Base Ball.

Philadelphia, May 6.—The Baltimore champions defeated Philadelphia today in a rather loosely played, but interesting game. Taylor was decidedly off in his pitching and aided in the Baltimore's run—getting by four wild pitches. Clark started to catch for Baltimore, but he was injured in the first inning and retired. Grady was also injured in the fifth inning and Boyle caught the remainder of the game. Score. Philadelphia, 5; Baltimore, 7.

Louisville, May 6.—The Louisville team was late in arriving here today and the game with St. Louis scheduled for today will be played tomorrow.

Pittsburg, May 5.—Hawley redeemed himself by keeping the Reds' hits well scattered and almost shutting them out. The fielding of both teams was gut edge. Score. Pittsburg, 3; Cincinnati, 1.

Boston, May 6.—Nichols was very effective today and held the Senators down to five scattering hits. Mercer also pitched good ball. Hamilton played a great game for the home team, while Selbach's work in the left field pasture was equally brilliant. Score. Boston, 5; Washington, 1.

New York, May 6.—At their first meeting this season, New York and Brooklyn played each other to a standstill. The game was called at the end of the tenth inning with the score a tie. McMahon and "Dad" Clark were both hit hard and retired early. Score. New York, 9; Brooklyn, 9.

Cleveland, May 6.—With the exception of Lange, the Colts were unable to touch Cuppy today. The Indians through a combination of good base running, good luck and Chicago's poor fielding, managed to roll up five runs in a very slow and uninteresting game. Score. Cleveland, 5; Chicago, 1.

A $5,000 Cigar.

A rather expensive smoke, and yet that is the price one thoughtless young man paid. In him centered the hopes of a man who made his money by economy and hard work. The young man was walking with his would be benefactor who had in his pocket $5,000 and the agreement which would place that sum at the command of his young companion. The youth asked him to tarry a moment and then entered a cigar store, bought and lit a cigar, and resumed his place, when he asked: "How much did you pay for that cigar?" "Ten cents," was the reply.

The benefactor said: "I never burnt up in smoke 10 cents when I was struggling for a position and a competency. A man who does not regard economy and practice self-denial in little things is not a safe custodian for my money." With that he tore to bits his paper, and left the impecunious youth who could burn up money to work his own way in the world.

This story, true of a New Yorker, conveys a moral to every struggling clerk, that economy, industry, perseverance, the practice of which means rigid self-denial, are essentials to success.—Ex.

SATURDAY MAY 8, 1897.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, May, 7, 1897.
 "Killed by an overdose of tariff," may be the epitaph on the tomb of the Republican party, if the tariff bill which was this week reported to the Senate is not radically changed in many of the schedules. It has started a fight among the Republicans that may result in killing the tariff bill as well as the Republican party, although, of course, the chances are that the differences will be patched up in some way and a bill of some sort put through at this session of Congress. That the fight is now raging is shown by the open threats of the New England Senators to stay in Washington all summer rather than see the duty on hides, which the Senate Finance Committee has put in the bill, remain in the bill, and these Senators are already trying to get Democratic Senators to promise to vote with them to strike out the duty on hides when the bill is voted upon by sections in the Senate. The western Senators who forced the duty on hides into the bill, have informed the New England Senators that they were not going to stand idly by and see that duty on hides struck out of the bill, when they could get even by combining with the Democrats and adopting an amendment providing for a horizontal reduction in all cotton, woolen and steel manufactures. Representative Grosvenor, of Ohio, says of the new bill, for that is what it practically is: "So far as relates to the wool schedule, the bill is unsatisfactory, and cannot be passed. I do not believe it can pass the Senate; and I know it cannot pass the House. The sugar schedule will be very gratifying to the American Sugar Refining Co., and unsatisfactory to the best sugar producers in the country. The New England manufacturers are fully provided for. The bill will probably not reach the House in the form reported to the Senate, and if it should it would meet with very strong opposition. The duty on tea will be very unpopular." Those Republicans representing districts having large brewing interests are much worked up over the increase of 44 cents a barrel in the tax on beer and will fight it.

Senator Jones, of Ark., who is regarded as a tariff expert as well as one of the most careful political observers of the time, said of the present situation: "This tariff bill means the disruption of the Republican party. The taxes imposed by it will be resented by the people. New England will certainly go Democratic on the question of a duty on hides, but the lesson that will be taught by this one item might be applied to every other section of the country. The next House of Representatives will be Democratic by a very large majority." Senator Jones, in reply to a question, said he thought the debate on the tariff bill, which is to begin on the 18th inst. would last until about the first of July.

It is the general disposition in Congress to regard the trip to Europe upon which Senator Wolcott, ex-Vice President Stenveson, and General Paine will start this week, with credentials authorizing them to negotiate with European Governments in behalf of international bimetalism, as nothing more than a pleasant summer junket for those three gentlemen. There are not a dozen men in Congress who seriously think international bimetalism more than a dream, concocted to stave off an independent settlement of the financial question by this country.

In place of the retroactive tariff in the Dingley tariff bill the Republicans of the Senate Finance committee have inserted a clause making July 1st the date upon which the new duties will go into effect, and unless all the Congressional prophets are away off the date will have to be changed again.

The fact was made very plain by the assignments of Republicans to the committee vacancies made by the Republican caucus that boss Hanna isn't the whole thing in the Senate whatever he may have been in the campaign or may be with the administration. He didn't even get a chairmanship. The only other Republicans left without chairmanships are Pecrose, of Pa.; and Dobe, of Ky., who took his seat this week. Boss Platt also got turned down by the Republicans. He wanted a place on the Finance Committee, and is doing a lot of kicking because he didn't get it.

The Senate rejected the arbitration treaty this week by a vote of 43 to 26. Everybody is glad it is out of the way. The Senate also passed the free homestead bill.

Instead of increasing the issue of pie Mr. McKinley is curtailing it, much to the disgust of the hungry horde. He is keeping it back because he thinks it will be needed to get the tariff bill through, and for the same reason he has not made the modification in the civil service rules that he has decided to make.

THE BAPTIST CONVENTION.

The Southern Baptist convention, delegates to which, laymen and clergy, from fourteen States are now assembling in this city, is no ordinary event, and would be no ordinary event in great cities where great events are of frequent occurrence. This convention represents the largest church organization in the South and embraces within it some of the best intellects of living Americans. There are some whose hairs have silvered or whited in the service of the Master, whose names have spread beyond the continent, and others not so long in the service but highly gifted and devotedly zealous, masters of the oratory which captivates and the logic that convinces. Bright men, able men, brilliant men, deep, scholarly men are here, men that any denomination, any section or any country might be justly proud to call its own.

With these are writers of books and gifted editors, who through their books, papers and other periodicals expound the doctrines of their denomination, defend them when assailed, and carry on from day to day the work of education so essential to the best development and to the success of any great church or other organization. There are also, though not of the clergy but with them in spirit, men eminent in other walks of life who have left their impress for good on the generation in which they live. Of such will be composed this large convention, of a large and mighty denomination of Christian workers.

The ocean that, but a few miles distant, in grandeur rolls, is not more grand; the blue sky that bends in azure beauty above us is not more beautiful; the genial sun that paints and tints the flowers that bloom is not more genial than this Christian fellowship of the sons and daughters of God, whatever be their denomination, when assembled in His name and doing his work. As such we greet and mingle with these Christian workers, and as such Wilmington welcomes them within her gates and to her homes.—Wilmington Star.

Care Kills.

It is care that kills. One who deliberately cultivates a disposition to throw care to the winds soon becomes an indispensable person to his friends. Care is worry pure and simple. The burden that causes us to worry is heavy enough to bear, in all probability, without adding to it that of all engrossing care, which never lets the mind rest for an instant. Suppose you do "have troubles of your own." Can you cure them by worrying? One's best effort to overcome the trials and tribulations of this life is all that is demanded. If that effort surmounts the difficulties, well and good. If it fails, the fret that wears wrinkles in one's soul, the worry that makes us hated by our friends, the care that wears deep furrows on the brow, do not help one out of the slough of despond, but rather bury us the deeper. The world gets very tired of men and woman who placard their woes on their faces and moan it in their voices in hourly conversation. But the world dearly loves those people who are merry and companionable, even when grief is gnawing deep. We owe something to society, to the world of people about us, and have no right to make ourselves public nuisances because the clouds obscure our sun.—Washington Star.

A special from Washington to the Baltimore Sun says it has been given out at Washington that the Administration has no desire to outrage the sensibilities of white people in the South by appointing negro postmasters.

This eastern section of North Carolina is beyond all question the most desirable portion of the State for a home. North Carolina is the most desirable State in the Union for a home. She has all that could be reasonably required as to soil, climate, health, morals, education and refinement. The recent storms which deluged the best lands of other States did her no material damage; and seldom, if ever, do, except, perhaps, the occasional destruction of a few inferior wooden bridges which should never have been built. The political upheaval which is still causing the citizens of some other States to be ready to fly at each other's throat has become a joke with our people. Religion, education and social conventions are being held, the laws are being enforced firmly, but kindly, one man goes to his farm, another to his work, of whatever kind—all cheerful and hopeful of the future. We go forward!—Goldsboro Argus.

Johnson T. Sharkey and his wife, formerly of Buchanan county, met in the streets of Roanoke one day last week after having been separated for seven years. They last saw each other the day of the terrible flood at Johnstown, Pa. Each supposed the other dead and drifted back to the vicinity of their old home. Neither had remarried and as each had saved some money in the years of their separation, they resolved to return to their native county, Buchanan, which they had left only a month before the great flood occurred. They left Roanoke to begin life together again, and a happier couple than they has not been seen in that city for years.—Orange (Va.) Observer.

WEATHER BULLETIN.

Fair tonight and hotter Sunday.

LITTLE EQUIDS.

But There is Much to be Picked Out of Them.

High winds last night.

This has been a pretty day.

There was a large crowd in town today.

Cheap Baby Carriages, at S. M. Schultz.

Vessels make the most knots when they are with the tide.

A fellow may be green with envy and still feel blue about it.

Lemonade, Milk Shakes and other summer drinks at Starkey's.

"Silver Dollar" Fountain Pen, Parker make, at Reflector Book Store.

Greenville is behind in one respect—nobody here has seen the airship.

The man who is shortest in his accounts usually wears the longest face.

Corned Shad and Herrings for sale at Steamboat wharf. J. J. CHERRY.

FOR SALE.—A fine road horse with good qualities. Will be sold cheap for cash. MARSHAL STARKEY.

The near approach of the green apple season brings joy to the doctor's heart.

During these cool nights cut worms are playing havoc with corn and cabbage plants.

Rev. N. M. Watson will preach at Tripp's Chapel, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock

Ex-Gov. T. J. Jarvis will deliver the closing address at Winterville Academy, May 21st.

We hear that some bears have been seen in the pocosin not far from the County Home.

The freight train going north now reaches here about half an hour sooner than formerly, arriving about 9 a. m.

When you want laundrying done see C. B. WHICHARD.
Agent Wilmington Steam Laundry.

Before the warm weather sets in would be a good time to see that premises and back yards are cleaned up and limed.

The Crumpler meeting at Kinston will close tomorrow night. The Free Press says there have been about thirty conversions.

A colored boy who was playing about the Nottingham & Wrenn mill, at Grifton, a few days ago, was caught in the machinery and killed.

A hot box to one of the coaches had to be cooled off while the passenger train was at the depot this morning. It caused only a few minutes delay.

The Winterville Home Visitor tells of a pig going to church last Sunday and says that the pig acted very orderly.

That is better than some people do.

THE AIR SHIP.

They Get Tickets at the Captain's Office.

A Cohn, of Newbern, is in town.

The Meeting.

There was another very large congregation at the Presbyterian church last night and Rev. B. H. Melton preached a fine sermon on "Power from on High."

There will be two services Sunday, morning and evening. At the morning service the subject will be "The General Resurrection." Prof. Dawson will sing a solo "Death is but a Dream." At the evening services Mrs. T. E. Hooker will sing a solo.

The cottage prayer meetings this week have been especially enjoyable.

Advertising Logic

The following paragraphs are taken from Profitable Advertising, Boston, Mass:

Continuous advertising compels attention.

The courtship of failure always follows a divorce from publicity.

When failure comes to tempt the advertiser, it wears the cloak of economy.

You can't reap a bountiful harvest of trade when the seed of publicity is improperly sown.

A present opportunity is often lost through using advertising space to brag about past success.

Doing business this year on last year's advertising is like warming at the reflection of a fire in a mirror.

AN EXCURSION!

—Train will leave—

WASHINGTON, N. C.

—the morning of—

Wednesday, May 19th,
For NORFOLK, Va.

connecting at Parmele with train from Greenville. Parties at Greenville, and points between Greenville and Parmele, can secure these remarkably low rates by paying local fares to Parmele and then buying excursion ticket.

There will be one of the greatest race meets ever held in Virginia in progress when this excursion reaches Norfolk and three of the fastest horses of this section are entered, Lucy Ashby and Bird Eye from Greenville, and Robert Burns from Washington. Parties will have half of the day on the 19th and half of the 20th. Train will leave Norfolk at 1 P. M. on the 20th making connection at Parmele with train for Greenville. Yours truly,

C. T. CORDON.

Lang's Cash House.

When sweet spring across the hills
Sets the prisoned flow'rets free;
When the babbling of the rills
Joins with song bird's symphony;
Then, it seems to us, we oughter
Turn our thoughts to soda-water.

For the balmy April breeze
Tells the sultry days are nigh
When we linger 'neath the trees,
And our throats are hot and dry,
Then Shelburn's soda fountain
Fattens up his bank account.
