SOME WAR HISTORY

A Regular Gives Some Points that Hit the Administration and the Volunteers

Pitt county had several soldiers enlisted in the army for the recent war with Spain. There were some in the regular army and some among the volunteers. About nine years ago Mr. S. M. Pollard left this county to join the army at Fortress Monroe. He served his time there and in 1893 he was sent to Chicago as a World's Fair Police officer. After the fair he again enlisted in the army at Ft. Brady, Mich. At the beginning of the recent war he was sent to Ft. McHenry, Baltimore, as a recruiting officer. The experience he had had in handling artillery caused him to be transferred to Ft. Clinch, Fernandina, Fla. as sergeant of a battery of artillery. A few days ago he wrote his brother, Mr. E. F. Pollard, of Greenville, a letter from which THE REFLECTOR is permitted to print the following:

You must not believe everything you see in the papers about the sick and wounded soldiers. I get letters every week from boys that were in the thickest of the fight at Santiago, and they never say anything about the poor treatment. The whole thing is this: At Santiago the 71st New York volunteers run from the Spaniards and the Regulars were marched over the hill to stop the Spaniards, which they did in short order. Gen. Kent, a regular army officer, made a report of this bit of cowardice and the New York papers roasted Kent and the regular army. You see the volunteers imagined they were going to a picnic and were fooled, very bad at that.

I was surprised that this country got off so light in the number killed and wounded. There is no comparison at all between this and the civil war. This has been one of the greatest wars ever known with everything in favor of the United States.

If you could have seen the volunteers in camp at this place you would have wondered that they did not die off like flies. They have no discipline and you can imagine how things were. Many a young man has died through his own neglect. I know there have been some cases that should have been treated differently, but the President and Secretary of War are Republicans and they were afraid to send Gen. Miles to Cuba, for political reason. Miles is the finest General in the world, and if he had been sent to Cuba he would have done the Spaniards in such short order that the result would have been that he would have been elected President of the United States. So they sent Shafter whose record is not any too bright. And as Alger, the Secretary of War, is a Michigan man, the same as Shafter, it was to give Shafter as big a lift as possible.

One regiment of regulars will do more fighting than five of the volunteers. The United States ought to have a standing army of 75,000 and then she would be independent of volunteers which are really not reliable when it comes down to business. The volunteers come from all stations in life and only about one in every hundred that I have seen is fit to be soldiers. They make good tin soldiers but nothing more.

I suppose you have read of how the volunteers received boat loads of provisions at Camp Wikoff, Montauk Point, but the regulars are forgotten altogether in the mix up. Still the regulars did all the work. But the regulars are not a lot of school kids who cry, as the volunteers did, because they have a hard lot some time.

Still Another Outrage

Yesterday we omitted to chronicle the outrageous conduct of two negro women on Red Cross street, between Sixth and Seventh, on Sunday afternoon.

Three well known and highly estimable young ladies were on their way to Oakdale cemetery and when they reached a point between the streets mentioned they were confronted by two negro women who refused to turn aside and give them even a portion of the walk.

The young ladies, desirous of avoiding a collision, stepped off of the walk to allow the negro women to pass and in so doing one of the young ladies accidentally brushed against one of the negro women.

The negress turned upon her and after cursing her to the extent of her vocabulary, struck the young lady violently with her umbrella, which she held in her hand. Unfortunately there was no white man near, when the outrage occurred; had there been, a different tale would be told. It is said that a negro man was standing near and encouraged the wench in her infamous attack.

How long are the white people of this city to submit to these outrages? Patience has ceased to be a virtue and if we cannot obtain protection from the law, the authority must be assumed by the sufferers.—Wilmington Dispatch, 6th.

How Was This.

One day last week, a young lady of this city returning home on one of New Berne's public streets, came to where three young negro men stood on the sidewalk in such a way as to obstruct the way. They made no effort to move so as to let her pass.

No white man was within seeing distance. The intention of the negroes was probably to compel the young lady, who indeed is but a girl, "standing with reluctant feet, where, the stream and river meet," to pass between them. She chose to leave the walk in order to pass around them.

As she did so and reached a point opposite the three negroes, one of the brutes seeing what he considered "airs" in the young lady, stretched out and slapped her in the face!

She reached her home as quickly as possible and told what had occurred. To make the matter more appealing, if possible, the young lady is an orphan and has no natural protection. Is there a white man in North Carolina who does not wish he was near when the blow was struck?—Newbern Journal.

Assorted Don'ts.

Don't lie in the witness box, lie in bed.

Don't go to law if you have anything to lose.

Don't stare at a pretty girl as though she were a freak.

Don't ask a trawler hobby, what he measures round the waste.

Don't always be singing "Home, Sweet Home," at a boarding house.

Don't think the world is round. Wait till you are mad, and then see for yourself.

Don't help yourself to other people's money just because the doctor says you must have change.

"Don't suppose," said one of the Weary Timothian type to a farmer, "you don't know of nobody that don't want to hire anybody to do nothing, don't you?" "Yes," said the farmer, "I don't."—London Answers.

The Progressive Farmer says "A party can never rise any higher than the moral tone and honesty of its newspapers." Then taking that paper as a standard the moral tone and honesty of the party it represents are indeed at a lowebb. No paper in North Carolina is more deficient in these traits of character than the Progressive Farmer.

Concerning Cotton and Corn

All calculation as to the size of the cotton crop now beginning to come in are in abeyance. The wet weather is uniform throughout the cotton States and under its influence the condition of the crop is deteriorating rapidly. The problem of a large or small crop is in the balance. An immediate cessation of the rains, with favorable weather throughout the remainder of the picking season, might mean, yet, a crop of large volume, while a continuance of rainy weather will almost surely mean a short crop. The bad weather being so nearly universal throughout the cotton belt its effects, happily, cannot be local. That is to say it will bear equally upon all, no one section having a large crop and another a small one. Thus the consequences will be equalized, and if there is a short crop in all States all will share alike in correspondingly high prices and none will be seriously hurt by the shortage.

A matter of more importance to us of North Carolina is the damage which has been and is being done to the magnificent corn crop of a few weeks ago. The corn crop, as has been truly said, lies at the base of our agricultural interests. It is food for man and beast. It supports the stock which plow the farms. It is bread and meat, for it fattens the hogs. Upon it a farmer can live and support his farm if he make the wheat and no cotton. A calamity to it, therefore, is a calamity indeed, and such it has suffered.

It is distressing to see the blasting of such magnificent prospects; to see the reward of the husbandman's toil slipping through his fingers. Yet pessimism is alike wrong and unnecessary, for the providence which has cared for the race this far will take care of it to the end.—Charlotte Observer.

That's It

The following very sensible editorial paragraph is from the Wilmington News:

As the coming campaign does not turn on national issues, any Populist or Republican who desires to see good government in North Carolina can vote for the best men running for the offices without giving up his political creed at all. It is not a question whether a man will support the Democratic candidates or the Republican candidates or the Populist candidates, but a question of whether or not he will cast his vote for honest, responsible men who are capable of governing the State and counties. The party that puts forward that kind of men is the party that deserves the support of the good men of the State. What we want is protection for property, lives and honor. The party that assures white rule to the State by capable white men is the party to support. The party that has given it in the past is the party that can be relied upon to give it in the future.

This is the sort of appeal that should reach good citizens, good North Carolinians, and there are such in all parties. The exigencies of the present situation are such that Populists and Republicans should feel, should be made to feel, that they can vote the Democratic ticket this year without sacrificing their principles or without stultifying themselves if they should at another election see fit to vote another ticket. This is true political independence—a quality of which more is needed in North Carolina. It is the exercise of this that changes the government of States in the North from year to year, like a shuttlecock, according as the voters think the government is good or bad. We all know men of all parties know, that the present government in North Carolina is bad and all patriotic people, laying aside pride of opinion, discarding party names, should unite to change it. Then, if the next administration of affairs is bad, it will be just as much a duty to change it. But, as the Wilson paper says, it is not now a question of voting for this or that party but a question of whether or not a man will cast his vote for honest responsible men. Let the party name go for the present—it is not a matter of politics but of self-preservation.—Statesville Landmark.

Politics in the War Department of the United States has involved the death of more brave men recently than fell by Spanish bullets. It is more than a shame; it is a crime. Throughout the Nation camps are infested with disease; and before Santiago troops were without food, without clothing, without medicine, without surgeons, and the wounded returning from the field of glory were crowded inhumanly, unmercifully in troopships, packed like cattle, without supplies, without nurses, without balms, without physicians in any possibility of an adequate number. And why? Because the War Department was made a rife counter for politicians. If President McKinley does not get rid of Secretary of War Alger and his own wise conduct will be overshadowed with popular contempt. Than in the conduct of the War Department we never had a more terrible demonstration of the evil of the spoils system of supporting political parties. When shall we have a political party that exists because there are principles which make it live.—Biblical Recorder.

WHOLESOME ADVICE.

for People Whose Stomachs are Weak and Digestion Poor.

Dr. Harlandson, whose opinion in diseases is worthy of attention says when a man or woman comes to me complaining of indigestion, loss of appetite, sour stomach, belching, sour water-risings, head aches, sleeplessness, lack of ambition and a general run down nervous condition I advise them to take after each meal one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, allowing the table to dissolve in the mouth, and thus mingle with the food eaten. The result is that the food is speedily digested before it has time to sour and ferment. These tablets will digest food anyway whether the stomach wants to or not, because they contain harmless digestive principles, vegetable essences, pepsin and Golden Seal which supply just what the weak stomach lacks.

I have advised the tablets with great success, both in curing indigestion and to build up the tissues, increase flesh in thin nervous patients, whose real trouble was dyspepsia and as soon as the stomach was put to rights they did not know what sickness was.

A fifty cent package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can be bought at any drug store, and as they are not a secret patent medicine, they can be used as often as desired with full assurance that they contain nothing harmful in the slightest degree; on the contrary, anyone whose stomach is at all deranged will find great benefit from the use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. They will cure any form of stomach weakness or disease except cancer of the stomach. Full size package at druggists 50c or $1.00 or by mail from Stuart Co. Marshall, Mich.

In Institute township last winter a negro school committeeman went to a school taught by a white lady, to supervise work being done. We have heard of similar occurrences in other townships. If the spewision party is continued in power it will not be so very long before social equality will largely prevail. It is already rapidly drifting that way. The real white people must rally together and down the negroes and bad white men.—Kinston Free Press.

Mr. McBride Holt Says:

Irabam, N. C. July 16, '97.

Oneida Cotton Mills:

About two and a half years ago my little boy about four years, and my little girl about two years, each had an enlargement of the glands about the ears. The trouble appearing on each about the same time, I was inclined to think it mumps, but soon observing to the contrary, I called in the doctor, who said the trouble came from colds, prescribing accordingly, yet swelling continued to grow, until each had to hold or the lancet, the little boy having been lanced in three places, and at three times, his face at times, looking alarming. The nature of the trouble was termed one thing by one and another thing by another. This however, did not concern me, as I was looking for a cure, and Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy having been called to my attention so favorably. I dropped the treatment from the doctor and commenced to use Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy. To say that the results obtained have been satisfactory is putting it in mild terms, the children, and especially the little boy being entirely well, yet wearing the scars that will ever keep fresh in my memory the merits of Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy.

John Can't Blow

We thought John Clark was a good blower, but he could not raise the wind this morning when he undertook to use the trumpet to call the crowd together to start the sale at the Farmers warehouse, and Alf Forbes had to go to his rescue. Now Alf came from blowing stock, and he sent the bugle blast all down the line and the boys came a hustling.
