TAILORS CAN GIVE THEM

They don't cost too much. They are ready to put on without a wrinkle. You have seen the browns, olives, green mixtures, plaids—the swell colorings of the of the season-- we've got them here plenty as pie at a fair. We show the best.

To the Teachers' Assembly.

The Atlantic Coast Line authorities have arranged to give an admirable connection by way of Kinston to the Teachers' Assembly at Morehead.

Parties desiring to go can leave here at 12 or 12:30 o'clock, making connection at Kinston on the following days: 15th, 18th, 21st and 22nd, reaching Morehead in time for supper.

Returning they can leave Morehead on the following days: 19th, 22nd, 26th and 28th. The freight train will be held at Kinston on these days until the arrival of A. & N. C. train from Morehead.

This enables you to make the trip from Morehead to Greenville in four or five hours. The fare for the round trip from here, which includes the membership fee in the Assembly, is only $5.05. Ladies have $1.00 of this amount refunded. Board at Atlantic Hotel $1.00 per day. Everybody that desires can certainly go with these rates and this schedule.

Our people appreciate the kindness of the railroad authorities and they ought to receive the commendation of the public. It is the best connection we have ever had to Morehead and insures a large attendance from here.

Base Ball.

Baltimore, Md., June 9—Hoffer pitched a great game today until the ninth, when he let down, and allowed the visitors to make three singles, two doubles, and a triple, netting five runs. Prior to this, but four hits had been made by the Indians. The fielding of the visiting team was ragged at times, while that of the home team was nothing short of brilliant. Score, Baltimore, 11; Cleveland, 6.

Washington, D. C., June 9—Donohue was easy for the Senators today, while the Browns could not hit Mercer. Both sides played an errorless game. Score, Washington, 6; St. Louis, 0. New York-Cincinnati game postponed on account of rain.

Brooklyn-Pittsburg, postponed; rain. Boston-Louisville, postponed; rain. Philadelphia - Chicago, postponed; rain.

Mr. W. C. Hines received a telegram yesterday evening conveying the sad intelligence of the death of his sister, Mrs. Minnie Torrence, of Clinton. He left this morning to attend the funeral.

The ladies of the Episcopal church have decided to postpone their moonlight excursion which was to take place Monday night.

The Press Convention.

The North Carolina Press Association held its twenty-fifth annual convention at the Atlantic Hotel, Morehead City, this week and adjourned Thursday night. It was one of the largest attended and most interesting conventions in the history of the Association.

While the editors attended strictly to the business of the Association and transacted much of an interesting and beneficial nature, they had a good time at Morehead. It is a place they all love to go, and the intermissions between the sessions were filled with all the pleasure possible to crowd in them.

The editors were handsomely entertained by Dr. G. W. Blacknall, proprietor of the Atlantic Hotel, and the doctor and his clever assistants looked well to the comfort and pleasure of the guests. The Association was given a moonlight sail by Mayor Webb, of Morehead City, and were also given a sail and clam bake and oyster roast by citizens of Beaufort.

The Association elected the following officers for the coming year:

President—J. B. Whitaker, Jr., Winston Sentinel.

1st Vice Prest.—J. T. Britt, Oxford Ledger.

2nd Vice Prest.—W. A. Curtis, Franklin Press.

3rd Vice Prest.—W. S. Herbert, Kinston Press.

Secretary and Treasurer—J. B. She-rill, Concord Times.

Orator—Carey Dowd, Charlotte News.

Historian—R. A. Deal, Wilkesboro Chronicle.

Poet—Josephus Daniels, Raleigh News and Observer.

Executive Committee—J. A. Thomas, Louisburg Times; H. A. London, Chatham Record; J. W. Bailey, Biblical Recorder; T. R. Manning, Henderson Gold Leaf; J. A. Robinson, Durham Sun.

The next annual meeting will be held at Waynesville.

The Atlantic Hotel.

We have been to the Atlantic Hotel at Morehead City many times in past years and noticed its management under a number of different proprietors, but have not yet seen a man more anxious to please his guests than is Dr. G. W. Blacknall, the present proprietor. He is genial and courteous, has a pleasant word for everybody, and loves a joke and laugh better than any man in the State. Besides his personal attention to guests, he has three as clever young men for clerks as can be found in any hotel. They are Thomas Ward, of Goldsboro; W. S. Micks, of Clinton, and G. T. Stronack, of Wilson. Every visitor to the Atlantic Hotel this season can go with the assurance of being well looked after.

FRIDAY, JUNE 11, 1897.

A FISH STORY.

The following we clipped from the Hillsboro Observer and we think a remarkable occurrence. Mr. Durell Riley, a farmer living near Hillsboro, while he and his son were working in a field along side the old Lyon mill pond some time ago, his attention was attracted to a large hawk sailing around close to the ground and pond. The hawk at last made a dart down, and when he arose he went up very slowly with something in his claws. Mr. Riley supposed it to be a rabbit it had caught. It was evident that the weight of what it had was about as much as it could well manage, as it flew slowly across the field, not at a great height. Mr. Riley and his son shouted at it and made a great fuss, and the hawk dropped what it had, and young Riley went to see what it was, when lo and behold he found it to be a chub, weighing about three pounds. They carried it home and it made them a good supper. Mr. Riley is known to be a truthful man. What will Dr. Blacknell the proprietor of the hotel say to this? I would like to hear from him. Is there another county in the State that has hawks that will catch fish for the farmer while he is in his field at work?

Oh, yes, Jones county has hawks of such nature, and further more they not only catch fish, but they some time catch chickens for the farmer while he is in his field at work.

Reading the above fish story reminds us of one related in our hearing recently, and we think it will cap anything in the line of a truthful fish story that may come out this season, and shows that our fish are up to date, by taking a liking to "tangle foot" as the majority of the coming generation do. It ran as follows:

A gentleman who had visited town on one occasion, purchased a jug and had it filled with whiskey. On his return home in the evening he had to cross over a creek on a bridge, and while on the bridge he no doubt had to sample the contents of the jug and see if it came up to standard, and while he was sampling it he let it fall in the water and there it stayed for some time. Some time afterwards a gentleman went fishing, and on crossing this same bridge decided to try his luck. He dropped his hook in the water and pretty soon something nabbled it, he pulled it in and lo and behold he had caught a jug. On examining into the matter he found inside the jug a cat fish he supposed to have gone in there when quite small, and the fish must have liked its odor having had whiskey in it and stayed in there until it had grown so that it couldn't get out, and that when he dropped his hook in the water it had fallen in the mouth of the jug, and the fish on the inside had swallowed it.

Isn't in the Wood.

There is more of truth than poetry in the following from the Germantown (Pa.) Independent Gazette, as many newspaper men can testify to:

The more a newspaper man exerts his ability to please the public, the more good he does for the town, the more charitable he becomes, the more he is criticised says an exchange. Yea, verily, the man who can run a newspaper without being criticised, censured and threatened has never been found. He is a barren idealty, beautiful to think about, but incapable of taking on mortality, and associating with vulgar humanity. It is impossible for a newspaper man to please everybody as it is for everybody to please him, and the sooner he makes up his mind to this stubborn fact the better for everybody concerned. If he works for the public good, he receives private censure, if he compliments merit, he is censured by jealous demerits; if he approves morality, he is cursed by immortality; if he tries to be fair, he is condemned by the unfair, if he makes a mistake few are found to overlook it, or apologize for him. No matter how innocent his purpose, how studied his writings, he is picked to pieces, misrepresented, maligned, ridiculed, and seldom ever defended. He works hard for bread and butter, while other men wax rich around him. He writes up a yard long marriage notice to the queen's taste for nothing, and is threatened with a libel suit or a duel if he records a drunken spree of the bridegroom six months afterwards. Yes, it is impossible for a newspaper man to please everybody. As well attempt to chain a cyclone or lasso the furious lightning.

In short it isn't in the wood.

A Church Story.

Not very many years ago, in a country church in the west of England, the rector, preaching with great earnestness for home missions, took for his text, "Feed me with food convenient for me." As he came down from the pulpit, well content with the effect his eloquence had produced on the congregation, the disturbing thought struck him that he had made no arrangement for the collection (sure to be a liberal one on this occasion). As he passed through the chancel he whispered hurriedly to an intelligent choir boy, "Go into the vestry, take the plate you will find on the table, hand it round to the congregation, and then bring it to me." The boy departed on his errand, and the rector took his place within the communion rails and gave out the offertory hymn. The last words of this had scarcely died away when the boy stood before him a plate of biscuits in his hand, and an apologetic expression on his chubby face "Please, sir," he explained in an audible voice, "I've handed them all round to everybody, and nobody won't take one!"—London Gentlewoman.

A Peculiar Case.

A peculiar case has come to light in Augusta, Ga. In the big freshest of 1888, in Augusta, Mrs. Lucy Gaines and her daughter were rescued from their little home, on Upper Broad street, by Fireman Battle. As the boat turned the corner of Broad and Marbury streets it was upset. The two women were rescued, but a valise Mrs. Gaines carried was lost. She never heard of it again. It contained nearly nine hundred dollars, half of it in gold and silver. It was found by a negro, Nelson Curtis. He left it at the restaurant of Mary Barney, a negro woman at 116 Marbury street, without opening it. Mary Barney had more curiosity. She found the money and appropriated it. Curtis came back for the valise, and she gave him the clothes and never mentioned the money. She improved her house she was living in and bought other property with her ill-gotten treasure. Recently she and her husband fell out, and she tried to keep all the property and dismiss him empty-handed. In revenge he told the story of her taking the money from the valise, and legal proceedings have just been instituted for possession of the property she bought with the money.

HE WORRIED ABOUT IT.

When the weather was murky, he gazed at the sky

And he worried about it,

He watched the gray cloudlets go scurrying by,

And he worried about it:

"I'll bet it will rain," he would say to a friend,

All manner of dire disaster portend; His life was one fret from beginning to end,

For he worried about it.

He had a few troubles, as human kind will,

And he worried about it,

The good he belittled and magnified ill,

And he worried about it;

His health was nigh perfect, but then, if you please,

He fancied he had mostly every disease And martaled his ailments in columns of threes,

And he worried about it.

No doubt when he entered the world long ago,

He worried about it;

As a matter of fact, when he married you know,

He worried about it.

And when he departs from this scene of despair,

And mounts on light wings thro' ethereal air,

When ushered right up to a heavenly chair,

He'll worry about it.

—St. Paul Dispatch.

Caught.

"I want to be sure I understand you rightly," said the lawyer, who was cross-examining the locomotive engineer. "At the time the accident happened to the plaintiff at what rate were you running? Please repeat your statement as to that particular."

"I had slowed down to about six miles an hour," replied the engineer.

"You are positive as to that are you?"

"Yes, sir."

"You want the jury to understand that you had slowed down to six miles an hour, do you?"

"Yes, sir."

"Once again, you had slowed down to six miles an hour, had you?"

"Yes."

"Now, sir!" thundered the lawyer, rising to his feet and glaring fiercely at the witness, "did you not testify in your direct examination that you had slowed up?"

"Of course, but—"

"That will do, sir? Gentlemen of the jury, that's our case!"

And the jury, without leaving their seats, brought in a verdict against the railway company.

Wipe shelves, floor and ceiling of food chamber with a dry cloth daily.

Once a week clean thoroughly with strong suds.

The ice pan and waste pipe require special care. Wash the latter with a swab, and flood with strong solution of bicarbonate of soda.

Rinse every compartment with hot and cold water once a week, and then air at least an hour.

Never attach drain pipe to sewer or drain.

A few pieces of charcoal in the food chamber aids in freeing it from odors. Cleanse the charcoal two or three times a week by drying in the oven; the odors pass off in vapor.

Put only cold food in refrigerator.

Keep milk and butter on floor of food compartment, and well covered, as they readily absorb odors.

He Loved His Dog.

At the Sunday petty sessions William G. Saunders, a laborer from Feltham, was summoned for keeping a dog without a license.

The Defendant—I'm guilty, but I've got a license. I pawned my coat for the dog. There's the ticket for the coat. Why, not long ago you fined me ten bob for 'avin the dog without a muzzle, and I went to prison for seven days for this 'ere tyke.

The Chairman—Why do you keep the dog if you can't afford it?

The Defendant—Cos I love the dog, and that's more than some of you do on this bench. I picked the dog up on the road when it was 'ungry, and I'll stick to it. I love it and pawned my coat for it, and you can fine me £1 or £2. It makes no difference.

The Chairman—You will have to pay 10 shillings and costs or go to prison.

The Defendant—Then I'll go to prison, for I ain't got the money, and I love that 'ere dog.

And Saunders went to jail for seven days.—St. James Gazette.

JUNE BUGS.

Some Have Wings, Some Don't—All Get There.

Next Sunday is Trinity Sunday.

The days are nearly at their longest.

The price of writing paper remains stationary.

No, Maude, dear, crab apples do not grow on beach trees.

Many a woman may be as true as steel and yet lose her temper.

I will pay cash for your Beeswax.
S. M. SCHULTZ.

Lemonade, Milk Shakes and other summer drinks at Starkey's.

He—"I'm going to kiss you." She—"If you do you'll get a good smack."

Instead of going into the ground the berry business seems to be picking up.

"Silver Dollar" Fountain Pen, Parker make, at Reflector Book Store.

Supply of new box papers, mourning paper and note paper at Reflector Book Store.

There is a baby in Baltimore who is an infantile Hercules. One night last week he raised the whole family out of bed.

Mr. W. R. Parker received nine fish this morning that would average about three feet long. They were of the drum variety.

Ask any of my customers and they will tell you the work done by Wilmington Steam Laundry is unsurpassed. Next shipment goes forward Wednesday morning, returns promptly Saturday evening.
C. B. WHICHARD, Agent.

JUNE SWEETS.

No Sour Ones Named in This List.

W. T. Lee is sick.

Prof. C. H. James spent last night here.

G. E. Crabtree, of Goldsboro, is in town.

R. Hyman left this morning for a trip up the road.

W. C. Hines returned last night from a trip to Norfolk.

R. M. Moyer returned last night from a trip to Baltimore.

Mrs. G. P. Fleming and children left this morning for Durham.

Mrs. Ola Forbes and children returned this morning from a visit to Grifton.

All the Greenville doctors, Mrs. Charles Laughinghouse, O. L. Joyner and wife, and the REFLECTOR old man returned today from Morehead.

"By labor we rise" is a good motto for the fellow who hates to get up in the morning.

"I've been taken in at last," muttered the green goods man when he discovered that his wife was a grass widow.

Funny, Isn't It?

Howard University of Washington City, a college for the colored race, has conferred the degree of L. L. D., on Hon. John Wanamaker, of Philadelphia.

He's Been Here.

Rev. Mr. Vernon, an apostle of sanctification, who claims to hail from London, England, hired a horse from the livery stable here yesterday to go to Fremont, but he took another direction after leaving town. He was soon overtaken by the proprietor of the team, to whom he confessed that he was in hard luck and had started off with the intention of selling the turnout. The proprietor gave him a lecture in the road and sent him on his journey afoot.—Goldsboro correspondent of Wilmington Messenger.

Tarboro-Kinston

The Kinston and Tarboro nines played ball in Tarboro on Wednesday and Thursday afternoon. The first game resulted in a score of 5 to 1 in favor of Tarboro.

At the conclusion of the second game Thursday at the end of the 8th inning Tarboro showed a score of 8 and Kinston 5.

It would seem from this that the Kinston boys were not even in it.

We learn, however, that Tarboro played "professionals" and Kinston its home team with one or two exceptions.
