest manifested by the congregation.

At tonight's service Prof. Dawson will give a special song "Life's Railway to Heaven." He is a good singer and adds much to the meeting. The members of the different choirs and all others willing to assist in the singing are requested to take seats near the organ.

Off to California.

Capt. Geo. D. Hawks, the clever conductor of the passenger train on this branch of the W. & W. service, left Monday to attend a meeting of the National Order of Railway Conductors at Los Angeles, Cal. Mrs. Hawks accompanied him and they will be gone about a month. The REFLECTOR hopes their trip may be a safe and delightful one. No one is more deserving of such a fine trip than George Hawks, if faithfulness to duty counts for anything.

Send in Your Laundry.

Those who gave me their laundry last week received it back Saturday night and were pleased with their work. Next shipment goes off Wednesday morning. Send your bundles to Telegraph Office and they will receive prompt attention.

Russ Again Elected.

The REFLECTOR sends up its congratulations to Mayor W. M. Russ, of Raleigh. In spite of all the stir over the municipal election in that city, he was on Monday re-elected by a handsome majority of more than 400. It is a splendid endorsement of his administration as Mayor of the city.

TUESDAY MAY 4, 1897.

SPARE THE ROD AND SPOIL THE CHILD.

It makes an old man very tired to read the wise utterances of the modern solons against corporal punishment of bad boys in the public schools. I had rather go and ask the convicts in a chain gang for an opinion. Nine-tenths of them would say I began in disobedience and was not restrained. The lamentable fact is that at least one-fourth of the boys at these schools have no restraint at home, and if they are not punished at school they get it nowhere, and so these sons of Belial go to the bad very early and become victims to the rigor of the law and the courts. There is many a boy in these schools who is right now on his way to the chain gang. These solons say that corporal punishment is brutal and barbarous and must give way to the progress and refinement of the age. About what time did the youths of this generation become better than those of half a century ago? Read the daily papers and answer. How many houses in Atlanta are in mourning because of the bad conduct of their boys? What good results can come from expulsion of a bad boy from school? He is not wanted anywhere by decent people, and he associates with his kind and becomes worse and soon comes to grief and brings sorrow to his kindred.

Obedience to law, to government, to parents is absolutely necessary for the peace and welfare of society. This obedience is enforced among bad men by the fear of the law. It cannot be enforced among bad boys except by fear of corporal punishment. Their honor or their shame is too feeble a factor to be considered. Obedience must begin early, even in infancy. My two year old grandchild loves to play in the dirty coal box. "Caroline, you must not do that," her mother says, and enforces her command by slapping her hands and then washing them. That is corporal punishment, and is just as severe to the little child as the rod is to a boy of ten, and both are right and both effectual. The enforcement of obedience in early childhood saves all necessity for punishment in later years, and it saves a sight of scolding. What a world of worry bad children are to other people! What a comfort are good ones at home and abroad. Some mistaken parents say their boys are too high strung to be whipped. Yes, and those boys are in danger of being still higher strung when in a fit of passion they kill somebody. The poet Shelby said: "Obedience is the bane of genius, virtue, freedom and truth; makes slaves of men and of the human frame a mechanical automaton." He was one of these high strung sublimated creatures whose rule of life was to do as he pleased, to follow his own sweet will. What a miserable life he lived, and was drowned when only thirty years old. He alarmed his schoolmates by his passion when nineteen. The same year he eloped with a hotel keeper's daughter and married at Gretna Green. Three years later he abandoned her and she drowned herself with grief. Soon after this he married another woman, with whom he had been living previous to his first wife's death. He was the intimate friend of Lord Byron and Leigh Hunt, and they witnessed the cremation of his body and deposited the ashes near the grave of Keats, in the Protestant cemetery at Rome. No, I cannot tell anybody how to raise their children. It is a fearful responsibility. I have known preachers to undertake the task and fail, and the congregation smiled inwardly at the preacher's failure to raise his own in an exemplary and orthodox way.

Incidents of the Grant Memorial.

In the carriage with General Gordon there was a wreath of evergreens and roses, with crossed swords and an inscription in scarlet blossoms, "From Sons of Confederates." As General Gordon was driven to his place on the boulevard, he was recognized by the Grand Army of the Republic men ranged along the sidewalks and by those marching in the line, and was loudly cheered. During the long wait until the time to fall in with the procession the carriage was visited by hundreds of Grand Army of the Republic men and officers, and by all the sons of confederates and many southern and northern citizens. The greetings between General Gordon and his former antagonists were especially cordial. Many a union veteran stepped up and shook hands and said:

"I've seen you before, general, when I wasn't; so glad to see you."

The scarred and crippled ex-confederate commander always laughed at these greetings, and usually answered:

"Well, we gave you the best we had in the shop."

"That's right; you certainly did; but we're glad to see you here now," was the invariable answer.

General Gordon is suffering from a badly burned foot, the result of a recent accident, and had his crutches in the carriage with him. But for this fact, he said, he would have been on a horse in the lines with Generals Longstreet and Buckner. General Wade Hampton, the next ranking confederate general after Gordon and Longstreet, would have been here, General Gordon said, but for a serious illness. General Gordon himself was in the west, but came east especially to take part in the ceremonies.

There stood on a long board, supported by two barrels, three negroes black as the ace of spades. Two of them were in overalls; the third had made a slight attempt at dressing up and wore a pair of mouse colored trousers below a jumper. The board bent under them slightly and was just a bit springy. The wind seemed to blow down and up the drive at the same time when something came along which was as good as hot coffee to them. It was a band, and it was playing "Dixie." It was just what they wanted, and in a second all three were giving a clog dance which would have been a credit to a finished minstrel performer. The board bent and creaked under them and the barrels were momentarily in danger of giving away from underneath, but the dancers kept on unmindfully, clapping their hands to the tune of the music until the band was out of hearing and they had to stop.—Ex.

A New View of the Bird Question.

"The Bird on a Woman's Hat" is the subject of an editorial by Edward W. Bok, in May Ladies' Home Journal which presents the live, practical side of the movement against the slaughter of birds for their plumage. The crusade, Mr. Bok considers, has been carried on upon unwise lines, and overzealously. "There is a practical element in this desired reform," he writes, "and it is this: Anybody who has given even the most cursory attention or study to botany knows that all forms of life have their origin in plant life. Every animal which exists either lives directly on some plants, or on some insects which destroy plants. The birds find their sustenance mainly in the insects that injure vegetation and oftentimes kill it entirely. A sufficiently large number of insects will kill a crop. If there are no birds, naturally the insects have everything their own way. I have recently gone to considerable pains to find out from farmers to what extent the decrease of birds is affecting their crops, and I find that the condition is more alarming than we, who live in the cities and large centres, have any idea of. All the farmers to whom I spoke or wrote agreed that last year the increase of insects was unusually great, while the decrease of birds was even greater. For every hundred birds killed about sixty are born. Hence it is easy to see that the greater the number of birds killed the more exposed become the crops of the farmer to the insects. The same may be said of our trees, for the bird is really the balance of Nature. To what extent this balance is being upset by fashion is realized from the statement that during 1896 the plumage of over three millions of birds was received in New York. * * * It is these things which I would like women to think about when they purchase birds for their hats. Naturally a supply depends upon a demand. If women would moderate their buying of hats adorned with birds or their plumage fewer birds would be slaughtered. Those who kill the birds cannot be rightly attacked. They simply supply a demand. The reform in this matter lies with the women who have adopted this fashion."

When bilious or costive, eat a Cascaret, candy cathartic, cure constipation.

There are many physicians now who claim that there is no such thing as appendicitis. This has caused the Richmond Times to ask: "If this be true, what shall we do about all those who have died with it?" Well, it is rather late to do anything in their case; but we might compromise and offend no one by declaring that "death resulted from heart failure."

Just try a 10c. box of cascarets, the finest liver and bowel regulator ever made.

When bilious or costive, eat a Cascaret, candy cathartic, cure guaranteed 10c, 25c

Baptists, See Here!
The Southern Baptist Convention meets this year in Wilmington, N. C., May 8th. Now, you want to go to this convention, and you also want to go in style and comfort. There is only one good first-class line from the South and Southwest to Wilmington, and that line is the Seaboard Air Line, which runs the finest and fastest trains in the South and makes the lowest rates of any railroad running from the South or Southwest. Don't be fooled into making your arrangements until you have consulted one of the Seaboard Air Line agents, who always esteem it a pleasure to serve you. B. A. Newland, General Agent Passenger Department, 6 Kimball house, Atlanta, Ga., will be glad to write you or call on you, or you can apply to any of the representatives of the Seaboard Air Line in any town or city. This is the official route. Do you want to go with your friends?

A few days since an insurance agent accepted an invitation to inspect a new and beautiful house built by a friend. After taking a peep at the whole establishment from top to bottom, inquired—
"House insured?"
"Yes."
"What do you insure it for?"
"Because it MIGHT burn."
"Not SURE of it, are you?"
"No."
"Is your life insured?"
"No."
"Di, won't you?"
"Yes."
"Sure?"
"Yes."
"Then why not insure your life as well as your house?"
"Well, really, I never thought of the matter just in that light before, and will give it early attention."—Travelers Record.

California or Mexico?
Both are such desirable objective points for a Winter trip that it's perhaps hard for you to decide where to go.

Let us Help You to a Decision.
A trip via New Orleans and the Southern Pacific to either Mexico or the Pacific Coast is one you will never forget.

It's a Transition from Frost to Flowers.
And the service is so luxurious that people who have tested "Sunset Limited", call it incomparable.

If you are Thinking of Going, Write Us.
We have a book entitled "Through Storyland to Sunset Seas," a handsome volume of 205 pages, fully illustrated, which we will send on receipt of 10 cents in stamps to cover postage. We also have a delightful little guide to Mexico, which we will send on receipt of 4 cents to cover cost of mailing.

You Really Ought to Read them Both.
Shall we put you down for a copy? If so, or if you want any special information, it will be cheerfully furnished by addressing:
S. F. B. MORSE,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent,

When sweet spring across the hills
Sets the prisoned flow'rets free;
When the babbling of the rills
Joins with song bird's symphony;
Then, it seems to us, we oughter
Turn our thoughts to soda-water.

For the balmy April breeze
Tells the sultry days are nigh
When we linger 'neath the trees,
And our throats are hot and dry,
Then Shelburn's soda fount
Fattens up his bank account.
