Base Ball.

Boston, June 26.—The Boston-Baltimore game today was a pitchers' contest. Both were remarkably effective. Nichols allowed only one hit in the last five innings and that was in the ninth. Stiverts was the only Boston player who could hit Corbett at all. Attendance 16,000. Score, Boston, 0; Baltimore, 1.

Brooklyn, June 26.—Brooklyn won the third and last game of their series with the Philadelphias through timely stickwork. Both sides fielded well and the few errors were excusable. Kennedy had the Quakers at his mercy until the ninth, when he eased up. Attendance 5,661. Score, Brooklyn, 5; Philadelphia, 3.

Pittsburg, June 26.—The fielding of both teams today was excellent. Attendance 2,800. Score, Pittsburg, 5; St. Louis, 3.

Cincinnati, June 26.—The Reds by bunching their hits and playing a strong fielding game easily defeated the Colonels today. Both Frazer and Breitenstein pitched fine ball. Attendance 6,600. Score, Cincinnati, 7; Louisville, 2.

Washington, June 25.—Seymour and Sullivan had the Senators at their mercy today, but eleven hits being made in the two games. King pitched well, but Mercer was hit hard. Attendance 6,000. Score, Washington, 5; New York, 10.

Second game—Washington, 5; New York, 10.

Chicago, June 26.—Henry Clark, the star twirler of the University of Chicago team was given a trial by the Indians today. He pitched a creditable game and was strong with the stick but received miserable support. "Danny" Friend, recalled from the Western league, pitched his first game for the locals this season and although hit rather freely, kept the safe ones scattered, and was backed up perfectly. Attendance 5,900. Score, Chicago, 9; Cleveland, 3.

One bus that started to the depot this morning never got there. One of the horses took a notion to balk and stood right where he stopped until after the train had come and gone. The bus could not be moved until another horse was carried out to take the place of the balker.

Enlarging.

Work has commenced enlarging the Gorman tobacco factory. An addition 64 feet long and three stories high will be made, underneath which will be a storage basement. This addition will more than double the capacity of the factory.

Stop the Dog.

An ordinance has been adopted by the commissioners of Washington prohibiting any dog running at large for a period of sixty days unless muzzled. This is a good law and might with propriety be adopted by many other towns.

STATE NEWS.

Col. S. McD. Tate, ex-State Treasurer, died at his home in Morganton on Friday.

The Raleigh News & Observer will issue a special bicycle edition July 4th.

Judge White has appointed, Jno. H. Wright, colored, of Sixpound township, county commissioner to fill out the unexpired term of M. E. Hall, colored, resigned. There were several recommendations and Judge White put all the names in a hat and drew out one name, and Wright was the lucky man.—Warrenton Record.

A gentleman from Dunn says that the farmers in that neighborhood are suffering from a lack of hands, all of the latter having taken to the swamps hunting huckleberries. The huckleberry crop is very short everywhere but in Harnett county, and on this account it pays the men better to pick the berries than to work on the farm.—Warrenton Record.

TUESDAY, JUNE 29, 1897.

There was a threatened race war in Key West, Fla., last week, and being so far removed from the mainland that State troops could not be sent there easily, the Governor telegraphed to the President for the assistance of United States soldiers. This leads the Philadelphia Record to pertinently ask: "If Florida cannot govern herself firmly enough to avert a race war without help from Washington, how would it be with the State of Hawaii?"

Tongue-Lashing is Not Cruelty or Ground For Divorce in Jersey.

TRENTON, N. J., June 16.—Wife-ly tongue lashing, cannot be construed into cruelty nor made grounds for divorce, according to a decision rendered today by Vice Chancellor Martin P. Gray. The case which brought forth the decision was that of Edward S. Hewitt, of Camden, who sought to be divorced from Annie Hewitt, on the ground of extreme cruelty. The cruelty charged consisted of violent displays of temper on the part of Mrs. Hewitt on three or four occasions when her husband took sides against her in disputes which she had with children of his by a former wife.

"MRS. CAUDLE'S" LEGAL STATUS

In denying the application the Vice Chancellor discusses the legal status of the curtain lecture with a philosophy worthy of a place in literature. He says: "It is perfectly apparent that this woman is a woman of violent temper and that she does not attempt to restrain herself to the language of modesty and good taste at times of excitement, and I think there were also occasions when she frequently permitted her tongue to use foul language. But this alone does not establish extreme cruelty; it may show that it was bad taste in the husband in selecting such a woman for his wife. When a woman marries a man she does not marry his children. When a man marries he agrees that he will prefer his wife before he will consider his children. This he undertakes by the mere act of marriage, and even if they may be right and the wife wrong, the husband undertakes that he will stand by the wife and be her helpmeet and advisor to maintain her in her position. As her husband, he should not take sides with his children and condemn her for hasty or ill-advised speech or action. He should support her as the mistress of her household, even she may err and be unduly energetic or even violent at times."

University Summer School.

The Summer School at the University of North Carolina opened with a large attendance on June 23d.

Chapel Hill with its many natural advantages, good water, large shady campus, is an ideal place for a Summer School.

The first lecture in the morning is a lecture by Dr. McMurry, on Pedagogy, then follows the regular class room work.

Prof. Jackman, from Chicago Normal School, teaches Nature Study. Dr. Hume is giving interesting courses in English Literature, Anglo-Saxon, and Literary Study of the Bible.

Prof. Moses' Primary Work is what every primary teacher in the State needs. The Science work the great need of so many teachers, is strong in all departments.

The Drawing and Manual Training taught by Miss Bemis is a practical, good course.

The courses in Latin and French and German are well attended.

Geography, Psychology, Child Study, Civics, History, Music, Physical Training are all taught by the best instructors.

Dr. Milne of the New York Normal School, and Supt. Noble of Wilmington, are teaching Mathematics.

The study of Shakespeare, by Miss Bryant of Ogontz, is a very popular course. Mr. Webb gives a course in English Composition. Prominent men in the State will give evening lectures.

Teachers can make no better investment than to attend the university Summer School. They should correspond with the Superintendent. C. W. TOMS, Chapel Hill, N. C.

The Value of a Newspaper to a Business Community.

The value of a first-class, reliable newspaper, acting to the outside world as a reflex of a city cannot be adequately gauged. The writer recalls a remark made a few years ago by Dr. G. B. Crane, now a resident of St. Helena, Napa county, California. In conversation, the doctor said: "Pass me a newspaper of any place and I can determine its standing." It should be mentioned that Dr. Crane is a man who has passed some years above four score in life, and is very conservative in his expression. What he meant was, that in looking over the general make-up, advertising patronage, etc., he could fairly estimate the character of the business interests and general features. So it is everywhere! A newspaper with wide circulation is very closely scanned by outside parties. Merchants and others look to see who are advertising and sometimes determine whether or not to give orders or correspond with houses in a city, through the appearance of the paper. A newspaper is supposed to be a pretty good reflection of the town or city itself. It behooves every business man to remember this circumstance. When you extend patronage to a reliable journal you are but assisting yourself. Every business man is looking for support. Is there an interest in the city more deserving of unlimited patronage than a representative newspaper? And yet, some leading merchants and manufacturers are mighty chary about giving any patronage. Each will do well to remember, that when favors are dispensed, they should know that they are not entitled to the slightest recognition.—Press and Printer.

Children Die in a Trunk.

Laura and Jennie, aged seven and five years, daughters of Joseph and Lucy Melton, of Berdley, Union county, Ky., were playing hide and seek Tuesday with three other children, and during the play the sisters entered the cellar.

Seeing a large, old-fashioned trunk in one corner they raised the lid and jumped inside. The top fell and closed with a tight spring lock. Two of their playmates had hidden beneath a bed in an upper room. The remaining tot, who was acting as spy, soon found the bed room girls, but all search for Laura and Jennie proved fruitless, as they had completely overlooked the cellar trunk.

At the time both parents were visiting a neighbor and did not return for three hours. When they learned of the sudden disappearance of the children a search was instituted, but almost another hour elapsed before the father thought of the old trunk. The children were found dead, locked in each other's arms.

Rays of Truth,

It is always a good idea to recognize the strength of your enemy.

It is pretty hard to get people interested in what you used to be.

When you take a man's contentment away from him, you can't add it to your own.

If we talk without weighing our words, they will soon have no weight for good.

You can gauge a man's character pretty thoroughly by what he considers laughable.

It is better to have a little talent and a noble purpose, than much talent and no purpose.

There is something about a girl with money in her own right that is awfully hard to resist.

There are people who claim to be praying for the poor, who never do anything else for them.

Be Gentle With Your Children.

Be ever gentle with your children. Watch them constantly; reprove them earnestly, but not in anger. "Be not bitter against them." "Yes, they are good." I once heard a kind father say: "I talk to them pretty much, but I do not like to beat my children; the world will beat them." It was a beautiful thought, though not elegantly expressed. Yet, there is not one child in the circle round the table, healthy and happy as they look now, on whose head, if long spared, the storm will not beat. Adversity may wither them, sickness fade, a cold world frown on them; but, amid all, let memory carry them back to a home where a law of kindness reigned, where the mother's reproving eye was moistened with a tear, and the father frowned "more in sorrow than in anger."—Ex.

HER PHOTOGRAPH.

"Watch for the bird!" the artist cries,
With lifted, waiting finger.
But, heedless of the mirthful call,
Upon the camera's mystic pall
Her serious glances linger.

"Too grave!" Her mother takes the word.
"Think, darling, for one minute,
What can it be papa will say,
Opening his letter far away,
To find your picture in it?"

A look of love and rapture blent
The baby features put on.
From parted lips to rounded cheek
Swift dimples played at hide and seek.
The artist touched the button.

Ah, sunbeam, knowest thou how she
Would leave the world so lonely,
Thus holding fast in deathless grace
The smile that on her rosebud face
Bloomed for her father only?

An Undertaker's Dilemma.

"I have had many queer experiences in my business," said a pawnbroker whose three gilt balls hang in the vicinity of Twelfth street and Columbia avenue, "but I ran up against something the other day that simply took my breath away. A man very shabbily dressed in black and looking like a broken down minister came into the private office and asked to see the proprietor. I went out to him. 'I'm an undertaker,' said he, 'and I want you to help me out of a difficulty. You can do it without any risk to yourself if you want to. I may as well confess to you that business is pretty bad with me, but I've got a case now which will pay me well if I can only carry it through. I just need a little money to do so. You see, I've failed in my business several times, and it's pretty hard for me to get credit, but—' 'Well, well, hurry up!' I interrupted. 'What do you want me to do?' 'I'm coming to that now,' said he. 'I was going to say that I managed to prevail on the cabinet maker to give me a casket on time, and so I've got that all right. But the relatives of the deceased refuse to advance me any money until I've supplied the shroud. I haven't a cent, and the funeral is fixed for today. Now, I want you to take the casket with its silver trimmings as a pledge and give me enough money on it to buy a shroud. Then, you see, I can get enough from the bereaved family to redeem the casket in time for the funeral. What do you say?' I told him after I had recovered my breath that I couldn't think of such a thing, and he went away very despondent. I don't know how he got out of his difficulty."—Philadelphia Record.

Bringing It Home to Him.

"Half the world," sagely observed Mr. Billus, "never knows what the other half is doing." "That's generally true," retorted Mrs. Billus, eyeing him sharply, "as to the better half."—Chicago Tribune.

Rev. Dr. Grooms has recently been subjected to several trying annoyances. While on his way to Norfolk some miscreant shot through the car window at which he was sitting as the train pulled out of Gibbonsville. On his return he found the workmen on his new building had displaced a portion of the roof over Mebane & Co's wholesale grocery, permitting the rain to damage several hundred dollars' worth of goods, for which he is liable. After having to suspend work on his building for a week or more while waiting for the last three brownstone lintels to arrive from the quarry, one of them was broken by a drayman, causing another delay. Then the foreman of his printing office left to engage in business for himself, delaying the publication of his paper. The good brother hardly knows what to expect next—Greensboro Record.

The State Treasurer says that the Weldon Bank reports the highest rate value of stock, $150 thus leading the State. Bank stock has to be reported at the actual and not at the par value. The State Auditor says that a special provision in the new revenue law requires the cashier of every bank to furnish to the county commissioners the names of all stockholders and the number of shares, and that each cashier must also report to the State Auditor the names, post office addresses, and number of shares held by each stockholder. The same thing applies to the presidents of all corporations, who must make similar double returns.

The Danger Side of Lightning-Rods.

The conventional lightning rods that one sees over houses and barns in the country and small towns afford but little protection to the buildings. Small as this security is, it is wholly lost if the so called conductors are improperly constructed, and not in perfect order, when they, in fact, become an absolute menace to the building they are meant to guard. It is essential, if the conventional rod is to be set up, that the work be entrusted to reliable and capable persons, otherwise it may become a shining invitation to dangor. It is probable, therefore, all things considered, that a building is as well, if not better, protected without such conductors as are in general use as with them. It is safe to assert that the great majority of buildings damaged or destroyed by lightning were provided with lightning rods, and in the majority of these cases the conductors invited the thunderbolts and for some cause, probably improper construction, could not lead the lightning harmlessly to the earth.—Government Electrician J. E. Powell, in July Ladies' Home Journal.

The Library.

In a recent issue of the REFLECTOR there appeared a communication from Mrs. Ada Cherry, sec'y of the circle of King's Daughters, in which she made known the purpose of that organization in reference to establishing and maintaining a library and reading room for Greenville. In concluding she referred all those who are interested in such an organization, to me for information concerning the same.

For this reason I have thought best to submit whatever plans we have, together with such information we consider of value.

We are going to have the library and reading rooms, provided the necessary people were there. There will soon be an opportunity, given to those who have said they were in sympathy with the movement, and to those who have not, to show what encouragement they are willing to give.

Messrs. Elliott Bros. have proposed to contribute forty-eight dollars per year. They have offered to rent quite a suitable room in the Phoenix building to the library association at the rate of four dollars per month, payable in advance, and immediately upon payment of the money they will return it to the association to pay for books, papers, &c.

The King's Daughters propose to contribute liberally to the maintenance of the reading room.

As a result of all this, say as soon as the people have returned from the various summer outings, there will be a meeting called for, of all who are interested in establishing a reading room and library, and at that time a permanent organization will be effected, committees will be appointed and empowered in the name of the association at that time.

What is needed now, is encouragement and sympathy, later dollars and sense.

Speaking for myself, there is no movement to mind, which can have a healthier influence upon our society than that which would naturally emanate from such an institution. Indeed, I think from a financial point of view it would prove a paying investment.
