WASHINGTON, FEB. 21.

From our Regular Correspondent.

Washington, Feb. 21, 98.

How much longer Congress can stand the strain which has been imposed upon it by the action, or rather non-action of the administration upon the destruction of the battleship Maine and the killing of 250 of its men, in Havana harbor, without an explosion is problematical. Mr. McKinley has disappointed many of his supporters, and nothing but the unwritten law under which Congress has always supported the President in questions of policy affecting a foreign nation has prevented an outbreak before this. Inasmuch as there are probably not 50 men in Congress who do not believe that the Maine was blown up intentionally, it is difficult to understand why Mr. McKinley and the Secretary of the Navy should so persistently assert their belief that the awful calamity was the result of an accident on board the Maine. The naval attaché of the Spanish Legation, has publicly announced the same belief, and added that the accident was the result of carelessness and lax discipline. Ye gods! and this meddling fool has not been sent after de Lome. It could have been understood if Mr. McKinley and his Secretary of the Navy had said that they had no opinion to offer in advance of the finding of the naval court of inquiry, which has been appointed to investigate the awful affair, but why they should take a position that is a reflection upon Captain Sigsbee and the other brave officers of the Maine, is only explainable upon the theory that they are afraid of offending Spain, and that in the event of the failure to find direct and conclusive evidence that the Maine was blown up by Spanish treachery, Captain Sigsbee is to be made a scapegoat. It was the general opinion in Congress that Mr. McKinley should have ordered the entire United States fleet, now off the coast of Florida, to Havana harbor, to remain during the investigation, but so far not even a single warship has been ordered there—Secretary Long says that one will be. It is not surprising that the Spaniards should think and say that we are afraid to send another warship to Havana. Up to this time, Mr. McKinley has only done one thing that has met the unqualified approval of Congress, and the indications point to his having done that under compulsion. That was to refuse to grant the request of the Spanish authorities at Havana, to have a Spanish diver accompany every American diver who made an examination of the hull of the Maine. Just who is entitled to credit for his having done that has not yet been ascertained, but it is certain that somebody is, as Secretary Long had stated before the official request reached Washington, but after it was known that it would be made, that it would be granted. Congress doesn't wish the world to know that it differs with the President; hence it has so far done nothing further than to appropriate $200,000 to be used in saving as much of the Maine and her equipment as possible, but the strain is terrible, and it is still on.

There is a difference of opinion as to whether Senator Mason chose just the right time to make that red-hot speech of his, and also as to the good taste of some of his remarks, which were certainly not such as would be likely to increase our prestige abroad, but the truthfulness of the following is fully apparent: "Why should the administration now hesitate? The President hesitated because of autonomy. Why should he not act when the minister has confessed that it is not real, but a fraud and a sham? Autonomy, by the confession of the Spanish Minister, is a fraud, a delusion, and a snare—a confidence game of a common thief, confessed out of his own mouth." No one could doubt the contempt felt by Mr. Mason for Spanish diplomats and Spanish diplomacy, after he said: "I would not sit down at the same table with a Spaniard unless I had an ironclad wall between his stiletto and my architect's. There is nothing in Spanish diplomacy for a hundred years which prove them anything but common scoundrels."

Nothing yet seriously proposed in the line of paternalism goes further than a joint resolution offered by Representative Lovering, of Massachusetts, providing for an amendment to the Constitution, authorizing Congress to regulate the hours of labor in all the States. The House Judiciary Committee has actually been giving hearings on that resolution. A delegation of cotton mill men from the South appeared before the Committee to protest against the resolution, but they could have saved money by staying at home. We may come to that sort of thing in time, but not yet.

Only 12 Democrats and one Populist voted for the Bankruptcy bill which passed the House by a vote of 159 to 124. The bill passed is a substitute for the Nelson bill passed by the Senate at the extra session, and it provides for both voluntary and involuntary bankruptcy.

CHILD LEFT AT THE DOOR

Personal Notes and Other Items of Interest.

BETHEL, N. C., Feb. 21st, 1898.

Andrew J. Moore went to Tarboro Sunday.

Frank Andrews returned home from Norfolk Saturday night.

J. R. Tingle, of Ayden, Supervisor of Public Schools, was in town today.

Mrs. W. C. Nelson spent part of last week in Tarboro with her parents.

We learn that much damage was done over in Edgecombe last week by the forest fires.

About two o'clock Saturday night Dr. F. C. James and wife heard the crying of a baby. The doctor on going to the door, expecting to meet some lady with a sick child, to his surprise found a baby in a clothes basket, crying at his door. They took the child and cared for it the remainder of the night. When the news began to spread Sunday morning the curiosity of many people was raised. We learn that Mr. and Mrs. M. A. James have taken the child. Where it came from seems to be a mystery as yet, though there are many rumors afloat.

He Paid Two Fees

A close-fisted oldfarmer through there was a good chance to get some legal advice from the young man gratis, so he dropped into his office, told him how glad he was that he had come into town, because the old judge was getting superannuated, and contrived in the course of the talk to get the legal information he wanted, and then, bidding him good-morning, was about to leave when the young man asked for his fee. What for said the old farmer. For legal advice, replied the young lawyer. How much is it? Five dollars. The farmer declared he would never pay it, and the young lawyer told him if he didn't he would sue him. So he trotted down to see the old judge whom he found heeing in his gardee, and said: Judge, I went in this morning just simply to make a neighborly call on that young scamp of a lawyer, and he charged me $5. Served you right, said the judge. You had no business to go to him. Well, have I got to pay it? Certainly you have. Well, then, if I must, I must. Good morning. Hold on, said the judge. Aren't you going to pay me? Pay you! What for? Why, for the legal advice of course. What do you charge? Ten dollars. The result was the old fellow had to pay $5 to the young lawyer and $10 to the old one.

Moral.—Don't try to get legal advice for nothing.—Our Dumb Animals.

Some Observations of Man.

Money spent by young men on visiting girls in 99 cases out of every 100 is money burned.

A man always knows how good his work is, but seldom realizes how bad it is.

After all, the most admirable thing in the world is a man who has good sense and uses it.

After a man gets old and cold and tired there is a spot in him that nothing but a drop of liquor can touch. Even love falls short in reaching it.

Investigate a "lucky" man and you will find a lot of sense and industry behind him.

An Atchison man claims to have eaten so much health food that he has dyspepsia.

A young man needn't be so proud of the square, delicately perfumed envelopes he receives in mail; there is no money in them.—Atchison Globe.

Just try a 10c. box of Cascarets, the finest liver and bowel regulator ever made.

Now Worth $125.

Two shares of stock in the North Carolina Railroad, worth $100 face value each, recently sold at public auction for $125 each. These shares once sold for $17 each. The lease now makes that stock worth seven times as much, and the State owns $3,000,000 of this stock and private citizens of the State, widows, orphans and others own about $800,000 of the remaining $1,000,000. The Governor wants to break up this lease, thereby destroying the value. "The private stockholders be—," says our Governor. The State's interest will go the same way he is willing the private stockholders go, when the lease is broken.—Raleigh Post.

Atlantic Hotel Leased

It is announced that the Atlantic Hotel, at Morehead City, has been leased for a term of years to Mr. E. A. Humphrey, of Goldsboro.

The present owners of the property, at a recent meeting, granted Mr. Humphrey the lease, and about March 1st next the Atlantic Hotel will be thrown open under the supervision of a competent manager. The hotel will, it is said, in the future be kept open throughout the year.

A large sum is being expended for repairs and improvements in connection with the buildings and grounds.—Raleigh Post.

He Will Get There.

A citizen of Winston received a letter a few days ago from a young Baptist divine who is taking a course in a Theological College. In his letter he stated that he is doing his own washing and ironing (except shirts) at nights and his expenses are necessarily small.

This young man, who is well known and has many friends here asked the Winston man for the loan of a few dollars. It is needless to say that he got every cent he asked for.—Greensboro Record.

The Herald, of Huntsville, Mo., tells that a minister in Hickory county, that State, found his people too poor to purchase hymn books and being offered the same book free by a patent medicine house, providing they be allowed to insert their advertisement, ordered three dozen for the congregation. He was related upon receiving the to find no ad in the same. The next Sunday, he distributed the books, telling brethren his fortune and requesting that they sing No. 129. His chagrin imagined when they sang the hymn as follows: "Hark the Heaventy angels sing, Johnson's pills are just the thing. The angelic voices meek and mild, Two for men and one for child."

Mr. Chauncey M. Depew in an address in New York on Thursday night last said: "If a naval battleship as now constructed is simply a death trap for those in her, the whole scheme of naval architecture appears to be a failure, and naval genius and constructive talent must find some other means by which our coast can be defended." So far as mere coast can be defense goes there are naval authorities who contend that small monitors, and not battleships, should be the country's main reliance. But monitors do not make a navy; and without a navy we should, of course, be helpless upon the high sea.—Philadelphia Record.

Partridges Almanac.

A pleasant story is told of Partridges the one time celebrated English almanac maker. Traveling in the country he stopped at an inn for dinner, and afterward prepared to resume his journey. The hostler advised him to stay where he was, as it would certainly rain. Nonsense, said Partridge, and proceeded on his way.

He had not gone far, however, when, sure enough, a heavy shower of rain descended. Struck by the man's prediction, Partridge rode back and was received by the hostler with a grin. The almanac maker offered him half a crown on condition that he told how he knew it was going to rain. Well, the truth is, sir, that we have an almanac here, called Partridge's almanac, and the fellow is such a notorious liar that whenever he promises a fine day we always know it will be opposite. Now, today, your honor, is set down as a fine day in the almanac.

Poker in the Postoffice.

Give me three aces said a sporting man at the stamp window of the postoffice just before noon a couple of days ago.

The stamp clerk passed out three 1 cent stamps.

Now deal me a pair of deuces.

The clerk passed out the 2 cent stamps.

I see you understand the game said the man.

Yep said the clerk. Ante-up.

The man placed 7 cents on the shelf. My pot said the clerk as he scooped it in.

The men smiled as they parted.—New York Commercial.

WHAT WOMEN NOW NEED.

More red Corpuscles in their Blood---Paine's Celery Compound.

Miss Frances E. Willard, who has been attending the world's convention of the W. C. T. U., says that better health for women is today more urgent matter than woman's suffrage.

She says: "What women at present most need is a better supply of red corpuscles."

From every section of the country, from Maine to California, come well-attested reports of women, bloodless, despondent, nervously run down and in many cases so weak as to be bed-ridden, who have been enabled to resume their places in the family circle and in social life—healthy, ruddy, well-cured women; by the aid of that great blood-maker and health-maker, Paine's celery compound.

Mrs. E. A. Ward is one of these fortunate women whom Paine's celery compound has saved from an ailing, unhappy invalid condition, as her letter shows:

219 Michigan ave., Mason City, Ia.
(Sept 12, 1897.)
Weiss, Richardson & Co.,

Gentlemen—My greatest trouble seemed to be a general weakness and all-over tired feeling. I am 66 years of age and I did not expect to be ever strong again, but I used four bottles of Paine's celery compound and was greatly strengthened, and my cough seemed better so that I stopped using the remedy and have not since felt the need of any further help whatever.

Very respectfully yours,
Mrs. E. A. Ward.

Persons of large experience among nervous women, who, as a rule, are thin and lack blood, recommend Paine's

The High Point Enterprise reports a fatal accident which befell Mr. Apps Black, who lived two miles south of Thomasville.
He was putting up a small corn mill and had gotten the stone in place and was trying the speed of the mill. The speed got too high when the stone flew to pieces, a part of it striking Mr. Black in the stomach, making a fatal wound. He survived only two days after the accident.

When bilious or costive, eat a Cas-caret, candy cathartic, cure guaranteed.

celery compound as beyond all question the one remedy that can be depended on to renew the vitality of feeble persons.

This settled confidence in Paine's celery compound is not hear-say belief, but rests in nearly every case on personal use or acquaintance with men or women who have been restored to useful health by no other means. The rapid change for the better in color, flush and expression of the face is so unmistakable that repair of the wasted tissues might well be called a renewal of life.

The process by which Paine's celery compound is able to build up health in the run-down body is not hard to understand when one observes how surely it disposes the bowels to act regularly, how it increases the capacity to take and assimilate food, and recovers the nerves and over the body.

The heavy, alarming pain in the back and limbs disappears; the growing pale-ness and loss of flesh is stopped and a bright, buoyant feeling gradually takes the place of that unending sense of tire and depression.

Paine's celery compound is the exact remedy for that large class of feeble thin blooded, often hysterical persons whose greatest need is a thorough refreshing of their blood with the red corpuscles upon which health and happiness in such large measure depend.

The extraordinary virtue of Paine's celery compound to increase the proportion of red corpuscles in the blood is the source of its great power over all blood diseases, rheumatism, neuralgia, kidney diseases, back aches, loss of flesh and general run-down condition.

toria, with 350; the Serpent, with nearly 200; the Atlanta, with 280;
the Eurydice, with 300; the Captain, with 472; the Birkenhead, with 454; the Cazador, with 314, and the Huron, with 100, are recalled as only a few of the wrecked warships that are remembered by men now living. Such records in a half century, says the New York Tribune, rival the death-rolls of a score of Trafalgars.
