JUST FOR FUN.

A grave offense—robbing a cemetery.

A sign of the times—"Fried oysters with every drink."

Dry goods clerks are letting their hair grow for the football season.

It isn't strange that an unsuccessful air ship inventor should have a soar head.

Say, w'en it comes ter baseball de pitcher wot goes ter de saloon too often gits broke.

With the approach of the football season the undertaker's face takes on a grin of delight'ul anticipation.

Jack—"I understand you gave May half a dozen bottles of cologne." Bill—"Yes; just paying a little bet." "Indeed?" "Yes; I odor a few scents."

The summer girl and the silly season go out together, but it doesn't follow that the summer girl will cease making the men silly.

Some of those who adopted Klondike-or bust for a motto have discovered that it is Klondike-and-busted, with nine months of winter ahead of them.

First Shipment.

The first shipment of new cotton from Greenville this season, was made by the Greenville Supply Co. on Saturday via the Old Dominion Steamship Co. to Norfolk.

ROCHDALE ITEMS.

ROCHDALE, N. C., Sept. 6, '97. Some of our people will speak of the weather being dry once in a while.

Cotton picking is in full progress around our town now.

R. A. Willoughby has grown a stalk of corn this year seventeen feet high.

Our community was very well represented at Marlboro Friday night and Sunday. There was a protracted meeting being conducted there.

C. L. Tyson, of Ayden, who is a native of this neighborhood, was over this way fifth Sunday visiting relatives.

Mrs. R. B. Parker and her two daughters, Lanie and Mamie, who live in the section of Kings X Roads, spent fifth Saturday night and Sunday with the family of Mrs. Parker's brother, Jeab Tyson.

Miss Hellen Atkinson left here last week to go to Sampson county for the purpose of attending a school there.

Cholera is playing havoc with the hogs around here.

Charley Cobb, of Norfolk, came Sunday to see his father, J. C. Cobb.

Many of our people attended the yearly meeting at Otters creek Sunday.

C. D. Smith says that he had rather sell now than buy, as he has his shelves packed full of new goods.

We are pleased to have Miss Lula Bell, of Kinston, with us again. Miss Bell is expected to spend several weeks over this way.

Hedmond Peyton, a colored man who lives on a farm of R. J. Cobb's near here, showed us a cotton burr last week from which nine locks of white cotton had been picked.

We are sorry that Mrs. Pattie J. Smith is very sick and hops she will recover soon.

John Flanagan, wife and three of their little children, from near Farmville, and also Jay Flanagan were visiting relatives in our town today.

Misses Em Joyner and Mary Lassiter, of Lizzie, were visiting the family of Ivy Smith, Saturday night and Sunday.

Help the Orphans.

We are requested to announce that Mr. B. F. Sugg, chairman of the orphan asylum committee of Greenville Masonic Lodge, will wait upon our citizens within the next twenty days to solicit donations, either in cash or in kind, for the orphans at Oxford. Have so nothing ready against the time he calls.

A Needed Invention.

The Brooklyn man who stopped the policeman on the corner just a minute before the policeman stopped him looked as if he had been through a Klondike winter and had left the country afterward through the little end of a thrashing machine.

"Here, Mr. Policeman," he began, when the policemen put in "What's the matter with you anyhow?" he asked.

"Domestic, purely domestic," he explained.

"Glad to hear there are no foreign complications," said the officer, encouragingly.

"There ain't; there is there never was; but what us married men need is protection."

"Well, hasn't the Dingley bill gone through a-whooping? What more do you want?" smiled the officer, who was disposed to be facetious.

"Yes; but that's got nothing to do with my case," contended the man indignantly. "What us married men want is protection against our wives. Look at me, Mr. Officer; look at me. I'm a married man, and my condition is entirely due to my wife."

"You are sober enough, I guess," said the officer looking him over.

"Course I am. 'Tain't that neither. What we want is some of these here inventors, who are turning out all kinds of machines that are doing all kinds of things we don't have any use for once in a thousand years, to get right down on their marrowbones and invent a machine that will go on the letter a wife hands to her husband to mail when he's got something else to think about, so that when he passes a mail box or a carrier or the postoffice, this same invention will yank the letter out of his pocket and chunk the whole thing where it belongs. Then when the letters are collected the machine can be taken off and sent back to their owners for future use. Now a thing like that would have saved me from looking like I look now and would have made it possible for me to go back home before two weeks."

"Why," began the officer, when the man shut him off.

"Aw, don't why me any whys," he said. "By gosh, I carried that letter around two weeks, and it ought to get to the place in four days, and when it didn't it kept my wife from doing something or other one of the new women societies she belongs to wanted her to do, and so she just lit into me, and you see what a wreck I am."

"Where are you going?" asked the officer kindly, as the man started off.

"Darned if I know," he said, "I guess I'll go down here to the nearest saloon and throw dice to see whether I'll go to a hotel or a hospital."—New York Sun.

How They Cure Alcoholism.

Mrs. Alec Tweedie has recently brought out a book entitled "Through Finland in Carts," full of racy chat of travel. She speaks of Finland as being like Norway "riddled with telephones," and tells the following little story to illustrate the excessive use of the telephone by Finnish folk:

"Pekka was mad in love with Ilma, a wondrously beautiful maiden. He heard rumors that she was trifling with another. He could not stand the torture, even for a few hours, and so up the mansion of the family Heikkila.

"Joy. He heard the voice of Ilma in answer, and said; Is it you, dear one? I, Pekka am here.

"A soft sigh replied. "Are you glad to hear Pekka? Do you care for him just a little?"

"Yes," sighed the fair maid. "Darling, it is not true that you care for Armas Merikanto?"

"No, no," she cried. "You like me—you love me?"

"Yes," she softly murmured. "Will you be my wife?"

"I will, Pekka."

"Overjoyed, Pekka almost hugged the wooden box that brought him such glad tidings.

"When may I come to see you darling—my little wife?"

"Come, Pekka, come for dinner at 3 o'clock." A few more sweet nothings, and, quite enraptured, Pekka returned to his office routine. At 3 o'clock, spick and span, with a golden ring in his pocket, he presented himself at the house of the Heikkilas.

"In the season stood the mother. He went toward her to receive her motherly congratulations, she rushed forward to meet him, as a good mothers-in-law should and, throwing herself into his arms, she cried—

"Take me, Pekka, dearest Pekka: I am yours till death."

"Mine!"

"Yes. I have loved you long, darling Pekka, and I am ready whenever you can fix a day for our marriage."

"Tableau. Moral: Beware of telephones."

As there are, according to Mrs. Tweedie, some thirty-six thousand more women than men in Finland, the action of Pekka's intended mother-in-law is explainable.—The Electrical Engineer.

Pedagogue Grade-Up in Kansas.

It is understood that Superintendent Stryker, in order to "grade up" the teachers, has prepared an entirely new set of questions for the next examinations. Among them are these:

"You can frequently see a white horse; why do you never see a white colt?"

"Why does a horse eat grass backward and a cow forward?"

"Why does a hop vine wind one way and a bean vine another? Explain fully."

"Why does a horse tethered with a rope always unravel it, while a cow twists it into knots?"

"What is the length of a flour barrel?"

"What animals have no upper teeth, and why?"

"Why did Abdul Hamid delay acceptance of the proffered mediation of the powers?"

"After the Omaha platform, what is the greatest American document written since the Declaration of Independence?"

"Give a historical fact of the following great men: Wm. Stryker, G. Washington, Wm. Shakespeare, Jerry Simpson, Napoleon."

between July 1, and August 28 left the Pacific coast for the gold fields of Alaska and the Klondike region.

Coldseekers Discouraged.

A Post-Intelligencer correspondent, writing on August 25, from Skaguay, says that a three days downpour has discouraged many gold seekers, one hundred returning in a single day from the trail, where the mud reached five feet deep.

The men are tearfully mired, up to their shoulders, and the horses are often shot, because they cannot be moved from the stiff mud. The horses are soon worn out by the exhaustive work of packing, and without a horse miner has no hope of getting through.

Men, as packers are in great demand, receiving from $8 to $10 per day and board. The work is very hard, a man being required to carry 100 pounds to the load, and to keep it up all day through mud and rain. A person cannot stand it long. A great many are cutting down their supplies to barely enough to carry them over the winter, and are pushing on to the lake post haste, to get down to the river before snow flies.

STATE NEWS.

Six prisoners escaped from Fayetteville jail on Saturday. Five of them were recaptured.

A young man named Hallie Holloway, was run over by an engine and both legs crushed on Friday at Durham. He died Saturday from the effect of his injuries.

Wilmington receipts of cotton for the year ended the 1st inst., were 234,664 bales against 176,447 for the preceding year.

A woman's character is likened unto a postage stamp, says an exchange. One black mark ruins it. Man's like a treasury note; no matter how many stains it has it will pass at par. When a woman falls from grace her character is generally ruined forever. On the other hand a man may straighten up and be received into the best society again. All of which is too true—but being true does not make it right by a great deal.

There is an epidemic of what is called summer gripe in New York. The symptoms are similar to the familiar influenza, except that pains in the joints are not an accompaniment. A severe cold in the head and sneezing that is a most incessant are the chief characteristics. There is no immediate relief, the doctors say, but the patient has simply to bear with it until it has run its course.

Every business man in every town owes it to himself and his town to offer every inducement to attract trade and custom to his home by every fair and honest means. If he does his duty he reaps corresponding benefit, otherwise he becomes a preying shlock not only on his customers but also on his brethren in trade.

The Only Pearl Farm in the World.

There is said to be only one pearl farm in the world, but that pays its proprietor handsomely. This farm is in the Torres strait, at the northern extremity of Australia, and belongs to James Clark of Queensland.
Mr. Clark, who is known as "the king of the pearl fishers," originally stocked it with 150,000 pearl oysters. Now 1,500 men, 200 of whom are divers, and 250 vessels are employed in harvesting the crop. "I have been 15 years engaged in pearl fishing," Mr. Clark told a correspondent of the Melbourne Age.
"My experience has led me to the belief that, with proper intelligence in the selection of a place, one can raise pearls and pearl shells as easily as one can raise oysters. I started my farm three years ago and have stocked it with shells which I obtained in many instances far out at sea. My pearl shell farm covers 500 square miles. Over most of it the water is shallow. In shallow water shells attain the largest size.
I ship my pearls to London in my own vessels. The catch each year runs, roughly speaking, from £40,- 000 worth up to almost five times that amount."

Runaway

Today Mr. J. R. Moore's driver left his horse standing on the street and the result was a runaway. The horse ran through main street and was stopped on the Academy hill. Fortunately no damage was done, but several people came near being run over, and several other vehicles had to be driven on the sidewalks to get out of the way. Two ladies in a buggy were narrowly missed by the wagon.

Most of the draymen follow the careless and dangerous habit of leaving their horses standing on the street. The town authorities ought to put a stop to it by passing a law against it.

SEPTEMBER SOX.

Rights and Lefts—Some of the Wearers.

Willis Owen came in from Norfolk Monday evening.

Rev. E. D. Brown returned to Kinston Monday evening.

Miss Sallie Lipscomb has returned from a visit to Raleigh.

S. F. Freeman came in from Washington Monday evening.

R. B. Smith went to Ayden last night and returned this morning.

R. Greene went to Kinston last night and returned this morning.

J. R. Smith, J. J. Smith and J. H. Cobb, of Ayden, were here today.

R. L. Davis and W. M. Lang, of Farmville, had business in town today.

G. P. Fleming, who has been here for the past few days, returned to Kinston Monday night.

Miss Lottie Savage, of Tarboro, who has been visiting Mrs. C. T. Mumford, returned home today.

Mrs. Jennie Collins and Miss Lillian Burns, of Texas, who have been visiting the family of Col. I. A. Sugg, left Monday night for Kinston en route to Asheville.

The wife of County Treasurer J. A. Thigpen, who is on a visit to her daughter, at Jamesville, has been sick there for a few days. She was reported better today.

J. S. Tunstall and wife left this morning for Virginia Beach and Off Point. After a few days at those places they will go to Baltimore where Mrs. Tunstall will purchase her fall stock of millinery.

W. W. Weathington, who for some years was a guard at one of the State farms near Weldon, has returned to his home in this community. Bill was too white for the new crowd that now has charge.

A. C. Watson, of Ridge Spring, S. C., has located in Greenville as a cotton buyer for Alex. Sprunt & Son, of Wilmington. He is an excellent young man and we are glad to welcome him to Greenville.

When you want anything in the Jewelry line call on the Cash Racket Store.

New shipment celebrated Diamond Luks, black and colors, at Reflector Book Store. It is the best used.

Fresh Oysters received every day and served in any style by Old Joe Forbes, the best cook in the State. Restaurant near Market house.

Cards are out for the marriage of Mr. William Thomas Lee, of Greenville, to Miss Etta Hamilton Drake, of Clarksville, Va., Wednesday, Sept. 15th.

One of the handsomest desks ever seen in Greenville has just been placed in the office of the Planters Warehouse. It is a beautiful piece of furniture.

Headquarters.

Alfred Forbes, the old reliable merchant, takes a space in our front page. His stock is complete in every department and he will give you as genuine bargains as can be had anywhere. He makes a specialty of lime and builders' material.

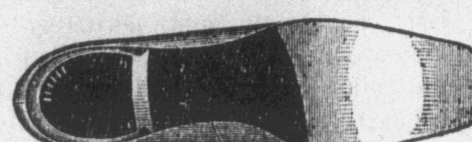

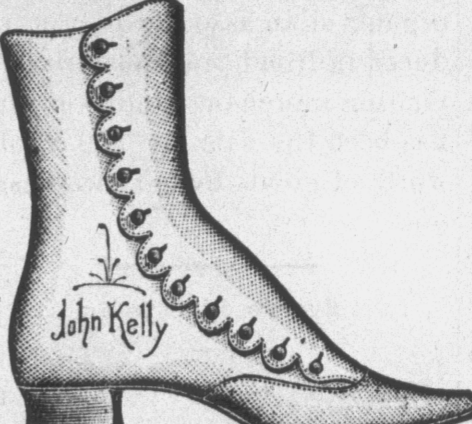

Died

Undertaker R. Greene informs us of the death of Mrs. Elihu Briley, which occurred at her home, five miles from town, on Sunday. She was an excellent woman, and his many friends sympathize with Mr. Briley in his bereavement.

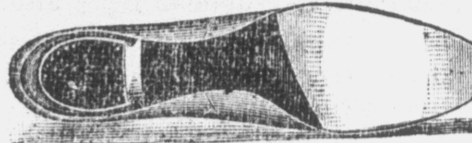

NO CURE—NO PAY.

That is the way all druggists sell GROVES TASTELESS CHILL TONIC for Chills, Fever and all forms of Malaria. It is simply Iron and Quinine in a tasteless form. Children love it. Adults prefer it to bitter, nauseating Tonics. Price, 50c.
