More Gold Here.

A tobacco farmer hearing so much of the gold mines of Alaska concluded that he would stop farming and go to the Klondike. Not caring to start on the trip without some surplus cash he fixed up a small load of tobacco, and having heard so much of the reputation of the Eastern Warehouse he drove in there and unloaded. After the sale was over he came to the conclusion that there was more money raising golden tobacco and selling at the Eastern Warehouse than there was risking himself in the Klondike fields of Alaska.

BUILD THE MONUMENT.

EDITOR REFLECTOR:—Will you allow me space in your paper to again put in agitation the raising of a fund to erect a monument to the memory of the Confederate soldiers of Pitt county. This matter was prominently before the people of the county last fall; but owing to the short crops and low prices of produce very little was done.

It is our purpose now to raise a fund amply sufficient to erect a monument that will be an honor and a credit to the cause we so dearly love and in order to do so we are now arranging a committee list of ladies who we will ask to fully canvass their respective neighborhoods and raise as much as they can for this fund. In order to do this work easily and with as little trouble as possible to them, we will put on that committee sixty working ladies and ask them to raise ten dollars each. With this amount added to another fund that we hope to raise, we will have a magnificent monument to the memory of those who so nobly faced the foe for Southern Rights and Liberty.

The committee will be made known at an early day and we very earnestly ask their much need aid in this work.

MONUMENT TO OUR DEAD.

The Movement Renewed to Erect One.

In another column Mr. B. F. Sugg, Secretary of Bryan Grimes Camp of Pitt County Confederate Veterans, brings before the public the question of building a monument to the Confederate dead of the county. His letter sufficiently explains the plan for raising the fund. The REFLECTOR wishes to endorse this step and to urge the people of the county to do what they can toward honoring the memory of our dead heroes. We do not know yet what ladies will be requested to serve on the committee, but let it be said when the list is made public that none fail to give a hearty response to the call for their aid. With the noble women of Pitt county enlisted in such a movement it will be carried on to success.

Was Postponed One Day

Greenville had several disappointed young people Wednesday evening. Quite a number of them were ready to go down to Kinston to the military ball, when a telegram came just before train time stating that it had been postponed. Some who were already at the depot went on to Kinston anyway.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1897.

There is now much agitation arising throughout the country relative to the establishment of Postal Savings Banks. Postmaster General Gary is strongly in favor of such institutions and expresses the hope that they will be established within the next few years. We believe they would prove a great blessing to the country by inducing many people to save a portion of their earnings. They are conducted successfully in many other civilized countries.

WEEKLY CROP BULLETIN.

For Week Ending Monday, Sept 6

The first part of the week ending Monday, Sept. 6th, 1897, continued very warm and dry; scattering showers, however, occurred at various points on the first three days of September, which were beneficial and helped to mature late corn. Hail storms, damaging crops to some extent, were reported in Warren, Halifax, Henderson and Rutherford counties. The latter part of the week was much cooler. Crops continue very fine in the extreme eastern counties, but at most points in the central and west portions have continued to suffer from the prevailing drought. The week was very favorable for saving fodder and picking cotton, which is progressing rapidly. Cotton has shed considerably and the top crop has been badly cut short by drought. So that, though a considerable crop remains in sight, it will fall far short of the expectations of a month ago. Some cotton is reported to be opening prematurely. About 30 per cent of the tobacco crop remains uncut; curing will be finished rapidly, results very good. Rice is ready for harvest. Scuppernon grapes are ripening. Grinding sorghum cane and syrup making is progressing. Late corn still needs rain to mature well, but most of that crop is about made and will be fair yield. Rain is needed for all fall crops, especially turnips, late Irish and sweet potatoes, field peas, etc. The second crop of hay was saved in good order. Peanuts are fair.

Baltimore's Population.

The annual police census just completed shows an increase of 4,259 voters over last year's figures. The white voters of the city, according to the census, number 107,754. At the rate of one voter to every five inhabitants Baltimore's present population should be 625,270. At the same rate the increase of 4,259 voters would also indicate an increase of over 21,000 in the city's population during the last year.—Baltimore Sun.

The St. Louis man who struck on the idea of putting his wife in the ice box when she showed a fighty disposition showed a cooler head than that Chicago sausage maker who boiled his in an acid vat.

CLUBBING ANNOUNCEMENT.

Three papers for $1 75.

The Farmer and Mechanic, the paper that years ago, under the guidance of Capt. R. A. Shotwell made such an excellent reputation throughout the State, has been revived at Raleigh as a weekly farm and home paper. Doubtless many in this section who formerly took the Farmer and Mechanic would like to have it again and we are prepared to make the following extraordinary clubbing announcement:

For $1.75 we will send THE EASTERN REFLECTOR, The North Carolinian, of Raleigh, and The Farmer and Mechanic, all three papers a whole year. These three papers will give you the home news, the State and general news and the farm news, and just think of it—all three of them a whole year for $1.75.

If you want the Atlanta Constitution added to the above list you can get it for 75 cents more, or the thrice a week New York World for 75 cents. Any other paper or magazine wanted we can give you a discount on in connection with THE EASTERN REFLECTOR.

Hobart's Meanness.

Hobart is a small fellow. He has caused Wm. Seagraves, usher at the Erie railroad at Jersey City, to be dismissed. Seagraves had orders not to admit any one through the gates until the trains were ready. Here is what happened says an exchange:

Seagraves was at his post Thursday afternoon when a tall, heavy man attempted to force his way past the usher and through the gates.

"You can't go through there, sir, until the train is ready," said Seagraves.

"I can't, eh?" said the man, still forcing his way "You probably don't know who I am?"

"I don't care who you are," replied the young man. "I have my orders not to allow anybody through."

"Well, I'm going through. Here's my card." He left Seagraves standing at his post with a bit of cardboard in his hand. It bore the inscription: "Garret V. Hobart."

"I didn't care whether it was the president of the United States himself, I had no authority to allow any one through," said Seagraves yesterday. "However, I did not think that the vice-president of the United States was so small as to take revenge upon a poor working man and take the bread out of the mouths of himself and family. Yet that is just what he has done to me."

Reminiscences.

"Married men are coming home now, telling yarns about big fish."

"Yes, and the young men tell bigger yarns about the girls who fall in love with them."

"And the girls tell whoppers about the men who fall in love with them."

"What do the married women have to tell?"

"They tell everybody how awfully dirty their houses got while they were away."—Chicago Record.

AT THE BALL.

You will o—the wisp of a woman
How can you treat me so,
When you knew I was out here waiting
Since ages and ages ago?
I really am half distracted
Twixt torture and heavenly bliss,
And all for the sake of you, darling,
And yet you can treat me like this.
I thought you must have forgotten;
And seemed so careless and gay,
As you waltzed round the room with your partners,
Without once looking this way,
You knew I was here in the darkness
Just watching for you, my light,
My star, and my beautiful sunshine,
Who can make any hour seem bright.

You seem like a lovely fairy,
An angel, and woman too;
There is something of earth and heaven
In all that you say and do,
While I am only human,
And it drives me wild to see
You dancing, or gaily talking
With any man except me.

Yes, I know that love is jealous,
And I love you with all my soul,
Sometimes with a heartfelt longing
Beyond my mind's control
And then when I see you flirting
I mean that you seem to be,
You cannot tell how maddening
The sight of it is to me.

So please be good to me sweetheart,
I really think you might,
When you know how much I have suffered
Out here in the darkness to-night,
Let us walk down there in the garden
Where none but the moon can see,
I have so much to tell,
And you promised to listen to me.

Ah, now that we're out in the moonlight,
You seem once more, all my own,
I wish that this were our Eden,
And that we might stay here alone.

Hark! there is your chaperone calling,
And we must go back from our bliss,
But I'll wait just as long in the darkness

For another ten minutes like this.

New Enterprises.

New enterprises are always desirable, and every true patriotic citizen is glad to welcome them to his or her town. The Winston Journal makes some very pointed and sensible remarks along this line. It is at the citizens ought to manifest an interest in prospectors and show that they will co-operate with them. We copy: "At this particular juncture when times are so close, the people who are anxious that new enterprises be established in our midst, need not expect that a mere invitation will bring them. Be as solicitous and instant as you please, but that alone will not bring them. There must be better inducements than that. We must convince prospectors that after they locate here they will meet proper encouragement and be accorded that spirit of co-operation expressive of our belief that they have come to stay, instead of manifesting a suspicion that they have come merely to stay transiently. A few plain words along this line can do no harm and may do much good. It is well to know that there are other inviting fields and if newcomers do not meet with proper encouragement they will not hesitate to pick up and go somewhere else. We need not think that new enterprises will build themselves up in a day and no longer need our co-operation. If we labor under any such idea as that, we will soon find it a great, big delusion. If we want new enterprises let us go to work and help to bring them here, and let us not forget to support them after we get them."

REFLECTIONS.

Of Wilmington Star Twinklings.

Gen. Wever is said to be worth about $7,000,000. How much of this was made in the butcher business is not stated.

Those South Carolina Carkeys who recently "buried the devil" did very well if they don't get back into the old habit of raising him.

The newspaper man who invented the word blizzard, recently fell from a window in a Kansas town and broke his neck. We are expecting sometime to hear from the other fellow who invented the sizzard. He has escaped the fates thus far.

Some people who have tried the late fad of not eating any breakfast say it is a great thing. If they can acquire the habit of going without dinner and supper too they may get the art of living cheap down to a fine point.

Walking for a Wife.

F. Allen McQuary, formerly editor of a Neosho, Mo., paper, is expected to arrive in St. Louis today on a novel journey.

After selling his paper at Neosho,
Mo., last spring he went to Arkansas, where to meet the beautiful daughter of a planter and fell in love with her.

The father, desiring to prove the affection and constancy of the lover, so the story runs, said he would consent to the marriage provided McQuary made a trip around the world, starting without a cent and taking with him two hounds. He returned with both dogs he was to receive $5,000; if with one dog, $4,000; if with neither dog, $3,000, and in any event—he having circled the globe—he should have the girl as his wife.

According to the provisions of the contract he was to secure the signature of the mayor of every town where he stopped, and of the Governor of every State he passed through.

He is also to secure the autograph of the sovereign of every country he visits.

According to the contract he must complete the journey in eighteen months. He arrived at Kirkwood Sunday night.—St. Louis Post Dispatch.

Music on the Breaks

Today Mr. D. A. Bodenhamer, a professional tobacco auctioneer, of Danville, was on the Greenville market and took the place of our home auctioneers for awhile. He is one of the finest auctioneers who ever sung bids. In fact he is equal to a whole brass band and sounded like he was talking in about seventeen different languages and singing in four others all at the same time. He just captured the whole crowd and everybody gathered around to hear him roll out "twodledum-oodledum, quarter-warter-warter, single-linktum, ting-tinkle-linktum," faster than shot rattle in a box tied to a dog's tail. As an auctioneer he is simply immense.
