RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Passed by the Sunday School of the M. E. Church, South, on the sudden and unexpected death of Miss Maggie, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Bagley, of Conetoe, N. C.

Whereas, The good Lord has in his providence removed from among us, one of our most esteemed friends and co-workers, Miss Maggie Bagley, and whereas, her zeal for the Sunday School and devotion to duty makes it befitting that we express our appreciation for her, therefore,

Resolved 1st. That her faithful service in the Sunday School will ever be held in loving remembrance by those of us who survive her.

Resolved 2nd. That the sudden removal of such a pure and blameless life from among us leaves a shadow that time alone can chase away.

Resolved 3rd. That with deep sympathy with the sad and heart-broken relatives of the deceased we express the hope that even so great a loss to us all may be overruled for good by him who doeth all things well.

Resolved 4th. That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the records of the Sunday School, a copy each be sent to the North Carolina Christian Advocate, the Raleigh News and Observer and the Greenville REFLECTOR and that a copy be sent to the stricken family.

TUCKER--PROCTOR.

Married in Grimesland M. E. church on June 15th, 1898, W. E. Tucker to Miss Clara Proctor, Rev. N. L. Seabolt officiating. The church was beautifully decorated. At 9 P. M. the contracting parties and attendants repaired to the church and to the strains of the wedding march, rendered so admirably by Miss Louise Smithwick, they entered in the following order:

Little Misses Helen Galloway and Myrtle Proctor as flower girls clipped the festoon of ribbons across the aisle, followed by:

Marion H. Tucker with Miss Mattie Edwards.

James Cannon with Miss Ella Proctor.

W. S. Galloway with Miss Minnie Tucker.

Len Tucker with Miss Sallie Galloway.

H. H. Proctor with Miss Daisy Carman.

J. W. Mayo with Miss Daisy Tucker.

Then came the bridegroom from the rear door accompanied by his best man J. J. Mason, who was met at the altar by the bride accompanied by her sister, Miss Agnes Proctor, as bridesmaid. In a beautiful and fitting ceremony the happy pair were made one and the party retiring in reversed order, repaired to the elegant home of W. E. Proctor, uncle of the bride, where a reception with refreshments was held from 10 to 12 o'clock. They were the recipients of many costly and beautiful presents, both ornamental and useful.

W. E. Tucker is one of Grimesland's best business men, admired for his pleasant manners and good character. Mrs. Tucker is admired for her sweet disposition and lovely character. Mr. Tucker is to be congratulated on winning the heart and hand of so estimable a woman.

We wish the happy couple a long and prosperous life and may their pathway be strewn with flowers and sunshine.

CAMP RUSSELL.

Raleigh, N. C. June 20.

It now looks very much like Adjutant General Andrew D. Cowles will be made a brigadier general of volunteers. It is known that the republican congressmen from this State will not agree on any one save a republican. There argument is that of all the generals appointed from the Southern states not one is other than a democrat, and that the republicans ought to show that they have some fit material in their own party. As between General Cowles and other republicans the mass of the volunteers would, of course, favor him, as he is a soldier and in service, is popular, and they would thus avoid the appointment of a civilian.

The impression at headquarters here is that another call for volunteers will be speedily made, and the belief is that North Carolina will have as many as two regiments under it. It is also the belief that the regular army will be doubled or more probably trebled and that a great many of the regiments of volunteers will later be transferred to the regular service.

The first regiment is recruiting slowly. The second is recruiting with remarkable rapidity. Officers of the first say that after the second is full, which will probably be by day after tomorrow, the first will recruit quickly.

Ninety recruits for the second are looked for today or tonight. These will nearly fill the regiment, on the basis that 80 per cent. pass the surgeons.

The detailing of the six lieutenants from the second regiment for artillery instruction is construed to mean that the infantry will be called upon to furnish artilleryists in garrison in Cuba, Porto Rico and the Phillipines.

It is quite well understood that both the North Carolina regiments will see foreign service, in Cuba and Porto Rico. Such is the prevalent belief here.

There has been some complaint of the issue of the calibre-45 Springfield rifle to the volunteers. No fault can be found with this rifle. It has a range of a mile and three-fourth, is one of the simplest and safest weapons in the world, and the troops are familiar with it. Volunteers are not, as a rule, able to care for a magazine rifle. After they have had practice in the field it will be the policy of the government to issue the magazine rifle, upon recommendation of the generals commanding. It is asserted that if a vote were to be taken of regular officers three would favor the use of the Springfield to one who would oppose it.

Recruiting of the second regiment is progressing at such a rate as to please Colonel Burgwyn. The strength of the various companies up to this evening is as follows: A 89, B 97, C 101, D 104, E 109, F 89, G 109, H 109, I 94, K 98, L 101, M 109. Thus it is seen that four companies are entirely full. There are seventeen recruits today. Company B will be full tomorrow as it has twelve men coming. The morning report showed 1,246 present. There will perhaps be thirty recruits for other companies. Colonel Burgwyn says that as soon as the regiment recovers from vaccination he will march it into Raleigh, so that the people can see it and as a mark of appreciation of the thousand acts of kindness by the citizens of Raleigh.

Guards last night fired twice at men who tried to break through the guard line. No one was hit. The shooting was done by men from Murphy and Nantahala companies, and was in accordance with orders.—Raleigh Correspondent to Wilmington Messenger.

CLOTHING

In quality great
Such patterns elate
At the prices we state.

Patterns rare and intense,
As bargains they're immense
You invest good judgment and sense.

Take look at my styles,
They came many miles
They keep you in smiles

No better clothes,
Than this line we suppose,
From sheep ever arose.

JUDICIAL CONVENTION.

A Democratic convention to nominate a candidate for Solicitor of the 3rd Judicial District of North Carolina, to be voted for at the ensuing November election, is hereby called to meet at 1 o'clock P. M., on July 6th, 1898, in the public hall at Rocky Mount.

The counties in the District that have not held conventions to select delegates to this convention will take notice hereof and govern themselves accordingly. By order of the Committee.

F. S. SPRULL,

Chm. Dem. Ex. Com. Third Judicial District.

A Talk With The Girls About Laughing.

A very thoughtful girl, who loved a compliment, as all girls do, but who seldom got one, was once surprised by the sudden remark of a man as thoughtful and as preoccupied as herself.

"I have been wondering what was so pleasant in your face," he said with blunt naivete. "I see now, it is that you do not smile every time you speak!" Was it a doubtful compliment? I think not.

Today they are almost expressionless, and when she turns toward her keeper there is no external evidence of the great passions that surge within her.

Surely and relentlessly blindness is creeping upon her, and darkness for all time will soon be her portion.

Augusta Nack is destined to grope her way through the balance of her life.—N. Y. Journal.

the girl who didn't "smile every time she spoke." Excessive smiling is ridiculous.—Milwaukee Wisconsin.

Mrs. Nack's Retribution.

Augusta Nack, the woman for whom Martin Thorn slew and quartered William Goldensuppe, will never see the road by which she leaves Auburn when her fifteen years' sentence is over.

The retribution of a higher court than the law is swiftly overtaking her, and in a few short months the woman for whom two men fought to the death will be blind.

A cataract is forming over the pupils of her eyes, and the light of day and the power to see is rapidly fading from them. With that same stolidity with which she refused for so long to tell one single part of the story of most brutal murder in the annals of crime, she refuses to let the surgeons give her aid, and as the days come and go she is bending nearer her work in her efforts to see what her fingers cannot feel.

Here is the fate of the sinner. There was a time when she was the happy bride of Herman Nack, the baker; but William Goldensuppe, the dead bath rubber, came into her life and won her away from him. There was a long period of ecstasy, that joy which comes only with the victory builded on iniquity; but, like a Dead Sea apple, it crumbled away when Martin Thorn, the barber, came into the garden of their false happiness, and the woman had to choose between the two.

For weeks during the trial the black eyes wept torrents of remorse, and the law, moving to the end, found her lover guilty of murder in the first degree, and he was sentenced to the electric chair.

Augusta Nack was sent to prison for fifteen years, and the curtain dropped on this unspeakable picture of degeneracy. The world, being busier with other and better things, almost forgot her. But now, out of the prison and through the bars, comes the news that those eyes, with their deceit and hatred and untold stories, and even the last trace of a beauty that once made her lovers do her bidding, are dimming with disease.

Today they are almost expressionless, and when she turns toward her keeper there is no external evidence of the great passions that surge within her.

Surely and relentlessly blindness is creeping upon her, and darkness for all time will soon be her portion. Perhaps even in that thought there will be something of a blessing, for it will close to her sight the bars of the jail and the earth that she has stained with her presence.

Augusta Nack is destined to grope her way through the balance of her life.—N. Y. Journal.

Summer Scenes in Billsville.

We see that the government is to tax every legacy. But as we only have one leg, we will go in at half-rate.

The war is developing heroes so fast that before we discover that we're third cousin to one, we are brother-in-law to another!

This government is awful slow on war news. We have not issued an extra in ten days, and we've got one grocery bill and two notes to meet.

We do not see why there should be a scarcity of food in the Philippine islands. Billsville alone sent seven fat missionaries six weeks ago.

All the patriots are not in the army. Some of them remain at home to solicit subscriptions for monuments to dead heroes.

We don't know whether we can hold the Philippines or not. The watermelon season is upon us, and really, we have about all we can hold, conveniently.

A FIGHTING STATESMAN.

Sketch of Gen. Joe Wheeler and His Work in Congress.

Though Gen. Wheeler is sixty-two years of age, there are few men in the Capitol who can get over the ground faster than he. There is a great contrast between his rapid, nervous step and the stride of Speaker Reed, who is a giant compared with the gentleman from Alabama.

Some weeks ago Gen. Wheeler was crossing the square in front of the Capitol. A member on a bicycle, who was passing, challenged him to a race. The General accepted it and ran like a hare for a hundred yards.

There are men in Congress who put in a good deal of work, but judged by the amount they produce Gen. Wheeler might take the palm of industry. He was never found in the cloakrooms lounging with his feet up in a chair. He has kept four or five secretaries constantly at work digging out facts and references, addressing envelopes, and franking documents.

Words of Wisdom.

In an enemy, spots are soon seen.

The finest shoe often hurts the foot.

Hoist your sail when the wind is fair.

They that live longest must die at last.

Health is not valued until sickness comes.

Three may keep counsel, if two be away.

If you cannot bite, never show your teeth.

Ignorance is less hateful than conceitedness.

When a man grows angry, his reason rides out.

MRS. JOE PERSON'S REMEDY.

HOPEWELL, MECKLENBURG CO N. C. December 1st, 1896.

Last June I was suffering terribly from some bladder trouble which was so severe and extreme that the physicians said an operation would have to be performed and the stone crushed. I dreaded it so much and had so much faith in Mrs. Joe Person's Wash that I determined to try it first and see what it would do.

Spain is an unfortunate country.
Her troubles will not be over when she is through with the United States. There is Don Carlos, the pretender to the throne, yet to settle with. When the war with the United States has ended the reigning family will be asked why the war failed to crown Spain's efforts with victory, and no matter what excuse is given for an answer, whether truthful or not, Don Carlos will be ready to seize upon the inability of the Queen to bring glory to Spain as a reason for the overthrow of the youthful Altonso.—Pittsburg Times.

THE COWARD.

He had lived when knights rode forth in search of bloody fray And risked their lives for ladies' smiles and for their words of praise,
He would have been a swineherd or perchance
some baron's thrall,
For he had little wit and no heroic blood at all.
They dubbed him "gawk" and "dolt" at school, and boys of half his years Were wont to chafe and bully him and cuff his ample ears,
And he would take his bruises and weep over them apart,
Nor dare to seek revenge, because he had a coward's heart.

And when the workmen in the mill made up their minds to strike
This dastard held aloof of course and worked on, cowardlike.
They told him that he robbed their wives and children of their bread.
"My wife and child have got to live!" was all the coward said.

One evening as this craven passed along his homeward way
He saw straight in the motor's path a little one at play.
The car came on at mighty speed; each witness held his breath
And waited for the child to meet a horrifying death.

Then something flashed before the car, and some one screamed with fright,
And men and women closed their eyes upon that awful sight.
O joy! O joy! The babe was saved, and where it was at play Naught but a coward's lifeless form in mangled fragments lay.
—S. E. Kiser in Cleveland Leader.
An Ape's Superstition

Chief Utan, the Auburn hair orang outang at the zoo, is very superstitious, and his convictions with regard to straws are not limited to the mere fact that they tell how the wind blows. The chief believes that chewing a straw with certain supernatural qualities will bring his dinner hour around before 1 o'clock, the regular time, and he daily tries to put this theory into practice. From among the heaps of straw in his cage he selects with great care the longest and straightest, and after having placed it in his mouth he goes to the glass front of the cage and shading his eyes with his hand peers to the right and left in search of the keeper with his dinner. If the keeper is not in sight, the chief throws the straw away as not possessing sufficient "charm" and selects another. This performance is repeated over and over with the utmost gravity until the usual arrival

NEVER IMITATED IN QUALITY.

THE EXCELLENCE OF SYRUP OF FIGS is due not only to the originality and simplicity of the combination, but also to the care and skill with which it is manufactured by scientific processes known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. only, and we wish to impress upon all the importance of purchasing the true and original remedy. As the genuine Syrup of Figs is manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. only, a knowledge of that fact will assist one in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties. The high standing of the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. with the medical profession, and the satisfaction which the genuine Syrup of Figs has given to millions of families, makes the name of the Company a guaranty of the excellence of its remedy. It is far in advance of all other laxatives, as it acts on the kidneys, liver and bowels without irritating or weakening them, and it does not gripe nor nauseate. In order to get its beneficial effects, please remember the name of the Company—

THE REFLECTOR job office is turning out some pretty work now. Your turn next.

Regular prayer meeting in the Methodist church tonight conducted by the pastor, Rev. N. M. Watson.

We were mistaken yesterday in saying that the young ladies had gone to "Greenville, North Carolina," they told us that they were in Morehead City.

The Tarboro colored base ball team arrived here this morning and played a game of base ball this afternoon with the Greenville club. They brought a brass band with them.

Sunday afternoon the beautiful silk flag, which the ladies of Greenville sent here, was presented by Col. Burgwyn to the Greenville company. Capt. Smith responded. The regiment will use the flag until its own colors arrive. —Raleigh News & Observer.

Rev. A. W. Setzer, pastor of the Baptist church, informs us that for sometime to come the Thursday evening prayer meeting service in his church will be occupied in giving Bible readings on the "Distinctive Principles of Baptists." Every Baptist and others interested should attend these services.

The University

The University is steadily growing in public favor, patronage and efficiency. It has never been so close to the people and so able to help them. The enrollment of 508 students this year is remarkable, being the largest in its history. We would like some needy boy to get its advantages of scholarship and loans.

Hunt-Pearce.

THE REFLECTOR acknowledges the receipt of the following wedding card:

Mrs. Margaret Newby requests the honor of your presence at the marriage ceremony of her daughter Maggie Vance Newby-Hunt and Mr. Blount Coleman Pearce, on Wednesday morning, June twenty-ninth eighteen hundred and ninety-eight, at nine o'clock, Saint Thomas' Episcopal church Sanford, North Carolina.

To-day.

Today advertising has become a definite, fixed factor in the building up and maintaining of trade, and instead of contracting for so much space and filling it with commonplace, meaningless replicas, every effort is put forth to give such character and interest to the matter as to secure from it the best results. Bright minds are giving their best thoughts and all their time to originate and develop new thoughts, and the result is that a vast fund of ideas and methods are being brought forth to the immense advantage of those who use this method of publicity. —Shoe and Leather Gazette.

Rain or No Rain

Such is the characteristic determination of Greenville people that they will not submit to the decree of a rainy day when such decree would interfere with their pleasure. A picnic had been arranged for yesterday, but just before the time for starting arrived, a heavy downpour of rain began to fall which made the prospects for a outdoor picnic rather gloomy. But these young people will have a good time "rain or no rain," so the well filled baskets were transferred to the Star warehouse at which place these young enthusiasts assembled and for several hours enjoyed themselves in the ways peculiar to young people. The "corners" of the house and the space by the scales were occupied if the main body of the building was not.
