Base Ball.

Pittsburg, July 26—Pittsburg could do nothing with Orth after the third inning and Philadelphia hit Hawley after that inning, making thirteen hits with a total of eighteen bases. This explains the game. Pittsburg, 6; Philadelphia, 10.

Louisville, July 26—Today's game was slow and uninteresting, the Colonels winning without much effort. The release of Pitcher Evans was recalled and his fine work was the only feature of the game. Score. Louisville, 4; Brooklyn, 1.

Cleveland, July 26—The Giants and Indians played a very scrappy game of eleven innings today. There was almost constant wrangling and Umpire out of the game. He also ordered the police to take Pitcher Meekin, who was on the bench, out of the grounds. The game was listless on the part of the Indians at times. Score. Cleveland, 5; New York, 6.

St. Louis, July 26—The Browns played an almost faultless game today and won from the Bostons. Donahue pitched grandly, allowing the Bean Eaters but six hits, only two of which were clean. Stiverts also pitched well for his side. The Browns won the game in the eighth on a home run by Grady, Tally's single and Cross' triple. Score. St. Louis, 3; Boston, 2.

STATE NEWS.

The Heck estate of this city owns more than a thousand acres in the Klondike gold district of Alaska.—Raleigh Press Visitor.

Arch Kearson, fifty-seven years old, lost his footing while walking over some planks on the second floor of a barn near Townesville, Vance county, fell and broke his neck.

Gold mining in Stanley county has broken out in a fresh fever. Last week a two foot vein was discovered on the lands of Mrs. Clara Parker, near Gladston, which the prospectors claim to be the richest yet discovered in Stanley.—Charlotte Observer.

Charlotte is to have an important new establishment to add to the list of her varied industries. A factory for the manufacture of catsup, sauces, pickles, and all kinds of druggists and grocers' sundries, is to be established here. There is no establishment of the kind in this entire section of the South, and it will have a wide field to draw trade from.—Charlotte News.

Tramps Entice Boys From Home.

Mr. Everett Brinson, a policeman of Kinston, read in the Richmond Dispatch of some boys who had been enticed by tramps from their homes, one from Wilmington, N. C., one from Charleston, S. C., and the other from Richmond, Va. The description of one of the boys corresponded with the appearance of a boy seen here with a party of four tramps that reached Kinston last Friday.

Mr. Brinson arrested the boy Sunday afternoon, though one of the tramps claimed to be the boy's father. The tramps said the boy's name was Johnnie Lampost. The boy did not seem to wish to leave them, but after he was taken away he confessed that his name was Ernest Jewett and that his mother (a widow) lived in Richmond, Va., from where he ran away about a month ago. He expressed no desire to go home, but said he wanted to go with the tramps to the Nashville exposition and then go to England and join the army.

Mr. Brinson telegraphed to the boy's mother, Mrs. Laura A. Jewett, Sunday night, and received a reply Monday morning to hold Ernest until she sent for him. On Monday night the boy's uncle, Mr. Chas. P. Sales, came, recognized the boy and left with him yesterday for Richmond. The boy is 14 years of age. His mother makes her living by packing cigars in a cigar factory.

The boy seems to be bright and intelligent. He says the tramps put acid on their arms to make sores to appeal to the sympathy of the people. He said the tramp who claimed to be crippled in his leg, was as able to walk as anyone.

Gilbert Phillips, of Wilmington, and Willie Saulsbury, of Charleston, the other boys who ran off with the tramps, were arrested in Richmond.—Kinston Free Press.

Are They Going?

The Free Press says the Greenville second base ball nine have an engagement to play the second nine of Kinston in the latter town tomorrow. It also says the Greenville boys have broken several engagements to go over and play the Kinston club, and hopes the boys will go over this time.

Be ready for the eclipse of the sun tomorrow morning. It begins about 8 o'clock.

What is Said of Children's Sleep.

Children of all ages require more sleep than grown people, as their impressible nervous system could not bear, during long waking hours, the prolonged strain to which they would be subjected.

If children are wakeful and restless, it is an indication that something is wrong.

This something will generally be found to be improper or excessive feeding, clothing too tight or too warm, or confinement and impure air.

Child slaughtering preparations in the form of drugs are to be found in many households; and mothers too often not only give them themselves, but even leave them in the hands of an irresponsible nurse.

The mother is nothing short of criminal who is so thoughtless and so heartless as to give a dose of laudanum, or some other strong narcotic, to her baby to put it to sleep while she makes a call or attends an evening gathering.

If mothers could be brought to realize the danger of opiates they would not give them on every trivial occasion, but would train the children from babyhood to take regular hours of natural, refreshing sleep.

Figs and Thistles.

The devil's hardest blows are aimed at the home.

To rob it of love is the greatest wrong can be done a child.

No poetry would be written if birds had to keep still and let frogs do all the singing:

We shall be more apt to "know each other there" if we do not forget each other here.

The man who sits down to wait for a golden opportunity to come along never has a comfortable seat.

Every home ought to be made so much like heaven that the children will not think of heaven as being far away.

If you are only a picket, try to be as faithful to your trust as if you were the commander of an army—Ram's Horn.

John Wansmaker's Views Upon Advertising.

"I never in my life used such a thing as a poster, or dodger, or hand bill. My plan for twenty years has been to buy so much space in a newspaper and fill it up as I wanted.

If I wanted to sell cheap jewelry, or run a gambling scheme, I might use posters; but I would not consult a decent reading public with hand bills.

At first I laid aside three thousand dollars; last year I laid aside and spent forty thousand dollars, I have done better this year, and shall increase that sum as the profits warrant.

When a few years ago Jack Frost jumped on the orange groves of Florida, ruined the then growing crop and killed so many of the trees it was regarded as a very great calamity.

The first experiments proved successful and were followed by an increase of acreage the next season.

Child slaughtering preparations in the form of drugs are to be found in many households; and mothers too often not only give them themselves, but even leave them in the hands of an irresponsible nurse.

The mother is nothing short of criminal who is so thoughtless and so heartless as to give a dose of laudanum, or some other strong narcotic, to her baby to put it to sleep while she makes a call or attends an evening gathering.

Ex-Mayor Cooke Exonerated.

A telegram to the News from Asheville today says that the coroner's jury at the inquest over the remains of the late Mrs. Minnie Cooke, wife of Ex-Mayor Cooke, exonerated the Mayor, deciding that the deceased "came to her death by her own hand."

In view of the rumors of foul play that had been floating around Asheville concerning the death of Mrs. Cooke who, it was announced, had committed suicide, the remains were exhumed and an inquest held by the coroner at the side of the grave.

Mrs. Cooke was quite wealthy and had a good deal of property besides the $30,000 insurance on her life, all of which was left by will to her husband.—Charlotte News.

A victim of street car pickpockets determined to get even with them, so he put into his pocket a pocketbook containing only a slip of paper, on which was written the words: "This time, you rascal, you've lost the reward of your labor."

"Of what good is it to search for the North Pole?" is a common question nowadays. Dr. Nansen could answer: "One hundred and fifty thousand dollars."

For a month of dry weather extending over a part of June and the first of this month a dozen parties of haymakers worked in the free fields of the coast country about Alvin, Tex., and shipped thousands of tons of hay.

"The South Feels a Boom" is a heading in a northern newspaper. There is evidently a word left out. "Feeling for a boom" is what the South is doing.

"'Tis not in mortals to command success," but he who advertises well does more—deserves it.

THE MAKING OF A PLAYER.
Training a Lad For the Stage In the Days of Shakespeare.
John Bennett's serial story, "Master Skylark," in St. Nicholas, has many pictures of life and scenes in Shakespeare's time. The following is an account of the training of the hero for the stage by the master player.
He had Nick learn no end of stage parts off by heart, with their cues and "business," entrances and exits, and worked fully as hard as his pupil, reading over every sentence 20 times until Nick had the accent perfectly. He would have him stamp, too, and turn about, and gesture in accordance with the speech, until the boy's arms ached, going with him through the motions one by one, over and over again, unsatisfied, but patient to the last, until Nick wondered, "Nick, my lad," he would often say, with a tired but determined smile, "one little thing done wrong may spoil the finest play, as one bad apple rots the barrelful. We'll have it right, or not at all, if it takes a month of Sundays."

So often he kept Nick before a mirror for an hour at a time, making faces while he spoke his lines, smiling, frowning or grimacing, as best seemed to fit the part, until the boy grew fairly weary of his own looks. Then sometimes, more often as the time slipped by, Carew would clap his hands with a boyish laugh and have a pie brought and a cup of Spanish cordial for them both, declaring that he loved the lad with all his heart, upon the remnant of his honor, from which Nick knew that he was coming on.

Cicely Carew's governess was a Mistress Agnes Anstey. By birth she had been a Harcourt of Ankerwyke, and therefore she was everywhere esteemed fit by birth and breeding to teach the young mind when to bow and when to beckon. She came each morning to the house, and Carew paid her double shillings to see to it that Nick learned such little tricks of cap and cloak as a lady's page need have, the carriage best fitted for his place, and how to come into a room where great folks were; moreover, how to back out again, bowing, and not fall over the stools, which was no little art, until Nick caught the knack of peeping slyly between his legs when he bowed.

His hair, too, was allowed to grow long, and was combed carefully every day by the tiring woman, and soon, as it was naturally curly, it fell in rolling waves about his neck.

On the heels of the governess came M'sieu' De Fleury, who, it was said, had been dancing master to Hatton, the late lord chancellor of England, and had taught him those tricks with his nimble heels which had capered him into the queen's good graces and so got him the chancellorship. M'sieu' spoke dreadful English, but danced like the essence of agility, and taught both Nick and Cicely the latest Italian coranto, playing the tune upon his queer little fiddle.

Cicely already danced like a pixie, and laughed merrily at her comrade's first awkward antics, until he flushed with embarrassment. At that she instantly became grave, and, when m'sieu' had gone, came across the room, and putting her arm about Nick said repentantly: "Don't thou mind me, Nick. Father saith the French all laugh too soon at nothing, and I have caught it from my mother's blood. A boy is not good friends with his feet as a girl is, but thou wilt do beautifully, I know, and m'sieu' shall teach us the galliard together."
