Told That he Might Die.

"The death of Judge Boykin was a great shock to me," said Solicitor Poy, who came to Raleigh with the remains Sunday. "I was with him nearly all the day Friday just before his death. He was in fine spirits and we went to speaking at Cross Roads together. He spoke for two hours. It was a great speech—calm, dispassionate, but very effective. He held the crowd motionless in their seats almost during his entire speech.

"Just as he was concluding, he said: 'My friends, I must apologize to you for this effort. It is the second political speech I have attempted to make in fourteen years, but I beg to assure you it will not be my last.'

"Mr. Harry Johnson, and old man just 80, was sitting near by, and said: 'You should not say that Judge.'

"Why?" said Judge Boykin.

"'Because,' said Mr. Johnson, 'you may die tomorrow.'

"'That is true, my old friend,' said the judge; 'but it is to die tomorrow my love for my State is so great that I must try and speak again today.'

"Little did the crowd dream that the speech they had just heard would be the last to fall from the lips of this good man. He was an able and humane judge, and the State sustains a great loss in his death.

"His fine oration, delivered as by one who was performing an important duty, made an impression on those who heard it which will last for years to come."—Raleigh Post.

Another Hero

Here's a hero who is worthy to rank right along with the best of them. Leo Bridgewater is with a Missouri regiment at Chickamauga. His mother died recently, leaving three small children in destitute circumstances. Bridgewater was in the army and could not be discharged, so he took up a collection and bought a tub and soap and irons and started a laundry. His comrades heard of the reason and patronized him, so that he has been enabled to send home money to feed and clothe the children.

Sympathy for the East

It reports through the papers are to be credited, there is hardly a section in the State that does not sympathize with the white people in Eastern Carolina. And it does seem from general expression that the white people of the State propose to redeem it from the plundering crowd now in office. All hands together and it can be done.—Scotland New Commonwealth.

JUST FOR FUN

Dey's several kind of lung troubles," says Boher Watkins, "Dey's cryin' babies, for instance."

"It doesn't embarrass some men," says the Manayunk Philosopher, "to be financially embarrassed."

No, Maude dear, we do not think that you could speak of the diamond merchant's life as being a brilliant career.

Aunt Maria (at the Zoo)—"This here lion 'pears to be a good-natured animal." Uncle Josh—"Reckon it's one of them social lions we've read so much about."

HOAX—"I wonder if all servant girls are slow risers?" JOAN—"Ours was until this morning. She used kerosene on the fire, and got up very quickly." HOAX—"And very oily in the morning, I suppose?"

Died

Willie L. son of W. J. and Sallie Clark near Winterville, N. C. passed over the river of death Aug. 27th 1898, aged 19 years and 9 months. He was a kind and obedient boy, liked by all who knew him. He suffered five weeks with typhoid fever, but has gone where suffering is no more. Every attention that medical skill and loving hands could give did not stay the "grim monster." The interment took place at the McGlohon burial ground. Rev. W. L. Billro conducted the burial services in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends. We deeply sympathize with the bereaved in this sad hour and commend them to God who is able to comfort their troubled hearts.

"Willie, thou has left us,
 And thy loss we deeply feel,
 But 'tis! God who has bereft us,
 He can all our sorrows heal."
 A FRIEND.

A Typical Irishman.

Col. John W. Flanigan, of Graham, sometimes known as "Ramrod," was in town this morning. Passing along near the McAdoo Horse he encountered an Irishman who said he was hungry and boned the Colonel for a nickle.

"If you won't spend it for liquor I'll give it to you," responded Flanigan.

"An sure I won't; I'm hungry, meself," he said.

"And how do you vote," asked Flanigan.

"The Democratic ticket, as do all white men," he answered; "don't you?"

"No, sir," said the man from Graham; "I am a Republican and vote that ticket straight."

"A Irishman vote the radical ticket? Here, take your nickle; I'll starve before I'd take it, I would," and he tossed it back and walked away as big as life.—Goldsboro Record.

The people, mostly colored, working in the tobacco stemmery of Mess. H. J. Bass & Co. have struck for higher wages. Most of the strikers are from Durham and have been in Kinston about a week. They claim that they were promised 75 cents per hundred pounds for stemming tobacco. They were only paid 60 cents per hundred.—Kinston Free Press.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 31, 1893

Senator Daniel on the War

Richmond, Va., August 29.—Hon. John W. Daniel, Senator from Virginia, has given the following statement to the Dispatch:

I regard the war against Spain as a just war, and believe that it will profit this country in many directions.

It will lead to the introduction of American civilization in the West Indies, and will dismiss from this continent the cruel ferocity of a past age and a decayed nation.

It has shown Americans everywhere that no one section is more patriotic than another, and has brought a balm to ancient wounds in the general expression and generous action of a deep-seated and fervent patriotism.

The war has revealed the United States in its true light; and as the good feeling of its people was never more transparent, so its prestige amongst the nations was never so high.

It will broaden the views of all our people, and will be well worth its cost. It will broaden the views, elevate the patriotism, cement the good will, stimulate the commerce, manufactures, and agriculture of the whole people.

It brings us new questions, which must be sedately and carefully considered. It may lead to complications which may entail burdens, but, all in all, the war will ultimately profit this nation in all directions of its advancing civilization. We must take care to suppress its tendencies toward great standing armies, toward arbitrary power, and toward extravagant expenditure, but the people will see to it that this shall be done.

(Signed) JOHN W. DANIEL,
 United States Senator.

Col. Fred Olds says in his Raleigh correspondence that it is unlikely that the North Carolina Republicans will get any money from the Republican national committee this year, and adds that two years ago they got $60,000. The landmark happens to know that the amount received by the Republicans for campaign purposes in this State two years ago was $65,000. And, wonderful to relate, some Republicans are to be found who intimate that all of the funds were not properly accounted for; or they at least insinuate that all the money was not used for campaign purposes. But then of course Republicans who make such insinuations are disgruntled or jealous. Nobody would for a moment believe that the good (?) men who compose the Republican party in this State could be guilty of any irregularity in financial matters.—Statesville Landmark.

General Fitzhugh Lee will enter the senatorial race in Virginia.

When the American troops took the Ladrone Islands a soldier lost a revolver on the beach. The native who found it immediately went out in a boat and visited every transport until he was able to restore the article to its owner. And this example of scrupulous honesty comes from a place the name of which means "Thieves' Island!"

William Pearce, the care-taker of the fair grounds, cut a watermelon and found written on the rind and almost in the centre of the melon the initials W. M. P. We saw this phenomenon and it is certainly most remarkable, the letters being so distinct that one could see them a good distance off. Pearce had the phenomenon photographed.—Fayetteville Observer.

Elevators have now been rendered safe in case of a fall by means of air cushions. It's rather hard to believe, but they say that in a test made in New York recently, in which an elevator was allowed to drop twenty stories, the fall of 300 feet did not break eggs lying on a marble slab in the middle of the car nor spill water from a glass.

"Say, Pa," remarked the New York kid, "why are they going to settle whether the Seventy-first Regiment was brave or cowards?" "I don't know, my son. Why?" "Well, I don't want to have to study both sides of the case in history class."

Fooling the Populist Farmer

The farmer who has left the Democratic party and joined the Populist because he believed that through the latter he would be materially benefited, and also that certain political abuses which he considered in existence under Democratic rule would be abolished, this Populist farmer should now take a careful and conscientious view of his position and see how and where he stands today.

Why the Populist farmer should especially consider his political standing just now is due to the fact that an important State election is to be held in November, and that farmer ought to intelligently consider all the points bearing upon his condition, material and political, and see whether his change from Democrat to Populist, has met his hopes and expectations, or whether the change has been to his disadvantage.

Leaving out the question of office holding, for the farmer has not changed his political party for the sake of getting an office, the first point is, how has the farmer been materially benefited?

The Republican-Populist party promised the farmer that his taxes would be lighter, yet the published reports of the board of equalization show that this fusion party, which preached Democratic extravagance, has been unable to carry on the State government without raising more taxes, and the only class which has been taxed to pay this extra amount is the farmer.

Therefore, the farmer can see that materially fusion government has made his living higher, by extra taxation.

This extra tax raised at the farmer's expense ought to show the Populist farmer that financial reform has not come through fusion in State affairs.

On the issue of silver, the Populist farmer will see that his new party leaders, while preaching silver, and a coinage of 16 to 1, have ever sought to cooperate with Republicans, who have contended for the gold standard.

In the matter of county government the Populist farmer of eastern North Carolina finds himself subject to the negro, in whose control most of the county matters are given by those who told the farmer that the Populist party would give him just what he needed.

Thus the Populist farmer finds that in every particular he has been deceived.

His taxes are higher, and he is made to pay the extra cost of the State government.

His State's public affairs are scandalized in nearly every institution and department.

His county affairs are placed in the hands of the negro, and the negro is thus given a position by which he may force himself socially upon the white man, and as an official can subject the farmer to indignities.

The Populist farmer does not need to study very much to find that the grossest deception has been practiced and that his present and future welfare depends upon his quitting such associations, of getting from a party which has lowered the farmer's position, and which if continued in power will make his position still worse.—Newbern Journal.

Homespun Philosophy.

After people pass thirty-five they never make as fine appearance at anything as when engaged in work.

Talk as men shoot; make every thing that you say hit the mark or don't waste your ammunition.

No man is an interesting talker when members of his family are present, for reason that kin pin each other down to fact.

You will find as you grow older that a good many who claim to have their coats off working for you have them rolled up for pillows and are sleeping on them in the shade.

After all there isn't any better friend than the one who never "throws things up to you."

A fortunate man is one who isn't reminded every time his wife smiles of dentist's bills.

We are annoyed until we are thirty by the "example" we should follow, and annoyed after that "ill death gets us at the "example" we are setting others.

When a man fails in business his thoughts turn at once to securing a public office. Every man thinks it is easy to get one.

Mr. McBride Holt Says:

Irabon, N. C. July 16, '97.
 Oneida Cotton Mills:

About two and a half years ago my little boy about four years, and my little girl about two years, each had an enlargement of the glands about the ears. The trouble appearing on each about the same time, I was inclined to think it mumps, but soon observing to the contrary, I called in the doctor, who said the trouble came from colds, prescribing accordingly, yet swelling continued to grow, until each had to hold or the face, the little boy having been lanced in three places, and at three times, his face at times, looking alarming. The nature of the trouble was termed one thing by one and another thing by another. This however, did not concern me, as I was looking for a cure, and Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy having been called to my attention so favorably, I dropped the treatment from the doctor and commenced to use Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy. To say that the results obtained have been satisfactory is putting it in mild terms, the children, and especially the little boy being entirely well, yet wearing the scars that will ever keep fresh in my memory the merits of Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy. Respt.

SEE THAT? What is it? It is a picture of the celebrated Parker Fountain Pens. A big hit in fountain pen making, and is a distinctive Parker feature. No other does it feed the ink perfectly, but prevents sanded fingers. BRIGHT DEALERS SELL THE Geo. S. Parker Fountain Pen. Because bright people want them. Don't take just "a fountain pen," but insist on having a Parker. Our catalogue not only contains beautiful cuts, but valuable information. Mailed for the asking.

The Reflector Book Store

SYRUP OF FIGS

NEVER IMITATED IN QUALITY.

THE EXCELLENCE OF SYRUP OF FIGS

is due not only to the originality and simplicity of the combination, but also to the care and skill with which it is manufactured by scientific processes known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. only, and we wish to impress upon all the importance of purchasing the true and original remedy. As the genuine Syrup of Figs is manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. only, a knowledge of that fact will assist one in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties. The high standing of the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. with the medical profession, and the satisfaction which the genuine Syrup of Figs has given to millions of families, makes the name of the Company a guaranty of the excellence of its remedy. It is far in advance of all other laxatives, as it acts on the kidneys, liver and bowels without irritating or weakening them, and it does not gripe nor nauseate. In order to get its beneficial effects, please remember the name of the Company—
