JUST FOR FUN.

Has Mr. J. Frost gone to Klondike.

No, Maude, dear, rounders are not supposed to be popular in social circles.

Church festivals are bobbing up again, and the ordinary oyster gets into the stew.

Prosperity doesn't seem to have increased the prospects of a resumption in the Corbett Fitzsimmons mill.

The latest slang expression indicating doubt of a person's sanity is: "Aw, g'on; you've got bats in yer belfry."

"This pie," said the newly married man, "is just like mother used to make." The proud young bride began to smile with pleasure. "Mother," he continued, "never could cook to save her life."

Hoax—"Poor Jiggers is crazy" Joax—"You don't say?" Hoax—"Yes he was found racing up and down the middle of the street trying to run over horses and trolley cars. He thought he was a bicycle.

Life and Death.

When we walk near powerful machinery we know that one single misstep and those mighty engines would tear us to pieces with their flying wheels or grind us to powder in their ponderous jaws. So when we are thundering across the land in a rail car, and there is nothing but half an inch flange to hold us upon the track. So when we are in a ship at sea, and there is nothing but the thickness of a plank between us and eternity.

We imagine then that we see how close we are to the edge of this precipice. But we do not see it. Whether on sea or land the partition that divides us from eternity is something thinner than an oak plank or half an inch of iron flange. The machinery of life and death is within us. The tissues that hold these beating powers in their place are often not thicker than a piece of paper and if that thin partition were ruptured it would be just the same to us as if a cannon ball had struck us. Death is inseparably bound up with life in the very structure of our bodies. Struggle as we will to widen this space, no man can at any time go farther from death than the thickness of a sheet of paper.

Yellow Fever Germs

breed in the bowels. Kill them and you are safe from the awful disease. Cascarets destroy the germs throughout the system and make it impossible for new ones to form. Cascarets are the only reliable safe guard for young and old against Yellow Jack. 10c, 25c, 50c, all druggists.

STATE NEWS.

A bank at Louisburg has failed.

Asheville has seventy-five lawyers.

Wilmington is considering the matter of a paid fire department.

Kinston and Newbern each have a bank operated by colored people.

J. B. Barnes, who two weeks ago tried to commit a criminal assault on a Miss Yarboro, near Rocky Mount, has been given a preliminary hearing and placed under a $3,500 bond for his appearance at court.

OVER THE COUNTRY.

George M. Pullman, the head of the Pullman Car Company, died at his home in Chicago on Tuesday morning.

The jury in the case of Leutgert, the Chicago sausage maker, charged with the murder of his wife, have returned a verdict of not guilty.

Three Cubans have recently bought $225,000 worth of arms and ammunition in St. Louis, which are to be shipped to Cuba through a Texas port; one of the agents said the Cubans would not accept autonomy; they wanted freedom.

A man named C. C. Johnson, of Portsmouth, Va., has been arrested for making his daughter disrobe, with the exception of one garment, and beating her unmercifully with a limb from a tree. He first tried to find a horse whip to beat her with, but failing to get it he procured the limb.

Worse Than Yellow Fever

News comes from Cumberland county of an epidemic of hemorrhagic fever—a most dreadful disease that is finding many victims in the swamp district of the Cape Fear. This fever, peculiar to the swamp district, is said to be the most terrible disease known to that part of the State. The chances of death, when once stricken with it, are far greater than from yellow fever; in fact only a small per cent. recover. Speaking of it, the Fayetteville Observer says it is almost suicide for one to live in or near this swamp district, and, unless it is thoroughly drained and artesian wells bored, it will only be a short time before the surrounding country for miles will be a wilderness.

The Smithsonian Institution is about issuing a report of 750 pages, royal octavo; setting forth the work of the first half century of its existence. All the leading scientific men of the country have been invited to prepare articles for it, setting forth the progress that has been made in their special fields during this period.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1897.

Fair managers have a way of sending invitations to some notable personages that their presence may make a good drawing card for a crowd, or even in case the invitation is declined to be the cause of the fair getting a lot of advertising. The State fair Secretary sent such an invitation to President McKinley, and now the Winston Tobacco Fair Association has sent an invitation to New York to Miss Cisneros, the Cuban girl who recently escaped from prison in Havana, to come to the tobacco fair in Winston next month.

The Salisbury Sun says that Miss Mamie Owen, a young lady of that town, received a letter from an old lady in California informing her that the latter had made a will and remembered her to the amount of $30,000. The cause of this gift in her will was that while both of them, then strangers to each other, were in Washington City in 1892, Miss Owens saved the old lady's life by getting her out of the way of an approaching street car that would have run over her. They immediately became friends and a correspondence has since been kept up between them.

Florida Orange Crop.

If the owners of the Florida orange groves had given careful attention to their groves immediately after the freeze, instead of neglecting them, as a large proportion of them did, the orange crop this year would be something like 1,000,000 boxes, instead of 250,000, as it is estimated it will be. Of this 250,000 boxes about 200,000 will be marketed outside of the State. Within about four years, if nothing occurs to give the groves a setback, the orange production will be as great as it was before the freeze—about 5,000,000 boxes. It is estimated that fully 10 per cent of the groves injured by the frost were abandoned, but many new groves have been set out in that section of the State which was not noticeably hurt by the freeze. It would not be at all surprising if ten years hence Florida should be producing 10,000,000 boxes of oranges a year.—Savanna News.

Charles Broadway Rouss after one week's treatment by Dr. Guelph Norman, who came from India specially to cure Mr. Rouss of blindness, is able to see dimly at a distance of 16 inches. Dr. Norman says his patient will read a newspaper within four weeks.

Three New Serums.

Three notable medicine announcements have been made public almost simultaneously concerning important new therapeutic results in the treatment of a trio of the worst diseases which afflict humanity. These diseases are typhoid fever, yellow fever and consumption. In the case of typhoid fever there has been, according to the British Medical Journal, a successful improvement in the vaccination principle, so that now there is secured the characteristic reaction of the blood serum on typhoid bacilli. This may be accepted as a proof that the subject of injection is rendered immune from infection. Surgeon Major Semple, Assistant Professor of Pathology at the British Army Medical School at Netley, is using the serum at Maidstone with encouraging results. The vaccine is said to produce only some slight local soreness and a few hours of discomfort.

A serum for the actual cure of consumption is also heralded; but this report is neither so authentic in its source nor so credible in itself. A New York physician, it is asserted, has treated six tuberculosis patients with Professor Maragliano's serum with marked improvement in each case. Even quick consumption is said to have been checked. The serum which is administered hypodermically in doses of a cubic centimetre, is obtained from inoculated horse blood.

As for yellow fever, Sanarelli, the discoverer of the yellow fever bacillus (the icteroid), is reported to have declared that he has obtained a serum which will render that terrible tropical scourge harmless. He is to publish all the details in a forthcoming pamphlet; but first he is to test his new serum on a fever patient at Rio Janeiro. Dr. Domingo Freire, of Panama, is said to have put forward a similar claim in 1891.—Philadelphia Record.

Yellow Jack Killed.

Cascarets, Candy Cathartic kills Yellow Jack wherever they find him. No one who takes Cascarets regularly and systematically is in danger from the dreadful disease. Cascarets kill Yellow fever germs in the bowels and prevent new ones from breeding. 10c, 25c, 50c, all druggists.

This is the season of the year when people in agricultural districts are expected to settle accounts. And it behooves every one to do his best to pay all his accounts as promptly as possible; for many debts are sometimes settled by the first man's payment. A owes B and B owes C and C owes D, &c. Now if A will strain a point today and pay B, and all along the line will do likewise, the man farthest off from A will get the money for what the man next above him owes, and then the money can start back to A again.

A man is seldom justified in carrying money in his pocket long at a time if he owes any one. One payment makes a hundred.—Scotland Neck Commonwealth.

Among the many needs in North Carolina for the lessening of crime, is a whipping post. Call it barbarous if you will; but if there were a whipping post in every county in North Carolina at which proper crimes could be punished with "forty lashes, save one," Criminal courts would not often be needed.—Scotland Neck Commonwealth.

Poverty is uncomfortable, as I can testify; but nine times out of ten the best thing that can happen to a young man is to be tossed overboard and compelled sink or swim for himself. In all my acquaintance I have never known a man to be drowned who was worth the saving.—James A. Garfield.

The Forests Should be Preserved.

On account of the rapid destruction of our American forest tracts there is some likelihood that Congress at its approaching session in December will be called upon to adopt stringent measures looking toward the prevention of this evil.

Much depends upon the maintenance of our forest areas. Science has long since proved that cyclones are due in large measure to the existence of vast denuded tracts of land which offer no resistance to the storm's career. Undoubtedly it is also true that the yearly overflows of the Mississippi river are due to some extent at least to the devastation which is steadily going on about the sources of its tributary streams. Some two or three weeks ago the national irrigation Congress, which met at Lincoln, Neb., adopted resolutions calling attention to the urgent need of stringent regulations for preserving our forest tracts. In European countries the deepest solicitude is felt on the part of the government in the preservation of forest lands. Severe penalties are inflicted upon all who are guilty of carelessness in exposing forest lands to fire, and special wardens are employed by the government to see that the forest laws are rigidly enforced. Something like this must be resorted to in this country if our vast forest areas are preserved, and the national calamities which flow from their heedless destruction are averted. The matter is one which demands the serious attention of our law-makers.—Atlanta Constitution.

The Democrats of North Carolina must be made to realize that if they lose the State again next year and the Republicans carry the country again in 1900, there will be ten negro office holders in this State where there is one now. The negroes of North Carolina cast about three fourths of the Republican vote of the State, and whatever they may have done heretofore, they are now beginning to properly estimate their power, and, with continued Republican success, will make demands of their white leaders to which the latter will be compelled to yield.—Wilmington Star.

Every year commercial fertilizers take millions of dollars out of the State. It is estimated that the farmers of this State have already bought 213,000 tons of guano this year, against 187,000 last year, an increase of 26,000 tons. At the prevailing price this will drain the State of four million dollars this year. Is not there some way of making here at home a fertilizer that will take the place of the expensive guano that we import? It is a constant drain on the farmers to pay for the fertilizers they use.—Charlotte News.

Arabian Horses in Battle.

Arabian horses manifest remarkable courage in battle. It is said that when a horse of this breed finds himself wounded and perceives that he will not be able to bear his rider much longer he quickly retires from the conflict, bearing his master to a place of safety while he has still sufficient strength. But if, on the other hand, the rider is wounded and falls to the ground the faithful animal remains beside him, unmindful of danger, neighing until assistance is brought.

Bread and Old Age.

Sir Isaac Holden, the millionaire member of parliament from Yorkshire, now nearly 90 years old, believes with John Wesley that phosphates of lime, in which flour is so rich, are good for growing children, young people, young mothers, but shorten the life of the elderly, by making bones dense and weighty muscles rigid, "furring" the large blood vessels like an old boiler and "choking the capillary arteries." So he eats hardly any bread, his favorite food being oranges, bananas and meat. When he eats the latter, he eats nothing else. Roast apples, with a tiny pinch of bicarbonate of soda to correct the acidity, and milk similarly treated are important items of his dietary.

W. H. BERNARD.

The administration realizing that it cannot increase the revenues by the Dingley tariff is considering what can be done to eat down expenses. That is the true theory of honest government regardless of the matter of resources. This plan might have had an earlier trial in Washington; but it is none too late to practice thrift. The Administration yet has three years and four months left in which to sit upon the brakes.—Philadelphia Record.

In some parts of Devonshire the people live to be very old. An old man of ninety, living quite a distance from the nearest town, requiring some family groceries, sent his son, a man of seventy odd years of age. When the son failed to show up with the provisions in time his grandfather, a centenarian of 108, said peevishly: "That's what comes from sending a kid."—Tit Bits.

JUMPING ON BUFFALOES.

Tiger Jack's Truest Story of a Marvelous Escape.

"Speaking of liars," said the western Kansas man as he knocked the ashes out of his pipe and looked at the real estate agent out of the corner of his eye, "I think western Kansas can show up some as rare specimens as I ever set eyes on. Now, there was old John S. I'll not give his full name because the old man still lives out somewhere near Kiowa, and if he was to get in print as a noted liar he might get hot. When I read an account of Speaker Bill Street's speech up in Jewell county at an old settlers' picnic, where he said that he had stood on a knoll and seen a dense, moving herd of buffalo as far as the eye could reach, some way it brought old John to mind.

"When I first struck the short grass country, old John was there. He got me cornered one day and was so tickled to get a fresh victim that he hardly stopped even to take a drink until he had stuffed me so full that I was partially paralyzed for a month afterward. He gave me to understand that for years before he came to Kansas he was one of the most dreaded desperadoes and Indian killers that ever roamed through the Rocky mountains. I learned afterward that he wouldn't fight a cat and actually trembled with fear whenever his hatchet faced wife turned loose on him with her tongue, but when I first met him his bloodthirsty talk fairly made my blood run cold.

"He informed me that he was known far and wide through the mountains as 'Tiger Jack, the terror of the Rockies,' but I was going to speak of his buffalo story. I asked him one day, just to bring him out, if he ever got into any tight places when he was hunting buffalo. 'Oh, I've been in places that I suppose most fellers would call ticklish,' he replied, 'but never any place that rattled Tiger Jack but once, and that time I own I was a little worried.

"I was huntin buffalo down the Medicine valley along in 1870. The country was just alive with the critters, and I was knockin 'em right and left, when all at once somethin started a stampede, and 3,000,000 or 4,000,000 buffalo came rushin down the valley, just makin the ground shake as they come. I seen at once that I would have to get out of there or be run over, but my pony was all fagged out, and the herd kept gainin on him at every jump. I saw that them buffalo was goin to run that pony down and that somethin had to be done and done quick. Well, sir, I seen that there was just one thing to do. I waited till the head buffalo was right on my pony's flank, and then I made a jump and landed right on that buffalo's hump.

"Then, sir, I just went jumpin from the back of one buffalo to another an shootin as I went—thought, maybe, you know, that I could scatter the herd and get a chance to get down on the ground. Well, sir, when I struck the rear end of that stampede I was only a mile from home. I went out the next day and measured the distance from where I jumped from my pony to where I hit the ground and found I had traveled on the backs of buffalo for 6 1/2 miles. I'll tell you honestly, mister, I think it was a little the closest shave I ever had."—Kansas City Journal.

Some Odd Facts.

The first muffs were made for the use of doctors to keep their fingers soft and warm that they might carefully feel the pulse of their patients.

The cravat was originally a large shawl worn around the neck, not for show, but comfort, by a nation of Eastern Europe called Cravates or Croates.

Boo, the exclamation used to frighten children, is a corruption of Bob, the name name of a famous Gothic general.
It has been used as a terror word for many centuries.

Watches originated at Nuremburg as early as 1477. They were at first called Nuremburg eggs which they resembled both in shape and size. They were often fitted into the tips of walking sticks.

The first use of Niagara's power was made in 1725, a primitive saw mill being operated. Nothing more was done until 1842, when Augustus Porter conceived the plan of hydraulic canals, and in 1861 one of them was completed.

But We Catch Their Names.

Miss Jessie Williamson, of Suffolk, is visiting here.

G. M. Tucker returned Wednesday evening from a trip north.

C. T. Cordon, of Washington, spent last night here and returned home this morning.

Guy Williams came in from Sut-
folk, Wednesday evening, to visit friends.

John Williams, who has been spending some days with his mother returned to Raleigh today.

Look Out

This morning we heard two young men, both matrimonially inclined offering to pay for each other's license if either gets married before the year is out. Somebody is going to have a license to pay for, too.

No More Free Bus

Passengers getting off the train here
now don't hear the cry of "Free Bus" any more. Mr. Ed. H. Shelburn owns both the hotel omnibuses and will run one to Hotel Macon and the other to the King House. The fare will hereafter be uniform, 15 cents for each passenger.

WHO ARE THEY?

EDITOR REFLECTOR:—There are many, very many inquiries being made who the Greenville Medicine Co. consist of? A great many ignorant negroes have been sold medicine by some one who takes chattel mortgages upon their household furniture and any article of property they have, for the small amounts of from 50 cents to $4 and $5. A search through the town of Greenville does not disclose the names of any one conducting such a business.
Many negroes are complaining that they have been duped, and agents are around collecting for the nostrums they have sold.

Can some one tell who the Greenville Medicine Company are and where they have their place of business? It is getting to be a serious matter with some of the poor negroes of the county.
