TARBORO ABLAZE.

A BIG FIRE RAGING IN OUR NEIGHBORING TOWN.

Starts in the Bryan House and the Entire Block is Quickly a Mass of Flames.

About 9:45 o'clock this morning THE DAILY REFLECTOR received the following telegram from Tarboro:

"The Bryan House is on fire, roof of building now falling in. It looks like the fire will be a serious one."

A few minutes later the following came:

"Fire spreading rapidly to adjoining buildings, business part of town seems doomed to destruction."

The Bryan house was a large frame building between two brick blocks in the heart of the town.

The next bulletin said: "Fire has crossed to Hotel Farrar and that is now also burning. East side of street also threatened, caught several times. Help has been telegraphed for from Rocky Mount."

At this stage of the fire, 10:30 o'clock the telegraph wires are burned down, interfering with communication.

At 11 o'clock THE DAILY REFLECTOR had out an extra giving the above. As soon as this extra was on the streets Greenville was much excited and everybody felt anxious about the welfare of Tarboro and hoped the fire might be checked.

About 11:30 o'clock the wires were at work again and Capt. A. J. Griffin, Chief of the Greenville fire department, sent the following message:

GREENVILLE, N. C., Nov. 13.
Chief Fire Department,
Tarboro, N. C.
Greenville is ready to serve you.
A. J. GRIFFIN,
Chief Fire Department.

About 15 minutes later this reply was received:

TARBORO, N. C. Nov. 13.
A. J. Griffin,
Chief Fire Department,
Greenville, N. C.

We sincerely appreciate your kind offer of assistance, but we now have the fire under control with the valuable assistance of the Rocky Mount fire department.

C. B. MEHAGAN,
Chief.

This message was a great relief to our people, for they felt that the fire would be less disastrous than had been feared, yet our boys were ready to go if needed.

The Rocky Mount department reached Tarboro about 11:15 and by prompt work put out several buildings that had started to burn and soon had the body of the fire under control.

These additional particulars were received by wire this afternoon.

The cause of the fire is thought to have been from sparks falling on the roof of the Bryan House, hotel.

This building was entirely consumed but most of the contents were saved.

The drugstore of W. H. McNair was also burned, though he saved most of his stock.

The Morris Dry Goods Co., one store burned and stock badly damaged.

D. Lichtenstein, slightly damaged, both building and stock.

C. J. Austin, store and stock damaged.

T. H. Gatlin, store and stock damaged.

Hotel Farrar caught but was put out with only slight damage.

The building west of the Bryan House, occupied by Pamlico Insurance and Banking Co., also caught and was slightly damaged but the wind being favorable to this building it was easily put out.

For awhile it looked like the entire business portion of the town would be destroyed, but valiant work by the home and Rocky Mount fire departments checked the flames.

Low Water.

The hard west wind Friday blew the water out of the river so that the steamer Myers could not get here. She got aground three miles below town and had to wait for the tide to come in. The steamer got afloat during the night and reached here between 1 and 2 o'clock this morning.

The Tarboro fire was the topic of most interest with our people today.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov 12, '97.

Mr. McKinley has taken a hand in that Hanna muddle by personally taking Senator Foraker to task for the attitude that some of the prominent Foraker men in Ohio have taken against the election of Hanna in the State. Whether by so doing he hurt or helped Hanna is as yet a matter of doubt. There was no quarrel between Mr. McKinley and Senator Foraker, but there was plain talk on both sides. Mr. McKinley said he knew Foraker could stop the fight on Hanna that some of his personal followers were showing a disposition to make, if not actually making, if he desired to do so. Mr. Foraker did not deny his power to do so, but retorted by saying that Hanna had brought it all on himself by his treatment of the Foraker and Bushnell Republicans, and intimating that he thought it would serve him good and right if he failed to get elected to the Senate. Mr. McKinley did not defend Hanna's methods in dealing with Foraker's friends, but he made it very plain that the whole power of the administration would be used to secure Hanna's election, and that it would be useless for any Republican who took any part in an attempt to prevent his election to expect the slightest favor from him in the way of patronage. Notwithstanding all this the most that Mr. McKinley could get out of Foraker was a promise that he would not personally do anything against the election of Hanna. Foraker is still in Washington and Mr. McKinley has not abandoned hope of being able to bring sufficient pressure to bear upon him to get him to agree to call his fellows off and to allow Hanna to be elected.

Secretary Gage now openly admits that he is in sympathy with the gold bug, self appointed monetary conference which assumes the right to perform the duties properly belonging to Congress in connection with financial legislation, and to emphasize that sympathy he gave a dinner this week attended only by the members of the so-called conference and Mr. H. H. Hanna, of Indianapolis, who is generally regarded as the creditor of the Indianapolis convention and of this conference. At this dinner the work of the conference, as far as it has gone, and the financial recommendations in the annual report of Secretary Gage were discussed. If these men have time to waste they have as much right to waste it in this way as in any other. The only good purpose that will be served either by the recommendations of Secretary Gage or this conference, composed of his side partners, will be the increase in the silver sentiment of the country. Senator Chandler has not always been wise in his predictions, but he hits the nail square on the head in his latest, made public this week—"if the Republican party permanently acquiesces in the existing gold standard it will be defeated in the Congressional elections of 1898 and in the Presidential election of 1900."

John Wedderburn and John Wed-

derburn & Co., who were recently disbarred from practice before the Patene office, were this week placed on the fraud list by the Post Office Department, and will not be allowed further use of the mails. Their paper, the National Recorder, was included in the fraud order, and any letters addressed to them will be stamped "fraudulent" and returned to writer, if address is on envelope; otherwise they will be sent to the writer through the Dead Letter Office. Newspapers which continue to carry Wedderburn & Co's advertisement after knowing of this fraud order may find themselves in trouble with the postal authorities.

Senator Wolcott arrived in Washington this week and had a conference with Mr. McKinley about the fizzle trip of himself and colleagues in Europe in search of that latter day "Holy Grail" known as international bimetalism. The Senator used to be almost always willing to talk to the newspaper men, but he now declines all invitations to discuss the failure in which he played such a conspicuous part.

Lemuel Eli Quigg, who was Boss Platt's mouthpiece in the recent New York municipal campaign and who is about the most discredited political prophet of the day, was at the White House this week. His interview with Mr. McKinley may or may not have included Cuban affairs, but when it is remembered how he shouted for free Cuba during the last session of Congress, the following language used by him after he left the White House is considered significant: "I hope that Congress will not attempt to conduct our foreign relations. There was a time, perhaps, when a resolution conferring belligerent rights upon the Cubans might have been passed without bringing on a war with Spain, but that time has gone. If the Spanish people have a spark of manhood left there could be but one result of any Congressional declaration favoring Cuba. Our people do not want a war with any one. There is no possible compensation for it. We are not in a proper condition of defense, and it is absurd to invite a war until we are ready for one." That is about as complete a fliplop as any man in public life has taken on the Cuban question, and it indicates that the do nothing policy is to be continued by Mr. McKinley.

SONG AND VERSE.

A pipe, a book,
A cozy nook,
A fire—at least its embers;
A dog, a glass—
'Tis thus we pass
Such hours as one remembers.
Who'd wish to wed?
Poor Cupid's dead
These thousand years, I wager
The modern maid
Is but a jade,
Not worth the time to cage her.
In silken gown
To "take" the town
Her first and last ambition.
What good is she
To you or me
Who have had a "position."
So let us drink
To her and tink
Of him who has to keep her;
And sans a wife,
Who spends her life
In bachelordom—it's cheaper.

BARNEY BARNATO'S WILL.

HEIRS OF THE MINING KING
ENRICHED FOR LIFE.

His Real Name Was Barnett Isaacs,
but He Called Himself Barnett
Isaacs Barnato—Born in England,
He Emigrated to South Africa at the Age of Twenty, in 1871, and Laid the Foundation of His Colossal Fortune.

(By Anglo-American Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 22.

Mr. Barnett Isaacs, commonly known as Barnett Isaacs Barnato, of Johannesburg, and of the firm of Barnato Bros., financiers, at 10 and 11 Austin-friars, formerly of Drapers' gardens and of Kimberley, who died at sea near Funchal on June 14, aged 44, has left personal estate to the value of nearly $5,000,000.

By his will the testator bequeathed to the children of his sister, Elizabeth Nathan, and of his sister, Sarah Rantzan, $5,000 each, and he charged his share of the partnership business of Barnato Bros. with the payment of $5,000 a year to his nephew, Isaac Joel, and $5,000 a year to his nephew, Solomon Joel.

Conditional Legacies.

He made provision also by his will for his sisters, but all these bequests and annuities were to be revoked in the event of the death of his brother Henry in his lifetime, as his brother had also by his will made like provision for their relations.

The late Mr. Isaacs bequeathed $125,- 000 in trust for his niece Lillie, daughter of his said brother Henry, and he bequeathed to his daughter, Leah Primrose Isaacs, $125,000, and upon trusts for her $1,250,000. He bequeathed also upon trusts for his two sons $1,- 250,000 each, and he bequeathed to his wife, Mrs. Fanny Isaacs, $25,000 and a life annuity of $50,000.

Residue to His Brother.

Mrs. Isaacs is also to have an allowance in respect of each of the testator's children, and he left all the residue of his property, including his share and interest in the partnership business of Barnato Bros. to his said brother and his nephew, Woolf Joel.

An affidavit attached to Mr. Barnato's will is to the effect that the testator was born of English parents at 5 Roper's Buildings, Aldgate, and that he left England at the age of about 20 years, in 1871. A further affidavit by Mr. James Weston Leonard is that the will is valid by the laws of the South African Republic. The late Mr. Barnato's domicile was in Johannesburg.

CONSUELO'S NEW CASTLE.

American Duchess Said to Have Bought Bryn Bras.
(By Anglo-American Press.)
CARDIFF, Wales, Oct. 22.

Bryn Bras castle and estate of about eighty acres, near the celebrated Llan-beris pass, in the county of Carnarvon, has been sold by private treaty to Messrs. Hedger and Mixer of Whitehall, S. W.

The castle is said to have cost some $100,000 to build, and has the reputation of being haunted, the "ghost" being included in the sale.

It is reported that the purchaser is Consuelo, Duchess of Marlborough, formerly Miss Vanderbilt, of New York.

Houses Without Chimneys.

It is curious, though true, that of all the houses, dwellings, stores, hotels and other buildings that dot the island of Key West from one shore to the other, not one of them has a chimney or anything that will answer the purpose of a chimney. Handsome residences and lowly hovels are alike in this respect, and from an eminence gazing out over acres of roofs on all sides one is struck with the want of something to complete the symmetry of the picture. Wood and coal or fuel of any kind are unknown quantities, as the tropical atmosphere furnishes all the heat required, and for cooking purposes sticks of carbon are used, which are sold by peddlers, who hawk their wares about the streets.—Atlanta Constitution.

Should Have Spoken Sooner.

He—Miss Quickstep, they say you tabulate your admirers as "preferred," "eligible," "tolerable," "so so," "emergency," "intolerable,"
"not to be thought of," and the like.
Where do I come in?

She—I—I'm afraid, Mr. Rinckley, you are a little too late to classify.
—Chicago Tribune.

ed arms with the shorter ends attached to the center of the nearest

One Man's Courage.

All Paris was stirred one day in August, 1869, by a deed of courage which recalled the old legend of Horatius and his two comrades holding Lars Porsena's army at bay until the bridge across the Tiber had been cut down.

At a performance in the Hippodrome Lucas, the lion tamer, entered the cage where were two lions and two lionesses. Scarcely had he closed the door when one of the lions sprang upon him and seized him by the back of the neck. The sight of blood maddened the other beasts, and they, too, fell on their trainer.

Women screamed and fainted;
men grew pale or shouted out impossible orders. The employees of the Hippodrome lost their heads, all save Lucas' attendant, Jose Mendez, a Spaniard. Arming himself with an iron weapon, he entered the cage, smote the lions hip and thigh and nearly killed them all. Then he dragged out his mangled master, who was immediately bandaged
by a doctor.—Youth's Companion.

J. M. Gallagher, of New York, special agent of the Old Dominion Co., is here looking after the barge and cotton that was burned Wednesday night.

Most of it Burned

A raft containing what cotton could be saved from the barge of the O. D. S. S. Co. that was burned at Centre Bluff, Wednesday night, was brought down to Greenville today. Out of the 168 bales of cotton on the barge only 5 bales escaped damage, a portion of 73 bales can be saved by picking over, possibly an average of as much as 50 pounds of good cotton to the bale. Most of the cotton was covered by insurance. The barge is badly damaged.

Married.

Patrick—Bright.—At the home of the brides cousin, Mr. Dock Taylor, of Greene county, on Thursday afternoon 11th inst. at 2 o'clock, Rev. C. W. Howard of the Christian church officiating, Mr. J. J. Patrick, of Quinerly, led to the Hymenial altar Miss Adele Bright, one of Greene county's most charming and accomplished young ladies.

Immediately after the ceremony the bride and groom accompanied by several of their friends left for the home of the groom where an elegant reception was held. We wish them "Bon Voyage" through life. REPORTER.

Died.

Mrs. Polley Ann Rogers, the mother of Mr. L. A. McGowan, died Tuesday morning. Mrs. Rogers was 78 years old and the last of the family. The funeral was held at the residence of Mr. G. A. McGowan by Elder Godfrey Johnson, of the Free Will Baptist church. She was one of the oldest people in the county and was a true and devoted Christian. Her church, the county and the family will miss her kind deeds. We extend to the family our sympathy in this sad loss to them. T. T.
