Base Ball.

Boston June 24—Boston won a decided victory over Baltimore today, but the crowd of spectators was so dense that the outfielders were greatly hampered and the ground rules that were put in force took largely from the interest in the game. Bergen split his finger in the seventh inning and was replaced by Ganzel. Long and Jennings did some phenomenal fielding, while Duffy led in the batting with five hits out of five times at bat. Score: Boston, 11; Baltimore, 5.

Chicago, June 24—The Indians played here today for the first time this season and won a well-contested game from the Colts. Both teams bunched their hits in the second, each side tallying twice, the score remaining so until the sixth, when the only error of the game, a wild throw by Caliahan, resulted in three runs for the visitors. Score: Chicago, 2; Cleveland, 5.

Brooklyn, June 24—The Phillies made their first appearance in Brooklyn this season today, and although only about 3,000 persons turned out to greet them, the home team are glad the Quakers are here, as it gives them a chance to regain some of the ground they lost while playing Boston. The score was close at times, but the Brooklyn were never in danger of losing the game. Score: Brooklyn, 7; Philadelphia, 5.

Pittsburg, June 24—St. Louis should have won the game long before she did, but poor fielding made twelve innings possible. The winning run was made through Fly's wild throw to first followed by two base hits. Pittsburg's battery was changed in the ninth to try to save the game, but it was useless. Cross was put out of the game and left the grounds in the twelfth inning for disputing the umpire's decision. Score: Pittsburg, 6; St. Louis, 7.

STATE NEWS.

Mrs. A. A. Springs, wife of the proprietor of the March Hotel, at Lexington, was murdered in her bed Tuesday night. A burglar entered the room where she and Mr. Springs were sleeping, and being awakened by the noise she screamed when the man shot her through the brain, killing her instantly. The murderer escaped.

A man named W. B. Young, from Virginia, took 30 drinks of liquor in 10 minutes, at Winston, and died with convulsions.

Habeas Corpus Declined.

REFLECTOR readers remember the case at Conetoe, a few weeks ago, in which a white man named Fred Keel was killed by drinking poisoned whiskey given him by a negro, and the negro when arrested telling that another white man named Alford hired him to poison Keel.

Alford and the negro were both placed in jail at Tarboro. Alford denied the negro's story and recently instituted habeas corpus proceedings to get released from jail on bond. Both the prisoners were taken to Durham a few days and the case was heard at chambers before Judge Timberlake. After hearing the facts in the case the judge refused the habeas corpus and recommitted both the prisoners to jail to await the action of the grand jury.

At their meeting Friday the 23rd County Juries decided to leave for Ocracoke next Saturday, July 3rd, for an encampment of several days.

SATURDAY, JUNE 26, 1897.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, June 25th, 1897.

Hon. Wm. J. Bryan received considerable attention in the Senate this week. Senator Allen started it by rising to a personal explanation and denying in the most positive terms the charge that Mr. Bryan's offer of $1,500, from the proceeds of his book, was accompanied by a stipulation that the next Populist National Convention should take no action against a fusion of the supporters of silver. He added that the draft for the money had been sent to him personally, and after Senator Butler, Chairman of the Populist National Committee, declined to accept it he (Allen), at the suggestion of Mr. Bryan, invested the money to be used in the interest of bimetalism. Senator Butler confirmed the statement of Senator Allen that the money had been given without condition, and said that while he approved Mr. Bryan's motive he felt that the acceptance of the money might be open to misconstruction, and had therefore declined it. Later that day in the wool-republican, Senator Hoar said: "I have a good deal of respect for Mr. Bryan. His character has impressed me very favorably, and I have never joined in criticisms upon him," and Senator Stewart clinched things by remarking: "It is no use criticising Bryan, as he's going to be the next president."

There were no new developments connected with either the annexation treaty or the McKinley Cuban policy this week. The treaty has been protested against by Japan and referred to a sub-committee of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, and within due time—probably next winter—be favorably reported, and Senator Morgan has introduced a bill for annexation. Early in the week there was talk of an agreement in the Senate to hang up the tariff bill until Czar Reed allowed the House to vote on the Morgan Cuban resolution, but it is not likely that anything will come of it.

Nothing more amusing than Senator Foraker's forcing of Senator Allison and his colleague of the Republican steering committee to meet the demands of the wool-growing states in the wool schedule of the tariff bill has occurred during the consideration of the bill. And it was done on the floor of the Senate in open session, and not in the secrecy of a committee room. Allison seldom loses his temper but when Foraker accused him of double dealing and trickery, he did. Senator Platt, of Conn., a Republican member of the Finance Committee, attempted to go to the rescue of Allison, but Foraker quickly disposed of him by telling him that he had himself, at Foraker's dictation, written the very amendment which he denied ever having heard of. This so crushed Platt that he humbly apologized, saying that he might have been mistaken. Senator Vest rubbed it in on the Republicans by insisting that the bill be proceeded with, and Senator Teller expressed his concurrence. Senator Mantle said: "If I were to search through the whole domain of poetry and prose nothing could be found that would so fitly characterize the wool schedule as these familiar words of Bret Harte's—

"Yet the cards they were stocked In a way that I grieve, And my feelings were schocked At the State of Nye's sleeve, It was stuffed full of aces and bowers, The same with interest to deceive."

"I think the bill," continued Senator Mantle, "so far as it relates to the wool growers is stuffed full of aces and bowers with the full purpose and intent of deceiving the wool growers of the country." Later on the same day Senator Allison, on behalf of the committee, made an abject surrender and offered the amendment demanded, and it was adopted by a vote of 29 to 26, although the previous vote, which had so irritated the wool men had been 55 to 13.

Mr. Calhoun having demonstrated by an amendment written report on his visit to Cuba that he has the knack of meeting Presidential objections when they are made known to him, has been offered the position of Comptroller of the Treasury, now held by Mr. Bowler, of Ohio, the gentleman who gained much notoriety during the early part of the Cleveland administration by setting himself up as the only Poobah of the Government. Although Mr. Calhoun hails from Illinois, neither Senator Callom nor Senator Mason knew that this position was to be offered him until after it was done.

Broker Chapman was in Washington this week to see the last of the farce known as the trial of witnesses for contempt in the Senatorial sugar scandal investigation of three years ago. Chapman didn't say so, but he must have thought it very queer that he alone should have been convicted out of the lot who were indicted for refusing to answer questions.

Echoes From the Press Association.

We were favorably impressed with the personnel of the Association. Not a profane word did we hear from any member or the Association nor did we see a single member the least under influence of intoxicants. This observation was pleasing to us and we could but feel thankful that such was the case among the great moulders of public opinion in our beloved commonwealth, and felt that the papers of our State were in good hands.—Warrenton Record.

School Tax Election.

At the request of some of our readers, we will try to explain the provisions of the law, enacted by the last Legislature, in regard to the school tax election which will be held in every township in North Carolina, on the 10th day of next August.

At this election the voters of each and every township must decide for themselves whether or not they are willing to levy and pay this additional school tax. Therefore one township may vote for it and another against it, and the township that votes for it will levy this tax only on the property and polls in that township, and the township that votes against the tax will not have to pay it. Each township votes separate and independent of any other township.

The tax to be voted on in this county is ten cents on the one hundred dollars worth of property and thirty cents on the poll, and this tax is extra and additional to all other taxes. The regular school tax levied all over the state is eighteen cents on the one hundred dollars worth of property and fifty-four cents on the poll, and this tax must be paid any how, whether you vote for or against this special school tax. Therefore those townships which vote for the special school tax, must pay 28 cents on property and 84 cents on the poll for schools, and those townships which vote against the special school tax must pay 18 cents on property and 54 cents on the poll for the schools.

We have been asked the question, whether or not there would be any more schools in those townships which vote against this special tax? Of course there would be, and just the same as heretofore. The object of this election is not to take away any school or decrease their length, but to let the people vote an extra tax so as to have longer terms for their schools. And if any township votes for this special tax, it cannot be repealed for three years but must be levied and paid in that township every year for three years.—Pittsboro Record.

A Woman With Big Feet

The woman with the largest feet in the country is Mrs. Sarah Gelliby, who lives on a farm in Pennsylvania. She tried recently to buy a pair of shoes—men's or women's—but after a tour of all the stores she gave it up in despair, and was measured for a pair. She takes a No. 12 men's size in length, but she also requires an 8 wide, and that is wider than is made. Her foot measures 11 inches at the ball, 11½ at the instep and 14 inches at the heel.

Greatest of All Physicians.

Discoverer of Paine's Celery Compound to whom Thousands Owe Their Life and Happiness.

"Excepting its handful of magnificent statesmen and its military heroes," says the most recent writer upon America, "the people owe more to Dartmouth's physician-teacher than to any one man."

"In every walk of life, among the highest officeholders at Washington, in the homes of the best people in the large cities, among the every day folks of the country, families in comfortable circumstances, families that 'live from hand to mouth' and could not, if they wished, afford the services of any but an ordinary physician—everywhere I have met people to whom Paine's Celery Compound has been a blessing."

The story of the life-work of this giant among men has been often told and is familiar to most readers. The likeness above is probably the best portrait of him yet printed.

It was the world-famed discovery by Prof. Phelps of an infallible cure for these fearful ills that result from an impaired nervous system and impure blood which has endeared the great doctor to the world, and made his life an era in the practice of medicine.

Prof. Phelps was born in Connecticut and graduated in medicine at Yale.

His unusual talent soon brought him reputation and prominence among his professional brethren. First he was elected to the professorship of anatomy and surgery in the Vermont University. Next he was appointed lecturer on materia medica and medical botany in Dartmouth College. The next year he was chosen professor of the chair then vacated by Prof. Robby, and occupied the chair, the most important one in the country, at the time when he first formulated his most remarkable prescription.

In view of the overwhelming testimony to the value of Paine's Celery Compound that has recently appeared from men and women of national reputation, the picture of Prof. Phelps is particularly interesting.

The fact is, Paine's Celery Compound is not a patent medicine; it is not a sarsaparilla; it is not a narcotic; it is not an ordinary nerve-tonic; it is far beyond them all as the diamond is superior to cheap glass.

It makes people well. It is the one true specific recognized and prescribed today by eminent practitioners for diseases arising from a debilitated nervous system. Prof. Phelps gave to his profession a positive cure for sleeplessness wasting strength, dyspepsia, biliousness, liver complaint, neuralgia, rheumatism, all nervous diseases and kidney troubles. For all such complaints Paine's Celery Compound has succeeded again and again where everything else has failed.

No remedy was ever so highly recommended, because none ever accomplished so much.

Today Paine's Celery Compound stands without competition for feeding exhausted nerves and building up the strength of the body. It cures radically and permanently. The nervous prostration and general debility from which thousands of women suffer so long that it finally gets to be second nature with them—all this suffering and despondency can be very soon removed by properly feeding the nerves, and replacing the unhealthy blood by a fresher, more highly vitalized fluid. A healthy increase in appetite and a corresponding gain in weight and good spirits follow the use of Paine's Celery Compound.

Paine's Celery Compound is the most remarkable medical achievement of this last half of the nineteenth century.

"Silver Dollar" Fountain Pen, Park er make, at Reflector Book Store.

Supply of new box papers, mourning paper and note paper at Reflector Book Store.

The work of rebuilding the Greenville tobacco warehouse is being pushed rapidly. A large force of hands is on it.

A picnic was had out near Smith's store, in Beaver Dam township, on Friday. We hear that it was an enjoyable affair.

Cast your eye about Greenville and you will see many improvements are going on. Just now fully a dozen different buildings are going up.

Why the Difference?

Two years ago when Congress was in session nearly every man you came up with—especially if he was of some other politics than a Democrat—wanted to know "why in the world those confounded Congressmen didn't do something to relieve the country, or adjourn and go home?" Now it is quite different. Congress has been in session ever since last December and as yet, has done nothing to relieve the people, but we don't hear any complaints, even from our Populist friends. Why the difference? Can it be possible that the people are satisfied, or have they become disgusted and are only waiting to get another chance to change the present Congressmen?—Lousburg Times.

A Model Husband.

A letter from Nashville informs us that "the women of Tennessee were completely captured by the sweetheart's solicitude which President McKinley ever entertained for his wife's safety and comfort." That is a tribute of which even the President of the United States may well be proud, and the President's example is one which every man who is blessed with a good wife should emulate. It is not the lavish expenditure of money nor the homage, nor the respect of a husband that makes the wife happy. Nor is his love enough of itself. It is the constant and continuous manifestation of his love in hundreds of little delicate attentions that fills the longings of her heart. A pretty speech about her appearance; a kiss when you go to the office and when you return; compliment about her housekeeping; a bunch of roses when you go home, just to show her that you were thinking about her when you were down town—these and other thoughtful attentions of this character which should suggest themselves to every man who is in love with his wife are the things that she looks for, and which, when reciprocal, make married life "one grand sweet song."

PLACE HUNTERS.

They Go and Come in Search of a Cool Spot, but Find it Not.

J. N. Gorman, of Richmond, is here.

Mrs. O. L. Joyner left this morning for Littleton.

J. B. Cherry, Jr., returned home Friday evening.

W. H. Cox returned to Kinston Friday evening.

Fleming, H. T. King, J. B. White, C. S. Forbes, G. J. Woodward and Jarvis Sugg returned from Morehead City today.

One Only.

The marriage license business with the Register of Deeds came near striking bottom this week. Only one was issued during the week, and that was for J. S. Norman and Fannie Daniel.

Good Riders.

Darwood Wilson, Frank Skinner and Charlie Skinner went to Grimesland Thursday on their wheels. These little fellows made the run—twelve miles—in an hour and a quarter. Much of the road was very sandy, too.

Not Coming Now.

The letter which Rev. N. M. Watson wrote to Evangelist W. P. Fite, inviting the latter to hold a meeting here, was returned to him, Mr. Fite having gone elsewhere. So it is not likely that the Evangelist will visit Greenville anytime soon.

Try It.

Here is said to be a sure destroyer of flies. Take a tablespoonful of ground black pepper and mix it with two teaspoonfuls of brown sugar; moisten the compound with milk and place where there are rays of light. The flies will generally be quickly attracted to it and eat greedily. If they do it will be their last meal, for the least of it is a poison to a fly.

Back Home.

With few exceptions the Greenville delegation to Morehead returned home today. It was a good crowd and from start to finish they had a good time. They fished, they bathed, they sailed, they danced, they courted—yes, they did—and had one of these all round happy times that the Atlantic Hotel is famous for giving folks. The last general social feature of our crowd was a sail given Thursday evening by Messrs. J. B. White and G. J. Woodward complimentary to Misses Nannie Fleming and Rosalind Rountree. The whole Greenville crowd and many others were invited and they had a delightful sail.

Exchange Growing.

The telephone line has been completed to Stokes and Whichard and both of those places are now connected with the Greenville exchange. Manager Atkins has put in so many additional 'phones recently that it was necessary to print a new directory. There is not a better or more satisfactorily managed exchange in the State than we have in Greenville.
