BETHEL ITEMS.

BETHEL, N. C., Oct. 25th. 1897.
Ex-Gov. T. J. Jarvis passed through here on last Monday on his way to Elizabeth City.

Bruce Williams, Esq., of Burgaw and Col. I. A. Sugg, of Greenville, spent last Friday here on legal business.

Mrs. W. C. Nelson and children are visiting her mother at Tarboro.

Miss Lizzie Hammond and sister, of Conetoe, were visiting their sister, Mrs. D. S. Harper, last week.

S. S. Moore was smiling pleasantly Thursday when he came to town. It's a fine girl.

The Baptist church was handsomely decorated on the occasion of the marriage of Mr. L. B. Thigpen, of Nashville, Tenn., to Miss Cena Cherry, the young and accomplished daughter of the late M. C. S. Cherry, on Thursday morning, Oct. 19th, at 9 o'clock. The ushers were Sherrod Salsbury, of Hamilton, Fred Beaman, of Parmele, John L. Fleming, of House, Joseph Thigpen, of Hill, and M. C. S. Cherry, of Bethel. Promptly at the appointed hour the wedding march began to peal forth its sweet and solemn strains under the skillful touch of Miss Sallie Salsbury, of Hamilton. The party entered the church in the following order: Sherrod Salsbury and M. C. S. Cherry John L. Fleming and Fred Beaman, followed by two little flower girls, Misses Annie Cherry and Hilda Knight. The groom came next with his best man and brother, Joseph Thigpen, then came Miss Lizzie Mayo with the bride, meeting the groom at the altar where they were happily married by Rev. J. B. Morton, pastor of the Presbyterian church, Tarboro, N. C. Immediately after the ceremony the bride and groom went to the depot accompanied by a large number of relatives and friends to bid them goodbye on their departure for Nashville, Tenn. Miss Lizzie Mayo and M. C. S. Cherry accompanied them home to spend a few days. A large crowd was present at the marriage which attest to the popularity and high esteem in which the bride was held in this community. May their journey through life be a long, happy and prosperous one.

Our Townsman at Elizabeth City Governor Jarvis, our honored guest, made the Economist office an appreciated call Thursday evening. We both grew younger in our retrospect of the olden times and struggles.

The Elizabeth City Cornet Band did themselves great credit in their serenade of Governor Jarvis at the Arlington. The music was artistically rendered as by veterans who did nothing else.—Economist.

NUGGETS OF GOLD

Jealousy is an inveterate foe to happiness.

It is not the largest coin that is always most valuable.

One never knows Christ, till he loses sight of self.

Some men will change character if they have it—for gold.

Humility is the most beautiful crown ever worn by any king.

He who lives nearest the cross will use the fewest hard sayings about his neighbor.

Pure religion is often the parent of loud shouting; but loud shouting is never the parent of pure religion.

A little worldly honor is much more desirable with some than all the riches of heaven.

Time for Action.

Why can't our business men get together and start a knitting factory here? If one good step is taken in the direction of factories others will be sure to follow. It can hardly be expected that Greenville will have such enterprises until the home people make the first start. Let the outside world see that there is a spirit of progress and improvement here and they will be ready enough to come in and invest capital among us. Greenville is losing opportunities by not exerting itself to secure factories. The town needs them.

Hints for the Thrifty.

News of our doings is of general consequence because the store is rich with that concern wise money spenders. If you are extravagant, prodigal and wasteful you may skip our advertising with impunity. Every shopper who is en rapport with the spirit of the times cannot ignore our trade suggestions.

Dry Goods, Notions, Shoes, Hats,

ALFRED FORBES.

Washington were alive he would be attracted by the National Flag floating over Frank Wilson's store.

AND MIGHT BUY HIS Clothes

there, too. People who are alive usually do. But he'd have to buy up to date garments. We don't keep the style he wore. And what a grand choice he'd have.

Sack suits, single and double breasted cutaways, Prince Alberts each with a style peculiar to us.

Cheviots, Cassimeres, Thibets and Worsted, plaids and checks and stripes in bewildering variety, blacks, blues, browns, olives and all sorts of beautiful combinations of colors.

Suits for dress, for business, for sport, suits in all prices.

Yes, Washington would certainly buy his Clothing from

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1897.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct 25, '97. "Help! help!! help!!!" That is the sum and substance of the tale of woe poured into Mr. McKinley's ear by Boss Platt, who made a flying trip to Washington to tell Mr. McKinley that everything was going against the Platt-McKinley candidate for Mayor of New York, and that there was also great danger that the Republicans would also lose control of the legislature. He tried to persuade Mr. McKinley to write a personal letter for publication, favoring Tracy, and almost, but not quite, succeeded. Mr. McKinley has the matter under advisement and is rather inclined to do what Platt wants him to do, but several of the shrewdest members of his Cabinet are trying to show him that it would be unwise for him to do so. They tell him that everybody in New York knows him to be in favor of Tracy, and that a letter signed by him, making that declaration, would not get Tracy a single vote that he would not get anyway, while it would be a bar to the administration, denying after Tracy's defeat that it had sought to force Boss Platt's man on the people of New York.

Hypocrisy is the most contemptible of vices. Only last week it was announced with a great flourish of trumpets that the Cabinet had decided to enforce Mr. McKinley's civil service order, that no government employe should be discharged except upon written charges and after being given an opportunity to answer the charges, notwithstanding the decision of a Court that the order was not binding in law; and now those Ohio Republicans employed by the Government in Washington, who had decided to go home to vote to help to get Boss Hanna back in the Senate have been notified that a Mr. Sidney A. Perkins who is known as Boss Hanna's personal representative in Washington, has put their names upon a black list which is to be turned over to Boss Hanna when he comes back to Washington, after the Ohio election. Of course Mr. Perkins hasn't told any of those put upon the black list that Boss Hanna intends to have them discharged if they do not go to Ohio and vote for him, but that is what he wishes them to suppose and some of them regard the hint as being sufficiently strong to cause them to change their minds and decide to go home and vote. They know that no matter how much the Cabinet may prate in public about protecting the civil service employes of the government, that a nod from Boss Hanna is sufficient to bring about the dismissal of an employe in any branch of the government. All the news that comes to Washington indicates that Boss Hanna is a very badly frightened man over the prospects of his defeat, and the latest blast from Col. Conger, ex-member of the Republican National Committee, and a member of Gov. Bushnell's staff, against him and his methods is not calculated to allay his fright. If the Democrats of Ohio had not been heavily handicapped in their campaign, there would have been little doubt of their carrying the State, owing to the extent of the secret opposition of Republicans to Boss Hanna. They may do so yet, especially if the visit of Mr. Bryan results in arousing the amount of Democratic enthusiasm and courage that it is confidently expected it will.

Some of Mr. McKinley's fool friends may get him into serious trouble if they continue to add to their gloating over the failure of Senator Wolcott's international bimetallic commission talk about Mr. McKinley having lived upon the promise made by the Republican platform, by trying to secure international bimetallicism through Senator Wolcott's Commission. They may discover before the coming session of Congress is very old that there are silver men among the Republicans as well as among the Democrats and Populists who have the courage to question the good faith of Mr. McKinley in promising Senator Wolcott that the efforts of the commission to secure the consent of the British and other European governments to the holding of an International Monetary Convention for the purpose of bringing about international bimetallicism would be officially backed by him and his administration. A demand may be made upon the administration from the floor of Congress for an official explanation of the stories alleging that while the Wolcott commission was asking England's co-operation, in the name of the United States, to secure international bimetallicism, the government of the United States gave the government of England to understand that no such co-operation was really desired. Everything considered, the wise friends of Mr. McKinley ought to be able to see that the less they say about silver promises having been kept, the better for their friend's good name.

Yellow Jack Killed.

Cascarets, Candy Cathartic kills Yellow Jack wherever they find him. No one who takes Cascarets regularly and systematically is in danger from the dreadful disease. Cascarets kill Yellow fever germs in the bowels and prevent new ones from breeding. 10c, 25c, 50c, all druggists.

The Humblest Home is a Million Times Better Than the Finest Hotel.

"Home life cements the love of husband and wife: other modes of living often loosen the tie," writes Edward W. Bok in the November Ladies' Home Journal. "Nor does the question of expense excuse the not having of one's own home. A home is not, of necessity, a palace. The humblest cottage is a million times better than the most luxurious hotel ever planned by the hands of man. In the one happiness is probable: in the other it is just possible. We can talk all we choose about married happiness; that it, after all, rests solely between two people, and that it makes no difference where they live. That is very good as a theory. But thousands of instances prove the contrary: that the theory will not work out in practice. Happiness depends upon the growth of the people who are parts of it. People who stop and stagnate are never happy. True happiness thrives on what it feeds upon. Let stagnation enter into two lives, and happiness becomes stagnant and unhealthy. But let our lives be filled with contentment, with domestic pleasure, with that germ of evolution which springs from the hearthstone, and the happiness which springs from those elements is purer, sweeter and more satisfying to our natures, our minds and our souls. A man and wife were made to abide together in inseparable lives, and as new elements come into that union to sweeten and hallow it, the abiding place should be some little place, some corner in this big world which they can call their own, their very own, where everything around them speaks of the husband's energy and the wife's achievement. That is home."

Yellow Jack Preventative.

Guard against Yellow Jack by keeping the system thoroughly clean and free from germ breeding matter. Cascarets Candy Cathartic will cleanse the system and kill all contagious disease germs.

Hints For Housewives

Shoes should always be wiped off and put into a linen bag with pockets when not in use.

Silk handkerchiefs and ribbons should be washed in salt and water and ironed wet to look well.

A cure for hicoughs is to draw in as much air as the lungs will hold, and retain it as long as possible.

Egg stains may be removed from silver forks and spoons by rubbing them with a little very fine salt.

Yellow spots on the linen or cotton produced by the iron may be removed by setting them in the broiling sun.

An excellent starch for dark clothes, blue calicoes, etc., is made by using cold coffee left from breakfast instead of pure water. Make the starch as usual.

The young white man Richard Johnson convicted of forgery at this term of Superior court and sentenced to 5 years in the penitentiary was brought into court that morning and three years of the above sentence remitted by the Judge with the consent of the State and prosecution: and hardly had Johnston been returned to jail when he went to work with a file to effect his escape. He was thereupon brought back into court and his first sentence of 5 years was reinstated, and on his way back to jail he broke away from the officers and ran; but he was soon out run by Mr. Dick Moyer and he is now safe in jail and will be taken to the "pen" on Monday.—Goldsboro Argus.

Yellow Fever Germs breed in the bowels. Kill them and you are safe from the awful disease. Cascarets destroy the germs throughout the system and make it impossible for new ones to form. Cascarets are the only reliable safe guard for young and old against Yellow Jack. 10c, 25c, 50c, all druggists.

What One Boy Did

Lex Green, son of W. H. Green, of Dexter, told his father the first of the year that he wanted to go to school, and pitched him a crop of tobacco and went to work with a vim. He made a nice lot of tobacco, cured it, stripped it and sold it out for $58 net and added it to what he had and has gone off to school. This shows what a boy can do when he wants to get an education.—Oxford Ledger.

TROUBLES OF BALDER TWINS

Harold Asked Eugene to Take His Place and There'll Be a Run.

When the Balder twins had finish ed their supper the other night, Har old called Eugene into his room, and, closing the door, said:

"Mother wants to talk to me about something this evening, Gene, but I am engaged for a spin out to Lin coln park with another girl. Now, if you want to do me a good turn, you'll represent me on this occa sion."

"Certainly, if the girl don't ob ject," answered Eugene sweetly.

"None of your chaff. You know what I mean. Take my place with mother."

"Thanks, awfully! I like that kind of an engagement. While you are out on a tandem with your best girl I am to stay here and be roast ed. Nice prospect for the wrong twin!"

"I have taken many a roasting for you from the gov'n'r, Gene. Turn about is fair play."

"All right, Hal, but I wish it was the gov'n'r instead of the mater. She is so awfully particular and keeps a fellow forever. However, I'll stand by you this time. Only suppose she finds out?"

"She won't," said Harold, and he hurried off, leaving Eugene as his proxy.

Mrs. Balder sat waiting for Har old, and when the wrong twin en tered her presence with a silent step and subdued air she said:

"I am glad, Harold, that you re membered my wish to speak to you this evening, as I have something particular to say, and I want you to be interested."

"Yes-m-m," mumbled Eugene, who almost lost his head at the start by trying to recall Harold's parental pose.

"I'd give something to know how he acts when he has a private and particular with the mater," he thought. "Does he hang his feet over the back of the chair kind of easy or sit up prim and proper?" Then he cleared his throat and stared gravely at his mother.

"It is about your brother Eugene I wish to speak," she said, and the wrong twin shot into the air and sat down again.

"I do wish you would be more dig nified," urged Mrs. Balder. "Now that you are engaged to be married you should cultivate more repose of manner. You act as flippant as your brother."

"Well, I like that!" said Eugene, forgetting for a moment his role of Harold, but his mother continued.

"I have enough frivolity to con tend with in his character, and it is of that I wish to speak tonight. Eu gene is much too giddy for his age, and I want you to help me improve him."

"Oh, Gene is all right!" said the wrong twin.

"I would be glad if he took more interest in the society of girls," said Mrs. Balder.

"Is there a society of that name?" asked Eugene innocently.

"When you are married," re sumed his mother, ignoring the ques tion, "I shall hope for a great deal of assistance from your wife's influ ence. Nothing steadies a young man down like having good woman friends."

Here it occurred to the wrong twin to put in a good word for himself.

"Why is it necessary to steady Gene down?" he asked in Harold's best manner.

"Why, I am sure, son, you are al ways complaining of him," said Mrs. Balder, and Eugene announced to himself that he had it in for Har old. But he said in a conciliatory tone:

"Mere boyish pranks, mother. Eugene is a good fellow enough as boys go. I have yet to hear of his doing a dishonorable thing. How could he after such lessons as you have given! (I would like to wring Harold's neck!) I really think you can trust him to come out all right. (Some day he'll prove another Cain!) I will look after him myself and ad vise him if I see him going wrong."

"Spoken like my own Harold!" said the mother, with fervor. "I love you both, but I cannot close my eyes to Eugene's thoughtlessness, and I look to you to reform him."

Then she kissed the wrong twin for his brother and dismissed him, and Eugene fell over himself in get ting out of the room, while he con cealed dark schemes of vengeance against Harold, and as he revolved them in his mind he laughed and chuckled like a fiend.—Chicago Times-Herald.
