Mr. McBride Holt Says:

Graham, N. C. July 16, '97.
Oneida Cotton Mills:

About two and a half years ago my little boy about four years, and my little girl about two years, each had an enlargement of the glands about the ears. The trouble appearing on each about the same time, I was inclined to think it mumps, but soon observing to the contrary, I called in the doctor, who said the trouble came from colds, prescribing accordingly, yet swelling continued to grow, until each had to hold for the lance, the little boy having been lanced in three places, and at three times, his face at times, looking alarming. The nature of the trouble was termed one thing by one and another thing by another. This however, did not concern me, as I was looking for a cure, and Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy having been called to my attention so favorably, I dropped the treatment from the doctor and commenced to use Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy. To say that the results obtained have been satisfactory is putting it in mild terms, the children, and especially the little boy being entirely well, yet wearing the scars that will ever keep fresh in my memory the merits of Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy.

Ensign Bagley the Peacemaker.

We are glad to note that the movement to commemorate the sacrifice of North Carolina's brave young ensign who was the first to fall in the present war with Spain, has taken definite shape in the Worth Bagley Monument Association of Raleigh, N. C., and that contributions toward the erection of the pile which is to bear witness to posterity of the complete reconciliation between the north and the south have commenced to pour in from almost every State in the Union.

Since the last gun of the great American conflict was fired at Appomattox there have been many agencies at work in this country seeking to heal the wounds of sectional strife; but we hazard nothing to saying that the death of Ensign Bagley under the peculiar circumstances which surrounded that event has accomplished more toward making this desired result possible than has aught else.—Atlanta Constitution.

Checkers.

There are some crack checker players out on tobacco row. It is not yet decided which of the twain, Christmas or Peace, is entitled to the championship. Both are good movers.

To Be Mustered Out.

The President has given orders for mustering 40,000 of the volunteer troops out of the service, now that the war is over. The second North Carolina regiment is included in this order, and it may not be any far away day before the Greenville soldier boys will be back home.

Receiver Appointed

In the hearing of the Ricks & Taft case which Messrs. F. G. James, L. I. Moore and W. F. Harding went to Roxboro to argue before Judge Timberlake the petition of the creditors for the appointment of a receiver was granted, Mr. H. W. Whedbee was appointed receiver.

Handsome Signs.

Some of the handsomest and most artistic signs we have seen are those that Forbes & Moye have just had painted for the Planters warehouse. These signs are 4 x 8 feet in size and will be placed at different points over the county. They are executed by designer Carlos Harris in his best style. The proprietors of the Planters are hustlers.

This is the Place.

All the strangers who come to Greenville express wonder at our tobacco market. There is something here to make them wonder. Five large sales houses, five modern stermeries, a number of tall prize houses and three hoghead factories are things that are calculated to make those unaccustomed to them open their eyes with astonishment. Besides these, Greenville has a corps of warehousemen whose push and enterprise cannot be surpassed. Every man among them is a hustler and has a thorough knowledge of the tobacco business. We also have the cleverest set of buyers to be found anywhere. Yes sir, Greenville has got the stuff for a tobacco market right, and the old town can make most of you open your eyes to see her hum.

Ought to Have Factories

THE REFLECTOR believes that tobacco could be manufactured in Greenville just as well as elsewhere, and as good a trade could be built up for it here. Where so much of the bright leaf tobacco is marketed looks like the proper place for factories to be located.

MY QUEEN.

(For the Reflector)

Sweet twin lakes are thy soft brown eyes,
And thy cheek's tints shame Eastern dyes,
Like Lily bells thy shoulders white,
Like burnished bronze thy hair's rare light.
In thy soul's depths there lurks a spell,
Enchantress! tell thy secret, tell!
Let others learn o'er hearts to sway
In thine own kind and gentle way;
Perchance some to me would brighter be—
Some heart owe all its wealth to thee,
Could I but silently reveal
One halt the love for thee I feel,
My bliss would be too great, I ween—
Because thou art my life! My Queen!

Don't for the Table.

Don't overdecorate the table.
Don't decorate with strong scented flowers.
Don't serve boiled fish without potatoes.
Don't serve hot entrees on cold plates.
Don't serve asparagus without meat.
Don't force a guest to eat more than he wishes.
Don't apologize for the cook.
Don't make any excuse for anything.
Don't mention the cost of any dish.
Don't talk politics or religion at dinner, where guests are of miscellaneous beliefs.

Social Studies

A henpecked man is the silent partner of his wife's woes.
All cyclists are born equal, but some of them deteriorate into scorchers.
Wise is the man who says nothing when he is defeated, and says it gracefully.
No man ever realizes how fast he can go until he starts on a downward career.
A spinster says she favors an Anglo-American alliance—or any other old kind.
A young man who was fired with love says he thinks it was the girl's father who acted as fireman.
There's always room at the top, but the occupants of adjoining space ably defend it against all comers.
The sad expression often worn by men of mature years is probably caused by their having forgotten the things they thought they knew when young.

JUST FOR FUN

Matches must be made in heaven; they're not needed in the other place.
The last shot of the war will be the upshot of the peace convention in Paris.
"Seasonin' sp'iles de taste ob a watah-million," says Brother Watkins, "peshally rock-salt f'um de farmer's gun."
Nell—"That young man who was so attentive to May Uppisch is a Mr. Clay, isn't he?" Belle—"May told me his name this morning, but it wasn't exactly Clay. She rejected him last night."
She could not deny that she missed him. She hated to admit it, for she did not love her husband; but the evidence was too strong. Yes, she missed him badly; for the silver loving-cup she threw shattered the chandelier, and he was standing near the door.

The Democratic hand-book has been issued by the State Executive Committee and is now being distributed. This book gives a complete political history of the State from 1868 down to the present time.

Lawyers ought to be good men, and no nation or community can hope to be peaceful and happy so long as its lawyers are of an unscrupulous type. There is more truth than poetry in the common saying that lawyers are responsible for the standard of our government, high or low as may be.

Editor J. W. Bailey, of the Biblical Recorder is being attacked by Republican and Populist papers in the State for resigning his office on the Agricultural Board, thereby exposing the outrages being committed upon the honest, hard worked farmers of North Carolina by this department of our State government.

Beauty Is Blood Deep.

Clean blood means a clean skin. No beauty without it. Cascarets, Candy Cathartic clean your blood and keep it clean, by stirring up the lazy liver and driving all impurities from the body.

A curious custom exists in Georgia. Many of the well-to-do people as well as those in moderate circumstances do not own either horses or coaches; they own only an interest in them.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away. To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac.

The Decay of Drunkenness

The United States Bureau of Labor finds that the American people, who consumed per capita two and a half gallons of whiskey and other fiery spirits and only 1.36 gallons of beer in 1880, now consume per capita only one gallon of high spirits and 15.16 gallons of beer.

There can be no doubt that this means an enormous decrease in drunkenness. It means that the habits of the people in the matter of taking stimulants have been revolutionized.

What is the cause of this change? Those who have studied the results of moral suasion and moral legislation in other directions will hardly admit that changes so sweeping could have been produced in so short a time by causes so gentle, so slow of action and so often misdirected into producing just the reverse of the intended effects.

There is, however, a cause lying right upon the surface that completely accounts for the change. The struggle for existence under modern conditions makes short work of the man and keeps his brains befuddled with liquor.

Twenty years ago this drink problem was discussed as one of the great perils. It is solving itself. And that is the fate of all problems, however portentous, when they are faced by an intelligent and progressive and industrious people.—N. Y. World.

To Cure Constipation Forever. Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c. If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

The Baggage Coach Ahead

One of those sad and touching incidents which make the "whole world kin," occurred on the passenger train of the Norfolk and Western railroad yesterday. In the baggage coach on a cot lay Mrs. Sarah Bullus and young babe, who were being brought from Christiansburg, Va., to Wilkesboro, in the hope that the mother would regain her health.

Mr. and Mrs. Bullus and babe were returning to their home in Wilkesboro and instead of a pleasant and cheerful home coming, the husband returns to lay to rest the tired body of his loved helpmeet. The sight of the dead mother, the crowing and happy babe, entirely oblivious to the sad blow that deprived it of a mother, the sad and broken-hearted father brought many tears to the eyes of the passengers.

A purse was speedily made up by the crew and passengers of the train with which to buy a coffin and give the woman a respectable burial. The body was taken this morning to Wilkesboro.—Greensboro Telegram.

STOP SMOKING. It rots with you whether you continue the nerve-killing tobacco habit, NO-TO-BAC removes the desire for tobacco, with out nervous distress, expels nicotine, purifies the blood, restores lost manhood.

ROMANCE OF THE LAKES.

There is Much of Thrilling Interest Surrounding Their Shores.

In St. Nicholas, W. S. Harwood writes of "The Great Lakes." Mr. Harwood says:

There is much of thrilling interest, much of romance, much of daring surrounding the shores of these great lakes, much in a study of the early periods of their history, for the historian or the novelist. A long time ago—so long it seems like ancient history to us—the first white man, probably about the middle of the sixteenth century, saw these lakes. It is not so easy to fix a date for this event, but we know that as early as 1530 to 1540 the French priests, the voyageurs and the coureurs de bois, the trappers and adventurers of the day, visited the eastern lake region on the north. They came with two messages; one bore tidings of the commerce, and proved that the French nation was alive to the value of the new country; the other told the story of the Christian religion. It were well, perhaps, to mention another message—a more or less baleful one—brought by the adventurers; for there were adventurers among these early discoverers—men who had no other motive than to seek the strange and the exciting, and to spend their days in the alluring and profitless occupation of seeing how many hairbreadth escapes they could enjoy, in how many scenes of pillage and robbery they could take part.

Those who have written so gracefully and elegantly of the early history of the regions surrounding the northern portions of the Great Lakes have but begun to tell the tales which will be told with more and more freedom of invention as the writers of the future come to appreciate more and more what a splendid storehouse of material lies in this northland.

The Fat Man Gets Even.

The Buffalonians were coming home from somewhere or other. They were all in the same sleeper. One of the party, the fattest, turned in early. The others did not feel sleepy, so they spent an hour or two in the pleasant diversion of keeping the fat man wide awake.

The favorite method was to wait until the fat man was dozing and then throw something in the berth. At 10 o'clock one of the party carelessly tossed in a shoe. It was a good, big, honest shoe, and it hit the fat man in the tenderest part of his anatomy, his stomach.

He had borne it all good naturedly before that. But he drew the line there. So he opened the car window and quietly dropped the shoe out in the snow. The others had stopped their pranks and the fat man went to sleep with a peaceful smile on his face, comforted by the thought that he was good and even with somebody.

He was.
It was his own shoe.
