Tetter on the Hands.

For several years I was a sufferer from Tetter on my hands. It would come in little watery pimples, and the itching was almost more than I could stand. The skin was tender and the itching would swell so I could hardly bend my fingers. Sometimes my hands would become perfectly raw from the scratching or breaking of the pimples. When I was in this condition I tried one-half dozen bottles of Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy and some Wash in 1884, and by the time I took it my hands were cured, and I am now well of the trouble. It has since broken out a little at times, but not enough to inconvenience me or make me try more medicine. I am now well.

SEVEN SPRINGS

A trip to this delightful place inclines us to write briefly in reference to it. For years and years Seven Springs has been a favorite resort for those who are seeking rest, recuperation, and health and no one has ever returned disappointed when a fair trial has been given the waters. In January of this year Mr. G. F. Smith of this county, purchased the entire property and took charge of the hotel on the first of February. He at once began to improve the property and make arrangement for the better comfort of the guests. It is only necessary to spend a few days there now to be convinced how wonderfully he has succeeded along this line. At no place to which we have ever been is there as much effort on the part of the management to see that each guest has every opportunity for comfort. Mr. Smith is the proprietor, Mr. W. M. Uzzell the manager, and Mr. Cox the clerk. All three of these gentlemen are the right men in the right place. They vie with each other in attention to each and every person in the hotel. Everything about the place is as neat and clean as heart could wish and the fare at table is first class. The food is prepared in such away as to please the most fastidious. In fact the dining room service including the servants and all, is all that could be asked for and the management is to be congratulated that in so short a time they have reached such a state of perfection as they have.

But above all the beauties of situation and admirable arrangement for comfort at the hotel is the health giving properties of the waters of the various springs. It is wonderful to remain there awhile and see those who are tired, worn down, and in need of rest and health come and remain but a short time until they begin to show color become invigorated, move with a quick step and tell what these waters are doing for them. The appetite returns at once, sleep becomes sweet, digestion is active and complete and all signs of dyspepsia and other troubles disappear and in consequence, the person returns home a staunch friend and advocate of Seven Springs.

This is no overdrawn picture but is true to life and is illustrated almost every day by actual observation as you remain at this health resort. Our own experience and observation there during the past week convince us that it is a duty we owe those who need rest and recreation to say these things. We noticed people from all the surrounding counties present and failed to hear anything but commendation both for the management and medicinal value of the waters. The patronage of these springs has been larger this year than ever before and we predict that under its present management it is destined to become not only the most favored resort in the State but in a much wider and more extended territory. Nature has done a great deal for the place and it needs only the energy and push of the present management to make it an ideal place for those who need its comforts and benefits.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.

MR. EDITOR:

There were millions and millions of dollars spent, and thousands and thousands of hearts blasted by grief, to free a few millions of slaves which if it did make some of their conditions worse was all right. I reckon. And at this time we are spending money wrung from poor people and sacrificing precious lives to raise the yoke of tyranny from the necks of another half savage multitude. And yet we have a tyranny right in our midst that is more cruel than any of the above which is cruelty to dumb hearts. Is there no law to stop these cruel people from abusing the faithful hearts for whose labor we are indebted for life? Preachers tell sinners how sinful it is to do this or that, but let me tell you, there are more people going to hell on account of cruelty to dumb hearts than any other one thing I know of. Men, who are called good men, think it nothing to whip a horse until you can count the whelps on his side. Since I have been living in Greenville I saw a preacher's horse get frightened at a dog, he caught up his whip and, oh! such licks as he gave that poor horse. I never went to hear that man preach again while he stayed in Greenville. I lost confidence in him then and there. 'Blessed are the merciful for they shall obtain mercy.'

Team are often overloaded and then beaten because they do not hurry all the time. I see a horse in Tarboro loaded with lumber every day that almost pulls the life out of him. I have often thought it would be a God send if some one in that town would indict the man that loads that horse. You editors would do a good thing if you would cry out against "cruelty to dumb hearts." So thinks your UNCLE BEN.

Burned to Death.

Special to Reflector

KINSTON, N. C., Aug 8.—About 12 o'clock Sunday Miss Effie Moore, 18 year old daughter of Mr. L. J. Moore, was using kerosene oil to make a fire in a stove. The oil can exploded and set her clothing on fire, burning them all off before the flames could be put out. She was so badly burned that she died about 2 o'clock last night.

Nearly Killed by a Bull.

Mr. Elisha Stancil, an aged and well-known farmer living six or seven miles west from Monroe, came near losing his life last Saturday. He was attacked by a huge bull which he had just brought on his place, and gored unmercifully. The animal had him down, rolling him over and over and would have killed him in a short time had some women who were on the place not succeeded in beating the animal off with sticks. Mr. Stancil was seriously hurt in the bowels and bruised more or less all over the body. One horn cut a long gash across the abdomen and penetrated about two inches. Dr. Pemberton was at once called to dress the wounds. He could not state the extent of internal injuries.—Monroe Journal.

DEMOCRATIC CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION

A Convention of the Democratic party of the First Congressional District is hereby called to meet at Edenton, N. C., on August 30 1898, at 3 P. M., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Congress and to transact such other business as shall come before it. By order of the committee. W. B. RODMAN, Chm'n

If a man comes to Greenville to locate, don't grumble about the place, and tell him your troubles. He will find out the difficulties himself and soon find you out.

The Democrats elected their candidate for Governor in Alabama by a majority estimated at 70,000. At the corresponding election in 1896 the Democratic majority over the Populists and Republicans was about 40,000.

There have been many new little Americans named after Dewey Schley and Hobson, but the latter is the first hero of the war to have a camp christened in his honor: "Camp Hobson" is in Georgia, and the title was suggested by Major Bubb, the commander of Fort McPherson, Georgia.

A New England Journal publishes a story of a witness who refused for some reason or other to tell the amount of his gross income. Finally, when the Judge ordered him to answer the question, he said: "Your Honor, I have no gross income, I'm a fisherman of Machias Bay, and it's all net."

A. P. Cathey, of Mecklenburg, was in town this week and was telling The Landmark of an old negro who lives in his neighborhood who has 26 children at home and five married who live away from home. The negro's name is Geo. Lynch. He has been married three times and he and his wife and the 26 children all live in a cabin on W. A. Potts' place.—Stateville Landmark.

The Spaniards are not the most medieval of races. The Syantians who live in the inaccessible mountain range between the Black and Caspian Seas, are probably the laziest people in the world. They have made no advance toward civilization in 2500 years. It is their invariable rule to observe holidays four times a week, with saints' days as extras.

Some of the superstitions current in this State are a little amusing. For instance old-time weather prophets claim that there will be as many snows during the following winter as there are foggy mornings in August. Regarding this superstition the Chronicle mentions that one of the older citizens of the state of Wilkes a few years ago remarked that there would be 42 snows, as there had been 42 foggy mornings in August.—Durham Sun.

The waiters at the Haywood White Sulphur walked out on a strike Monday morning when breakfast was about ready. They demanded an increase of wages which was refused. Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn, the clerk, Mr. Brawley, the members of the band and some other help filled some of the places for the morning meal. A gentleman and several lady guests volunteered their services also, and breakfast was served with very little inconvenience. Before dinner the places were filled and some of the strikers who wished to return were refused. Manager Vaughan managed the strike as well as he does his hotel.—Waynesville Courier.

Military Governor of Havana

General Fitzhugh Lee has been made military governor of Havana. Just when this was done is not known, but that it is a fact remains a doubt no longer, as the information comes from a source the reliability of which is beyond question.

Rumors to a similar effect regarding General Lee's appointment have been published already, but nothing authentic has been given until now.

The news was received here yesterday from one of the officers of the First South Carolina Regiment now stationed near Jacksonville, and was conveyed in a letter to a relative in this city.

In this letter the writer says: "General Lee told some of the officers yesterday (July 31) that we would be here for three months yet; that he had been made military governor of Havana and that we would certainly be carried there, if not to assist in its bombardment and fall, to garrison the city. So we will go there even if peace is declared before."—Columbus State 3d.

General Breckenridge, Inspector General United States Army, in his report to the President upon the lessons of Santiago makes this allusion to an implement of war the moral effect of which has always seemed to be vastly in excess of its actual utility: "I have made diligent inquiry among the troops engaged all along the line, and have been unable to find any in which the bayonet was fixed in the charges either at El Coney or San Juan. The bayonet has been used to a certain extent as an intrenching tool, or to grind coffee. I cannot find that the bayonet is even used as much as the machete is used." General Breckenridge accordingly suggests that if the bayonet should be made smaller, lighter and sharper it would serve its present purpose just as well or better. A not unlikely consequence of the war will be the remodeling of the equipment both of the army and navy, so that all such suggestions as that of General Breckenridge will be valuable for future reference.—Philadelphia Record.

If the Custom Became General

It is told that a man in the eastern part of this county hung himself because people found fault with him. If the practice should become general in this country the trees would be compelled to work at night to support school teachers, preachers and editors.

TEACH ME TO DO THY WILL.

Dear Lord, my will from thine doth run

Too oft a different way.
 I cannot say, "Thy will be done,"
 In every darkened day;
 My heart grows chill
 To see thy will
 Turn all earth's gold to gray.

My will is set to gather flowers,
 Thine blights them in my hand;
 Mine reaches for life's sunny hours,
 Thine leads through shadow land;
 And all my days
 Go on in ways
 I cannot understand.

WOMEN IN THE SUNDAY-SCHOOL.

They are Infinitely Better Than Men as Teachers of Children.

The chief and underlying cause of the Decay of the Sunday-School, is the selection of incapable and incompetent men as superintendents. If men of broader views and keener perceptions were superintendents of our Sunday-schools, the necessity for a few changes in the teachers would at once be apparent, and they would be promptly made," writes Mr. Bok. "One of these changes would be that the masculine element in the active conduct would begin and end with a superintendent, a competent assistant or two, and a systematic librarian. The sooner that our churches realize that women, and women alone, should be the teachers of the young in their schools, the nearer they will come to the ideal condition. The more a woman has to do with a child, the better for the child. And the more sympathetic, tender and well-bred women and the fewer men we have as teachers in our Sunday-schools, the better it will be for the children and the schools. But no woman, occupied in business during the week, should, either of her own volition or under pressure, allow herself to be permitted to act as teacher in a Sunday-school. When a woman is engaged in business for six days of a week her Sunday should be to her a day of rest. Her place in church or school on Sunday should be that of auditor: not of worker. A little higher order of intelligence is vitally necessary in our Sunday-school classes. We demand this of our teachers in our secular schools, and parents have a right to ask it of the Sunday-school. It is not enough that the Sunday-school teacher should be spiritual: she must have intelligence wherewith to apply her spirituality to the very best advantage and by the most attractive methods. Young girls are to-day teachers who should be in classes. To bring home a spiritual lesson to the mind of a child is not play: it is an art, and calls for experience with children, a knowledge of human nature, an understanding of the very highest and deepest truths of life.

The Finished Character.

There are, within the range of everyone's life, processes of life which must be solitary; passages of duty which throw one absolutely upon his individual moral forces, and admit of no aid whatever from another. Alone we must stand sometimes; and if our better nature is not to shrink into weakness, we must take with us the thought which was the strength of Christ: "Yet I am not alone, because the Father is with me." The sense of right can more readily indurate the tender than melt the rocky soul, and that is the most finished character which begins in beauty and ends in power; that leans on the love of kindred while it may, and when it may not can stand erect in the love of God; that shelters itself amid the domesticities of life while duty wills, and when it forbids can go forth under the expanse of immortality, and face the storm that beats, and traverse any wilderness that lies beneath the canopy.

Those Who Suffer.

If we suffer wrongly, why should we add to our suffering by giving heed to the suggestions of Satan, or allow ourselves to lose confidence in our fellow-men. The psalmist said: "In my haste I said all men are liars," but for us to harbor such a thought is to cut us off from the fellowship of our brethren, to look with distrust upon all their actions, and interpret their every act as an intention to do us harm when really no harm is meant. Trust not to your own understanding. A good man's steps are ordered by the Lord. If we suffer with Him we shall also reign with Him.

Thoughts That Live.

The way to preserve the peace of the church is to preserve the unity of it. 'Tis true, and pity 'tis, 'tis true that the ideal many a young man has before him is a Sandow, a Gulliver or a Napoleon rather than Jesus. The rest of Christ is not that of torpor, but of harmony; it is not refusing the struggle, but conquering in it; not seeing God afar, but finding rest in Him. Let us know ourselves destitute, that we know how to pray; destitute of strength, of wisdom, of due influence, of true happiness, of proper faith, of thorough consecration, of the knowledge of the Scriptures, of righteousness.

On the streets is not the proper place for melon rinds to be placed but people are throwing them out regardless of looks or health.

The looks of the county would be greatly improved if the weeds were cut down. Some work of the same kind would also help the streets.

Good Advertisers.

Since the establishment of a tobacco market in Greenville there has been no more liberal advertiser connected with it than Mr. O. L. Joyner. He lost no opportunity to advertise the market in general as well to advance his own business. Since associating with Mr. G. B. Hughes the same liberal spirit is manifested by the firm that he always possessed. They are strong believers in printer's ink, as well as availing themselves of other means for advertising. Their latest step in this direction is to have a number of large signs, 4 x 8 feet, handsomely painted and put up over the county. These signs are attractive and tell the farmers where to bring their tobacco for best prices.

Be Considerate of the Sick.

It is a good time for visitors and neighbors to remember to be merciful to the sick. For nerves shattered by suffering and wasted by throbbing fevers, there is perhaps nothing so grateful and strengthening as sleep, inducing quiet and absolute rest. In such sweltering weather as this, it is enough for well folks to entertain company, let alone the sick ones. Beyond the attention of actual nursing it is enough for the sick ones to know that their friends remember them, inquire about them, and pray for their recovery.—Gastonia Gazette.

The tobacco market began the second week of the season with light breaks. The farmers are too busy curing to get much of their tobacco ready for market yet. Those who are coming in with it are getting high prices.

How is your laundry in this kind of weather? Lamp, eh? Send it to the Wilmington Steam Laundry and it will be done up right. Shipments sent off every Wednesday morning. HUGH SHEPARD.
