LOCAL NOTES AND TOBACCO JOTTINGS

BY O. L. JOYNER.

At the beginning of this season every warehouseman advised the farmers to sell their common tobacco first, consequently very few lots of good tobacco have been offered yet.

Where good tobacco is offered this year it brings prices that make the seller smile and reminds us all of years gone by when it was no trouble to sell fancy lemon wrappers from fifty to seventy five dollars per hundred. A few such piles have been sold this season the largest of 134 pounds selling for $61.

Where, oh where are the croakers now who a few years ago were jabbering away at the few who were trying to establish a tobacco market here, foretelling and predicting what would eventually come of those who had made the first investments—doing all they could to discourage and drag down the undertaking. That they did not succeed can only be accounted for from the fact that men of such calibre rarely if ever succeed in establishing a permanent impression, backed by a timble full of reasoning, upon the minds of men of ability to think and the courage to act upon their convictions.

A few days ago a gentleman who has watched with a lively interest the growth and development of the tobacco market, though not interested himself, told me that he had heard the argument frequently advanced that the country people, that is the farmers, were in a more prosperous condition than when they depended upon cotton as their only money crop, but that the merchants were not. Such a course of reasoning I am frank to confess I never before heard advanced, and I am curious to know upon what hypothesis conclusions of this kind are based. People traveling by rail rarely form opinions of the thrift or shiftlessness of a people from the country through which they pass, but rather by the towns and cities backed up and supported by the country. The towns of a country represent the country's industry. If the business men of a town are prosperous then it follows that the country is also prospering, and vice versa. It would be almost equally as logical to argue that a diseased liver produced a sound and healthy heart, or that discordant action between business associations resulted in successful business, as to say the country prospers but the town that feeds and clothes it does not. No, no, no. If Greenville increases her business, it is the country that is doing it and if the country fails behind the town will inevitably suffer in like proportion. Some people imagine that they constitute a town or community and because they are not prosperous the town is not, but these people are getting in the great minority in Greenville. If they should succeed in convincing anyone by this kind of stuff that person will certainly do little harm in the community.

Back Again

REFLECTOR readers will be glad to welcome back two of our contributors. Our Washington City correspondent after taking a brief vacation again takes up his semi-weekly spicy letters from the national capital. And Mr. O. L. Joyner, who has been taking a rest for sometime, renews his "local notes and tobacco jottings." Both these are good features of the paper.

Political Notes from Billville

We have just learned that a candidate who prides himself on his generosity put a $10 bill in the mission plate last Sunday and actually asked for 75 cents change! What will the poor heathen think when they get that broken $10 bill?

We have made a great discovery: One of the candidates for a certain high office not only eats green apples, but swallows the seed. This is encouraging to his opponents, who have great hopes that he will have appendicitis three days before the nomination.

We learn on the highest authority that a certain leading candidate didn't wear a mourning hat band when his mother in law died, and that he even appeared to enjoy life three days after her funeral. Is this a man to entrust with the liberties of the people?

A citizen whose veracity has never been questioned outside of election returns informs us that a certain popular candidate held a mortgage on a poor mule that had been blind for three years, and that he foreclosed the mortgage at a time when the said mule was actually suffering from hay fever. Men of Georgia! will you vote for such a man?

To Visitors and Delegates to the Tar River Association

WELDON, N. C., Sept 10th, '98.

The next meeting of this body will be held with the Baptist church at Weldon, Oct 4th to 6th, 1898. An effort will be made to entertain not only the delegates, but all the visitors male and female, and in order that we may do this it is necessary to know how many to expect. All therefore who expect to attend and want to be entertained are hereby requested to send their names to the undersigned not later than Sept 28th. So that they may be assigned a home. Parties coming by private conveyance and delegates and visitors who will bring their wives will please let the fact be known.

Sincerely,

B. A. POPE,
Chm. Com. on Hospitality.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

The chairman of the Democratic Executive Committees of the several voting precincts of Pitt county are earnestly requested to meet in the Court House in Greenville on Saturday, September 24th, 1898, immediately after the adjournment of the Democratic convention, for the purpose of electing a central Committee and for organizing.

ALEX L. BLOW
Chairman of Ex. Com.

It Comes Here

The point has been reached that the size of tobacco breaks on the Greenville market has to be measured by the capacity of the houses. Floors chock full are to be seen any day, and in order to get it on many piles run anywhere from 300 to 600 pounds. To see these breaks one might almost think that all the tobacco in eastern North Carolina is coming to Greenville.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our Washington Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C. Sept. 12, 98.

Mr. McKinley has been convinced by official evidence and the advice of some of his long headed friends, that he could not afford to continue to ignore the charges of mismanagement made against the War Department, thus virtually himself assuming the responsibility for what Secretary Alger has done, and more especially what he has left undone in looking after the health of the soldiers, and has allowed the announcement to be made that he would appoint a Commission of eminent men, whose report will enjoy the confidence of the country, to investigate the entire conduct of the war.

Gen. Shafter, who came to Washington under orders from Mr. McKinley, called on General Miles, at his office in the War Department, but it was a duty call upon his commanding officer and not a social call. Gen. Shafter absolutely declined to talk for publication, but it is an open secret that he has got it in for Miles because of his taking the recently published interview with Miles to mean an attempt to deprive him of the credit of conducting the Santiago campaign. Miles is tickled to death over the investigation, and, if allowed, will render valuable aid in getting at the truth.

Beauty Is Blood Deep. Clean blood means a clean skin. No beauty without it. Cascarets, Candy Cathartic clean your blood and keep it clean, by stirring up the lazy liver and driving all impurities from the body. Begin to-day to banish pimples, boils, blotches, blackheads, and that sickly bilious complexion by taking Cascarets,--beauty for ten cents. All druggists, satisfaction guaranteed, 10c, 25c, 50c.

tained, and were not, by those responsible, and they should be held strictly responsible? There is more of the same sort, and this report was not signed by the correspondents of "sensational news papers," but by Milo B. Ward, Major and Brigade Surgeon; James J. Johnson, Major 2nd Arkansas Volunteers, and Emil B. Hellburn, Major 2nd Kentucky Volunteers, and is now in the hands of Maj. Gen. Breckenridge. It is no wonder that sporting men are offering odds that Alger will have to go.

There are not many shrewder politicians in the country than Mr. McKinley, and he hasn't displayed a slicker bit of his shrewdness lately than in taking three out of the five Peace Commissioners from the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, which must approve the treaty that will be made by the Commission if it is have any chance to be ratified by the Senate. Senators Davis and Frye are depended upon to get all the Republican Senators to support the treaty, and Senator Gray is expected to get enough Democratic Senators to make up the requisite two-thirds. Secretary Day is on the Commission, solely as Mr. McKinley's mouth piece, as he has been at the head of the Department of State. Whitelaw Reid was selected, well, nobody knows what in the deuce he was selected for, unless it was to show Boss Platt that his protests did not always count. The Commissioners are to meet Mr. McKinley this week, previous to sailing for Europe next Saturday. According to current gossip, the administration will only ask for one island, Luzon, in the Phillipine group.

The news received at the headquarters of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee gets more encouraging every day. In many districts that were some time ago put in the Republican column by a small margin, or were considered doubtful, the Democrats are now confident of winning. There is feeling among Democrats that the House can be captured, and a determination to do it. In a number of States the Republicans are divided into factions, which will add to the chances of electing Democrats in Congressional districts now represented by Republicans. The Republicans are dropping their boastful attitude, and instead of talking of increasing their majority in the House, as they were doing a little while back, they are talking of trying to hold their own, and sending out appeals to the factions in a number of States to get together.

Gen. Shafter, who came to Washington under orders from Mr. McKinley, called on General Miles, at his office in the War Department, but it was a duty call upon his commanding officer and not a social call. Gen. Shafter absolutely declined to talk for publication, but it is an open secret that he has got it in for Miles because of his taking the recently published interview with Miles to mean an attempt to deprive him of the credit of conducting the Santiago campaign. Miles is tickled to death over the investigation, and, if allowed, will render valuable aid in getting at the truth.

A September Sketch.

Of all pleasant months of the year September is one of the most truly enjoyable. The fierceness of summer is over, yet no chilling winds remind us of the coming cold and storm. The air has a delicious mellowness in keeping with the ripening fruits, a sweet fragrance that speaks of autumn flowers, while the azure haze that veils the distant hills, like a bridal veil, subdues but does not conceal the gorgeous beauty of foliage, fruits and flowers. September has its duties as well as its pleasures, and it is also well to remember that another season of buds, blossoms and sunshine will soon be numbered with the past. A few weeks more and the chilling frosts will be here, and the ripening leaves put on their lovely dress of crimson and gold and bid us a long farewell.--Orange Va. Observer.

He Wasn't Let

Briggs--Quite a rivalry between Tom and Fred, Griggs--Yes, I understand they are both seeking the hand of Miss Triffett.

Briggs--They both called at her house the other evening and at once began the exciting game of trying to outwit each other. Tom had to give it up finally and left Fred in possession.

Griggs--So Fred got the best of it?

Briggs--That's the question. It was a rainy night, and Tom did not take away the poorest umbrella when he left the house.--Boston Transcript.

Oneida Cotton Mills:
About two and a half years ago my little boy about four years, and my little girl about two years, each had an enlargement of the glands about the ears. The trouble appearing on each about the same time, I was inclined to think it mumps, but soon observing to the contrary, I called in the doctor, who said the trouble came from colds, prescribing accordingly, yet swelling continued to grow, until each had to hold or the face, the little boy having been lanced in three places, and at three times, his face at times, looking alarming. The nature of the trouble was termed one thing by one and another thing by another. This however, did not concern me, as I was looking for a cure, and Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy having been called to my attention so favorably. I dropped the treatment from the doctor and commenced to use Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy. To say that the results obtained have been satisfactory is putting it in mild terms, the children, and especially the little boy being entirely well, yet wearing the scars that will ever keep fresh in my memory the merits of Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy.

Partly cloudy weather tonight and Tuesday slowly rising temperature.

NEVER IMITATED IN QUALITY.

THE EXCELLENCE OF SYRUP OF FIGS is due not only to the originality and simplicity of the combination, but also to the care and skill with which it is manufactured by scientific processes known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. only, and we wish to impress upon all the importance of purchasing the true and original remedy. As the genuine Syrup of Figs is manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. only, a knowledge of that fact will assist one in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties. The high standing of the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. with the medical profession, and the satisfaction which the genuine Syrup of Figs has given to millions of families, makes the name of the Company a guaranty of the excellence of its remedy. It is far in advance of all other laxatives, as it acts on the kidneys, liver and bowels without irritating or weakening them, and it does not gripe nor nauseate. In order to get its beneficial effects, please remember the name of the Company—

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.
