This meant serious action of the fleet before morning. The details of the movement will probably come by next dispatch boat.

VIZCAYA CAPTURED

Change Her Name to Maine and Turn Her Over to Sigsbee.

Key West, June 4—Commander warship here states that the Spanish Vizcaya, was captured at Santiago this morning. The Spanish fleet attempted to leave the harbor when the Americans fired effectively. The Vizcaya was disabled so that she could not retreat. The Christobal Colon and other Spaniards were driven back.

Senate Discussion
By Telegraph to Reflector.

Washington, June 4—The discussion of the war revenue bill was resumed in the Senate this morning. There being no amendment up Allison demanded a vote on the measure. Jones obstructed, alleging that no quorum was present. The count showed an exact quorum. Before the vote could be taken Morgan introduced an amendment which he gave notice of yesterday requiring Secretary of the Treasury to execute the income tax on provisions of the law of ninety four.

In the Senate this afternoon Morgan's income tax amendment to the war revenue bill was rejected by a vote of 38 to 35. Senator Turner, Democrat of Indiana, offered an amendment imposing a tax of one percent. on transportation companies doing business between any State and a foreign country. This amendment was also rejected by a vote of 38 to 35.

Watch Them All the Same
By Cable to Reflector.

Port au Prince, June 4—A great number of insurgents are in the vicinity of Santiago, probably awaiting some decisive action of the American fleet which will be the signal for a land attack. The Spaniards will pay tribute to the audacity of the Americans in so cleverly attempting to blockade the channel, which according to the Spaniards would be foolishness on the part of the Americans to attempt to force the harbor entrance which is described as long, narrow, thoroughly mined, seemingly forming an insurmountable barrier.

Move to End the War
By Telegraph to Reflector.

Washington, June 4—The next move of the administration in prosecuting the war undoubtedly contemplates the immediate destruction of the fortifications and Spanish fleet at Santiago and taking of the city. Sampson and Schley are to cooperate with insurgents Sampson is going to strike Thursday. McKinley not only expects fighting will be forced henceforth but is also extremely hopeful the war will be practically over with the capture of Santiago and Cervera. It is believed that Spain will shortly sue for peace.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, May 30, 98.

Brigadier Gen. Shafter, who is in command of the troops sent to Santiago de Cuba to help Commodore Schley capture or wipe out the Spanish fleet that Schley has barred up in that harbor, didn't travel in a luxurious observation car, nor carry a porcelain bath tub with them—only Gen. Miles travels with all these frills—but he and his men will give a good account of themselves all the same. News of the capture of Santiago by Gen. Shafter is daily expected and about the same time Schley will either destroy or capture that entire Spanish fleet. He has already disabled the outer forts and some of the warships.

From leakings through the government censor mill there are reasons to believe that about the same time Gen. Shafter's command left Florida for Santiago another large body of troops embarked bound for Porto Rico, which is to be captured and permanently held. If these two movements succeed, the public will be disposed to forgive Gen. Miles for having succeeded in postponing the general invasion of Cuba and movement on Havana, although it will probably continue to poke fun at his ideas of how a soldier ought to travel. He says he needs at least 100,000 men to invade Cuba, and his critics add, "a special train, with private observation car and porcelain bath tub attachments."

Major General M. C. Butler, ex-Senator from S. C. was this week commissioned and ordered to duty as commander of the first division of the 2nd Army Corps, at Camp Alger, under Major General Graham, Ex-Gov. Oates, of Ala., has also received his commission as Brigadier General.

Senator Chandler created quite a sensation, in a speech on the war-revenue bill, which is still before the Senate, in which he accused Mr. McKinley of duplicity in connection with the silver question, and jumped all over Secretary Gage for his efforts in attempting to irrevocably commit the administration to the gold standard. He read a letter that he wrote to Mr. McKinley last September, predicting the failure of the bimetallic commission headed by Senator Wolcott, and stated that it had never been answered. He recalled the fact that Mr. McKinley, Senator Allison, and other prominent Republicans had upon several occasions voted for silver, and was quite sarcastic at their expense. He incidentally referred to the Republican party not having hesitated to reorganize the Supreme Court in order to assert the right of the United States to issue irredeemable paper money and said that national honor was not endangered by issue of paper. Mr. Chandler's reference to the Supreme Court legal tender decision angered Senator Hoar, who considered it a reflection upon his brother, at the time Attorney General, and he made a reply, ending as follows: "Stating my belief that the honorable Senator (Mr. Chandler) has been misled, I declare upon my responsibility as a Senator and as a gentleman the charge that the Supreme Court was packed to declare the issue of legal tender notes constitutional is as vile a slander as 'ever thrust up its dirty head from the stump."

The House this week passed the bill, already passed by the Senate, removing all political disabilities incurred by violation of the third section of the fourteenth amendment to the Constitution. Incidentally there was some patriotic and some breezy talk about the right of Gen. Wheeler, who is on duty with the army, to retain his seat in the House. Representative Bailey, of Texas, took strong ground against the constitutionality of one man holding a military and a civil office at the same time.

Czar Reed is still holding his own in the fight he is making against the annexation of Hawaii. In fact, he is doing better than holding his own. He gained a victory, although it may be only temporary, when Senator Lodge was compelled to withdraw his annexation amendment to the war-revenue bill, and the Senate agreed to let annexation alone until after the war-revenue bill was passed. Reed had told those members of the House who wish him to allow the annexation resolution to be voted upon that if the Senate acted first he would at once do so. They are still after him in the House, but the most he will promise is to allow a vote after the war-revenue bill is passed. But he is likely to pay dearly for his triumph, temporary as it is, it is semi-officially stated that if Congress doesn't act, Mr. McKinley will seize Hawaii as a war measure. Unless shrewd members of his party are mistaken, he has by his attitude on this question destroyed any chance he might have had to be nominated for President in 1900.

The decision of the Supreme Court of the United States sustaining the validity of the fertilizer inspection law of this State is a matter of importance, aside from the $30,000 or $40,000 revenue derived, which supported the Department of Agriculture. Under the operation of these laws the farmers of the State have been as far as practicable, protected from worthless fertilizers, or rather stuff called fertilizers. This was their only safeguard, for before the adoption of inspection, there was nothing to prevent dumping any kind of stuff upon the farmers, the only thing about it having any of the peculiarities of fertilizer being the rank odor which it wears as a disguise. If these laws had been invalidated it would have opened the door to all kinds of frauds and counterfeits and both the fertilizer buyers and honest fertilizer manufacturers and dealers would have been left without any protection and would have become the victims of unscrupulous buncoers who would have dumped thousands of tons of cheap, worthless stuffs upon our farmers. These laws were passed to protect the farmers and the honest manufacturers, and it is well they have been sustained by the highest court.—Wilmington Star.

If the Populist party of North Carolina are in earnest about desiring a good honest State government they know very well they can get it through the Democratic party. For twenty years our State prospered and advanced along the various lines of progress under Democratic rule. This fact can not be contradicted. Political tramps, wanting a piece of pie, so called reformers who got the pie, office seekers who care not a cent for country or principle, so they got something—these are the people who are responsible for the present state of affairs in good old honest North Carolina. How long will the people submit to the outrages that have been perpetrated upon us through men who only care for spoils?—Winston Journal.

Democratic Nominees for Superior Court Judges

The Democratic nominees for Superior Court judges whose nominations were ratified by the Democratic State Convention are the following:

First district—Geo. H. Brown, Jr., of Beaufort.

Second district—Henry R. Bryan, of Craven.

Fifth district—Thos. J. Shaw, of Guilford.

Sixth district—Oliver H. Allen, of Lenoir.

Seventh district—Thos. A. McNeil, of Robeson.

Eleventh district—William A. Hoke, of Lincoln.

These were nominated in their respective districts by district conventions but they are to be voted for in the State at large. Judges Brown, Bryan and Hoke are now on the bench and are named to succeed themselves. Shaw is named to succeed Adams, fusionist, and McNeil to succeed McIver, Democrat.

The Worm Was Up Late.

A father was lecturing his son on the evil of staying out late at night and rising late in the morning.

"You will never succeed," he said, "unless you mend your ways. Remember, the early bird catches the worm."

"And what about the worm, father?" said the young man sneeringly. "Wasn't he rather foolish in getting up so early?"

"My son," said the old man, "that worm hadn't been to bed at all. He was only getting home."

The young man coughed.—Pittsburg Chronicle.

Neuralgia,

Neuralgia,

Neuralgia.

Several years ago I was a severe sufferer
from chronic Neuralgia, which made me feel wretched and miserable all the time.
Sometimes it was in my head, sometimes in my shoulder, but it seemed to settle mostly in my left side. Around the region of my heart seemed to be affected so much, that it made me anxious and weary. I had a friend who thought there was nothing that Mrs. Jee Person's Remedy would not cure, and she persuaded me to use 1/2 dozen bottles. I did so, and it made a perfect cure of me.

OUR BOYS IN CAMP.

EDITOR REFLECTOR,

I was sadly mistaken in my opinion of Roger Lee Meadows when I told you in my last letter that he would do the square thing by our company and by Lieut. H. M. Snuggs. Yesterday after we left Adj. Gen. Cowles' office and the whole power of arranging the unpleasant affair satisfactory was left in the hands of Lee Meadows, he (Meadows) said: I never intended to undermine Lieut. Snuggs and don't intend to do so now. Of course our petition asking that Lieut. Snuggs be retained, would be taken by any one to mean that if Meadows had already been commissioned he would resign. Lieut. Albritton advised him to do so. Col. Burgwyn did so in very plain language and so did Adj. Gen. Cowles. The matter of fact is this: Adj. Gen. Cowles and Capt. Smith simply sacrificed Lieut Snuggs for 14 men, after having given away over 20 men to other companies. The trick was perpetrated without the knowledge or consent of either Lieutenant that came from Greenville and with neither the knowledge nor consent of the 67 men who signed the petition. At the very first inkling of the trick to our men they were very much incensed against Meadows, but upon assurance that Lieut. Snuggs would hold his place and that Meadows had not done nor would do g thing so dirty, they became pacified. They are raising the devil now.

The companies must be recruited to 106 men before we leave here. No man who gets up a company hereafter can feel certain that this crowd will ever give him a command.

Yours truly,
AMBROSE D. JOHNSTON.

Pearson Meeting

Evangelist Pearson gave his audience another delightful Bible reading Friday morning. While all his discourses are excellent, this was the sweetest of any morning service yet held. The subject of the reading was "At Jesus' Feet." The verses selected bore upon characters who had come to Jesus' feet for blessings, and the speaker tenderly explained and illustrated these showing that all can come and lay the burden of their hearts at Jesus' feet.

Mr. Pearson did not have to complain this time about the absence of Bibles. Lots of them were there, scattered all through the congregation and were used freely as the service progressed.

At the night service many more written requests for prayer were read and the petitions remembered at the Throne of Grace. Mr. Pearson's text for his sermon was from Luke 15-2, "This man receiveth sinners." He said there were three divisions he wanted to make of this subject—the class of sinners that Jesus Christ does not receive; the class He does receive; and how He does receive sinners. First He will not receive those who will not come to him. No unwilling sinner can be saved. No unbelieving sinner can be saved. No hesitating, double minded sinner can be saved. Second, He will save all who come to him hungering and thirsting after righteousness. He will save all who confess and forsake their sins. Third, He saves sinners by their confession and faith. All who put their trust in Him will be saved.

At the close of the sermon an invitation was extended and there were several professions. A number of backsliders also went forward and confessed their sins.

Mr. Pearson announced that there would be no services on Saturday, neither morning nor night. The meeting will close Wednesday night and he urged all Christians to pray earnestly that the closing days might be abundantly blessed with the saving of many souls.

The subject for Sunday morning will be "Consecration" and for Sunday night "Excuses."
