GOOD BYE.

ON THE ROAD, Feb. 15, 1898.
DEAR REFLECTOR:-

"Farewell, farewell is a lonely sound,
And always brings a sigh --
But give to me when loved ones part
That dear old word, good bye."

A melancholly sadness steals over me, like Ossian's music "sweet tho' mournful to the soul." We never fully appreciate or realize the fond endearments until we are called upon to say farewell, good bye.

I love North Carolina, and I could not leave her borders without lingering again upon the scenes so dear to my life, so I stopped over to spend Sunday in Greensboro and take the day train from here that I might see, possibly for the last time, the great and wonderful hills and mountains, the handwork of Omnipotence, so dear to every patriotic soul of the grand old State.

I was profoundly impressed with three things witnessed in Greensboro. The Normal and Industrial College, where so much is being done to develop the mind and heart of our beautiful girls. With a coterie of young ladies I went through this great institution from base to dome, and if there ever was an inspiration for the betterment of the good women of North Carolina, it will be awakened in any man who is a lover of his native State. God bless the efforts being put forth here for the promotion of Carolina's daughters.

I paid a pleasant visit of an hour to the Keeley Institute, presided over by that prince of men, Col. W. H. Osborn. This institute is now located in one of the most beautiful parts of the city, the Julius Gray mansion. The institute is one of the finest and most thoroughly conducted in the United States. A haven where the poor and fallen may be redeemed from the soul-cursed demon of despair and debauchery. A wonderful place, indeed, it is, and wonderful the good it is doing.

While in Greensboro I met Messrs. Ramsour and Moore with the North Carolina rolling exposition, or "North Carolina on Wheels." This is the most beautiful and attractive display of the products and resources of the State I ever saw. Great taste has been displayed in constructing and fitting out the car. It was built at Wilmington, Del. out of North Carolina woods and is a gem of rare beauty, representing nothing but North Carolina. Thousands of people are flocking to see the car and the exhibits it contains. I understand the car will visit Greenville immediately after the Newbern Fair, and I hope everybody in the State of Pitt will go to see it. It is simply dazzling, but I regret to say that so far it does not exhibit a single thing from Pitt county. I hope Messrs. Allen Warren & Son and many others of the good citizens of the county, will get together some of the many things so abundant there and have them ready by the time the car arrives.

These three things have a thousand times more than paid me for my stay in beautiful Greensboro.

My face is now turned to the Lone Star State, the empire of the Union, and I can but recall the beautiful and touching lines of Tom Moore:

"Farewell, but when you welcome the hour

That awakens the night song of mirth in your bower,

Think of the friend, who welcomed it too.

And forgot his own griefs to be happy with you.

His griefs may return, not a joy may remain

To lighten him on his pathway of pain,

But he ne'er will forget the bright visions that threw Euchantment around him, while lingering with you.

Let fate do its worst, there are relics of joy,

Bright dreams of the past which it cannot destroy,

That come in the night-time of sorrow and care,

And bring back the features that joy used to wear.

Long, long be my heart with such memories filled,

Like the vase in which roses have once been distilled,

You may break, you may shatter the vase if you will,

But the scent of the roses will linger there still."

Yours truly,

ISAAC A. SUGG.

'Tis the wash-woman who speaks to you in soprano tones.

Girls with ringing voices are the only true musical bells.

Thieves are greatest men of metal, for they have nerves of steel.

We always take a kiss at its face value--without going to pay--don't we girls?

"All flesh is grass," which accounts for the greenness of so many people.

Never put off until to-morrow the debt you can pay to-day; never kiss a girl when her other fellows is in the way.

Our Maine defence at Havana has been blown up by the treacherous Spanish, and this act calls for immediate retribution.

The Pearson Meeting.

The official members of the Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian, Episcopal and Christian churches are urgently requested to meet in the law office of Harding and Harding, Monday afternoon at four o'clock. Business of importance relative to the Pearson meeting will be attended to. Any citizen or church member, other than those mentioned above, who is sufficiently interested in the meeting, is cordially invited to attend.

Mr. W. R. Sumbr, who went from this county to Roanoke Rapids, died there today.

HANCOCK BOUNCED.

The Governor Removes Him as a Director of the Atlantic and North Carolina Railway

Raleigh, N. C., February, 17.—Governor Russell today sent the following to Robert Hancock.

"You are hereby notified that at a meeting of the board of internal improvements, consisting of the Governor, C. A. Cook and J. C. L. Harriss, this day you were removed as a member of the board of directors on the part of the state in and for the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad Company. This order to take effect on and after the 22nd day of February 1898."

The governor wrote the following to the directors of the Atlantic and North Carolina Railway:

"Robert Hancock has this day been removed by this board from his office of director of the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad on the part of the state, this removal to take effect on the 22nd day of February 1898, this being the day on which your board of directors is to meet. This action is taken by the board of internal improvements under authority upon them conferred by section 3 of amendments to the charter of the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad Company. It would seem that the removal of Hancock as director will operate as removal from his office as president of your company. But if you concur in the action of the board of internal improvements, it may be well for you to pass an order of your board discharging him as president by virtue of powers granted to your board by section 4 of 2nd article of by-laws of your company.

These letters are signed by Governor Russell as president and J. E. Alexander as secretary of the board of internal improvements.

Hancock told the governor today that if the board of directors of the Atlantic and North Carolina railway asked him to resign, he would fight; whereupon the governor told him he would remove him at once. Hancock then walked out of the executive office.

Whether the boys thought it was Christmas or the fourth of July, or were trying to make our people think that Spain was bombarding the town we are not able to say, but from the way cannon crackers were being exploded early last night we must say there was something wrong in town.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, Feb. 18, '98.

Nothing short of absolute proof that the sinking of the battleship Maine, in Havana harbor, and the crowning of more than two hundred and fifty of its crew—a catastrophe that will cause a shudder of horror to pass over every American every time Havana harbor is mentioned for many years to come—was caused by an accidental explosion on board of the Maine will save Spain from the licking it has been inviting for some time at the hands of the United States. In view of the reports that have reached this country from time to time of boasts made by Spaniards in Havana, since the Maine went there, that at the first intimation of war between Spain and the United States they were prepared to blow the Maine to atoms with torpedoes, and of the treachery of the late Spanish Minister towards his great and good friend, Mr. McKinley, it is not surprising that the suspicion that the destruction was the result of Spanish treachery should be expressed by more than half the men one meets. A nation which could deliberately plan to surround the house of a Cuban with several regiments of troops and coolly shoot down and old man and his children, in order to kill a Cuban officer whose sweetheart was the daughter of the old man, as the Spaniards recently did in Cuba, would not hesitate to use any sort of treachery to destroy a warship of a nation it both feared and hated. Mr. McKinley professes to regard these suspicions with horror, and expresses the belief that the investigation now being made will show them to be without foundations. It is to be devoutly hoped that his belief will be justified by the result of the investigation, for if it isn't, Spain will not only be driven out of Cuba, but will be in danger of being driven out of existence as a nation, by relentless Americans bent on revenge.

Congress is disposed to allow the administration to conduct the investigation of the cause of the loss of the Maine, only asking that it be prompt and thorough and that its result be made public as soon as arrived at.

It having been arranged that Friday and Saturday of this week should be used by the House to discuss the Bankruptcy bill, reported as a substitute for the bill that was passed by the Senate at the extra session, Czar Reed did not find it necessary to make the House adjourn from Thursday to Monday, in order to prevent there being a private bill day, which under the rules should be Friday.

The National Council of the Farmers' Alliance, once a power in the political world, now scarcely heard of,

was in session in Washington this week; also the annual convention of the Woman Suffragists, which always manages to occupy its full share of news space.

Senator Murphy, of New York, who has gone home on business, said before leaving Washington that the resolution censuring him for voting for the Teller resolution, which was adopted by the aid of Republican votes in the New York legislature, was not worrying him the slightest little bit, as he had written evidence from prominent Democrats in every section of the State endorsing his course in voting for the Teller resolution. He regards the censure as nothing more than an attempt by the Republicans to make political capital in the State, which their party badly needs.

Ex-Gov. Patterson, of Colo., has been telling his many friends in Washington that the largely increased and constantly increasing gold production of his State has not altered the universal sentiment of its people in favor of the free coinage of silver at 16 to 1. He made this prediction of the next Democratic National Convention: "It will be held in Chicago; it will reaffirm the platform of '96, without the dotting of an 'i' or the crossing of a 't'; it will nominate Bryan by acclamation, and it will be the most unanimous National convention ever assembled in the United States."

It was at first intended that the National Committees of the Democratic party, the People's party, and the silver Republican party should unite in a joint address to the voters who are friendly to the free coinage of silver, but as some objection was raised to that course it was decided that each committee should issue an address to the voters of its own party, advising general co-operation of all the friends of silver in this year's Congressional campaign, and this week the three addresses were made public. The first time that the full effect of this co-operation will be seen will be in Oregon, where the Congressional elections will be had in June, and the campaign is already practically begun. The issue is going to be squarely made in that State, and the silver men are confident of winning.

DR. WURTH'S OPINION

of the New Discovery in Medicine.

A remarkably Successful Remedy for Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Stomach Troubles.

Dr. Wurth, in commenting on recent discoveries in medicine said: There is none which is certain to be so valuable and far reaching in benefit as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, the new stomach remedy; I say far reaching, because people little realize how important a sound stomach and vigorous digestion is to every man, woman and child.

Indigestion is the starting point of consumption, heart disease, Bright's disease, diabetes, nervous prostration, liver troubles; why is this so? Simply because every nerve, muscle and tissue in our bodies is created and nourished from the food we eat. If that food is by reason of a weak stomach, compelled to lie for hours, a sour, fermenting mass of digested food, it poisons the blood and nervous system, creates gas which distends the stomach and bowels, causing pressure on the heart, lungs and other organs and seriously impeding their action.

He says further, the point to direct attention is not the nerves, nor heart nor lungs nor kidneys, but the stomach, the first cause of all the mischief.

The remedy to use for indigestion and weak stomachs is not some cathartic, but a remedy which will digest the food, increase the flow of gastric juice, absorb the gases, and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will accomplish exactly this result in any case of stomach trouble, because these tablets are composed of the digestive acids, aseptic pepsin, Golden Seal and Bismuth, pleasant to taste, and not being a patent medicine, can be used by anyone with perfect safety. I believe Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure any form of indigestion and stomach trouble except cancer of stomach.

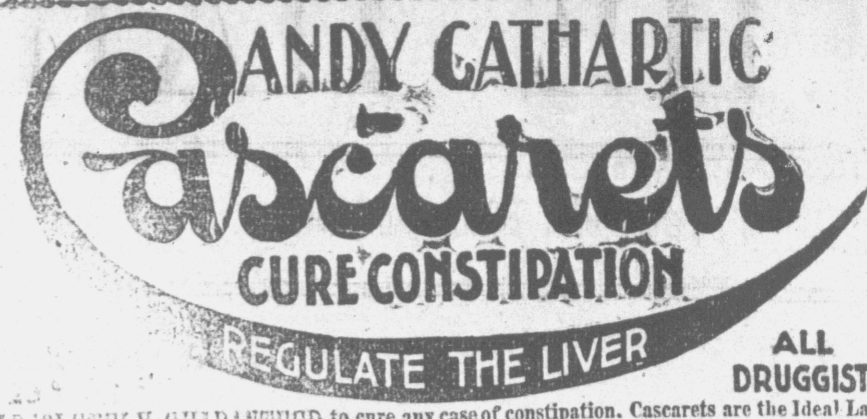

Full size packages of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by druggists at 50 cents. A book on stomach diseases together with thousands of testimonials will be sent by addressing Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

Washington and Lee University.

The gift of $500 to the memorial building fund of Washington and Lee University by the widow and children of the late James A. Garfield constitutes a beautiful and impressive chapter in the history of the re-established Union. It reminds us of the warm friendship subsisting between Garfield and Randolph Tucker—the one a Union soldier during the war of the rebellion and the other a Southerner of the Southerners, both loyal and brave gentlemen according to their standards and convictions, each respecting in the other those qualities of courage and manhood and chivalry which command admiration in whatever guise they come. The two men were on terms of the most affectionate intimacy when they served in Congress together, so much so that Tucker was afterward made guardian for Garfield's boys, and nothing but death severed the ties that bound them so closely. Now Mrs. Garfield comes to the aid of the Tucker memorial hall which is to be erected at Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Va., by way of celebrating the esteem in which she cherishes the memory of her dead husband's well-loved friend.—Washington Post.

Discipling Bob Toombs

When General Robert Toombs, of Georgia, was a young man in his twenties he raised a volunteer company and joined General Scott, who was then conducting a campaign against the Indians in Florida. Even in his early youth Toombs was noted for his confidence and his aggressive bearing. He was without military training and had never submitted to rules and discipline, at college or anywhere else. Naturally, when he met General Scott it was a case of oil and water—they would not mix.

The general knew the character of his red enemies, and he was in no hurry to attack them in the positions which they had chosen. He waited, day after day, determined not to move forward until he was satisfied that he would be successful without the sacrifice of many valuable lives. This delay did not suit the Georgia captain. He fretted, fumed, and swore at the slow methods of his commander.

One night Toombs felt that he could stand it no longer. Going to the general's tent, he found Scott engaged in a pleasant conversation with a dozen officers of high rank. General Scott greeted him pleasantly, and invited him to join the circle of military men who were telling stories of camp life.

"General Scott," said Toombs in a stern tone. "I desire to know sir, whether the army will march against the enemy within the next few days."

"I am not ready yet to answer that question replied the general with a smile. Then sir continued the youthful captain. I will notify you that unless the army marches tomorrow I propose to go forward with my company into every heart of the Indian territory!

When this astounding declaration was made the officers expected the general to administer a withering rebuke. To their astonishing Scott never changed his genial expression. His eye twinkled with good humor and he turned a serene and benignant face upon his audacious visitor.

"Very well, captain," was his quiet answer in a soothing tone. "use your own pleasure, by all means. Take your company tomorrow and march into the Indian country. We may follow you a few weeks later. But don't wait for us. Take your company and go ahead. Good night, captain!"

When Toombs heard this a look of bewilderment came over his face, but not a word from his lips. He saluted the commander and bowed himself out.

"Did he march his company against the enemy the next day?" was my natural question.

"No; he said nothing more about it. He remained at his post and was an exemplary officer during the remainder of the war. And he was not chaffed about the affair either. He was not the man to stand such treatment."—Chicago Times Herald.

A man should not condemn a thing until he has at least given it a trial. We have observed, says an exchange, that those who sneer at intensive cultivation, extra heavy manuring, &c., are the men who have never attempted to practice them. A trial of these methods is very apt to give one some respect for them.

Here is Success for You

"Inside figures" are always interesting, and the following are certainly some striking ones about The Ladies Home Journal. During 1897, 8,183,113 copies of this magazine were printed and so thoroughly sold that the latter-year issues are entirely out of print. It consumes 3,434,362 pounds of paper in a year, and absorbs 80,302 pounds of ink. It runs 28 presses. The advertising column contained $493,325 worth of advertising during the last year. The editors received 9,290 manuscripts and less than one per cent. were accepted. The magazine employs 22 staff editors. 24,648 letters have been received and answered in the year by the editors of the correspondence columns. The Journal has over 15,000 active, working agents on the road getting subscriptions.

It has educated 442 girls free of charge under its free educational plan. In a single day it has received as high as 18,000 subscriptions. 300,000 copies of the Journal are sold each month on the news stands alone—425,000 people subscribe for it by the year.

Dr. Charles W. Dabney, jr., in his address before the Cotton Growers' Association at Memphis, said, among other things, that all cotton planters need to learn "that they can save a great deal by growing food crops and making their own meat and other supplies. The President of this association has estimated that 62 per cent. of the net proceeds of each cotton crop is consumed before the crop is put upon the market. The most important lesson that this association can teach is the lesson of economy in farming on our own capital."

The Governor said to his Board of Directors of the Atlantic road, so it is reported, that he did not believe Hancock was guilty of the charges against him, but it would be "good politics" to remove him. He has removed him, and therefore we must assume that he is playing politics. We believe that Hancock ought to be removed, but the Governor's motive for it is as scandalous as the conduct for which he stands charged.—Raleigh Post.
