Take Your Medicine.

It is well known that the present administration is not that of co-operation, as Russell, the appointing power of North Carolina, was not a fusion candidate, but obtained his nomination in the Republican convention by the most shameless methods of corruption and that he was in no sense the candidate of the Populist party. True, many of the Populists voted for him, because of the Populist candidate's actions just prior to the election.

The above paragraph is from the Hayseeder, a paper run by Otho Wilson, whom Governor Russell turned down as railroad commissioner. Otho is waging war on the Governor because he deprived him of his job, and not because he is a corrupt man. When Russell was elected Governor of North Carolina, Otho Wilson, like many other Populists, rejoiced at it. He did not dream then that the man whom he and his crowd had helped to make Governor would drive him from the pie counter. This is like a man being bit by his own dog. But let us turn to what we started out to discuss.

The Hayseeder disclaims any responsibility on the part of the Populists for Russell's election. If the Populists are not partly responsible for it, pray tell us who is? Every intelligent man knows that the Republicans could not have elected Russell Governor if every Populist in the State had voted against him, and for Cy Watson, the Democratic candidate. Had not a single Populist voted for Russell, still the party would have been indirectly responsible for Russell's election. Why? Simply because that party has drawn about all of its strength from the Democratic party; consequently Watson's defeat.

Senator Butler favored Russell's election, and caused a great many Populists to vote for him. Butler favored Russell, because he felt that he could use him as a tool in carrying out his schemes, that he had in view, and from all indications he has succeeded pretty well.

Russell's administration is no doubt very distasteful to many of the Populists, but they helped to make him Governor, and it is not worth while to try to shirk the responsibility.—Safford Express.

How Towns Are Made or Killed.

Here is an excellent article found in an exchange which THE REFLECTOR commends to the careful perusal of its readers:

More towns die for want of confidence on the part of business men and lack of public spirit than from the rivalry of neighboring town or adverse surroundings. When a man in search of a home or business location goes to a town and finds everything brimful of hope and enthusiasm over the prospects of the place and earnestly at work to build up the town, he soon becomes imbued with the same spirit, and as result he drives down his stake and goes to work with the same interest. When, however, he goes to a town every one expresses doubt and apprehension in the future prosperity of the place, moping about and indulging in mourning complaints about imaginary evils which are likely to befall the town; he naturally feels it is no place for him, and at once shakes the dust from his feet while he pulls with all possible speed for some other town. Consequently try and make a live, enterprising, progressive town out of the one in which you live. When you are working for or saying a good thing for your town you are accomplishing all the more for yourself.

Chapel at the Home.

The County Commissioners have ordered that a chapel for religious purposes be built at the County Home. This is a good step, as the inmates of the Home should have the benefit of worship.

The steam fire engine has been moved to Hope Fire Company's new building. The building is not quite completed but will be in a few days more, when the company will have a nice place for keeping its equipment and holding meetings.

Crisis Near at Hand.

Cuban affairs seem to be rapidly approaching a crisis, and all indications now warrant the conclusion that there will be some kind of intervention by the United States within sixty days. It is not probable that the terms of settlement this government will propose will be satisfactory to the Cubans and their millions of sympathizers in this country. It is more likely to be what President McKinley termed in his annual message "a righteous peace," just alike to Cubans and to Spain, as well as equitable to all our interests so immediately involved in the welfare of Cuba. To a reflective mind this does not mean Cuban independence through any intervention by the United States, as the McKinley administration views everything from the commercial standpoint. Still, it is not impossible that the terms the United States may propose may not be acceptable to Spain (unless there is already an understanding between the two powers) in which event Cuba may be free. In the meantime, stirring events are rapidly approaching a climax.—Wil. Star.

THE MAYOR OF LYNN.

Paine's Celery Compound
Never Fails to Invigorate Him When Worn Out

Mayor Ramsdell is again mayor of Lynn.

Two years ago he was elected by the combined People's party, Democratic and Citizen's Reform party. He was again nominated by acclamation by the Democrats to succeed himself as mayor of the busy modern city, and was again elected by a rousing majority last month.

Mayor Ramsdell's present high position is the legitimate reward of his ability and his fearlessness in defending his opinions. He has never hesitated to declare his convictions in public, nor has he been slow to espouse the cause of the shoe-makers and other wage earners. In 1894 he was candidate of the People's party for Congress. A hard worker, a conscientious official, Mayor Ramsdell has more than once been pushed to the limit of his strength.
At such times of extreme nervous tension and overwork, he has saved himself from breaking down by taking Paine's celery compound.

Mayor Ramsdell's honest opinion of this great remedy cannot be mistaken by any one who reads his letter that follows:

Sir Frank Lockwood's Wit.

Sir Frank Lockwood once began cross examining a lady with a few irrelevant questions to put her off her guard. This would have been very well if, like most witnesses, she had meekly submitted, but she upset everything with "Don't you think that is a very silly question, Sir Frank?"

"Upon my word," he replied, "I think it is."

In a breach of promise case he once rallied the jury with "You, gentlemen, cannot seriously think that this charming lady's matrimonial prospects are forever blighted. Surely not one of you could be ungallant enough, if single, to be averse to the acquaintance of so attractive a lady. I myself am no longer available, but you!"—London News.

Wells & Richardson Co., Burlington, Vt

Gentlemen:—A previous experience with Paine's celery compound, as a restorer of exhausted energy, induced me recently to take it again, the many duties of the mayor's office having taxed my slight physical resources greatly. I made no mistake. In one week, I found my appetite improved, the feeling of weariness disappearing, and my nerves becoming steadier. Paine's celery compound has thus been a friend in time of need, and I like to say a word for a friend.

Truly yours,
WALTER L. RAMSDELL.
Nov. 5, 1897.

In every city, in business houses, bank, newspaper offices—wherever the friction of worry is wearing out the nerves and reducing the nutrition of the body, Paine's celery compound is proving its inestimable value. It invariably insures sound sleep, and thus gives the overstrung nerves their natural rest; it corrects a constipated habit that so commonly goes with sedentary occupations, and frees the blood of poisonous humors, and that at some time or other develop into grave disease.

There Are Others.

A boy read tales of the sea and he said: "When I am a man, I will quit the plow; I will sail up and down the high seas, north and south and east and west; I will visit all the earth." But when he was a man there were those for whom he must care and he must needs wait. And so, day after day, year after year, till he was old and bent and gray, between the two handles of his plow, over and over he trudged his narrow field, still sailing up and down the high seas, north and south and east and west, visiting all the lands of the earth.—Christian Work.

Cotton at $1.20 per Pound.

We can remember when cotton sold at $1.20 per pound, right here in Wilmington. This was in 1865, directly after the close of the war. It had been hidden in various places, some of them very secret and out of the way. The late James Dawson had 65 bales bricked up in a vault in a building on South Water street, the building in the rear of Messrs. James C. Stevenson & Taylor's wholesale grocery house and now owned by Mr. Stevenson. We saw this cotton brought to light and helped to weigh it. We were told that Mr. Dawson got $1.25 per pound for it, but in this we may have been misinformed as from a table before us we find the highest price quoted in New York was $1.20 and therefore we adopt these figures. But in one year, 1864, did it go beyond $1.20. In that year it got up as high as $1.90 per pound, against 93 cents in 1863.
 The table we allude to is sent out by Price, McCormick & Co., of New York. There was a big drop, however towards the latter part of 1865, when it ranged down as low as 35 cents. From that time the descent was gradual, but sure. As late as 1891, seven years ago, it sold for 12½ cents. In 1896 the maximum was 8½ and the minimum 7 1-16. These figures, be it understood, were for middling. Today this grade is worth in New York 5 15-16.—Wilmington Review.
