BLOODY CONFLICT

Americans Have Taken Santiago

As was expected there has been some severe fighting at Santiago. The battle began in earnest Friday morning and all day long there was a fierce conflict. The American forces drove the Spanish troops from the outposts in the suburbs and themselves took possession of the entrenchments. At sunset the fighting ceased, and while the American casualties reached upwards of 400, not many of them killed, however, it was a great victory for our army.

All night long after the fight the Americans threw up new earth works and strengthened their position for the next day's conflict. Saturday morning fighting was resumed and the engagement was really more bloody than on the previous day. This fight continued thirty-six hours and resulted in the killing of 8,000 Spaniards and wounding 2,000 more. The American loss was 1,000 killed.

Shatter's army showed an abundance of nerve and grit and rained a constant fire on the enemy, making a steady advance all the time. Everything in sight was taken.

While the land forces were engaged Sampson forced an entrance into the harbor and captured Cervera's fleet.

Bullets That Carry Poison

Washington, D. C. July 2.—Some of the Mauser bullets used by the Spaniards in fighting our marines at Caimanera, Guantanamo, were received at the Navy Department today, and excited indignation because they were encased in a brass jacket, which first tears and then poisons the wound. They are as bad as explosive bullets, condemned in civilized warfare.

Anchored Outside Egyptian Waters

London, July 2.—Lloyd's agent at Port Said, telegraphing at 4:20 p. m. today, says the Spanish fleet is anchored outside Egyptian waters and is engaged in coaling.

Natural Born Fighters

Poultney Bigelow writes to the London Times from the American army: "What is this war about?" If I heard it once I heard it a dozen times among the regulars in and about Tampa. "What is this war about, anyway?" The idea of liberating Cubans or negroes did not seem to them to be a very good one. The idea of adding more exotic citizens to the already painfully conglomerate mass of voters seemed of even less value.

There was not, so far as I could discover, any particular enthusiasm for the cause for which they were nominally enlisted. But it was grand sport and they went at it with the same gusto that they would have exhibited if ordered to exterminate Apaches or grizzly bears. And here lies the essential difference between the professional and the volunteer in this war. The regular is invincibly brave from sheer force of habit. He is incapable of panic, as he is incapable of vulgar passions. He kills his Spaniards as his surgeon amputates a leg, but he does not hate the man he kills. He loves the Spaniard who shoots straight. On the contrary, he despises only the enemy who gives him an easy job. He fights for the sheer love of fighting.

OUR BOYS IN CAMP.

Camp Dan Russell, Co. E.,
Raleigh, N. C., July 2, 1898.

EDITOR REFLECTOR.

We have had the regular routine with nothing new of late.

Most of the men who were sick are well now.

The 4th of July will be celebrated here. We will drill all over Raleigh. Dress parade and military ball are on the programme.

It is now semi-officially announced that we will leave for the South in a few days, probably for Porto Rico. The boys want to go. But now "dem Spaniards gwine to give us a reception before we have Spanish territory."

A. D. JOHNSTON.

The Nag's Head hotel will not be open this season.

Winston had a $40,000 fire Saturday morning. Several firms burned out.

J. M. Thomas, postmaster at Rutherfordton, was shot and killed by Frank Hicks, Saturday afternoon. The parties had fallen out over a trivial matter.

Colored troops passing down the A & N. C. railroad to Fort Macon nearly killed a section master of the road by pelting him with huge lumps of coal as the train went by.

A soldier of the second regiment, named Romulus Bazemore, of Bertie county, was arrested in the camp at Raleigh on the charge of wife murder. He gave strychnine to his wife, from which she died, and then ran away and enlisted.

Daughter Against Mother

There was a case before Justice Fowler this afternoon by which an aged and dependent mother's humble home was ridden of its furnishings by her daughter. It seems that the residence of widowed Mrs. Martha Jacobs, on Front between Wooster and Dawson streets, was several years ago cosily furnished with the earnings of Martha Jane Jacobs, then a dutiful daughter. Since then the latter has grown cold towards her parent, and today she brought suit for the possession of the furniture which was decided in her favor, and she shortly afterwards took her things and left, leaving the old home bare. Mrs. Jacobs is nearly 50 years old, being dependent for a livelihood upon the small earnings of a twelve year old son, and this deprivation will work a great hardship upon her.—Wilmington Review.

Died

Mr. B. E. Parham left Sunday for Oxford, where his wife was visiting, in response to a telegram announcing the death of their little child. Their many friends here at home sympathize with them in their bereavement.

The Washington Post reports that during a recent thunderstorm in that city a bolt of lightning struck the switchboard at Fort Washington which controls the mines in the Potomac River near that point, exploding three mines and damaging the system. The incident develops a new mine peril while at the same time denoting that there are no barnacles on the submarine defenses in the Potomac.

The opening of bids by the Quartermaster's Department in New York for 50,000 heavy overcoats for army use may be taken as an indication that the Government intends to fight it out along the prevent lines if it takes all winter.

JUDICIAL CONVENTION.

A Democratic convention to nominate a candidate for Solicitor of the 3rd Judicial District of North Carolina, to be voted for at the ensuing November election, is hereby called to meet at 1 o'clock P. M., on July 6th, 1898, in the public hall at Rocky Mount.

The counties in the District that have not held conventions to select delegates to this convention will take notice hereof and govern themselves accordingly. By order of the Committee.

F. S. SPRUILL,

Chm. Dem. Ex. Com. Third Judicial District.

WASHINGTON LETTER

From our regular Correspondent.

Washington, D. C., July 2, 1898

Although it has been officially announced that Gen. Shafter would not wait for the men sent him from Tampa this week, but would begin a general attack on Santiago just as soon as he could get his siege guns in position, the impression in Washington is that those guns will not be in position before the Tampa re-inforcements reach Gen. Shafter which will be about Sunday, or Monday at the outside. Gen. Shafter says his men are in fine condition and that it will not take more than two days to capture Santiago when the assault is made.

The opinion held in some quarters, that the order for Commodore Watson to proceed to the coast of Spain with a picked fleet of our fastest and best cruisers and battleships is a bluff, is not shared by the officials of the Navy Department whose duty it is to see that the ships are properly equipped. They are preparing to carry out the order.

Among the additional paymasters in the volunteer army nominated by Mr. McKinley is John R. Lynch, the negro politician who has controlled the Mississippi delegation to Republican national conventions for many years. He is now Maj. Lynch, if you please. If this nomination was not made solely on account of partisan politics, Mr. McKinley should hurry up and tell why it was made. Lynch will not find his job an enviable one if he is assigned to duty with Southern troops.

"Potato" Pingree, of Michigan, dropped into Washington and remained a day and night, this week, and Senator Julius Caesar Burrows is much worried because he hasn't been able to find out what the object of the Governor's visit was. Burrows wants everybody to believe that he and his friends are on the best of terms with Pingree, and favorable to his renomination for governor, but Pingree makes no secret of his intention to antagonize the reelection of Burrows to the Senate.

if the Republicans can retain control of the legislature. It is now said that Pingree has senatorial aspirations.

Representative Loud, of California, made it very plain in a short speech made when the "Omnibus claims" bill was about to be referred to conference by the House that he favored logging legislative methods, if his log was included, and opposed them if his log was left out—a speech of which those of his constituents not personally interested in this particular log are not likely to be proud. He said that the original bill carrying more than 1,000 war claims, aggregating more than $1,100,000 was put through the House under a compact of members to pass the bill containing claims in which they were interested and that no war claims not in the bill should be passed. He had a California claim that was excluded, but it was put in by the Senate, which added more than $8,000,000 to the bill. He said he made his speech to warn the House conferees not to cut out the claims added by the Senate, and he might have truthfully added, especially the claim that I am interested in.

Surface indications all point to an agreement to vote on the annexation resolution is disposed of. The suggestion has been made that, instead of adjourning, Congress should take a recess for a few weeks. It seems wise, but that is no reason that it will be acted upon. Administration men say that an extra session can be called if the war comes to a close and the assistance of Congress is needed in the settlement of terms of peace. An extra session can be called, but will it be called? By adjourning, Congress will make Mr. McKinley sole judge of whether Congress shall be allowed to have anything to do with the terms of peace; by taking a recess, Congress will retain the matter in its own hands. Of course if the war is to last for an indefinite period there is no particular reason why Congress should not adjourn; but those who ought to know say it will be solely the fault of the administration, in not pushing the fighting all along the lines, if the war lasts 60 days longer.

An Idea of What the War is Costing.

The war is now costing some $2,000,000 a day or at a rate of $730,000,000 a year. The deficiency bill appropriates $224,000,000 nearly all of which is for the present war. Previous bills appropriated over $150,000,000. It comes to this that about $375,000,000 has been provided so far for war expenses up to the end of next December. It will all be spent, no doubt, and as much more. The Treasury is authorized to borrow $400,000,000 by means of bonds and $100,000,000 by means of short time notes. It will all, no doubt, be borrowed and spent, together with the proceeds of the new taxes, aggregating $150,000,000 a year. The war will thus easily cost, it seems, in the first year about $10 for each man, woman and child in the United States, to say nothing of the distressing losses of life. What is worse, the new and high taxes will continue after the war and will probably be increased, if the war spirit continues, to build a big navy and maintain it. England's present fleet cost her some $600,000,000 and we shall want one as big, at an annual cost for maintenance of some $200,000,000 a year.—Baltimore Sun.

Killed With an Umbrella

One day last week, Jack Herring, a well known colored man of Lisbon township, became enraged at his daughter, John Cornelius, and attempted to chastise her in a rather brutal manner. John Cornelius, who possessed masculine strength as well as a masculine name defended herself with an umbrella which she had in her hand when assaulted. In warding off the blow she thrust the end of the umbrella into her father's eye about four inches up to the cloth. Here, the wooden staff broke off, about four inches of it remaining in the old man's eye. It was pulled out by Mr. Richard Herring with a pair of blacksmith's tongs. The staff had penetrated the brain and after lingering in an unconscious condition for about 40 hours the old man died. The girl was arrested and is now confined in jail here upon a charge of murdering her father. She will set up a plea of self-defense at her trial, which comes up at the October term of court.—Sampson Democrat.

Miss Flora D. Renkes has declined the Democratic nomination for State School Superintendent of Michigan.

The courts having decided that a bicycle is a vehicle, the riders of wheels are now entitled to their portion of the road when they meet other vehicles. This should be borne in mind, as when you meet a person riding a wheel it is the same, in law, as meeting any other vehicle. "Turn to the right."

As the genuine Syrup of Figs is manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. only, a knowledge of that fact will assist one in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties. The high standing of the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. with the medical profession, and the satisfaction which the genuine Syrup of Figs has given to millions of families, makes the name of the Company a guaranty of the excellence of its remedy. It is far in advance of all other laxatives, as it acts on the kidneys, liver and bowels without irritating or weakening them, and it does not gripe nor nauseate. ### DRIBBLETS

Gathered Between the Sun Strokes

Masons meet tonight.
Today is the glorious 4th
The crowd in town today raised plenty of dust.

Considering the large crowd in town today there was very little "scrapping."
Our entire stock must be sold out within 30 days.

LANG'S CASH HOUSE.

We hear it rumored that Greenville is to have an opera house. One is needed.

The battle of Manila was fought on May 1 and the battle of Santiago began on July 1.

Go to Lang's Cash House and secure bargains, as he is selling his entire stock at cost.

Like the war, the Clark-Kilgo controversy has not ended. But Dr. Kilgo has got the better of his opponent.

The town was full of colored people today who came to enjoy the 4th of July. They gave the lemonade stands and soda fountains a heavy trade.

Mr. W. R. Parker brought THE REFLECTOR a very peculiar shaped twin leaf of tobacco. It was raised by Mr. Henry Harris, of Falkland, two years ago.

There were many applicants for retail liquor licenses before the County Commissioners today. Issuing orders for these with their other work gave the Board a busy day.

This country feels today more like mourning over her Santiago heroes than she does rejoicing over the hundred and twenty-second anniversary of our national liberty.

NOTICE—My office will be closed until July 23rd. Those who want work will please wait until my return.

DR. R. L. CARR,
The Dentist.

The warm weather is still with us.

There's been a hot time in town today.

There is to be a marriage in town this week.

It has been hot enough today not to need any fire works.

A coop of young wild ducks was brought to town today.

There are several cases of typhoid fever in the community.

It is a rather interesting fact that the battle at Santiago is coincident, as to date, with that of Gettysburg, fought in 1864.

W. O. Barnhill says if the party who took his hand-saw Saturday will return it at once no questions will be asked. The saw has his name on it and the taker will be caught if it is not returned promptly.

Prizes Captured.

Key West, Fla., July 2.—The British steamship Benicestenger has been brought into port as a prize. She was captured off the Southern coast of Cuba while attempting to run the blockade. A large quantity of supplies was taken on at Jamaica, for Blanco. A Spanish smack which was captured is also here.

Continues, But Raises the Price.

The Kinston Free Press announcing last week that its daily edition would be discontinued, had the effect to bring many of its patrons forward with requests against such a step, and editor Herbert decided to give the daily venture another month's trial. However, to make receipts come nearer up to expenses he has raised the subscription from 25 cents to 35 cents a month.

A Negro Paymaster.

Among the additional paymasters in the volunteer army nominated by Mr. McKinley is John R. Lynch, the negro politician who has controlled the Mississippi delegation to Republican national convention for many years. He is now Maj. Lynch, if you please. If this nomination was not made solely on account of partisan politics, Mr. McKinley should hurry up and tell why it was made. Lynch will not find his job an enviable one if he is assigned to duty with southern troops.

Parlor, bed room, dining room and kitchen furniture for sale. Inquire at Lang's.

There are now many anxious homes in America, and the official list of the heroes who have fallen at Santiago will be looked for with much dread. The horrors of war are being realized.
