Base Ball.

New York, June 29—New York made it two straight from the Orioles today. Hoffer was easy. Meekin had good control of the ball after the first inning aided by good fielding, kept Baltimore down to six hits. The feature of the game was O'Brien's running catch of Davis's fly ball, in taking the chance for which he was compelled to lean over the fence separating the right field bleachers from the ball ground. Attendance 8,000. Score. New York 8; Baltimore, 2.

Philadelphia, June 29—Washington put up a weird fielding game this afternoon, accumulating nine asserted errors, but at that the Phillies only won by the skin of their teeth. The senators jumped on Orth for seven hits in the first two innings, when they secured six of their runs, but only made three in the remaining seven innings. Attendance 2,075. Score. Philadelphia, 10; Washington, 9.

Chicago, June 26—The greatest picnic of the season in the line of base ball occurred at the west side park today, when the Colts broke the record by scoring thirty six runs on thirty two hits for a total of fifty one bases. Frazer lasted two and a half innings, then gave way to Jones, but to no advantage. Johnson had an eye badly cut by an ugly bouncer, and Decker was painfully injured by a pitched ball, both being forced to retire. Callahan made but little effort to pitch after the third. Attendance 1,150. Score. Chicago, 36; Louisville, 7.

Cleveland, June 29—Cleveland lost today's game in the fourth inning when its new college pitcher, Clark, was batted freely. The Indians at critical moments put up a ragged fielding game while the Pirates played without an error. Hawley pitched a steady, effective game. Attendance 1,000. Score. Cleveland, 3; Pittsburg, 9.

Boston, June 29—Brooklyn earned more runs than Boston today, yet lost the game, error and chance hits giving Boston the victory. Boston played an errorless game. Klobedanz was batted pretty freely, ten hits being made off him up to the eighth inning. Nichols was then substituted and held the visitors down to one hit for the remainder of the game. Attendance 3,000. Score, Boston, 8; Brooklyn, 7.

Cincinnati—St. Louis game postponed on account of wet grounds.

STATE NEWS.

Mr. Joe Stone has the smartest hen in Lumberton. About two months ago we told of her hatching nineteen chickens from twenty eggs. Since then she has weaned the chickens, stole a nest, laid fifteen eggs and last week came off with fifteen young chicks. —Lumberton Robesonian.

CONDENSED NEWS.

Portions of Virginia felt another earthquake shock Tuesday night.

Samuel Elsey, aged 107 years, died in Buffalo, N. Y., on Tuesday. He voted for Bryan in the last election.

At Chicago on Tuesday Arthur Gardiner broke the world's record for a one mile handicap on a bicycle. He made a mile in 2:05 1-5.

A dynamite explosion in Scranton, Pa., blew up a business block, completely demolishing it, and damaged twenty other buildings near by.

Three hundred Bannock Indians broke away from the Fort Hall reservation, in Idaho, and their actions have alarmed the settlers in the adjacent territory.

Near Adairsville, Ga., on Tuesday, the boiler of an engine attached to a threshing machine exploded, killing three men instantly, fatally wounding four others and breaking a leg of another.

Sudden Death.

Mrs. Elizabeth A. Taft died suddenly at her home on Cotanche street some time during Wednesday night. She been in feeble health for sometime, but even the family had not detected any change for the worse in her condition. Wednesday night she retired as usual, her daughter, Miss Addie, sleeping with her. It had been Mrs. Taft's habit to wake her daughter at the time for her to get up in the morning, but this morning did not call her, and when Miss Addie awoke she discovered that her mother was dead.

Mrs. Taft was 49 years old and was the widow of the late Mr. A. H. Taft. She was a member of the Methodist church and an excellent christian woman. Her sudden death is not only a shock to her children but to the community as well. She leaves five children, E. A., A. H., J. L., Addie and John, the first three named being grown. These have the heartfelt sympathy of our people in the loss of their mother. Mrs. Taft was also a sister of Mrs. R. H. Horne, of this town, and several brothers and sisters live elsewhere.

The funeral will take place at the family burial ground, 7 miles below town, at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Relatives and friends are invited to attend.

Greenville Merchants Good Advertisers.

Some weeks ago the editor of the Commonwealth spent a day or two in Greenville and we were struck with the hum of business there.

Since then a lady who had read the REFLECTOR remarked to us that "the Greenville merchants certainly do advertise a great deal."

And we thought that perhaps their free use of printer's ink and liberal patronage of their local paper had something to do with their quickened business.—Scotland Neck Commonwealth.

A GREAT UNDERTAKING.

Seaboard Air Line Sponsor for a Commendable Enterprise.

Nearly one thousand miles of a country devoted almost to the cultivation of the ground is traversed by a system of south-bound railroad known as "The Seaboard Air Line." According to the progressive general manager of the road, Mr. Everett St. John, the management realizes this country must be built up and improved. To that end, it some time ago established under the direction of Mr. John T. Patrick for years well known as a prime mover in all plans for upbuilding the South and benefitting the Southern farmers, an industrial department with headquarters at Portsmouth.

Some time ago Mr. Patrick conceived the idea of having exhibitions throughout the South to show the best means of utilizing the great resources at the command of the residents of this section. This plan has found expression in an industrial train which has been especially constructed for the purpose for which it will be used. Nine first class cars have been utilized for the purpose. A combination passenger and sleeping car is also attached.

The sides of the cars are arranged that they may be let down twelve feet on either side, resting on supports. An exhibition platform 100 feet or more in length is thus formed.

Aboard this train are talent and apparatus for exhibiting and explaining improved methods of preserving and evaporating fruits handling dairy products making and improving roads and other things of interest to the people living along the line of the system.

The train left Portsmouth Saturday morning, and the first exhibition was given yesterday at Boykins, Va., under the personal supervision of Mr. Patrick. The exhibition attracted widespread attention throughout the adjacent country and hundreds of people were present to witness it.

Mr. Patrick is assisted by an able staff, composed of several ladies and gentlemen, all of whom are experts in their several lines. Their duty is to explain the workings of the various labor saving devices and to give practical demonstrations of what can be accomplished by them. This they did yesterday in a manner distinctly pleasing and instructive.

The train itself will attract attention, with its white cars, adorned with streamers bearing the legend: "Seaboard Air Line Industrial Training School." Its tour Southward will be in the nature of a triumphal progress of education and the enterprise of the Seaboard Air Line in thus trying to build up and develop the vast country from which it draws its patronage is but another evidence of the road's policy of progress.

Can be Imprisoned for Taxes.

Can a man be imprisoned in North Carolina for debt? Not "except for fraud," says the constitution.

Is a tax due the State and unpaid a debt in the constitutional sense of the word?

If it is, then the last Legislature passed an unconstitutional law when it put sections 52 and 53 in the Revenue Act. These sections are as follows:

"Sec. 52. That it shall be and it is hereby the duty of the sheriff of each county in the State to make diligent inquiry and report to the judge at each term of the criminal court held in the county following the time when the license tax and taxes provided for in schedules A, B and C of this act should have been paid as to whether or not such license taxes and other taxes have been paid by all persons or corporations liable for the same, and to make out a list of delinquents. And it shall be made the duty of the judge to submit the list of the delinquents to the solicitor to the end that such delinquents may be prosecuted for such default in the manner provided in the next section of this act.

"Sec. 53. That such persons or corporations who are liable to pay the license tax or taxes provided for in schedules A, B and C of this act and the machinery act, and shall fail to pay the same as provided by law shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars or imprisoned not exceeding six months, and the sheriff shall be allowed by the judge such compensation for making such report as he may deem just and proper, to be paid by the county."

Auditor Ayer and Treasurer Worth say that these sections apply to everything under schedules A, B and C of the Revenue Act and the Machinery Act, so that the owner of property the tax on which has not been paid, may be jailed for the debt.

In this view they are supported by the Attorney-General who yesterday rendered the following opinion: "It is my opinion that sections 52 and 53 of the Revenue Act apply to all taxes alike. At first I thought the provisions unconstitutional as being in contravention to the provisions of the constitution which provides that there shall be no imprisonment in this State for debt, but after consideration I have concluded that they are valid."

This means that non-payment of taxes, opens the jail doors wide—and for this we have the recent fusion Legislature to thank.

There are others, however, who do not think the imprisonment part of the penalty will stand the test of the courts—that a tax is a debt like any other debt, voluntarily assumed when a man becomes a citizen of the State.—Raleigh News and Observer.

When bilious or costive, eat a Cascaret, candy cathartic, cure guaranteed 10c, 25c!

The Intamcus Tax Law.

We have been loath to believe that the last Legislature intended to pass so infamous a law as this [the law providing fine and imprisonment for the non-payment of taxes by a certain time] But as Treasurer Worth was the author of it, and as he says that it applies to every form of tax in the schedules named, we are forced to believe that it was the deliberate intention of a majority of the last Legislature to put it in the power of judges to fill our jails and chain gangs with unfortunate property holders. Such a law will not, of course, be felt by the well to do; but if applied with the rigor intended by its author it will fall with crushing effect on the small property holder who may be unable, owing to circumstances over which he perhaps had no control, to pay his taxes by the date fixed by law. No matter how little he may be delinquent he may be fined $500 or go to jail for a term not exceeding six months. If he could not pay his taxes amounting to a few dollars, it would be beyond his power to pay a fine; hence the judge would have no option but to commit the delinquent to jail for the crime of being poor.

Can it be possible that the people of North Carolina will, within the memory of the present generation, return to power again such a combination of ignorance and spite and malevolence as composed the fusion majority in the last Legislature?—Asheville Citizen.

A Bid of Votes.

Protective tariff is wrong. Taxes, according to our Constitution, cannot be levied to protect industries; taxes are for the maintenance of government. The South has long believed this. But the North and the West have upheld protection. The West has recently threatened to abandon this false position. What must Protectionist do? They must win the South. Newspaper offices are being flooded with protective literature just as though a campaign were on. And Congress is about to put a tariff on cotton, in hopes that this will convert our farmers. We hope our agricultural friends will not suffer themselves to be purchased. We know all the world dreads direct taxation. You may get a hundred dollars out of a citizen by the tariff and he will not complain as much as he does when he pays ten dollars direct. Direct taxes are cheapest and best. But if we must have indirect taxes, let them be for revenue only. We are not pensioners upon the government. We need no protection.—Biblical Recorder.

The Church of England. From the Year Book just issued by the church of England it appears that the income which comes to it from property owned, ancient endowments and regular government grants amounts annually to something over £5,750,000, yet the expense of the church amount last year to more than twice that sum, the difference having been made up by voluntary contributions. In commenting on this state of affairs, one of the London papers says: "Thus we see that even now the income which the church draws from her own property is only about half what she requires, while it is notorious that many of her clergy are still miserably underpaid and that in some large cities her resources are quite unequal to the demands made upon them. To suppose that in the case of disendowment another £5,000,000 would be at once forthcoming from private contributions is little less than absurd. Much of what is given to the church now is given to her just because she is what she is, the established church of the nation, with the many recommendations and advantages which she would no longer possess if disestablished." Here is an argument that stands up strong and tall until one remembers that churches unaided by the state get along quite well in England as elsewhere, though their supporters are forced to contribute also to the revenues of the establishment.—New York Times.

A Man Did It. Every woman will be glad to know that it was a man who did it—a man of wide experience in the world in general and in methods of travel in particular. He was a New York man, and it was his first visit to this western city. He had registered, more by chance than anything else, at a certain hotel, taken dinner there, and started out to take his first view of the place. Almost the first thing he did was to run across an acquaintance, who, by reason of his superior knowledge of the place, felt called upon to give some advice. "What hotel are you stopping at, old man?" he asked. "The best hotel here is the Metropolitan. That is where I am stopping, and you had better come up there." "I will," said the traveler, and a little later, returning to his hotel, he gave up his room and started out to find the Metropolitan. "Just around the corner," said the first man he asked. "I will show you," and turning he guided the traveler to the hotel he had just left, and the latter, as he registered for a second time in that hotel that day, thought things to himself of the man who could go to a hotel and not learn its name.—New York Times.

A SONG IN WINTER. A robin sings on the leafless spray, Hey ho, winter will go! Sunlight shines on the desolate way, And under my feet I feel the beat Of the world's heart that never is still, Never is still, Whatever may stay. Life out of death, as day out of night, Hey ho, winter will go! In the dark shall glimmer a light, A delicate sheen Of budding green. Then, silent, the dawn of summer breaks, As morning breaks, O'er valley and height. The tide ebbs out, and the tide flows back Hey ho, winter will go! Though heaven be screen'd by a stormy rack, It rains, and the blue Comes laughing through, And cloudlike winter goes from the earth Goss from the earth, That flowers in his track. Sing, robin, sing on your leafless spray, Hey ho, winter will go! Sunlight and song shall shorten the way, And under my feet I feel the beat Of the world's heart that never is still, Never is still, Whatever may stay. —A. St. John Adecock in Chambers' Journal.

The Snake Milked the Cow.

Some time ago Mr. W. F. McIntyre who lives in Gullede township, noticed that his cow was failing very rapidly in her milk. She had been giving three gallons a day, but for some unaccountable reason dropped down to less than a gallon a day. Her teats also became very sore and Mr. McIntyre was totally at sea as to what was the matter with her, until he found a very large pilot snake that had made a nest in the cow's stall. He killed the snake and at once the cow got alright and has since remained so. The snake was not seen to suck the cow, but her failure in milk, and subsequent improvement after it was killed, is strong circumstantial evidence that it was the depredator.—Waconia Me-senger.

J. W. Albertson, formerly of Elizabeth City, is now editor of the Tarboro Southerner. Success to him.

Shelburn has a way of treating people cool just because the weather is hot. He turns his soda fountain on them.

Talk about warm nights, but last night was one of them. Hardly a breath of air was stirring and keeping cool was out of the question.

The Biblical Recorder, of Raleigh, has closed its sixty second year. It is rare that a paper reaches either the age or the excellence of the Recorder.

Proctor & Dawes are moving their stock to Williamston. E. M. Cheek purchased the building they formerly occupied and is having it remodeled.

If the fellows who consume so much time looking for the north pole would find it now they might put it to good use, that is if it is as cold as claimed to be.

Mr. A. A. Andrews, who lives in West Greenville, tells us rats are about to make way with all his chickens. The rodents make a raid every night on his poultry house.

The ladies of the Episcopal church will give their moonlight excursion on next Wednesday night, July 7th. They anticipate a large crowd and guarantee the time of the season. Let every body go and have a nice time.

We learn from The Biblical Recorder that Rev. J. H. Lamberth, known and loved in Greenville, has recovered from a long and severe spell of sickness. He is now at Wake Forest College attending the Pastor's Institute.

The Old Dominion steamer Virginia Dare will make her first trip this season from Washington to Ocracoke on next Saturday night. The Pitt County Rifles and quite a number of Greenville folks will go down then.

Weekly Crop Bulletin.
The week ending June 28th was generally favorable, except along the northern section of North Carolina and over a few southeastern counties, where insufficient rain fell. The 22d, 23d and 24th were cool, but temperature above 90° occurred during the middle of the week. Very beneficial showers occurred throughout the week. Wheat is about all housed and threshing is under way. Cotton is still backward but progressing well; corn has improved and is being laid by; tobacco continues small. In some counties farmers are having difficulty in keeping down the grass.

EASTERN DISTRICT.
Over portions of this district, especially in Halifax, Gates, Nash, Wilson and Brunswick counties, the past week has been too dry, and crops are suffering from the drought; in others occasional showers occurred. Crops have been kept in good condition. Considerable of the corn has been laid by; it is small, but doing fairly well; corn is silking and tasselling. Cotton was retarded in growth some by cooler weather on 22d, 23d and 27th, but made progress during the middle of the week; blossoms are reported. Tobacco is doing well at many points; in some counties is buttoning out badly. Threshing wheat is in full blast. Rice crop is fine. Early table corn is ripe and tomatoes are ripening.

The thirsty cyclist always carries his pump with him.
