TAFT-HOOVER.

A Beautiful Marriage at Elm City.

The Methodist church at Elm City, N. C., was elegantly decorated on Wednesday, Oct. 6th, on the occasion of the marriage of one of our popular young merchants, Mr. Allen H. Taft, to Miss Mary Alice Hoover, the accomplished daughter of Mr. J. T. B. Hoover. Promptly at high noon the wedding march, under the skillful touch of Mrs. R. S. Wells, of Elm City rang out in sweet refrain as the party entered the church in the following order: Misses Kate Meares, of Wilson, Mattie Grammer, of Elm City and Mittie Barnes, of Elm City, followed by Messrs. J. G. Moyer of Greenville, J. W. Higgs, of Greenville, and J. H. Griffin, of Wilson. Then came Misses Sadie Dixon, of Elm City and Annie M. Kearney, of Elm City followed by Messrs. F. H. Hoover, of Elm City, and James L. Taft, of Greenville. The groom came next with his best man, Mr. John A. Ricks, of Greenville, and Miss Jennie Rowland of Middleburg, followed. The bride leaning on the arm of her father, entered and passed down to the altar being met by the groom there and the two were made man and wife by Rev. B. R. Hall, D. D. of Goldsboro.

Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's father where a sumptuous wedding dinner was served.

At 1:45 P. M. took the train for Greenville, reaching here in the evening and at night a reception was held at the home of the groom's brother, Mr. E. H. Taft, in West Greenville.

The bride and groom received a large number of exceedingly handsome presents.

The REFLECTOR joins their host of friends in extending congratulations to the popular young couple and in welcoming the accomplished bride to Greenville.

A Pretty Home Marriage

On Wednesday afternoon 6th inst., at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Theo. Keel, in Carolina township, Mr. W. R. Whichard, Jr., and Miss Ella Keel were happily married by Rev. M. Pitman, of Washington, in the presence of a few friends and relatives.

Immediately after the ceremony the party left for the home of the groom's father, Mr. W. R. Whichard, Sr., where an elegant wedding supper was served and a delightful social evening spent.

The bride and groom received a number of beautiful presents. They are both among the most popular young people of the county and have the best wishes of a large number of friends, the REFLECTOR among them.

JUST FOR FUN.

Flying leaves.

Lovely weather.

Hobson—"Did you say Borrows get full as a tick?" Wigwag—"Yes; and on it."

Dame Fortune has no daughter. Misfortune is of an entirely different breed.

"Then you don't admire the game?" said the first man at the foot ball match, "No," said the other, "I'm a barber."

"I hope I see you well, sir," said the good-natured man. "If you don't," snapped the crusty one, "you'd better consult an oculist."

Sleuthpup—"Ah, I'm on the right track?" Chiet—"Are you? Well, you are like a trolley car; you may be on the right track, but you've slipped your wire."

"All hail the frosty autumn?"

You can scent her from afar,
For her garments all are redolent
Of camphor balls and tar.

Hobson—"So poor old John L. Sullivan has given up pugilism for politics." Wiggins—"Yes; he used to be spoiling for fights, and now he's fighting for spoils."

She loved, and she was loved in turn,
But, ah! she was not happy.
Because her lover and beloved
Were not the self-same chappy.

First Burglar—"How did Bill get ketch'd fur dat job?" Second—"One o' de papers reportin' de case called Bill a 'bungler' stead of 'burglar,' and Bill's pride was so hurt'd dat he went fer de editor ter demand a correction."

A Good Sermon.

Rev. Mr. Hornaday preached a very forcible and convincing sermon last night in the Methodist church. His text was "Not every one that says Lord, Lord, shall enter into the Kingdom of Heaven." It was a sermon that we all could understand, being full of love of God and delivered in such plain language. The congregation was large and very attentive. Much good will be derived from that meeting, under such preaching. Services every afternoon at 4 o'clock and every evening at 7:45. Let everybody go and hear this godly man.

Trade With Home Merchants.

The following taken from the Winston Journal applies so well to Greenville that we reproduce it.

Now that our merchants have spent their time and invested large amounts of money in purchasing their various lines of goods in order to place themselves in position to meet the wants of our home people, it is justly due them that we all give them our entire patronage. The elegant lines displayed ought to more than satisfy the taste of even the most fastidious.

The sooner a larger per cent. of our people come to realize that it is largely to their advantage to trade with our home merchants and get the foolish notion out of their heads that it makes them look much bigger in the eyes of the people to make their purchases away from home, the sooner will they benefit themselves by building up a much larger home trade and encouraging home enterprises. By all means let us all quit this foolish practice of sending away for our goods when our wants can be justly satisfied at home.

The women are not the only ones that follow this disgusting fad, but many of the gentlemen are also found in the same boat. It would be surprising to know the amount of purchases made away from here in a year. We need all the money we have got right here, and let us invest it at home and keep as much of it here as possible where all will be benefited to some extent at least

Yellow Jack Killed.

Cascarets, Candy Cathartic kills Yellow Jack wherever they find him. No one who takes Cascarets regularly and systematically is in danger from the dreadful disease. Cascarets kill Yellow fever germs in the bowels and prevent new ones from breeding. 10c, 25c, 50c, all druggists.

A Permanent Census Bureau.

At the approaching session of Congress our national law-makers will be asked to consider the advisability of establishing a permanent census bureau, and there are many reasons why the proposed measure should be adopted.

In the first place, the system now in vogue was adopted years ago when the labor of taking the federal census was small in comparison with its present magnitude. Since the late war between the States the growth of both sections of the county, in commerce, industry and population, has been extremely rapid, and, on this account, the difficulties in the way of taking a correct federal census have correspondingly increased from year to year. As matters now stand, it is virtually impossible to take a correct census of the nation's growth under the existing system; for so great is the amount of time and labor which the undertaking necessarily requires that when the census is at last completed it is altogether out of date, so far as many of its figures are concerned. The demands of the present day call for something more satisfactory; and, if a permanent census bureau is not established the existing system ought at least to be modified in such a way as to overcome many of its present defects.

Still another thing to be considered is that under the present system it is necessary to employ inexperienced men every ten years to do the work which should fall to the lot of trained veterans. This inexperience not only causes long delay, but, what is much worse, it frequently gives rise to inaccurate results. With a permanent bureau these difficulties could be readily overcome, and census reports of a more reliable character could be furnished to the country at much shorter intervals.

But there is still another important consideration. On the basis of economy a permanent census bureau should be established. The present system may perhaps cost less, but to pay for something which fails to yield satisfactory results is not economy. Moreover, a permanent census bureau would hardly cost more in actual dollars and cents than the present cumbersome and antiquated system which has long survived both its usefulness and ability. When the matter comes up before Congress it should receive the careful attention of our law makers. It will soon be time for making arrangements to cover the next regular census, and whatever action is taken by Congress, must be taken at once.—Atlanta Constitution.

Yellow Fever Germs

breed in the bowels. Kill them and you are safe from the awful disease. Cascarets destroy the germs throughout the system and make it impossible for new ones to form. Cascarets are the only reliable safe guard for young and old against Yellow Jack. 10c, 25c, 50c, all druggists.

The Farmers Creed.

The following is suggested by Professor Irby, of the North Carolina State College as the sort of creed to which all progressive farmers should subscribe and religiously adhere:

We believe in small, well tilled farms: that the soil must be fed as well as the owner, so that the crops shall make the farm and farmer rich.

We believe in thorough drainage in deep plowing, and in labor saving implements.

We believe in good fences, barns conveniently arranged, good orchards, and gardens and plenty of home raised hog and hominy.

We believe in raising pure bred stock or in grading up the best to be gotten; they equal the thoroughbreds.

We believe in growing the best varieties of farm crops and saving the choicest for seed.

We believe in fertilizing the brain with phosphorous as well as applying it to the soil.

We believe in the proper care and application of barnyard manure.

We believe that the best fertilizers are of little value unless accompanied by industry, enterprise and intelligence.

We believe in rotation, diversification and thorough cultivation of crops.

We believe that every farm should own a good farmer and every good farmer will eventually own a good farm.

Mrs. Tull's Gin Burned

Saturday morning about 2 o'clock Mrs. Winnie R. Tull's ginhouse, about two and a half miles from Kinston, was destroyed by fire. The origin of the fire is unknown. Mrs. Tull's son was careful to sprinkle water all around the boiler when quitting work Friday night.

Not only the gin house and machinery were burned but also Mrs. Tull's harrows, plows farm implements, etc. She also lost five bales of ginned cotton and five bales of seed cotton and a lot of cotton seed. Her loss is about $800 to $1,000.

In addition to the above Mr. Joe Stricklin lost two bales of cotton; a colored man named Albritton lost three bales; Ab Becton, colored, lost three bales of ginned and one bale of seed cotton; Robt. Smith, colored lost one bale. Mr. Henry Bruton lost two bales. Two or three others lost a few hundred pounds of seed cotton.

The total loss is $1,200 to $1,500, and without a cent of insurance.—Kinston Free Press.

Yellow Jack Preventative.

Guard against Yellow Jack by keeping the system thoroughly clean and free from germ breeding matter. Cascarets Candy Cathartic will cleanse the system and kill all contagious disease germs.

Yellow Fever not so Bad After All

"If yellow fever were a more familiar disease in the United States our people would pay but little attention to it," said Mr. Charles S. Swisher, of Boston, at the Shoreham.

"In Havana, where it is common no more attention is paid to it than the Mexicans give to small pox. There is hardly any time that Mexico hasn't the last named disease somewhere in its borders. I heard a renowned doctor say that yellow fever hadn't killed one-fifth as many people in this country as has grippe. The latter scourge has caused hundreds whose lives were spared to lose their vision, and scores of others maddened by the agony it produced have committed suicide.

"But the fever creates a panic that makes men act inhumanly and unreasonably, and paralyzes the trade of cities and whole sections of the country. Its ravages are not to be compared with the other against which there is no thought of shotgun quarantine, although it is said to be catching. Verily the actions of mankind are past accounting for, and with all the progress of civilization human nature remains much the same through the changing centuries."—Washington Post.

Welcome Record-Breaking.

The statement of business failures in the United States during September and during the third quarter of the current year, as furnished by Dunn's Review, gives a gratifying assurance of the improvement in business conditions.

For the quarter the average of liabilities in reported failures is the lowest known in twenty three years. The total of failures is the lowest since 1892. One single large failure in the brokerage business brings up the average and total in this class of business, but in the classes of manufacturing and trading the failures were the smallest on record since these classes were established.

There will be no dissent from the cordial welcome with which this new record will be received.—New York World.

The Local Paper's Gift to its Town

Ex-Governor Francis, of Missouri, is quoted as saying: "Each year the local paper gives from $500 to $1,000 in free lines to the community in which it is located. No other agency can or will do this. The editor, in proportion to his means, does more for his town than any other ten men. He ought to be supported, not because you like him personally, or admire his writing, but because a local paper is the best investment a local people can make. It may not be brilliantly edited or overcrowded with thought, but financially it is of more benefit to the community than the teacher or preacher. Understand me, I do not mean morally or intellectually, but financially."—Newspaperdom.
