OAKLEY ITEMS.

Personal Notes—Mrs Bettie Page Dead.

OAKLEY, N. C., Oct. 18th. 1897.
J. H. Page was all smiles last week. It is a girl.

Quite a number of our people took in the big show Wednesday.

Miss Mary Highsmith returned home Monday night from Tarboro.

I. H. Little and J. A. Roberson returned from Rocky Mount Tuesday.

J. J. Rawls, wife and daughter, Miss Mary, left Monday for Pantego to attend the Disciple convention.

Mrs. M. Highsmith and daughter, Miss Mary, returned home Saturday night after spending a few days in Raleigh.

Mrs. J. E. Hines and little son leave today for their home near Rocky Mount, after spending some time here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Williams.

It is with deep sympathy that we chronicle the death of Mrs. Bettie Page, wife of M. R. Page, which occurred at her home near here on Oct. 20th, after a long and painful illness. Truly it can be said of her that a good and useful woman is gone. Where the sick were there she was to be found endeavoring to alleviate their sufferings. She leaves a husband, three children and a host of friends to mourn her death. We extend to the bereaved family our sincere sympathy.

He Still Loves Flowers

Ex-State Senator W. R. Williams, of Falkland, spent today here on his way home from the Christian Conference at Pantego. We saw him coming up the street bearing a beautiful bouquet and imagined that the mind of this old veteran of Democracy was running back over the days when his eloquent speeches in the Senate brought many floral offerings from the ladies in the gallery.

STATE NEWS.

There are now 279 pupils at the Institute for the Blind in Raleigh. No more can be received at present.

The Record says the vestry room of the Episcopal church at Pittsboro was broken into and robbed of a few articles of little value.

John Ivey Garner, of Denton, Davidson county, owns a curiosity in the way of a three legged calf. The calf is a year old, well developed and can jump a fence like a dog.—Salisbury Sun.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct 29, '97.

Mr. McKinley and his administration have nobody but themselves to blame for many persons regarding their now you see it, now you don't see it, manipulation of the Union Pacific Railroad question as a thimble riegging game in which the people have been buncoed. First the sale of the road was to be postponed and then it wasn't. Those who have carefully studied this matter say that the administration deserves no credit for the rise of $8,000,000 in the bid for the reorganization committee for the property; that it was a question with the reorganization committee of losing all the swag or of giving up enough of it to hush the public clamor which had compelled the announcement that the government would ask the court to postpone the sale of the road for six weeks, in order to give intending competing bidders a chance, and that Mr. McKinley was in too great a hurry to withdraw the application for a postponement of the sale. No interest could possibly have suffered by the postponement of the sale, and the creditors, other than the government, of the road might have been greatly benefitted. Members of the administration may throw bouquets at each other over this business, as they try to make the country believe that they accomplished something which deserves praise, but the country has a way of getting at the inside of things, and it will do so in this case.

There must be something about the New York city campaign which provokes men to profanity. Secretary Bliss is not ordinarily a profane man, but he has been using ugly cuss words in public to emphasize his denial of the charge that funds of the Republican National committee, of which he is Treasurer, were being used in behalf of Gen. Tracy, the Platt-McKinley candidate for greater New York. Mr. Bliss should read his Shakespeare, and ponder his comments upon the fellow who protested too much.

The screws have never been turned upon Ohio Republicans employed in the government departments harder than during the present week. Many of them have pleaded poverty as an excuse for not going home to vote, Boss Hanna sent a big batch of railroad tickets—something like 500—from Washington to Columbus, Ohio, and return, to his Washington agent, and these tickets have been placed in the hands of those Ohio Republicans who had claimed to be too poor to buy their own railroad tickets, and each of them has been informed that by calling at the Hanna headquarters in Columbus in person he can secure round trip free transportation from that city to his voting place in the State. And that isn't all; every one of these men has been given a hint that it will be very unwise for him not to go home and cast his vote for the Hanna ticket. Nothing worse than this was ever done, even in the days when a Republican candidate for President telegraphed asking the chairman of the National Committee, "How are the departments doing?" Still, there are people who swallow all the stuff about civil service reform that emanates from Mark Hanna's administration.

The great McKinley Cuban policy, which was used at the extra session to prevent the House from taking up and adopting, as it should have done, the joint resolution which the Senate adopted, directing the recognition by this government of the belligerency of the Cubans, has, if the friends of the administration know what they are talking about, been abandoned, and Mr McKinley will refer the whole business to Congress for solution. This seems an astounding statement to make, but it is the McKinley followers who are making it in Washington. Spain's reply to the McKinley policy, which reached Washington this week, seems to have broken the main spring of the policy, if there really ever was a definite policy, which many doubt. It is semi-officially stated that the communication from Spain will, as a result of an understanding be between the two governments, be kept from both the Spanish and the American people until after it has been submitted to Congress by Mr. McKinley. Last spring Mr. McKinley said in effect to Congress: keep your hands off this question; I can handle it without your assistance, and in December he will appeal to Congress for orders as to what he shall do with it. This sort of thing would be humiliating to a sensitive man. Meanwhile everything else has been dropped and Mr. McKinley, John Sherman, Mr. Day and other prominent members of the administration have gone to Ohio to try to persuade the voters to keep their hands off Marcus Aurelius Hanna.

Yellow Jack Preventative.

Guard against Yellow Jack by keeping the system thoroughly clean and free from germ breeding matter. Cascarets Candy Cathartic will cleanse the system and kill all contagious disease germs.

Moses and Pharaoh's Daughter

A New England divine once, preaching on the perils which surrounded youth, illustrated his subject by describing the dangers to which the infant Moses was exposed in his little wicker boat on the banks of the Nile, saying: "Moses was a goodly child, but he was placed by his parents where he was surrounded by innumerable dangers—the fang of the serpent, the jaw of the alligator, the tooth of the hippopotamus and the claw of the vulture." It is a little surprising that the daughter of Pharaoh should have chosen such a dangerous beach for bathing.—Church Economist.

Yellow Jack Killed.

Cascarets, Candy Cathartic kills Yellow Jack wherever they find him. No one who takes Cascarets regularly and systematically is in danger from the dreadful disease. Cascarets kill Yellow fever germs in the bowels and prevent new ones from breeding. 10c, 25c, 50c, all druggists.

Assistants in Public Schools.

A circular letter has been sent out to all the school supervisors by Supt. Mebane, calling their attention to the employing of assistants in public schools. He warns them that no person should be allowed to teach as an assistant in a public school unless he has a certificate from the county supervisor. He also says that his attention has been called to some instances where the principals were paid $40 or $50 per month of the public fund, with the understanding that the principal teachers were to furnish their assistants. The assistants selected in these cases were pupils taken from the school and not qualified for the work. Mr. Mebane adds: "A case was reported to me last spring where a principal drew $20 per month of public funds for an assistant teacher and hired his assistant for $10 or $12. If this be true, such a man is not fit to be in any school room. It is your duty as supervisor to see that the little ones are not neglected, and are not placed in charge of anyone except a competent teacher. Where an assistant is needed, let the committee make contract with assistant in the same manner as with the principal."

A Notorious Adventuress

It is some years since Victoria Woodhull and Theodore Tilton walked in the celebrated procession of New York socialists, in honor of the French communists executed for the murder of a Catholic bishop and other persons whom the commune found troublesome during its brief period of power in Paris. If anybody had attempted to cast the horoscope of the elder of the Claffin sisters in those days, it would have required supernatural insight to guess that at the end of a quarter of a century there should be found in England an interesting widow of a reputable banker, bearing the name of Mrs. Victoria Claffin Woodhull-Martin, to whom her devoted husband had left a nice little competency of $700,000.

Eggs May be Kept Fresh for Three Months.

"It is impossible in some sections of the country to get perfectly fresh eggs during the winter season," says Mrs. S. T. Rorer in the November Ladies' Home Journal. "To guard against this, in summer time, when they are cheap, pack them in lime water, and they will keep in good condition for three months. Pour one gallon of boiling water over a pound of lime; when settled and cold pour it carefully over the eggs which you have packed, small ends down, in a stone jar, and stand in a cool dark place. Eggs may also be packed in salt; anything that will close the pores of the shell and prevent evaporation will preserve eggs."

Eleven Inches of Hand.

Jim Steyenson, a negro, aged about 20 years, residing in Lexington, but who was born at North Middletown, Bourbon County, has the most enormous hand in the world, probably, and he says he was born that way. His right hand is 11 inches long from the joint of the wrist to the end of the middle finger, and the thumb and fingers are about four inches in circumference. His thumb nail is as big as half dollar. The two last fingers are of normal size. The thumb and index finger of the left hand are about double normal size.—Louisville Dispatch.

A young woman in England, whose sweetheart dropped dead just before the wedding day, whose mother died from the shock, whose sister died on the way to the funeral and whose brother committed suicide in consequence of all these things, came to the conclusion that she was hoodooed and tried to drown herself. She was rescued and brought before a magistrate who reproved her acting so foolishly on such slight provocation.

As True as Gospel

Vanity is a danger signal.

Silence is sometimes slantier.

Silence is a short session devoted to unfinished business.

Some people make music while others dance their lives away.

There are three crowns: The crown of the priesthood, and the crown of loyalty; but the crown of a good name is superior to them all.

Nothing is so narrow, contracting,
as always to move in the same groove,
with no thought beyond what we immediately see and hear close around us.

A good and wise man may at times
be angry with the world, at times grieved at it; but be sure no man was ever discontented with the world if he did his duty in it.

The regeneration of the world will begin when humanity fully realizes that its humanity is divine, and that life in its true sense means simply and always divine life.

Intoxicating drinks have produced evils more deadly, because more continuous than all those caused to mankind by the great historic scourges
of war, famine and pestilence combined.

Art Appreciated

During one of Edwin Forrest's Boston engagements a poor artist called several times to see him. Each time he brought a picture which he had painted, he finally left it with a note stating that he was in needy circumstances. Forrest read the note and took the wrapping from the picture.
It proved to be a painting of himself as Spartacus. Forrest gazed upon it a moment, and then ejaculated to the clerk: "Give him $10. If he is as poor as his picture, he must be on the point of starvation!"

Rabbit Chase Interrupted the Funeral.

"The most exciting rabbit chase
I ever saw was one day several years ago in one of our suburban cemeteries," remarked a well known undertaker a few days since. "I was attending the funeral of an old friend, and while the mourners and others were gathered at the grave listening to the minister one of the men, who was cross eyed, saw a rabbit hopping in the grass several yards away, and, forgetting the solemnity of the occasion, yelled out,
'By jingo, boys, there's a rabbit!'
And, pushing his way through the mourners, he jumped across the grave, nearly knocked the preacher
down and rushed after the rabbit.
The next thing I knew more than half the men had forgotten the dead and joined in the chase. The rabbit ran in a circle, and as it returned toward the grave most of the women climbed on top of the tombstones and railings. After nearly half an hour's excitement the rabbit disappeared in a stone pile, and the burial services were concluded."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Mauser Pistol.

The mauser pistol utilizes the force of the recoil. The firing continues as long as the trigger is drawn back, while, if the trigger be released, the weapon remains loaded and cocked, ready for the next pull of the finger. Cartridges are fastened together in charges of ten,
which can be quickly loaded into the magazine. It is also made for 20 cartridges. Eighty shots per minute can be fired successfully.
One of these ten shot pistols was fired 2,200 times without being cooled or cleared. It operated perfectly, and no appreciable wear on the parts was visible.

Not So Easily Moved.

The captive sank miserably upon her knees.

"Is not your majesty moved by a woman's tears?" she implored.

The king laughed a harsh laugh.
"If I was," he replied coldly, "I wouldn't be paying rent. I tell you those."

In point of fact, it took an even 14 vans, a woman's tears cutting no
ice one way or the other.—Detroit

WEATHER BULLETIN.

Fair tonight and Sunday, light frost Sunday morning.

NO CURE—NO PAY

That is the way all druggists sell GROVES TASTELESS CHILL TONIC for Chills, Fever and all forms of Malaria. It is simply Iron and Quinine in a tasteless form. Children love it. Adults prefer it to bitter, nauseating Tonics. Price, 50c.

Caught of the Small Things That Occur.

The Ayden Journal has enlarged. Get your gun ready, you can go hunting Morday.

Last Saturday in October and tomorrow is the last day of the month.

Saturday Sale

Today is the first time this season a sale was necessary on Saturday out on tobacco row. There was so much tobacco here Friday that only three of the warehouses could complete their sales, and one house with a chock full floor had to be left over until today. Who says the Greenville market is not going ahead?
