Ernest Harding Dead

This was the sad news that flew through the community last Thursday morning and as it was passed from one to another, the shocking intelligence carried with it a darkening gloom, which was profoundly intense. Although Ernest was only seventeen years of age, he had already worked his way to the front rank, and stood there as one of the most energetic young men in the community. For his genial, sunny disposition he had no equal. It was his highest and greatest pleasure to contribute to the happiness of his brother and sisters and all others who came in contact with him.

He was buried by the Rev. Alban Greaves in the Episcopal cemetery at St. John's beside his father and mother. In his early childhood he became one of the most active workers in the Sunday school and as he grew in years he grew rapidly in usefulness. His family, the community, the Sunday school and church have sustained an irreparable loss in the death of this good young man.

"Asleep in Jesus, blessed sleep,
From which none every wake to weep;

A calm and undisturbed repose
Unbroken by the lost of foes."

The latest story from Klondike is that a man was caught out in a wind storm. The ground was dry and dusty. When the man got home he coughed up $73.15 in gold dust.

STATE NEWS.

The Davis Military school at Winston, has gone into the hands of a receiver.

The Asheville Gazette says that last Friday a young man named Teague, living in Jackson county, while playing with a school mate, attempted to jump a ditch and fell, breaking his neck. Death ensued a few moments thereafter.

The Wilmington Star says that Tuesday afternoon, seven miles from Wilmington, Owen Horne, a young white lad of 16 years of age, while out hunting, shot his companion, John Craig, a lad 15 years of age, in the left side of the head, which caused death four hours later. The shooting was accidental.

A. R. Wortham, a lawyer, from Henderson, who lately made this city his home, became violently insane, and was placed in the asylum last Saturday. Today he died, apoplexy being the cause. His body was sent to Henderson. His wife got a telegram saying her brother-in-law had dropped dead and that her father was dying. It was surely a sorrowful day for her.—Charlotte Observer.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1897.

Hon. W. J. Bryan took great interest in the elections last Tuesday. The week previous he was in Ohio and made several speeches with telling effect.

The Republicans everywhere endorsed the Republican Administrator, and, in view of losses sustained by them in almost every State, it would seem that Republican politics are not being indorsed at the polls.

The sentiment in favor of the Chicago platform shows a healthy growth throughout the country. Perhaps our opponents will now admit that silver is not dead.

The attempt to secure international bimetalism has proved a failure, and it is now more apparent than ever that the people of the United States must legislate for themselves on the financial question.

Free and unlimited coinage at 16 to 1 is nearer now than it was a year ago. High tariff upon a gold basis has disappointed those Republicans who looked to it for relief.

Taken as a whole, the returns are very encouraging. I think I voice the sentiments of Democrats, Populists and Silver Republicans when I say the fight will be continued with even more earnestness until the gold monopoly is broken and the money trust is overthrown.

Rev. Irl R. Hicks, who has made a reputation as a weather prophet, says we are to have wind and rain storms 7th to 10th; more storm conditions 13th and 14th; warm rains and thunder 18th and 19th; violent activity of the elements 24th. If this all comes true November weather is going to do about a plenty, and if we all come through safe there will be more cause to observe Thanksgiving Day on the 25th than can be found in the President's proclamation.

A correspondent of the Raleigh News and Observer suggests the following Presidential ticket for 1900, to run on the Chicago platform of 1896:

For President—William J. Bryan, of Nebraska.

For Vice-President—Robert, A. Van Wyck, of New York.

The REFLECTOR believes this ticket and platform will win in 1900.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov 5, '97.

Today's cabinet meeting was a somewhat gloomy gathering and Mr. McKinley was chief mourner. Secretary Sherman looked as mournful as the rest of them, but if he felt so it was because he feared that the official count in Ohio would not meet Democratic expectations by making Boss Hanna's return to the Senate impossible, and not because of the general rebuke administered to the administration by the increase in the Democratic vote and the decrease in the Republican vote in every State in which an election was held.

With the exception of New York, where disgust with the alleged "reformers" of the Republican municipal administration brought about the cyclone which restored Taft to power by an unexpectedly large plurality, and Maryland, where the silver question was dodged and the anti-Gorman Democrats, headed by the Baltimore Sun, acted with the Republicans, the Democrats made their largest gains in those States where they pushed the free coinage of silver to the front as the leading issue of the campaign.

Democrats in Washington are disposed to give Mr. Bryan a large share of the credit for the splendid showing made by the party in Ohio, and the remark has been made many times, that if the entire campaign in that State has been made along the same aggressive line as the speeches made in the closing days by Mr. Bryan, the Democrats would have elected their entire State ticket as well as have assured the defeat of Boss Hanna.

The only depressing feature about the elections, from a Democratic point of view, was the election of a Republican majority of the Maryland legislature, which means that Senator Gorman's successor will be a Republican.

Delegations of gentlemen representing communities which would like to have that proposed government armor plate factory continue to present themselves and their able arguments before the Board of Naval Officers having charge of the investigation to ascertain the best location for such a plant, which indicates either a lack of knowledge of the attitude of the administration towards the project or a belief that Congress will act in the matter regardless of the opposition of the administration.

Hon. Hannis Taylor, who was U. S. Minister to Spain under the last administration and until the arrival of Gen. Woodford, the present minister at Madrid, several months ago, and who is at present staying in Washington, fails to perceive how occupying a position as a diplomat should operate to deprive him of the right to have and express an opinion of his own after his return to private life, and is therefore not inclined to bother his head about the absurd talk that some of the friends of Spain and of the administration have indulged in since the publication of a very strong and truthful magazine article written by Mr. Taylor and dealing with Spain and its relations with Cuba.

NEEDS IMPROVING

EDITOR REFLECTOR:—Was there ever a better time than now for work on Dickinson Avenue to be done and the Avenue made a pleasure to drive upon? Will it be done or will it continue to be the most holey street in the town?

There is more travel on this street than any other street in town and its condition is abominable. The races are now over. The winter promises to be a cold and severe one. This street will continue to be the most public thoroughfare and demands more attention than any other and there is no excuse why it should not receive the proper attention.

TO WINTER.

Let not thy sleet begin—
Snow not a little bit
Until my coat is in
And I have paid for it!

Let not a blizzard note
Sound from the land or sea.
Until mine overcoat
Comes home again to me!

O, Winter! be not ripe
For icy deeds.—alas!—
Think of the plumber's bill for pipe—
Think of the bills for gas!

Let not thy sleet begin—
Let not thy snowflakes fall
Until the cash is in
To settle up for all!

Judge Timberlake, in his charge to the grand jury at Wilson court, the Advance says, called their attention particularly to species of fraud that has been practiced a good deal on tobacco warehousemen. He said that if a man gets an advance on tobacco by promising to bring the tobacco to that particular house to sell, then it is obtaining goods under false pretences unless he complies with his agreement.

Wrong End Up.

M. Calino having taken a farm, he is very careful to instruct his assistants to take the proper and systematic course in all they do. "Be sure you begin your work at the bottom," is his favorite maxim, and he repeats it whenever he sets his men at work.

Lately he had occasion to dig a well on the place and put to this duty a couple of men experienced in that line of work.

"And be sure," he said to them as they got their picks and shovels ready, "that you begin your work at the bottom."

It was a still more curious reversal of things, perhaps, which led one of M. Calino's servants, a good woman, to come running to him one day with the announcement:

"Quick, monsieur! Come here! Your little Jean has fallen into the ditch, and he's into the mud up to his ankles!"

"Up to his ankles?" said Calino. "Why, that's nothing." "Oh, but I forgot to tell you," said the woman, "that he's in head first!"—Youth's Companion.

A Great Sign.

On a telegraph pole in the suburbs of a New England village was tacked this notice:

"Lost.—Between here and the postoffice, a real lady's hair switch black mixt with gray with shoe-string tide around one end the above which please return to the postmaster and git fifty cents with thanks of owner who needs it badly and will be thankful for the kindness of any Lady or gent who will return what cannot be of no use to them, but which is a necessity to her."—Harper's Bazar.

Interesting and exciting collection of centipeds, lizards, scorpions and spiders, etc., from my hair, wherein they had sought refuge on the occurrence of the cataclysm. When, however, I had got a few of them out—not all, for that took some weeks—I went for the patient, and having got another light, extricated him, blistered him, dosed him, paid the other medico, and we all lived happily ever after—at least, as far as I know. Anyhow, the patient got well—that time.—Miss Kingsley in Cornhill Magazine.

Technical.

Mrs. Ducksley—What business is your husband in?

Mrs. Fastleigh—He manufactures wind instruments.

Mrs. Ducksley—Oh, indeed! Now, that's a chance for my son George. He's wild to get a fute. Do you think he could get one at your husband's factory at cost?

Mrs. Fastleigh—I—I really don't believe he could. You see, the wind instruments my husband makes are bicycle pumps.—Philadelphia Times.

Not So Easy now.
The captive sank miserably upon her knees.
"Is not your majesty moved by a woman's tears?" she implored.
The king laughed a harsh laugh.
"If I was," he replied coldly, "I wouldn't be paying rent. I tell you those."
In point of fact, it took an even 14 vans, a woman's tears cutting no ce one way or the other.—Detroit Journal.

ORIGINAL OBSERVATIONS.

Made by the Orange Va., Observer.

"The tooth of time" is the one extracted on credit.

If ignorance is bliss, more ignorance is blisser.

As the evenings grow longer the oil bills grow stronger.

The cowboy supplies the fuel that warms the cattle range.

Lawsuits are too expensive for most people to go courting in.

A girl certainly waists her energy when she hugs another girl.

Many young ladies have students instead of pupils in their eyes.

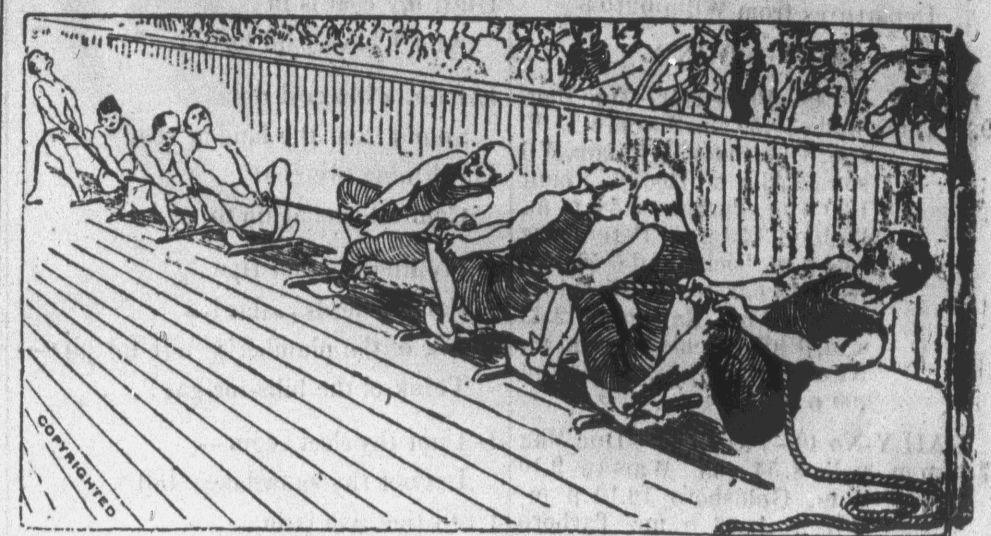

Uneasy rests the number seven foot which wears a number five shoe.

When the office goes out to seek the man he is generally within hailing distance.

And now the pop-corn evenings have arrived, but Orange girls prefer pop-the-question evenings.

Some old dinner customs still prevail. The Romans used to recline at their banquets, and the habit of lying at public dinner still continues.

It's a Tug of War.

Low Prices vs. High Prices.

Low Prices win every time at
