OTHER LETTERS

Showing the Acreage and Condition of the Tobacco Crop as Compared With Last Year.

BY O. L. JOYNER.

Since we published the crop and acreage reports two weeks ago from a number of practical farmers, a few other letters have come in and they are published herewith. Since the first reports this writer has traveled over a good portion of the tobacco belt and in next weeks issue when we shall have had an opportunity of seeing the greater part of the growing crop as it appears on the hill and the cures that have been made we hope to be able to give a very fair and accurate report of its condition in detail.

GREENVILLE, N. C., July 17, '97.
MR. O. L. JOYNER,
Greenville, N. C.

DEAR SIR.—In reply to yours of July 12th asking how the tobacco crop will compare with last year: Will say that the acreage is reduced to 10 per cent; crop 10 per cent lighter than last year owing to the dry weather the past spring and thus far on the summer.

Color will be bright and quality fair.

Curing was begun two weeks ago. Thus far they are fine, primings only having been cured. The tendency among the larger planters is to curtail acreage, while with small or one barn planters the acreage remains the same. The crop of 1896 brought so little profit to the farmers they were poorly fitted to make another, and if the present crop should be as common and prices as low the acreage will be much more reduced.

Our crop will be nearly all stripped off and hung by the pattern loop process. Yours very truly,

GREGG T. TYSON.

CALICO, July 15, '97.

MR. O. L. JOYNER,
Greenville, N. C.

DEAR SIR—Replying to your favor of July 1st I would state that there is a reduction in the acreage of the tobacco crop in this section of at least 20 per cent. In regard to the condition of the growing crop I believe it to be fully 30 per cent below that of last year. While there are a few very fine crops of tobacco in this section, the majority of the crops are poor, on account of the protracted drouth in May and June.

I have taken some pains to visit and talk to the farmers concerning the crops and give you my opinion for what it is worth.

Wishing you continued success I am,

Yours truly,

R. G. CHAPMAN.

BLACK JACK, July 7, '97.

MR. O. L. JOYNER,
Greenville, N. C.

DEAR SIR—Yours of 1st instant received and will cheerfully answer any question in my power.

In my opinion the tobacco crop is cut off in this community nearly one-fourth if not more. There are several tobacco farmers that have reduced their crop one third and some one half. You very often find some that have no tobacco.

As to the condition as compared with last year, as an average I don't think it is quite as large, yet it is as high, though we can't tell what improvements it may make between this and curing season.

Tobacco has been retarded very much on account of dry weather.

Hoping this may be of benefit to you I am,

Yours truly,
E. S. DIXON.

THE PRODIGAL DAUGHTER.

To the home of the father returning,
The prodgal, weary and worn,
Is greeted with joy and thanksgiving,
As when on his first natal morn,
A "robe" and a ring are his portion;
The servant as suppliant bows;
He is clad in fine linen and purple
In return for his penitent vow.

But, ah, for the prodgal daughter,
Who has wandered away from home,
Her feet must still press the dark valley,

And through the wild wilderness roam.
Alone on the bleak, barren mountains,

The mountains so dreary and cold,
No hand is outstretched in fond pity
To welcome her back to the fold.

But thanks to the Shepherd, whose mercy
Still follows the sheep, though they stray,

The weakest and even the forsaker,
He bears in His bosom away;
And in the bright mansions of glory
Which the blood of His sacrifice won

There is room for the prodgal daughter,
As well as the prodgal son.

EASE BALL.

Pittsburg, July 23—It was not Ponds fault that Baltimore won. He gave nine bases on balls and was hit eight times with a total of eleven bases, but Pittsburg could not pull out. Ely's three errors were responsible for two runs. Attendance 2,200. Score, Pittsburg, 7; Baltimore, 8.

Cleveland, July 23—Taylor baffled all the Indians except O'Connor and Zimmer, while Powell was hit hard in only one inning, the sixth. His support was ragged and errors helped the visitors to win. Score, Cleveland, 4; Philadelphia, 6.

Louisville, July 23—The Colonels by a mighty effort, succeeded in defeating the Bostons today in one of the most interesting games seen here this season. Many brilliant plays were made by both teams, the most prominent being Clarke's throw from the left field fence to the home plate, retiring Duffy, and the fielding of Clingman and Stafford. Score, Louisville, 5; Boston, 4.

Chicago, July 23—The Gian's played miserable ball today and were easily defeated by the patched up nine of Colts. Friend, although hit rather hard, kept them scattered to one an inning, while Sullivan was batted off the rubber in the second and Clarke was easy in sixth. Score, Chicago, 14; New York, 3.

MONDAY, JULY 26, 1897.

Regardless of the probable unconstitutionality of the law providing for the school tax which is to be voted upon on August 10th, the State Superintendent of Public Instruction seems determined that the election shall be held, let the expense attached thereto be what it may. The Commissioners of two counties—Craven and Halifax—refused to have an election held, and the Superintendent is reported as saying that he is going to have those Commissioners indicted. By this kind of a lash he keeps the other counties in line and will cause elections to be held whether they are wanted or not.

So far as Pitt county is concerned, the REFLECTOR does not see why the Commissioners at their meeting next Monday might not rescind the order for holding the election. As the matter now stands there is not a township in the county in which the election will be legal. For many of the precincts the registration books have not even been taken out of the Clerk's office, and where they have been taken out they have not been kept open legally. If the election is held under such circumstances it will not be legal and the Commissioners had as well save the county further expense about it by not having the farce of an election gone through with.

LIZARD IN HIS STOMACH.

Authentic stories of the ejection of live lizards from the human stomach are not of infrequent occurrence, but by his performance in that line on Friday last Morris Collins, of Angora, has certainly become a record breaker. After an illness of several weeks' duration Collins suddenly became sick at the stomach on Friday and vomited no less than 36 lizards, varying in size from three and one half inches to half an inch. After vomiting the lizards Collins improved rapidly in health, and is now able to be about.

That the case is a genuine one there can be little doubt, as the lizards are vouched for by several persons who were in the house with Collins at the time, and as additional proof the man exhibits the reptiles, which he has preserved in alcohol in a bottle. Besides the 36 whole reptiles, there are the heads and tails of several others, all of which, however, are very small.

Collins lives on Sixty third street, two doors west of Baltimore avenue, in a two-story stone house. He makes a living by the sale of peanuts, cakes and other edibles to the crowds that are to be found on Sunday about the waiting room at the terminus of the Angora and Media trolley lines. For several weeks prior to Friday he has been apparently failing in health, losing over 20 pounds in weight in less than two months. About ten days ago Collins' condition became so much worse that he consulted a Philadelphia physician, who was at first unable to diagnose the case.

After two or three visits, and upon careful observations of his patient's symptoms, the doctor told Collins, that there were lizards in his stomach. Just what preliminary treatment was given could not be learned, as Collins, acting under the physician's instructions, was unwilling to divulge the latter's name, explaining that the doctor wished to make some observations of his own before the matter got into newspapers. On Friday, however an emetic was administered, and on that day relief came to the sufferer.

Collins was in bed at the time, in one of the second-story rooms of the house, and his wife was in the living room downstairs. She heard the noises occasioned by her husband's distress, and ran up stairs to find him bending over a basin, into which the lizards had been ejected. A few were still alive, but the greater number had apparently been killed by the man's efforts to eject them from his stomach. Other members of the household were summoned after Mrs. Collins recovered from her astonishment, and they attest to the truth of her story and that of her husband. The attending physician, when informed of the number of lizards, and when shown the specimens in the bottle, pronounced the case to be the most remarkable that had ever come under his observation.

How the reptiles got into his stomach is a mystery to Collins, who can only account for their presence upon the theory that he must have swallowed some of their spawn when quenching his thirst at a spring. His health has been on the mend since Friday, and he is recovering lost weight rapidly.—Philadelphia Record.

The Pathetic Side of Office Seeking.

There is a frequent strain of pathos in the display of innocent confidence with which some seekers after public favor make their petitions to men in power. This is particularly the case where the seeker is a woman. Women whose husbands or brothers are unfortunate and out of employment read some romantic story of how an energetic and winning wife or sister has come to Washington and by the mere power of her pleading and the justice of her claim, won her cause and taken home to her husband or brother the joyous announcement of his appointment to a lucrative position.

These things occur only in romantic stories, but they excite the imagination and delude the innocent and inexperienced.

A very suspicious case of the devoted efforts of a lady in behalf of her husband is attracting attention here now among the many struggles that are going on for Federal appointment. The lady is young and beautiful and accomplished, and evidently a woman above reproach, who commands the respect even of strangers and of the public men whom she importunes. Many weeks ago she started out alone and single handed, with the determination that she would get an appointment for her husband. She has interviewed the President and members of the cabinet many times, and has overcome difficulties which would have discouraged any man. She has made the acquaintance of nearly every man of influence in the Senate, and has got the endorsement of most of them for her husband. Not a day passes that she is not at the capitol, and she visits the State Department almost as frequently. She is not bold nor obtrusive, and she conducts herself always in a becoming manner. She is simply the very paragon of persistency. Hope hangs around her like a rose tinted vapor. But she has not got the appointment, and will probably quit ultimately with less belief in the romance of office seeking.—Washington Star.

The following bit of information concerning our postal expenditures is taken from the New York Commercial Advertiser:

"At first glance it seems strange that the postal service of the United States should cost $9,000,000 a year above receipts, while that of Great Britain yields a profit of over $14,000,000, that of France nearly $10,000,000, that of Germany $6,000,000, that of Russia, $8,000,000 and that of even India and Japan $1,500,000. About the only other nations whose postal service does not pay expenses are Canada, Norway, Siam, Chili, Pera, Bulgaria and Bolivia. But light is thrown upon our postal deficiency by the fact that the United States has six times the length of postal routes by railroad or any other country."

An Indian Beauty From Georgia.
When Vivekananda, the Hindoo monk, visited Chicago during the World's fair, he was greatly delighted one afternoon to learn that the "international beauty show" on the Midway plaisance contained an East Indian princess. He lost no time in visiting the show. In one of the booths was a dusky damsel arrayed in East Indian costume and prominently placarded as a charmer from the land of the Ganges.
Vivekananda addressed her politely in Hindoostanee, and for his pains was rewarded by a stare of blank astonishment. Then he tried Cingalese with no better success, and also the several allied dialects of the interior provinces of India. At last the dusky beauty spoke in sheer self defense:
"Go 'way, man," she said. "You mus' be crazy!"
"Excuse me," remarked Vivekananda, in faultless English, "but will you kindly inform me where you were born?"
"Ize born in Savannah, an Ize dun lived in Georgy all mah life," she said, "but yo' can't fool wid me, if yo' is a stuck up no'tern niggah!" And he didn't try to do so.—Chicago Times-Herald.

A Chicken Hanged.
Mr. Henry Sheppard lives on the lot adjoining the Baptist church. Between his lot and the church yard is a tall upright fence. Sunday a hen was found hanging on the church side of this fence with her neck fast between palings. Whether the hen committed suicide or was hanged accidentally while trying to fly over the fence cannot be told, but she was pretty well dead when discovered.

Horse Hurt.
Mr. M. H. Quinerly's drive horse was badly cut on one hip, on Sunday, by wallowing on some sharp instrument or piece of glass. The wound was of such a nature as to require sewing up.

Greenville people have had the pleasure of hearing no more beautiful solo than that sung Sunday night in the Baptist church by Mrs. T. E. Hooker, accompanied by Miss Annie Shoppard on the organ with a violin obligato by Mr. A. A. Forbes. In name and reality the song was indeed a "Dream of Paradise," calculated to lift one's thoughts far above the world to that paradise where all is rest, joy and praise.
